The championship debate between the women's teams of the Sophomore and Freshman classes, scheduled for Tuesday was postponed until Tuesday, May 10. It will be held in the afternoon at the Fleming Museum.

The subject of the encounter will be "Resolved, That legal censorship be abolished." The sophomore team, Elvira Farman and Augusta Cohen will uphold the affirmative, while the freshman team, Betty Boright and Anita Kittel will take the negative.

The winners of this debate will receive the Carleton cup which is awarded every year, and is now in the possession of the class of 1933. It was donated by Professor and Mrs. Carleton. Anyone interested in cheering on respective class team should plan to be there.

LAWRENCE PRIZE DEBATE TO BE HELD AT MUSEUM WITH MIDDLEBURY TEAM

Bigelow, Donaghy and LaCross Will Uphold Cancellation of Debts Problem

The Lawrence prize debate is held tonight. In fact, the forensic cudgels will start whirling promptly at 8 o'clock in the Fleming Museum Auditorium tonight. Both belligerent parties have been engaging in preparatory skirmishes all year, and the culmination comes tonight, amid the clashing of arms and the roar of battle at the Museum.

Of course, the defenders of the honor of the Hill will be the well-known scarred and wily warriors of uncounted past conflicts, P. J. LaCross '32, J. E. Bigelow '33, and R. P. Donaghy '32. These three will undertake the task of persuading the Middlebury squad that "The Interallied War Debts Should Be Cancelled."

LaCross is the captain of this year's team, and has recently been selected by International Student Service for attendance at European Seminars as one of the twenty delegates from the United States. He is president of the French Club, and a member of the International Relations Club and Eta Sigma Phi. He belongs to Tau Kappa Alpha, the honorary national debating society, and made the southern trip with this year's varsity debating team.

Bigelow is manager and captain-elect of the varsity team in debating, manager of the Jayvees for two years, member of the junior varsity team for three years and the varsity for two, and belongs to Tau Kappa Alpha. His clubs include the French Club, the International Relations Club, Wig and Buskin, and Pi Gamma Mu. He is managing editor of the CYNIC. He also made the southern trip as a varsity debater.

Donaghy is varsity cheerleader and is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Tau Kappa Alpha. He is a pre-medical student. He went with LaCross and Bigelow on the southern forensic jaunt.

The varsity debating program for this year included Boston University, New York university twice, Ohio State, McGill, Dartmouth, Bates, Maine, Springfield, Columbia (Dubuque, Iowa), and the University of the South. On their southern-eastern tour, the Green and Gold team did not lose a single debate.

There are two sets of judges for this Lawrence debate—three judges to judge the debate itself, and three to award the prizes.

The prizes of $15 and $10 will be awarded to the participants who show the greatest proficiency in debate.

FOUR SORORITIES CLOSE SPRING SOCIAL SEASON BY FORMALS TONIGHT

Several sororities are having their formal dances tonight, and close their spring social season. Heading the list are Alpa Chi Omega, Alpha Xi Delta, Pi Beta Phi and Epsilon Sigma, all of whom are giving dances tonight.

At the Alpha Chi Omega dance to be held at their chapter house on Main St., Joe Lechnyr, and his Vermonters will furnish the music. Doctor and Mrs. Braun and Mr. and Mrs. Van Note will act as chaperones for their annual spring frolic. Several novel arrangements have been made to doubly increase the joy of the dancers.

The Alpha Xi's dance will be held at the Country Club. Bob Minotti and his band will furnish the rag-time for the spring formal. Professor and Mrs. Kidder, along with Mr. and Mrs. Burke will be the chaperones.

Epsilon Sigma will sponsor their annual formal dance. The dance takes place between nine and one in the roof garden dance floor of the Hotel Vermont. Professor and Mrs. Wallace and Mr. and Mrs. Hard are the chaperones for tonight's gala event. Lunny Perry has charge of the dance.

Pi Beta Phi holds its annual spring dance at their house on South Prospect St. There will be a buffet luncheon served to the dancers at eight o'clock.

Drawings for positions in the Junior Week Peerade will be made Sunday evening, May 8, at 7.30, at the S. A. E. House. "Please be there on time," asks Chairman F. P. Kenyon '33.

HONORARY SOCIETIES TO HOLD THEIR INITIATIONS DURING WEEK TO COME

Mortar Board, Boulder, Key and Serpent, Gold Key, Scabbard and Blade to Install New Members at Rites

Initiations in the respective honorary societies will take place within the next few weeks. Boulder Society will initiate the following men: Fraser B. Drew of Randolph, Clarence S. Brown of Newport; Russell F. Colburn of Burlington; Lionel E. Reed of Wolcott and David W. Webster of Burlington. Boulder initiation will be held on Tuesday evening, May 17.

Mortar Board will hold its initiation at Redstone, May 11 at four-thirty. Those to be initiated are: Ara Armstrong, Belmont; Sylvia A. Boyd, West Newton, Mass.; Elizabeth Eckhard, Burlington; Leah E. Gowen, Concord, N. H.; Gladys M. LaFlamme, Brattleboro; Charlotte Odell, Bronxville, N. Y.; Priscilla Perry, Springfield; and Caroline Taft, Wallingford. At 6.30 p.m. there will be a banquet held in the dining room of the Hotel Vermont. Among the speakers will be representatives of the present members and alumnae.

Key and Serpent will hold its initiation on Monday evening, May 16. The following eight men will be initiated: John L. Beckley, Great Neck, N. Y.; William W. Brislin, Rutland; Thomas Cogswell, Warner, N. H.; Clarence F. Dobson, East Templeton, Mass.; Chester B Eaton, Worcester, Mass.; William J Gilbert, Burlington; Charles J. Libby, Richmond Hill, N. Y.; and Donald J. Tobin, Fairhaven, Mass. Their initiation will be followed by a banquet at the Hotel Vermont. During the day the members-elect will appear in full dress suits, wear monocles and carry canes. They will also be given certain stunts to perform in various parts of the city.

No definite dates have been set aside for either the Gold Key or Tau Kappa Alpha initiations. Gold Key's date will be determined the latter part of this week. The T. K. A. initiation wil be held as soon as permission is received from their national headquarters.

In a very short time, several men will be parading around the campus attired in the most sloppy attire imaginable. It is a sign that the Scabbard and Blade informal initiation is taking place. Preparations are in the process of being made to take the newly-elected members into the society, and the formal initiation will take place next week sometime.

LIFE IS WHAT A PERSON MAKES IT SAYS THORPE

"In everyday living it is in the power of students as well as of those in other walks of life, to make or mar opportunity as it presents itself to them." This was essentially the message delivered by the Rev. Walter J. Thorpe at the Wednesday morning chapel service in the Ira Allen Chapel.

In explaining his text, he said that there may be circumstances which are beyond the power of the individual to control, but that in general, fate is made or marred by individual action. All should look forward hopefully to the future, strive to make the best of every opportunity, and help other people in their own aspirations.

"O Thou Joy of Living Hearts," anthem by Vittoria, was rendered without accompaniment by the University choir under the direction of Professor Bennett.

Prof. B. Rowland Lewis of the University of Utah has been invited to be the first research scholar at the new $17,000,000 Folger Shakespearian Library which is to be opened next fall at Washington, D. C. Doctor Lewis will also be the guest professor of English at Catholic University next year.

MANY NAMES WITHDRAWN FROM LIST OF MEN UP

The 1934 class election, which takes place on Monday, May 9, will be an attempt to present new ideas to the student body, on how elections might be run. In the first place a strict ballot box system will be used, and the votes will be counted at the end of the voting period by two members of the faculty.

At the nomination committee meeting last Monday afternoon at four o'clock in the Williams Science Hall, the men who are to run in the election were put up. The names were subject to withdrawal. For president of the class of 1934, Chester Eaton of Worcester, Mass. and William Brislin of Rutland were nominated. Ruth Tarleton of Brooklyn, N. Y. and Harriet Willard were selected by the committee to run for the office of vice president. For secretary, Mary Bennett of Springfield, Janet Dodds of Burlington and Anna Greene of North Pomfret were nominated. Donald Tobin of Fair Haven, Mass. and Preston Cummings of Burlington were picked to run at the polls for treasurer of the class by the nomination committee.

Russell Colburn, editor, submitted a list of the men who scrubbed the editorial side of the 1933 Ariel. They were automatically accepted as candidates by the committee on nominations. They are Chester Eaton of Worcester, Mass., Clarence Dobson of East Templeton, Mass., Norman Myers of Burlington and Donald Tobin of Fairhaven, Mass. Then George MacKenzie, business manager of the 1933 Ariel, announced the men who had worked for him on the managerial end of the year book. They are Kenneth Spaulding of Newport, William Brislin of Rutland and Charles Libby of Richmond Hill, N. Y.

Faculty to Count Votes

At the meeting it was decided that in order to avoid any hard feelings after the day of the election, because of the secret ballots, two members of the faculty would count the ballots in private, and would announce the results after the counting had been done.

Chester Eaton withdrew from the list up for class president to accept the Ariel nomination leaving William Brislin alone in the field of candidates. Brislin, a member of Alpha Tau Omega, has been prominent on the campus walks. He is an assistant manager of basketball and played on the championship class basketball team. He is one of the eight elected to Key and Serpent and was the second semester president of Gold Key. He is a news editor of the VERMONT CYNIC and was a scrub for the business side of the 1933 Ariel. He served on the Basketball Hop Committee and the Kake Walk Committee. He is a member of Student Senate and the Faculty Student Council. He is a corporal in the R. O. T. C battalion.

Two Women for Vice-President

Ruth Tarleton, up for vice president is an initiate of Delta Delta Delta and sings in the Glee Club. She had a part in the opera "Cosi Fan Tutte." She is a cheer leader and has a part in the coming Lilac Day celebration. She is a member of W. A. A. and the Dramatic Club.

Harriet Willard, who is also up for

MORE COOPERATION IS NEEDED BY PRESS CLUB

Better cooperation among the members was requested by the newly elected president of Press Club, Helen Hubbard '34, at a short business meeting held Wednesday, May 4 at one-thirty in Room 3, North College. Members are asked to state the length of time spent working when they sign up for Press Club assignments, and according to a new ruling made by the faculty advisor, Professor Dean, and Miss Hubbard, if a member misses two assignments, or spends less than one hour on the two together, she will be automatically dropped from the club.

Helen Mount '35, chairman of the scrapbook committee, asked again for volunteers to help in the scrapbook work. Those members who have not yet paid their dues of twenty-five cents per semester must pay them at once, as there are several outstanding bills to be paid.

The freshman baseball team has already started off its season in an ostentatious manner, but they are faced today with a team of little tougher nature than Montpelier Seminary.

Yesterday was May Day, and our friend Horace K. Jukes, made his maiden campaign speech yesterday on City Hall Plaza. The following is said to be an accurate report, as furnished by Lee Golden, who was present:

Fellow Workers:

Down with capitalists! (cheers)

Down with the government! (cheers)

We're communists, aren't we? (cheers and cheers)

We're workers—(cheers and more cheers)

Well, let't go to work. (ambulance bell sounds)

INDEPENDENTS CONVENE TO HASH OVER EXISTING CONDITIONS OF CLASSES

A meeting for the reorganization of the Independents was held Monday at Morrill Hall. A large gathering was present, totalling thirty-five members. At the opening of the business at hand, the members of the sophomore class present reviewed the procedure of the nominating committee of their class elections at some length. They discussed the new system of voting in sophomore elections.

After a discussion, a Junior Week float and an Independent dance was ruled inadvisable at the present time, and was not in favor by the majority of members. The meeting progressed to the election of a constitutional committee. Those assembled favored a permanent constitution to the effect that the Independents might remain as a group from year to year with definite means for meetings and yearly elections; and also to express in permanent form the very reasons for the existence of a group such as the Independents, and to gather into an organized front those progressive Independents who have never been fairly represented in any organization on the hill.

Following the meeting there were refreshments and introductions between members convening in the Aggie basement. It is the desire of the Independents that every one who attends this meeting and any other Independents interested be present at the next meeting, which will mark the birth of the Independents as a concentrated organization. It will be held May 9, 1932, and the meeting place will be announced in the CYNIC; but watch the V. C. A. bulletin board!

Boston University News offers this one:

Abou Ben Adhem (may his tribe increase)
Awoke one night from a deep dream of peace
And saw within the darkness of his room
A vision prowling 'round among the gloom,
Exceeding peace had made Ben Adhem bold
And insufficient sheets had made him cold,
So, to the vision in the room he said,
"Come now, dear, quit going through my pockets and get back into bed."

JANKE TO BE PRESIDENT OF PI GAMMA MU, NEW SOCIAL SCIENCE GROUP

Installation and Banquet Takes Place Next Wednesday Evening

Pi Gamma Mu, the newly established social science honorary society, has for its first president, Carl Janke '33. At a meeting last Monday, May 2, the first election of officers in the new organization was held. Also at the first business meeting, Sylvia Earnham '34 became the new vice-president, Katrina Moon '32 the first recording secretary in the Vermont branch and Hilda Davis '34, the new secretary treasurer.

At this meeting the local constitution was adopted, and the national constitution was read to the members. The purpose of the organization shall be to inculcate the ideals of scholarship, scientific attitude and method, and social service in relation to all social problems. The scope of the organization's work shall include all branches of social science that contribute directly to the solution of social problems.

Membership to Pi Gamma Mu is open to any person who has had at least twenty semester hours of social science with an average grade of not less than "B" or eighty-five percent. On Wednesday, May 11, the installation of the new chapter of Pi Gamma Mu will take place. At this time the keys, which symbolize membership in the society will be distributed.

Prof. H. G. Groat will be the principal speaker of the evening. The installation will be a part of a banquet held at Hotel Vermont roof garden.

Carl Janke, president of the new organization, has served in many offices on the campus. He is the manager of Intermural Sports, and is business manager of the VERMONT CYNIC. He is a member of the Student Senate, and has placed consistently on the Dean's list.

Professor Stineford of the Economics Department has worked very diligently so that an organization of this type might be formed. It was due mainly to his efforts that a charter was granted to the University of Vermont branch.

Hostess: I'm so glad you came, Bishop. I was going to send you an invitation, but then I thought, "Oh, what the hell."

TEN GIRLS REPRESENT VERMONT AT ANNUAL CO-ED FIELD TOURNEY

Tomorrow morning nine co-eds accompanied by Miss Cummings, Miss Blanchard and Mrs. Schmidt will leave for St. Lawrence University at Canton, New York where they will represent Vermont in the annual co-ed field day. Middlebury College, Elmira College and several other universities are also sending representatives.

A. T. A. C. W. is sponsoring these. LaFountain '33 and Twink Mount '35 meets and disapproves of competitive sports so the teams will be made up of girls from each of the colleges and contests will (all) be conducted as sports for sports' sake.

The girls who will represent Vermont are: Billie Mount '32; Millie Akins '32; Jennie Goodenough '33, Mary Petras '33; Gowan '33; Peg Tower '33; Revée Ruth Johnston '33; Elda Miller '33; Leah George: I'd like to ask you for the next dance, Gladys, but all the cars are occupied.

THERE ARE MANY GOOD SWIMMERS ENTERED IN OLYMPICS FROM STATES

George Kojac, 100-meter back stroke champ in the 1928 Olympiad representing Rutgers University and the N. Y. A. C. holds all world records for this event and is America's ace in the 100-meter free style, since Johnny Weissmuller's prime event and trophy hunting ground.

Buster Crabbe of the L. A. A. C. holds the world record in the 300 yard medley, the 880 yard free style and the one-mile free style. Manolo Kaldo, Hawaiian [illegible] over the [illegible] children are almost literally born in the water, also of the L. A. A. C., is national champ in the 100 and 200 yard breast stroke. In the Olympics, he will swim the 100 and 400 meter breast stroke and the 100-meter back stroke. Kaldo's brother, Manuela, looks with undisguised interest on the gold medals for the 100 and 400 meters free style events.

Johnny Schmeiler of Michigan University is counted upon as an outstanding American hope in the 400- and 1,500-meter free style events, as is Dick Degner of the same alma mater, in the diving events. The nautical boys of the United States Naval Academy are looking for Cadet Thompson to pull up anchors with a might "Ahoy" in the 100-meter free style and carry the Academy name to victory.

Mickey Riley of the University of Southern California, and "Dutch" Smith will mix things with Dick Degner as the three outstanding American diving prospects.

Foreign Opposition

If past efforts count for anything, Sweden and Germany will furnish most of the threats in the swimming events outside of the United States.

Arne Borg of Sweden still holds the 1,500-meter free style record with the right honorable time, so to speak, of 19 min., 7.2 sec. and the 400-meter breast stroke record made by Herr Rademacher, 5 min., 50.2 sec.

Hans Wolfram, famous German all-around athlete, points out significantly: "Germany participated in 1928 for the first time since the war and astonished the world by obtaining second place, and all this in spite of four terrible years of war and ten struggling years that came after it."

FROSH SHOW STRENGTH BY DEFEATING BURLINGTON HIGH TRACK TEAM

Tudhope's Charges Exhibit a Well-balanced Team With Plenty of Good Material

Frosh Have Slight Lead Tuesday Night

Chris Meligonis started the meet off Thursday, winning the century in the rather slow time of 10.6. Lamson, Burlington's sprint star, finished about a yard behind. Third place was hotly contested, but Hershberg of Burlington finally beat out Rogers by a matter of inches.

Red Cook, the Kittens' versatile weight man, tossed the shot for 43 ft. ½ in. Dodds and Kaufman took the other places for Burlington, both doing over 39 ft. In case these distances sound like record-breakers remember that an interscholastic shot weighs only twelve pounds.

The 220 low hurdles was a hotly contested event. Syme led until the eighth hurdle but lost his stride and was nosed out by Connor, a B. H. S. man. Puffer, Burlington, place third. Time, 27.4.

The mile was a walkaway for the frosh. Charlie Jackson and Dusty White finished with a lead of about fifty yards over Mitchell. They took the lead in the second lap and were never headed. Time 4:51.4.

The 440 was the most interesting event of the day. Charlie Howe got off to a good start and led on the first three turns, but was passed on the home stretch by Dodds, Burlington's long-legged weight man. However Dodds stumbled and fell a few yards from the tape and only got a second. Sammy Rogers, trailing on the first turn, put on a great burst of speed to finish third.

Tony Nevulis showed up well with the discus, hurling the pancake 98 ft. 5 in. Dodds, B. H. S., was second with 95 ft., and Red Cook garnered third with 94 ft. 6 in.

Dodds, the B. H. S. weight star, bettered his distance with the javelin over 10 feet, winning with a throw of 144 ft. 3 in. At Lyndon Institute he only did 133 ft. 11 in. Kaufman, Burlington, placed second, Moore gaining third for the frosh.

The end of the day saw the frosh leading by the scant margin of five points, the score being 34-29. The Kittens won five out of seven firsts, but Burlington managed to get most of the second and thirds.

The other night at Detroit University, a junior was awarded first prize for wearing the worst looking clothes to a depression dance. Later, it was discovered that the winner had no intention of competing, but had only dropped in for a moment on his way home. And so, of course the judges had to nonchalantly light a you-know-what (all advertisements must be paid for).

FOOTBALL MEN WORKING HARD AT DAILY PRACTICE IN HEAVY SPRING ATTIRE

Coach Burke Congratulates Men on Zeal and Pep They Have Put Into Hot Training Session

BURKE TO TRAIN CENTERS BEFORE REGULAR WORK

Boxes and Blocking Dummies Still Nemesis of Many

Spring football candidates are still donning the moleskins every afternoon and turning out in numbers which have diminished little since the blaze of enthusiasm which characterized the first day's practice. In a temperature in which baseball men are sweating in sleeveless frocks and track men are feeling comfortable in shorts and jerseys the grid men clad in padded pants, heavy shoulder pads and woolen jerseys are still faithfully bowling over dummies.

Special practice is held every afternoon starting at three-thirty for all men out for positions at center and for those berths which necessitate a knowledge of kicking and receiving. These specialists are given a little private practice before the rest of the horde arrives on the field at four o'clock. Coach Burke tutors the centers in snapping the ball back to the backfield while Assistant Coach Sutton takes charge of the punters and receivers.

At four o'clock the various groups are assigned to the assistant coaches. The important task of developing some fast ends for next fall is supervised by John H. Burke the supreme coaching potentate, himself.

Two more weeks will finish up this spring's practice. "The men are certainly to be congratulated," commented Coach Burke. "They have all worked hard and have been remarkably faithful in attending practice. The last day has not definitely been decided on as yet. The nineteenth, twentieth or twenty-first will probably see the last of football until next fall."

The good weather of late has enabled the men to get out on the field every day. Football fundamentals are still the rule of the day. Bodily contact such as blocking, tackling, and work on the dummies is still drilled into the men.

A number of the simpler plays have been given out and the men run through these rapidly, familarizing themselves with them for next September.

One day out of the week the gridmen put into practice the theories which they have amassed. On this day they have a scrimmage which acts as an outlet for any superfluous exuberance which still exists after five days of practice.

While one group is busy in one part of the field downing the solid tackling dummies other groups, of eleven men each, march down towards the goal lines, smothering their imaginary opponents in smooth-working, invincible plays.

"Aristotle was a Greek mathematician who was successful in understanding geometry; Islam is a shepherd who heard God talking in a field; Dante is a Greek philosopher who believed in life after death—something which was unusual for men of his time; the Moslems were a gift from heaven to the cities of Europe." So read a few of the answers on a recent freshman history exam at Rutgers.

CAT'S MEOW

—Sports Editor—

Looking over the account of the track meet last week we find that several ineligibles ran or participated with the team. It would seem that if a man is ... scarring the thing to do would be too keep away from athletics entirely so that he will have more time to study. The ruling seems rather foolish because in this manner it would necessitate a complete layoff in sports, which is admittedly bad for one used to athletics. If a person ... to college, it would also seem that it is his own fault whether he stayed in or not, and it would be far fairer to allow a man full freedom to exercise his own judgment.

The game with the Army this year ought to be a hummer. Last Wednesday they defeated N. Y. U. by one run. Last year the Vermont nine nosed out the game with the Army.

The Middlebury track team decisively downed the Montreal Athletic Association. What will Vermont do against them in the track meet at Centennial Field during Junior Week?

Overheard at the Hospital

Number please—3063—No?—6303—Wait in the hall please.—May I sit with you?—Do you have a cold too?—An infection of the ear? That might be serious; you know that sometimes turns into mastoid trouble.—Did you read in the paper about the man who died of an infection of his hand?—Oh, I only have a cold.—It is my first visit here.—Isn't it a swell place?—Are they very rough?—You say you have been waiting ten minutes.—Well, I just have to be home in twenty minutes.—What did you think of the election last week?—Which party did your frat support?—Oh, we were poor choosers and didn't get a single office—did the nurse say White?—Yes, ma'am.—I'll be seeing you, sometime.

TENNIS TEAM TO PLAY NEW YORK TEACHERS' COLLEGE JUNIOR WEEK

The varsity tennis team's second home engagement comes next week when they meet the New York State Teachers College team on the University courts. The courts which are usually ready for play earlier in the season, have not been ready this year because of poor weather conditions. As a result the team has not had its usual amount of practice.

The netmen have not performed very well, but considering the fact that they have been really unseasoned in outdoor practice, they have done fairly well. On the annual Massachusetts invasion, they came home with an empty scalp belt, losing matches to Amherst, Worcester Tech and Boston University.

The men who will probably play for the Green and Gold netmen are Captain Woodward, Hugh Wilson, Norman Myers, Bernard Mulcahy and Bob Holbrook. All have begun to develop into their spring form and will be ready to take on the Teachers' College team with the old gusto that has usually characterized the tennis matches in the past.

The match will take place on Friday of Junior Week and will be one of the attractions at that time.

The entrance requirements at El Azhar University in Cairo, Egypt, include the memorizing of the Koran, Mohammedan Bible. The recitation takes approximately three days.

Stanford University co-eds get good grades because even sedate professors are not proof against the wiles of Cleopatra, while the poor men students have to burn midnight oil and toil unceasingly to get even passing marks. So charges a recent editorial in the the Stanford Daily. Clarkson Integrator.

DO YOU INHALE?

"Why bring that up?" —the cigarette trade asks!

FOR years there has been generally a striking avoidance of the word "inhale" in cigarette advertising. Why? Goodness only knows! For everybody inhales—knowingly or unknowingly! Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

That's why it's all-important to be certain that your cigarette smoke is pure and clean—to be sure that you don't inhale certain impurities.

Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question—for it has solved the problem! It gives you the protection you want... because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

"Fifty million smokers can't be wrong!" So whether you inhale knowingly or unknowingly—safeguard your delicate membranes!

ENGINEERS RETURN FROM A. I. E. E. CONVENTION

D. W. Jenks '34 and G. W. Patterson '34 returned Saturday night from Providence, R. I., where they attended the Northeastern District Convention of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. The special student day was Friday, but the students left early to attend certain of the regular sessions of the Convention.

Thursday morning's session consisted of a discussion of the problems of traffic control and the presentation of papers covering the various systems now in use. In the afternoon the students made an inspection trip of the larger installations of the Narragansett Electric Company near Providence, and of the trackless trolley installation of the United Electric Railways.

Friday morning was given over to the presentation and discussion of papers prepared by students in the engineering colleges in this district. At this session papers were presented by students from Harvard, Yale, M. I. T., University of New Hampshire, Cornell, and Rhode Island State. One paper which aroused considerable interest and controversial discussion was based on the use of the thyratron. This subject is one upon which Patterson recently spoke to the Vermont Branch. A similar paper was presented during the regular engineers' session Wednesday morning.

Friday afternoon they visited the plant of the Gorham Manufacturing Company, leading manufacturers of silverware and statuary. They were shown the various processes of stamping, engraving, chastening, plating, polishing, etc. Samples were not in evidence. This was followed by a trip through the engineering laboratories

AUTHORITY ON VERMONT FOLK SONG IS SPEAKER AT BLUESTOCKINGS TEA

Mrs. Helen Hartness Flanders Addresses Literary Group on Subject of Vermont Folk-lore

"Folk songs are intensely human, because human emotions seek expression in homely poetry set to music." Mrs. Helen Hartness Flanders made this statement at a tea sponsored by Bluestockings, at Grassmount, Thursday afternoon, May 5. Her topic was "Vermont Folk-Lore," and in the talk she described her research, begun at the request of Prof. Arthur Wallace Peach, for authentic Vermont folk-song, and also sang several of the ballads in something of the manner of the old ballad-singers. This research has led Mrs. Flanders to many interesting discoveries and, she says, is extremely fascinating, even though it takes a great deal of time and patience. To quote "The people who can sing these old Vermont folk-songs look just the same as those who can't, which adds zest to the pursuit."

At the beginning of her task, Mrs. Flanders was warned that she would get very little in the way of Vermont folk-songs, however, she has had very good results, finding in all a total of forty new Vermont ballads.

The ballads sung by Mrs. Flanders were "Cromwell Was An Angry Man," and another ballad discovered through a carpenter. The first is the story in verse of a man's adventures in housekeeping. Criticizing his wife's housekeeping, as many other men have done, she suggests that he try to do as well. He does, with amusing results. The conquest of France by King Henry V of England was the subject of the second ballad, which relates to the Battle of Agincourt. The story of the song is that a young girl, having refused the advances of one man, has married a house carpenter; then upon the return of the first man, she was persuaded to follow him to sea. The end of the song is the wreck of the ship.

Quoting Mrs. Flanders again, "In discovering folk songs one discovers people, and in discovering people one discovers different regions."

Many interesting cases were cited to show the wide range and fascination of the work. Sometimes a song cannot be recalled in full, and then there is a diligent search for another person who may know the same song. At other times the song without the tune is discovered. Even then, however, there is often some-

One Hundred Thirty-five Pieces of Art on Exhibition at Museum

One hundred thirty-five pieces of art were on view at the Fleming Museum all last week, forming the second annual exhibition of paintings of the Northern Vermont Artists. Those at the exhibition found it difficult to decide on the best of the art shown. There were oil paintings, water colors and pastels, pencil drawings, and etchings, with the best of each kind represented. Portraits, landscapes, paintings of animals and still life differed from each other so greatly that it was hard to choose the best pieces. Among the exhibitors were Helen M. Hager, assistant instructor in art at U. V. M.; Mrs. F. Waite Elder, house director at Slade Hall; and F. P. Colburn '34.

Most striking of all the exhibits was the painting, "Solitude," by Maxfield Parish. In this picture Parish has demonstrated his marvelous ability to catch light and shadow on his canvas. The scene is typical of his works with brilliant blue and purple hues trailing off into dull shades.

In striking rapport to the sunlight and shadows of Maxfield Parish is a picture by F. N. Pluff of Burlington. In his picture entitled "Peasantry" the artist has given a fine exhibition of modernistic art at its best. The canvas is the largest canvas of the exhibition and ought to be of special interest to those interested in modern paintings.

In 'Still Life,' Walter S. Durkee of Boston has done a remarkably fine portrayal of a brass samovar surrounded by a green bowl and small china figures. He has captured in his oil paintings a remarkable representation of substance of each object. They are intensely real. Durkee has reduced the solidity of Cezanne to miniature objects.

There are several remarkably fine portraits on display. They furnish an excellent opportunity for character study. The portrait of S. C. K. is extremely well done. That of Edward Pinney Cushman possesses a marvelous facial expression.

A black and white drawing entitled "Dutch Woman" by Miss Yvonne E. Bachand, another Burlington artist, is a fine study in handling light and shadow. In the picture one sees all the characteristics of a stolid Dutch peasant woman.

Miss Helen Hager, a teacher at the University, has submitted numerous fine pastels and oils. "The Orange Blouse," "Agnes," and "Zinnias" are some excellent examples of her work.

In "Abandoned," F. H. Chadburne has transferred to his canvas a scene that is so common to the Vermont winter landscape. A deserted farmhouse stands out alone and forlorn in a snow-covered vista. The picture is an excellent reproduction.

F. N. Pluff has departed from his modernistic style evident in "Peasantry" and painted an oil, "Hopi Indian." This picture shows a stoical Hopi squaw, done in rich brown with shiny black braids, gaudy yellow dress and all.

... fine etchings are on exhibit. Kuth ... Swett of Camden, S. C., has entered several etchings or dry points remarkable in their minute detail and intricate design.

There are also some commendable drawings done by children on exhibit. M. Lenny Josko of Westfield has some excellent photographs on view in a booth of their own.

"The Old Middlebury Chapel," painted by Joseph P. Peck is a remarkably true representation. The gray, ivy-covered walls are suggestive of quiet and seclusion.

Final Preparations Made For Junior Week Peerade

Annual Event Will Include Entries From Fraternities, Sororities and Dormitories—Floats Must Have Reference to Junior Week Play

LAST FRENCH LECTURE TO BE MONDAY NIGHT

Prof. Fernand Baldensperger will give the last French lecture in the Fleming Museum auditorium, Monday, May 16, at 8 p.m. His subject is to be "Une Crise du Romain."

Professor Baldensperger is here at the special invitation of Mrs. Paul D. Evans, president of the Alliance Française, who met him while in Paris last summer. He is a correspondent of the Institute, co-director of the "Revue de Litterature Comparée," and a professor at the Sorbonne. Professor Baldensperger is one of the outstanding men at the Sorbonne and, under the name of Fernand Baldensperger, is a well-known French writer and poet. His works are numerous, and as a critic he is the authority on Alfred de Vigny, Balzac, and Chateaubriand. As a director of the "Revue de Litterature Comparée" his contributions have been outstanding. His books and articles are too numerous to mention.

This is the last French lecture, sponsored by the Alliance Française, of the year. It will be followed by a business meeting for the election of officers and necessary committees. Everyone is invited and asked to bring a friend. The lecture is open and free to the public.

AUDITORIUM TO BE SCENE OF ANNUAL JUNIOR PROM

Murphy's Royal Arcadians Will Furnish Music—Junior Week Queen Will be Chosen at Prom

"Our garden party will be the best and most original Prom to be held in years," says Fraser Drew, chairman of the committee, in commenting on the annual affair so dear to the hearts of all juniors. The Memorial Auditorium is being transformed into a beautiful old-fashioned garden, where the fair damsels and there will be fair damsels, for from among those present will be chosen the Junior Prom Queen—and their swains will dance to the music of Murphy's Royal Arcadians. Only those attending will be allowed to vote or be voted for in this contest. Admission, including favors, will be six dollars. Dancing will be from nine o'clock until one.

Tables will be scattered here and there throughout the garden, for cabaret service. According to F. J. Massucco, the reservations for tables are selling very fast, and those who desire them must get them soon. The tables are $1.50.

Dean and Mrs. Elijah J. Swift will be the guests of the Junior Class at the Prom. Professor and Mrs. C. E. Braun, and Coach and Mrs. J. E. Burke will chaperon the affair.

FINAL MUSIC RECITAL WILL BE GIVEN SUNDAY

Musically speaking, the beginning of the end approaches. The first of a series of final music recitals will be given by Professor Bennett next Sunday, May 15. He will present his second organ program of this year at 4 o'clock, in the Ira Allen Chapel.

The University students of piano, voice, and violin are to present programs in the Fleming Museum auditorium, and a choir concert will be given there. The dates for these are as yet undecided. The concluding recital of this series will be by students of organ and voice, with the Chapel as the concert hall, and four o'clock in the afternoon as the time, on Sunday, May 22.

The audience at the Tufts debate at Brandon could be identified only because it outnumbered the debaters by one. Seven people were present at the beginning: President and Mrs. [illegible], the [illegible] coach, a young man and his girl, a janitor, and a reporter. And the peculiar custom of holding Saturday night dances for debaters still exists!

WIG AND BUSKIN WILL AWARD CUPS TO WINNERS

Once again the grand and glorious Junior Week Peerade will make its colorful way through the streets of Burlington. Once again twenty-eight fraternities, sororities, and dormitories will vie for the beautiful silver cups now on display on Church Street with floats advertising the Junior Week play, "Hay Fever" in the inaugurating event of Junior Week.

On Thursday, May 12, the artistic contraptions will go down College Street, up Church Street, turn to the right on Cherry Street, roll up Winooski Avenue to Pearl Street, turn left and proceed to Church Street, where it will turn left again, and wend its way down Church Street and back to the starting point. As the peerade passes the Hotel Sherwood, the various artistic contraptions will be judged by judges in the lobby. The judges are Lieutenant-Colonel Black, Prof. D. B. Carroll, and Dean G. F. Eckhard.

If the peerade is longer than at present expected, it will start down Main Street instead of College, but regardless of where it goes, it will be led by the College R. O. T. C. band, under the direction of Joe Lechnyr, as peerades of the past have been. Speaking of past peerades the peerades cups last year were won by Phi Delta Theta for the fraternities, and Kappa Alpha Theta for the sororities. As usual, there are two engraved silver cups to be presented one to the fraternity producing the best float, and one to the sorority or dormitory devising the most ingenious exhibit. These are to be presented by Wig and Buskin, men's dramatic society.

"It will be bigger and better than ever," was the brief but meaningly reply of Chairman F. P. Kenyon '33 to a Cynic reporter's request for comment. Serving with him on the Peerade Committee are Marion Urie, Dorine Lee, R. M. Bagley, and M. L. Bergman, all juniors.

HONORARY EDUCATION SOCIETY HOLDS ANNUAL ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Kappa Phi Kappa, the honorary education society, recently held elections for the year 1932-33. Those who will serve are: President, J. H. Farwell '32; vice-president, A. J. Young '33; treasurer, M. A. Valerio '34; corresponding secretary, H. F. Howard '34; recording secretary, T. D. Sargent '34.

Farwell is a member of Kappa Sigma and sports editor of the Cynic; he was on last year's varsity basketball team and assistant sports editor of the 1933 Ariel.

Young is a member of Phi Mu Delta, and is on the track team.

Valerio is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and was on the varsity basketball team. He is also a member of the newly formed "V" Club.

Howard belongs to Phi Mu Delta. He played on the freshman football team last year.

Sargent is a member of Sigma Delta, and played on the freshman football team last year.

The other present members of the society are: [illegible] '32, H. W. Davis '32, O. W. Jay '32, R. J. Lavington '32, S. H. Manning '32, M. B. Mansell '32, E. L. Preston '32, and C. F. Wright '32.

Kappa Phi Kappa was organized May 13, 1927. Since its inception it has initiated sixty-one men, including the following [illegible] members: Prof. B. C. Douglass, Prof. B. H. Williams, Prof. K. J. Sheldon, Prof. S. D. Meredith, and Mr. M. H. Lantagne. The society's aim is to promote the cause of education by encouraging men of high moral ideals and moral character in the study of the principles and problems of education. It is open to all men who have completed two courses in education at the University, and to those who are enrolled in at least six hours of education courses.

Entrance examinations for co-eds at the University of Chicago revealed that only one wants to get married. Hope this explodes the notion that co-ed schools are "marriage factories."

In order to [illegible] the jaundiced impulse, it takes [illegible] comedians in the east to bring us [illegible] to normal. Her Majesty, Love," [illegible] title of this picture is like that.

Wednesday and Thursday

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., attempts to re-[illegible] the dashing performances [illegible] associated with the older [illegible]. Loretta Young is the main [illegible] of his antics in "I Like Your [illegible]." Where have we heard that one [illegible]. Our hero, the bashful hometown [illegible] sets out to see the world and we see [illegible] happens when he meets the "girl." We sure do learn fast away from home!

INTERESTING EXHIBITION OF SKULLS AT MUSEUM

One of the treasures of the [illegible] Museum is a [illegible] Venezuelan Indian. It is on [illegible] exhibit in the American [illegible] in the Perkins Room. The [illegible] three inches high and [illegible] inches wide. It is [illegible] from the back of the [illegible] two inches wide. It is [illegible] except for the ears, which [illegible] large. It is dark brown, [illegible] brown, tightly curled hair [illegible] mustache. There are a few [illegible] in both the scalp and beard [illegible] and is receding the brow, [illegible] the eyes were slits, which [illegible] painted in them. The nose [illegible] flat, suggesting the negroid [illegible] the Indian. The mouth [illegible] is scarred across the lips [illegible] suggesting a certain amount [illegible]. There are lines from the [illegible] mouth, and from the [illegible] mouth, to the jaw.

The history of the head [illegible] thing like this. The [illegible] Jabbro tribe was at [illegible] next day they would descend [illegible] below them and this time [illegible] cool in capturing their [illegible] customarily barried their [illegible] chief had once nearly [illegible] did was to slash him, [illegible] leaving a scar there for [illegible] life. The enemy leader [illegible] been referred to as Scarface.

The chief left the [illegible] men, and spoke to them: [illegible] shall not go with you. I [illegible] this thing now. However [illegible] for your leader my son [illegible] his first battle and the [illegible] prophesied well of it." [illegible] went on again with wilder [illegible] than before, for the young [illegible] favorite of the tribe.

With the rising of the [illegible] ceased and the warriors [illegible] march and the battle [illegible] tion and encouragement [illegible] leader the Jabbros [illegible] their enemy. The battle [illegible] clerly the young chief [illegible] treated by an older chief [illegible] across his mouth. He knew [illegible] that this was Scarface, [illegible] slightly not with fear, but [illegible] he remembered the saying [illegible] doctor that every thing [illegible] well. With this encouragement [illegible] entered into the encounter [illegible] while succeeded in killing [illegible] chieftain. There beside [illegible] warrior of his tribe. [illegible] tions, the youth cut off [illegible] as close to the trunk as [illegible] the battle continued. The [illegible] ever, missed the leadership, and were scattered.

The old warrior then showed [illegible] son how to prepare this [illegible]. He cut the scalp along the [illegible] head from the apex down [illegible] very slowly and carefully [illegible] scalp and the face skin from [illegible] which he threw away. Next [illegible] he tied the skin to a vine and [illegible] it in a pot of boiling water [illegible] there for a while. After a [illegible] moved it and hung it on a [illegible] while he went to the river [illegible] found three round, smooth [illegible]. These he heated in the fire [illegible] he sewed up the head except [illegible]. Through this hole he inserted [illegible] stones one at a time, to [illegible] maining flesh. This was [illegible] of the shrinking process. [illegible] the same thing with hot sand.

While the trophy was still [illegible] shrinking he carefully molded [illegible] and especially the features, [illegible] gained its human shape and [illegible]. Such was the success of [illegible] little battle. The trophy [illegible] years as a treasure of an [illegible] in Ecuador, came into the [illegible] scientist, and was finally [illegible] Museum, where many people [illegible] admire the cleverness of the [illegible].

Sword Exhibit

An exhibit of the sword[illegible] tions is now being prepared [illegible] presented in about two weeks. [illegible] now used for Eskimo [illegible] Ethnology Room in the east [illegible] Museum. In the collection [illegible] sentation sword of the [illegible] pont. It is long, curved [illegible] chased, and enclosed in a [illegible]. Another is a long thin [illegible] in an antelope horn. [illegible] curious of these pieces [illegible] dagger.

There are two Ashanti [illegible] with brass-bound handles [illegible] filed notches on the [illegible] may be marks of the victims. Another weapon [illegible] dagger with a bar of [illegible] to protect the hand with [illegible] bar between them. There [illegible] which were not yet proof [illegible] of writing.

College training in the use of the institutions of the country is often woefully lacking, according to Asst. Prof. Erwart Matthews of the Wesleyan University political science department who believes that nine percent of the men who graduate from Wesleyan are "politically illiterate."

Women students at Baldwin-Wallace College are twenty-five percent brighter than the men students, according to Dean Fred Roehm.

With three as the perfect grade, girls averaged 2.009, while men rated 1.581 for the first semester. The average grade was 1.796. The number of men and co-eds is about equal among the 575 students.

THE FORUM EN AVANT

Under the guidance of Dean Addison E. Hibbard, Northwestern University's College of Liberal Arts took a radical step toward Wednesday to abolish marks and ranking and to grant honor and pass degrees to undergraduates in its midst. Under a concentrated study art special comprehensive examinations are offered and reading periods are provided before examinations through the revised curriculum adopted by the Illinois institution.

More striking is the pass and honor system, to be used in degrees. Already employed in some Canadian universities and in use on the continent, the system provides that each junior at the outset of his senior study choose between working for a higher degree and taking a pass degree. The former will require special research with the purchase of optional attendance on advanced courses and independent study.

In the words of Dean Hibbard the new curriculum is intended to accomplish three purposes:

"To give the student added incentive and freedom in working out his own education.

"To distinguish between the serious superior student interested in securing an education and the average or socially minded student who goes to college largely because it is the thing to do.

"To add greater unity and consecutiveness to the students' program of study."

The Daily Northwestern's cataloguing of the new plan is as follows:

(1) Two degrees are specified—an Honors and a Pass degree.

(2) Fields of concentration replace the former major and minor requirements. Each candidate for a degree from the college must elect a field not later than the beginning of his junior year.

(3) Each candidate for an Honors degree must pass a comprehensive examination covering his field of concentration, the examination to be given at the close of the senior year.

(4) Reading periods before examination periods are provided for students in advanced courses. Social events, student activities, public lectures will be restricted by the college during the reading periods.

(5) The present work in independent study will be further developed.

(6) Correlation courses to give unity, sequence and coherence to the work in the college, eventually will be offered.

(7) Proficiency examinations for freshman and sophomore courses may be taken by students who have particularly trained themselves for those courses. Students passing these proficiency tests may be excused from formal requirements.

(8) Each department will prepare an outline of each course offered, stating the object of the course, content, organization, and principal problems dealt with in the course.

Educators are unanimous in their praise of Northwestern's step, and it is hailed as the greatest achievement in modern education in its class since the innovation of the University of Chicago plan established by President Hutchins several years ago. It embodies the ideals of highly concentrated education, education that permits the undergraduate to seek out for himself and at his convenience that which he earnestly desires. If Northwestern's fight was long and hard to gain such a system, it has not gone unrequited.—N. C. Tar Heel.

SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM AT COLUMBIA WILL OFFER PRACTICAL NEWS WORK

Eight-hour-a-day Newspaper Job for Five Days Per Week to be Given Students

No more grades, no more quizzes, no more outside reading and no more banging away at typewriters until the small hours of the morning in order to get a story in for criticism. The new plan which has been adopted by the Columbia School of Journalism and approved by Pres Nicholas Murray Butler has done away with all that and set forth instead a system which heretofore has been considered only as a theory by journalism schools and dreamed of by journalism students Now it is to be put into practice for the first time next year and both the faculty and the student body are confident of its success

The journalism building is to be turned into a newspaper office literally—except for the publishing of a paper Instead of fifty minute classes all six days of the week an eight hour a day newspaper job for five days of the week is to be given to each student. While the subject of the Vermont folk [illegible] be exposed be accurately predicted, according to Mrs Flanders, but it is probable that those which have been published will not grow any further, as time generally causes the end of new developments in folk literature On the other hand, there are still many unwritten folk songs which many continue to grow and develop.

All those at the tea and any others interested in her particular field of literary research were invited to join in the work by Mrs. Flanders. In doing this, however, one should know a number of published ballads, since the only ones of value to collectors are those handed down solely by word of mouth. Educated musicians are not a good source of folklore. When a new folk ballad is discovered, the finder should ask for as much information as possible about the song, and especially how the person learned it, as the question of origin is important. These ballads may originate in Scotland, England, or Ireland, as well as our own country. Ballads may be sent to Mrs. Flanders, and anyone who sends a ballad should send it with his full name and all possible information about it.

After the talk, tea was served by the members of Bluestockings.

Out for blood to avenge their disastrous defeat at the hands of Norwich, the varsity nine decisively trounced Boston University 11-6 in the game played Saturday on Centennial Field.

Hurling his first full game for the Cats Speed Farmer struck out six men and succeeded in scattering the hits about so as to do little damage. Shutting the opposing nine down to three hits in the first seven innings Farmer went in to do some good work with the stick by banging out three hits himself.

Orrie Jay pulled off the feature plays of the day. Corson had scarcely planted himself on the mound when Orrie connected with one of the first balls pitched and knocked it out for a home run.

He performed fully as well out in the field, bagging five catches and performing a trick catch in the last stanza of the game when he made a lunge for a long hit by Bass on the full run, nabbed it and rolled over several times, still clinging to the ball.

Orrie's homer in the first concluded the scoring until the fourth inning when Winant got to first on an error and McKay hit a fast ball out past third base. Talbert then came up to hit a two-bagger scoring Winant and McKay and crossing home plate soon after on a hit by Bowers.

Throughout the game the Terriers were completely outclassed by the Catamounts. Three B. U. pitchers went in to try to stop the heavy hitting Vermonters. Fifteen hits were secured by Vermont including the homer and three doubles.

The fourth was the big inning for Vermont. Farmer came through in the latter part of the fourth with a hit that scored McKay and Bowers.

Boston scored only once on a hit by Woods who came in on Bass' single.

The Terriers made a final bid for the game in the seventh and eighth innings. Four runs were amassed for the Boston team in the eighth.

Vermont made one more error than B. U. with a total of four. Six hits were secured off both Corson and Lajka while Campion, the last B. U. pitcher granted three.

Three Boston men got to first sack on errors while only one Vermont man got there in that fashion.

Talbert, Bowers and Lowder of B. U. all obtained two-base hits.

The B. U. game put a halt to the eight game losing streak through which Vermont has been passing and started the team out right on the first game in a six-game schedule to take place at home.

VERMONT TAKES BOSTON UNIVERSITY

CAT'S MEOW

SPORTS EDITOR

That 12 to 2 swamping at the hands of Norwich which the Catamounts suffered Thursday came as a distinct surprise to nearly everyone. Although a few had conceded Norwich a victory on the grounds that Chet Rutkowski was not to occupy the box for Vermont. Such a score was entirely unexpected.

Coach Larry Gardner's decision to send Hoyt to the mound seemed to meet with the general approval of the Horsemen who walloped his offerings and also Spicer's for a grand total of eighteen hits, enough to win any old ball game.

However, the team showed that they could come back and hand out a little themselves Saturday afternoon when they evened the season's count with Boston University by chalking up a 11 to 6 victory.

We were particularly pleased to see Gus Farmer go the entire distance against the Terriers. Although weakening somewhat toward the end he pitched a very creditable game.

Razor Talbert seems to have filled the left field hole, and is turning in consistently creditable performances. Dame Rumor has it that the Razor is going to control the destinies of the Monkton team next season, otherwise known as the Mongrels this coming summer.

Next Saturday the B. U. team goes to Keene to the seventh game on the schedule, we also, and boy, Harvard rolled up twenty runs on them.

Another bright spot in the past week's activities was the batting and fielding of Orrie Jay. Orrie's showing made Dartmouth, Yale and Clark look bad.

The defeat of the Dartmouth track team by six of the ten men who represented the Big Green in the Hanover meet.

Swartz and Lanahan, the kittens' battery, look like the real goods. Only Monday will show some of the latest changes should appear.

The defeat of the track team at Worcester this week-end should serve as a warning to the players that they must be up to their top notch form if they expect to repeat.

Cornell 4, Penn 2. Rugby is the game. Come to Burlington next spring, Cornell. Then we'll show you.

VERMONT '35 BRINGS HOME TWO SCALPS

Swartz and Lanahan Pitch Kittens to Easy Victories Over Green '35 and Clark School

In their second game of the season the freshman baseball nine trounced the Dartmouth yearlings to the tune of 13 to 6.

Although the freshmen were outhit 11 to 8 they were fortunate enough to come through at the proper time and hand them their fifth defeat.

Swartz pitched the entire game for the frosh with Skinner on the receiving end. Dartmouth used two pitchers in an attempt to halt the freshmen. Remsley and Reagan were on the mound for Dartmouth with Clark as catcher.

The kittens jumped to a lead in the first inning, scoring three runs. Four more were piled up in the third, but Dartmouth retaliated with five runs. Four more runs for the locals in the fifth and two in the seventh put them in a comfortable lead.

The feature play of the game was a shoestring catch by MacDonald, out in the left garden for the Kittens. He made an almost impossible pick-up of Gurla's long fly.

The kitten nine received much acclaim when it brought home the bacon in the game with the Clark School ball nine. Langham pitched a stellar game for the victors and Skinner caught him very capably. It was the team's third consecutive win in the freshman schedule. Doc Newton's charges have overpowered three very strong rivals this season.

DO YOU INHALE?

Why are other cigarettes silent on this vital question?

DO you inhale? Seven out of ten people know they do. The other three inhale without realizing it. Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question . . . because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Do you inhale? Remember—more than 20,000 physicians, after Luckies had been furnished them for tests, basing their opinions on their smoking experience, stated that Luckies are less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes.

Do you inhale? Of course you do! So be careful. Safeguard your delicate membranes!

MISS JACKSON SPEAKS TO WOMEN STUDENTS ON CHOOSING A VOCATION

Individual Conferences Here Arranged for Each Woman Student to Speak With Miss Jackson

Miss Florence Jackson of Wellesley, Mass., who has made a specialty of giving vocational advice to young people about to choose a career, was here Monday and Tuesday, May 9 and 10. Individual conferences with her were available to any University woman who cared to avail herself of the opportunity offered on those two days. Yellow sheets have been posted in the Y room for some time so that those who desired conferences could indicate their wish in advance. Besides individual conferences, two students could see Miss Jackson at the same time if they so desired. It was requested that those intending to see Miss Jackson first get a sheet of questions from the Dean's office, which were to be filled out previous to the actual interview in order to facilitate getting at the actual individual problems. A list of books on the selection of a career was also offered to anyone interested by the Dean of Women.

Gives Several Talks

Besides the conferences, Miss Jackson gave one talk at Grassmount Monday at 4, another at the same time and place Tuesday, and another at dinner at Robinson Hall, Tuesday night. In these talks, which were open to any woman student, she stressed the following points: Before choosing a life work, one should take account of any special abilities or talent that she may possess, and also of any work that she may want to take up, trying especially to make sure that this work will be congenial to her and that she has the particular abilities required in that field; then, having chosen as carefully as possible, she should train herself carefully and painstakingly for the profession; and finally, Miss Jackson emphasized the necessity of personality and the ability to establish good contacts with people.

List of Questions

The following questions, intended to teach the person about to choose a vocation to analyze the professions in which she may be interested, were given to those who had conferences with Miss Jackson, to fill out before the interview.

1. a. Name the occupation you are to discuss and name its main branches.
   b. Name the branch you are considering in this paper.
2. For this occupation
   a. What preparation, academic or otherwise, is necessary or desirable?
   b. What college and other experiences are helpful?
   c. What is the actual work you are likely to have to do?
   d. What are the working hours and vacation periods?
   e. What are the surroundings likely to be and what kind of associates will you have?
   f. What steps must you take to get a position?
   g. To what does the occupation lead?
   h. What remuneration can you expect, first and last, and what other compensation does the occupation offer?
   i. What is the importance of the occupation to society?
3. How many years do you expect to spend in this occupation?
4. How much time and money can you spend in preparing yourself?
5. In this occupation, what qualities of character are required? Do you possess them? If not, can you get them?
6. List your best abilities and personality traits and see which are called for in this occupation.

A list of books on vocations is also available to all interested.

1933 ARIEL IS OUT FIRST DAY OF JUNIOR WEEK

Dedicated to Memory of Walter Hill Crockett and to Ideas of Accurate Account of the Three Years in Colleges

JUNIOR QUESTIONNAIRE REVEALS CAMPUS LEADERS

Names of Wood, Taft, Colburn, Drew, Donaghy, Boyd, Odell, Kiel Are Among the Prominent Students

Once again the Ariel of the junior class is published and presented to the campus on the first day of junior week for the year of 1933. Not only is the annual out on time but it has been exclaimed the best year book that the campus has known by the general opinion of the student body. The 1933 Ariel is dedicated to the memory of Walter Hill Crockett, lately deceased, and contains several novel features. Instead of group pictures of the fraternities, the section bears the individual portraits of the members and is rather strikingly colored. The Ariel is also founded upon the historical idea, beginning with the founding of the State and University and giving complete details of the history and events of the State up to the present time.

The purposes of the editors in preparing this book is seen in the foreword: "In the compilation of this edition of the Ariel, we have had two purposes in mind—to make an accurate and lasting record of our college days and to make a slight humble contribution to the history of the glorious State in which our University is located." The latter purpose is shown by the dedication of the book to Mr. Crockett and by a tribute to "Walter Hill Crockett—Vermonter," by Professor Dean and the brief pictorial résumé of the State in which we are.

The junior questionnaire shows Wood to be the most popular man, also the most all-round. Taft is the most popular woman, with Odell second and Perry third.

For the men Colburn is the hardest worker; Drew is most apt to succeed; Fischer is best looking and best dressed, also most conceited; Donaghy has the most pep and the smoothest line; and Woodard has the most brains.

For the women Boyd is the hardest worker and is most apt to succeed; Odell is best looking and has the most pep; Kiel is the best-dressed and has the smoothest line; Boyd has the most brains; and Armstrong is the best athlete.

The favorite instructors are Evans, Tupper and Rowell. The favorite fraternities (only women voting) are Kappa Sigma, Sigma Nu and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

The book has green ornaments on the pages and the cover is dark green with a small Vermont map forming the center of the cover scheme.

PRES. BAILEY SPEAKS AT BOULDER INITIATION

Drew Elected President and Colburn Vice-President at Ceremony at the Boulder

Fraser B. Drew of Randolph was chosen president of the incoming Boulder Society at the annual initiation ceremony at the Boulder, Tuesday evening. Russell F. Colburn of Burlington became vice-president, and Lionel E. Reed of Wolcott, secretary-treasurer.

After the initiation ceremony at the Boulder, at which time the new men took oath and received their pins, the outgoing and incoming societies were entertained at a banquet at the Hotel Vermont by President Guy W. Bailey, honorary member of the Boulder Society. President Bailey addressed the members and as toastmaster introduced each man. Dean Elijah Swift of the College of Arts and Sciences and Active Dean George F. Eckhard of the College of Engineering were guests at the banquet.

At McGill University, this question was recently debated, "Resolved, That it is better to be drunk than to be in love."

INSPECTION OF R. O. T. C. IS CULMINATING EVENT OF MILITARY YEAR HERE

Col. J. F. Gohn, Inf. D. O. L., and Capt. E. G. McMillan Will Be Inspecting Officers

The Annual Federal Inspection of the U. V. M., R. O. T. C. Unit, which will be held Friday and Saturday, May 20 and 21, is the culminating event of the Military year. Since 1915, the University of Vermont has, nearly every year, rated as "excellent" in the First Corps Area which extends over all New England. This year, Col. Joseph F. Gohn, Inf. D. O. L., of the First Corps Area Headquarters in Boston, and Capt. E. G. McMillan of the 97th Division, Burlington will be the inspecting officers.

When military units were established in various colleges in the country, some incentive toward excellent work was needed, so the Distinguished College Rating was given to all colleges which satisfactorily or excellently passed a Federal Inspection. Only certain colleges which appeared to deserve an inspection were visited. These colleges, which passed the inspection, received the right to wear on the uniform a star denoting excellent rating.

Vermont Gets D. C. Rating

During the years 1915, 16, 17, 18, 21, 22, 24, 25 and 27, Vermont received the Distinguished College Rating. In 1928, the regulations were changed so that each commander in each Corps Area was required to inspect each unit in his area. The rating was also changed to three possibilities: 1. Excellent. 2. Satisfactory. 3. Unsatisfactory. The units rating "excellent" are presented with the right to wear the star upon the uniform. The new regulations thus give more honor to the star-wearing privilege since not all the colleges visited receive it as they did under the old Distinguished College Rating system. In 1929, the Vermont unit rated excellent and has kept the star up to the present year. Speaking of this excellent rating, Col. F. F. Black, head of the Military Department, says: "It is up to the present unit to receive an excellent rating and get the star again."

The ratings are given on precision in close order drill, drill competition, oral examinations, and written examinations. Before the Distinguished College Rating was done away with, the fact that the college gave credit toward a degree for Military Training held a great deal of weight in the final decision. A former colonel of the Vermont battalion was convinced that this was the reason why Vermont did not get the "D. C." rating in the year 1926, one of the years that the unit did not rate excellent.

Beginning Monday, May 2, drills, review and parade have been held on the back campus every morning. These formations will be held until Thursday, May 19, in order to accustom the men to hold their bodies and rifles in the right positions, to drill precisely, to become accustomed to the commands, and to acquaint them with the procedure of the inspection. Questionnaires have been handed to each member of the battalion. These contain questions which have to do with all the theory of Military Science that has been studied in the past year. Ten of these questions are assigned to be handed in at each formation.

At the inspection, the Freshmen will appear in their new blue uniforms while the sophomore companies will be dressed in the olive-drab suits. The band, under the leadership of Joseph F. Lechnyr, will wear the olive-drab suits, West Point cadet hats, and the Green and Gold capes.

Four students at the College of Emporia are to start on a barnstorming trip as soon as the present term ends in June. They are to travel throughout Kansas in an effort to induce students to come to Emporia to school. Those selected were chosen as being representatives of the school.

ROYAL ARCADIANS BEST BAND TO PLAY AT PROM

Tonight is the night of nights! Everyone is going to the Memorial Auditorium, which is the scene of the annual Junior Week Prom. Bill Murphy and his Royal Arcadians will furnish the music for the occasion, which promises to be the best in years. As an added attraction and feature of the evening, the most beautiful of damsels will be chosen for the Junior Prom Queen.

The Memorial Auditorium has been transferred into a lovely old-fashioned garden, making this year's prom a unique affair. Last year the Auditorium was decorated to look like a ship's deck.

The Royal Arcadians are the best music obtainable. The orchestra is well known in New York and Massachusetts, and is one of the best that has ever been had for such an occasion. Fraser Drew, chairman of the Prom, stated that "the garden party will be the best and most original Prom to be held in years," and evidence points in that direction.

Vote for Queen

Attached to the Prom tickets this year are ballots on which the vote for the queen is placed. Only those attending the Prom will be allowed to vote or be voted for in the contest. During the early part of the evening the ballots will be collected and the winner of the contest will be announced at intermission. The Cynic cup will then be presented to the Queen of Junior Week. No qualifications except beauty are required and the contestants may be from any class.

According to F. J. Massucco, tables will be scattered here and there throughout the garden for cabaret service. The tables are selling at $1.50 each and reservations should have been made early.

The dancing will be from nine o'clock until one, and every minute is expected to be full of revelry and excitement for those who shall attend. Admission is open to everyone and is only six dollars, including favors, which are well worth the price.

Dean and Mrs. Elijah J. Swift will be the guests of the junior class. The chaperones of the affair are Professor and Mrs. C. E. Braun and Coach and Mrs. J. E. Burke.

NEW HONORARY HOLDS INSTALLATION BANQUET

Pi Gamma Mu, Newest Honorary Has Professors Groat and Stineford as Principal Speakers

Installation of the new Vermont chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, the honorary social science society which has been established this year here, was held Wednesday, May 11. A formal installation banquet was given on the roof garden of the Hotel Vermont. Professor Groat of the Economics Department was the principal speaker at the banquet, Professor Stineford, also of the Economics Department, and a representative of the national chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, spoke on the subject "Pi Gamma Mu in University Life," Carl Janke '33, president of the organization, acting as toastmaster. James F. Bigelow '33 was the student speaker at the banquet.

The founding of the local chapter is due in a large measure to the efforts of Professor Stineford in obtaining a charter for this chapter.

The committee in charge of the banquet consisted of Katrina Munn '32, Doris Skinner '32 and Isabel Holmes '32.

The purpose of Vermont's newest honorary is to inculcate the ideals of scholarship, scientific attitude and method, and social service in relation to all social problems. The scope of the organization's work is to include all branches of social science that contribute directly to the solution of social problems.

JUNIOR WEEK

Tomorrow night with the fraternity dances marks the end of another gala social season, Junior Week. The features of the week were started with the pretzel contest yesterday afternoon which lived up to all traditions and customs presenting novel and classic floats for the entertainment of the Junior Week play, "Hay Fever." Once again the production could not have been staged under the able guidance of Professor Wright and stage a play which will long be remembered. Certainly much credit must be extended to those who spent hours in preparation for the final feature which always makes a place for itself in the headlines of Junior Week.

Next comes the Junior Prom and the selection of the Queen of the Campus. This is perhaps the greatest feature of all. Last year the Cynic introduced the idea and this year it has been adopted. This year the Queen will be selected at the Prom, and all of the beautiful co-eds are going to look their best for the occasion. The Prom is expected to be the best in years and probably will be talked about for a long time. The Memorial Auditorium is to be converted into an old-fashioned garden with tables scattered throughout representing a unique affair and surely to be popularly accepted by all. The Royal Arcadians are perhaps the best band that the fans of the Prom have listened to for years.

With the fraternity dances Saturday night, some are semi-formal and some formal. Dinner parties will strikingly close the eventful week and will long be cherished in the hearts of all Juniors.

THE 1933 ARIEL

Once again the Ariel has appeared on our campus, and if the general popularity with which the 1933 annual has been accepted is any judge of its success, it is immediately crowned with triumph. Congratulations are extended to the editor and all who aided him in his work.

There are several features of this year's Ariel which are exceptionally novel to the general trend of Ariels. The fraternity groups of individual pictures are well done and are in striking contrast with previous years. The Ariel is also constructed along the historical lines of the state and University which is a new feature. Another feature of the minor book is that it was presented to the campus the first day of Junior Week which is certainly a fitting time. As compared with other Ariels the class of 1933 has reason to be proud of its year book.

The Ariel is dedicated to the memory of the late Walter Hill Crockett and gives as its two-fold purpose, "to make an accurate and lasting record of our college days and to make a slight, humble contribution to the history of the glorious state in which our University is located." The campus pictures are exceptionally well done as well as all of the photography. All in all the 1933 Ariel seems to have been popularly accepted as the best in years by the student body.

And so we extend to the editors and all those who contributed to the success of the Ariel our hearty congratulations.

R. McCuin.

Being Collegiate

The American college, in the hands of American educators only since 1915, is in the turmoil of a great change in which the emergent institution will be vastly different from the college of yesterday, according to Mr Robert E. Vinson, president of Western Reserve University.

Speaking recently on the phenomenal growth of the junior college within the last decade, President Vinson said that his ideal for the University was the abolishment of the freshman and sophomore classes as such, development of separate schools to "lay the general educational foundations," and placing of upper classes on a graduate basis.

This upper division would form the university proper, and no student would be allowed to enroll in it unless he was prepared to do special work.

A student at Western Reserve University will be reimbursed by the school to the amount of fifty-eight dollars which he was forced to turn over to the bandits who held up the business office just as he was about to pay that amount on his tuition.

A sensor at Ohio State who was sentenced to spend Saturday and Sunday in jail for driving through a red light told a judge that if he were sentenced he would be unable to study for his final examinations. The judge arranged a room in the jail where he could study over the week-end.

PRIZE CONTEST OPEN TO ALL VERMONTERS

Purpose to Acquaint Younger Generation With the History, Literature and Traditions of the State

A [illegible] open to all Vermonters who [illegible] Vermont has been announced by Stephen Orton head of the Stephen Daye Press of Brattleboro. A series of twenty-seven questions have been prepared. The answers to these questions are to be found in the Green Mountain Series of books [illegible] edition of which has just been published.

"The answers to these interesting questions," stated Mr Orton, "should be apparent to every well-read Vermonter. Most Vermonters are aware of the Vermont of today but as a newer generation comes in they seem to grow less aware of our glorious traditions and ideals. I believe that a thorough study of the history and literature of Vermont is quite necessary to an understanding of the state and to an appreciation of its meaning. The Green Mountain Series is the tangible evidence of the traditions and ideals of Vermont and a set should be in the home of every literate Vermonter."

"To the most interesting answer to the following questions, Mr Orton said, "we will present free a set of the four volume Green Mountain Series. To the next five best answers we will give a free copy each of Vermont Prose. The answers to each question must not run over four sentences and the shorter the better. The answers must be submitted to us on or before July 1, 1932. They will be judged by Professor Arthur Wallace Peach, editor of the volumes, and myself."

The questions follow.

1. Who was the first Vermont man killed in the Revolution?
2. How did George Washington take Thomas Chittenden to task?
3. Who said Vermonters were "poor, naked, miserable crooks?"
4. Who was Vermont's famous book collector?
5. What was the Beech Seal?
6. What did Joseph Smith, the Mormon leader, ask of Vermonters?
7. Who was responsible for Land-Grant colleges?
8. What did Prince Bismark say of Vermont?
9. How did Vermonters shoot turkeys in the old days?
10. What flowers grow on top of Mt. Mansfield?
11. What woman most influenced Eugene Field?
12. What did Rudyard Kipling think of Vermont winters?
13. What advice did Sinclair Lewis give to Vermonters in 1929?
14. Where was the first Stars and Stripes used in battle?
15. What is Calvin Coolidge's idea of Democracy?
16. Who was the handsomest president of the United States?
17. What Vermonter made the first electric motor in history?
18. What Vermont naval hero made himself the laughing stock of the world?
19. What Vermonter was a famous Catholic Missionary to the lepers?
20. What great Vermonter was a worthy opponent of Abraham Lincoln?
21. What Vermonter was the maker of presidents?
22. Who is the only Vermonter in the Hall of Fame?
23. Who founded the second West Point?
24. Who was the most hated Vermonter in Congress?
25. What Vermonter wrote the first American comedy?
26. What famous Vermont historian was kicked out of Harvard College?
27. What Vermont pioneer was sold for two bulls?

Questions 1 to 15 are on "Vermont Prose: A Miscellany"

Questions 16 to 27 are on "Vermonters: A Book of Biographies."

MORTAR BOARD HOLDS INITIATION BANQUET

Mortar Board held its initiation at Redstone last Wednesday afternoon at four-thirty. Following the initiation a banquet took place in the private dining room of Hotel Vermont. Catherine Bassett acted as toastmistress and Dean Patterson gave the welcoming address. Mrs C M Way spoke on "Mortar Board as an Adventure." Then Margaret Mower '32 addressed the new members in "Challenge" to which Elizabeth Eckhard '33 responded.

The retiring members are Margaret Mower, Lillian Mount, Janet Miller Helen LeBaron, and Mildred Akins.

The new members are the following: Ara Armstrong, Silvia Boyd, Charlotte Odell, Priscilla Perry, Caroline Taft, Leah Gowen, Gladys LaFlamme, and Elizabeth Eckhard.

He: Every time I kiss you it makes me a better man.

She: Well, you don't have to become perfect in one night.

[illegible] game between [illegible] squads of the Ver[illegible] will be played next Monday at Centennial Field.

[illegible] weeks ago Coach Burke issued a call for spring football candidates. The call was well-breaking, over sixty [illegible] and from these candidates the coaching staff has developed [illegible] which could well enter a fall football [illegible] game will be played between a green-jerseyed Army and a [illegible] has a team ready to play real football right now. But since no other [illegible] Navy. The starting lineups will not be known until the game.

During [illegible] weeks of cold weather, hot weather, fair weather, rainy weather, [illegible] sixty men have been daily on Centennial Field taking a beating on the running backs and blocking dummies and liking it.

Monday's game is not going to be practice set-to manage—it's going to be a real game—officials, scoreboard, full-time periods and the rest. Every Vermont person and coed should be out there to see the squad which next fall is destined to regain for Vermont much of the football glory that once was hers. Don't go home without being able to tell your friends of the big Army-Navy game and what it foretold of Vermont's probable football record for next fall.

THE OLD MILL CHAPEL

To the Editor of the Cynic:

As I passed through the Old Mill Chapel one morning, a thought came to my mind that it might be made into something very much useful than at the present time. The thought had largely left my mind until it was called to my attention at a recent Vermont Christian Association meeting. Here it was suggested that petition be made to the trustees to make the favorite meeting place into something a little more comfortable and better looking place for the students to meet. It seems that the Vermont Christian Association should have this space to hold its meetings and other social functions that it holds from time to time throughout the year. The space could also be put to more practical uses than it is now used for and at the same time be to the advantage of all students. Such a room is found in all colleges and as the V. C. A. does not have such a room at Vermont it seems that the chapel space which is now of no use whatever could be put into practical use by this organization. I merely bring this to your attention and believe that the Vermont Christian Association should be granted the space for its utilization. The old chairs could be removed and new floors put in and walls redecorated at a minimum cost and the now wasted space could be made available for the whole student body. Let us attempt to make this available to the Vermont Christion Association.

MEN RECENTLY INITIATED INTO BOULDER

V. C. A. DEPUTATIONS TO HOLD SUNDAY SERVICES IN VARIOUS CHURCHES

Next Sunday, May 15, Clarence Drown '34 director of deputations, of the V.C.A cabinet will lead a delegation which is being sent to several nearby churches. They will hold three services in the morning at Cambridge, in the afternoon at North Cambridge and in the evening at Swanton, at which place they will conduct two services. Besides Drown there are three others; Leon Hill '35, Elizabeth Mandigo '32, and Ruby Jenness '34, which make up the delegation. A group will also be sent to Vergennes.

Deputations has been an active work of the V.C.A. cabinet during this present year. About fifteen have been made. Next year, due to an increase in the allotment for deputations in the budget they hope to expand this work even more.

SCABBARD AND BLADE SOCIETY HOLDS INITIATION

The Scabbard and Blade initiations took place May 9-11, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, respectively. Members being initiated were required to wear dungarees around the campus on these three days. The formal initiation took place on Wednesday evening, May 11. However, this ceremony extended until dawn of the following day, at which time the secret proceedings took place.

The newly-elected members who were initiated into the Scabbard and Blade Society were: E. I. Austin, Burlington; R. M. Bagley, Rochester; L. I. Bowers, Burlington; R. F. Colburn, Burlington; W. J. Gilbert, Burlington; I. C. Gordon, Williamstown; C. C. Grant, Stamford, Conn.; H. M. Loudon, Burlington; R. C. Macomber, Fairfax; M. I. Powell, Jr., Burlington; N. Henry Press, St. Albans; L. E. Reed, Wolcott; M. A. Valerio, Amsterdam, N. Y.; J. F. Willis, East Hardwick; and L. L. Woodward, Richford.

IDIOTS AMONG RUINS

J. B. Priestley in the London Evening Standard

I hardly ever go to a cinema without wondering whether there is a glimmer of sense in this world; for at the cinema in the news reels, they are fond of showing you the latest developments in the technic of mass murder, the airplanes that will drop unheard-of bombs, the tanks that can cross rivers, and so forth. And there people sit, placidly looking on, eating chocolates and holding hands. No body says: "Wait a minute! What are these things for? When that airplane buries or suffocates half a city, when those tanks shatter men's spines or drive men's bodies deep into the mud what is to be the new excuse?"

In other cinemas, in other countries, they are proudly exhibiting pictures of their own new bombing planes or tanks, and everybody there is placidly looking on, too. And nobody says, "Why? Why? Why?"

But one day some fool, whose finger has been itching at the trigger too long, will fire a shot. And next time there won't be any learned and industrious men writing long books on the causes of it all. There will only be a few idiots gibbering on, and there won't be any books. There will be only a few idiots gibbering among the ruins. And sometimes, even now, I feel like one of them.

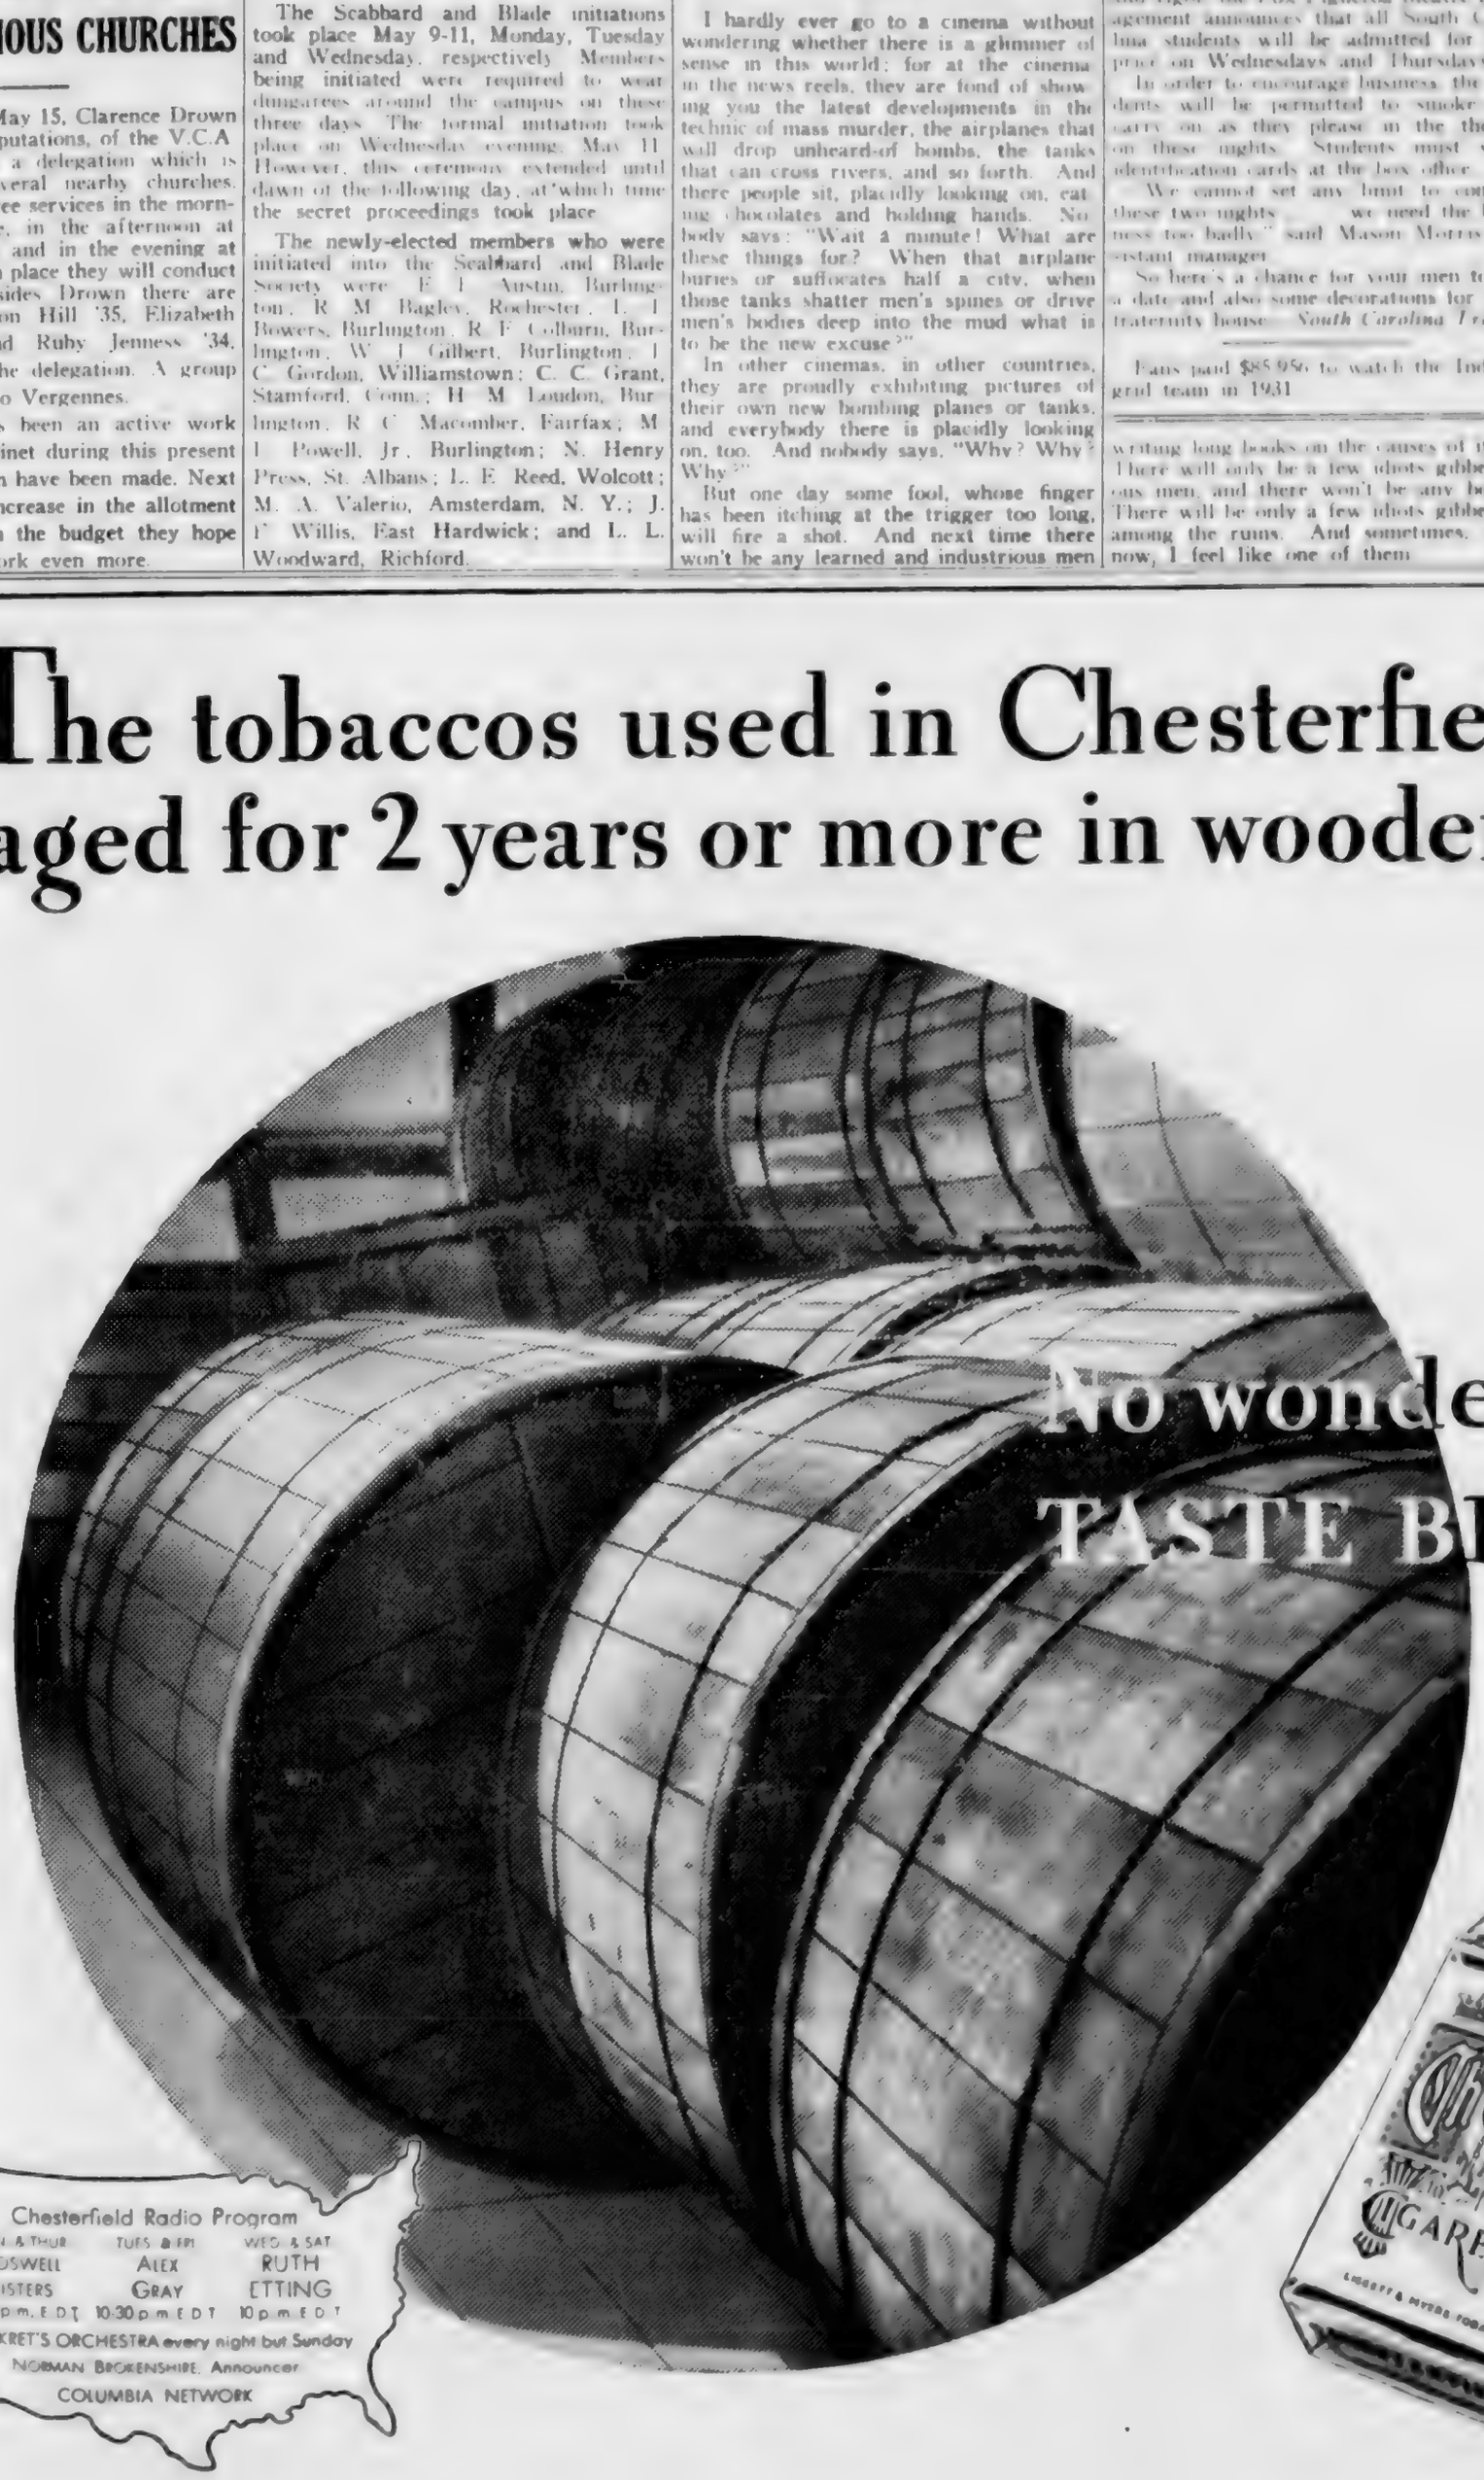
VERMONT CLOSES YEAR OF DEBATING WITH 2-1 DEFEAT BY MIDDLEBURY

Duffield and Kline of Middlebury Win First and Second Prizes While Donaghy Ties With Yarrow for Third in Lawrence Prizes Debate



Vermont ended her year of debating when she bowed to Middlebury College in a 2-1 defeat in the Lawrence prize debate held last Friday night in the Fleming Museum. Prizes of $25 and $15 offered annually in this prize debate went to Thomas Duffield and Kline of Middlebury, while the third prize of $10 was split between Donaghy of Vermont and Yarrow of Middlebury. This debate concluded the forensic work of both teams for this year.

The Vermont team opened its argument with P. J. LaCross '32, speaking on the affirmative of the question Should Interallied War Debts be cancelled. Bigelow '33 and Donaghy '33, followed. Kline opened the negative for Middlebury and Duffield and Yarrow followed in the construction.

The judges of the debate were Judge Moulton, Rev. Myers and Dean, while the judges for the individual prizes were Principal Stackpole of Winooski, H. L. Ford.

This debate is the prize debate held annually between the two Vermont institutions and the prizes are offered by Attorney Lawrence of Rutland, a Vermont alumnus, and usually is the last debate for each team. This debate also concluded the career of debating for P. J. LaCross, who graduates this year, and also for Pete Donaghy, who next year will go into medicine. Also this debate marked the conclusion of Kline's career for Middlebury.

"Made-to-measure" service for business

Whether the business is small or large — the corner grocery or the refrigerator factory — requirements for telephone service vary. So, to meet special conditions, Bell System men custom-fit the service to the subscriber.

They worked out a telephone conference plan for a large manufacturer. Every Friday, at specified times, each district manager calls the home office, where telephone facilities are so arranged that the chief sales executives are on the line simultaneously. Problems are discussed, decisions given. In minutes, the executives cover the country. This plan lowered selling costs, raised efficiency, helped the user to increase profits 31% in a year's time.

By making the telephone more useful, Bell System men contribute to the success of many industries.

A. T. O. LICKS PHI SIG TEAM IN GAME FULL OF VERY GOOD SLAB WORK

Baldwin's Airtight Infield Stops Many Phi Sig Ends for Bingles in Interfrat Contest

BALDWIN AND FIENBERG WORK NICE BALL GAME

In a rather interesting game the Alpha Tau Omega baseball nine, which seems to be well on the way to a diamond championship in the fraternity league nosed out the Phi Sigma Delta ball team. The game was poorly played, but was of enough interest and enthusiasm to shake a more hardened umpire than Mr. Kiphuth, who did the calling from the pitcher's box.

The final score was 11-8 in favor of the Alpha Tau nine. Baldwin pitched a heady game for the winners, while Fienberg hurled a peach of a contest for the Phi Sigs. The latter's support was probably what cost him the contest, because a total of six errors were chalked up to members of his team. Baldwin on the other hand did not pitch such good ball, but his support was airtight, and there were no errors and few misplays.

The Phi Sigs had a four run spree in the third inning, when Baldwin's superstition got the best of him and he yielded four hits. In the Phi Sig's last chance to tally, they pulled another rally scoring three runs on two hits and a walk. The Alpha Tau Omega nine scored six costly runs in their half of the first inning. They scored two runs in the third and three more in the fourth inning.

Last Wednesday's interfrat baseball game was replete with many arguments Between the Phi Sigs, Baldwin and Kiphuth, Vermont ought to develop quite a debating team.

Monday's grand finale to the spring training session will be a pleasure to watch, from the sideline. It will show just how much the fellows have developed since John Burke, the coach, has taken hold of them.

There is no chance of seeing Vermont take another football drubbing in Monday's contest. Just picture either team taking a licking, and if you bet on Vermont, you can't lose any money.

MONTREAL A. A. TO BE SEEN AT CENTENNIAL TOMORROW AFTERNOON

Track Team is Exceptionally Poor in Weights Events This Season as Compared to Last Year

COACH POST'S CHARGES OUT TO AVENGE DEFEAT

Saturday afternoon, in addition to the baseball game there will be a track meet against the Montreal Athletic Association. The Catamount cinder men, harriers and weight men will take on the experienced team which took them over last year in the rain. The Green and Gold team comes fresh from a hard defeat by an admittedly stronger Colby College track team. The score ran about 98 34.

Last Saturday's meet only emphasized the glaring need of weight men for the varsity team. Vermont did not place a man in the shot put, the hammer throw, the discus throw or the javelin hurl. Colby ran up twenty-four points against Vermont in this fashion. In the sprints and the long distance events the Catamount track team seems to be much stronger this year than last. In the two mile event at Colby, the Cat distance runners took all three places; Hadley, who has not performed very well this season as yet, turned in good time to win the two-mile event handily. His teammate Cliff Harwood followed in short order while Wilder came in third.

Delfausse, the only other shining light at the Colby Waterloo placed first in a fast two-twenty sprint. He is expected to ring up several points in this Saturday's meet. Last year, Park scored a first place in nearly all the weight events. This year, however, the Green and Gold squad is seriously lacking. The only weight man in college who has shown up well, is Red Cook, versatile freshman athlete.

Middlebury had no trouble in defeating the Montreal outfit. However, it does not necessarily follow that a Vermont victory can be foretold. However the chances for a Green and Gold victory seem brighter than they were last year at this time.

Orson Walters, who is developing into quite a hurdler took a second place at the Colby meet. He is expected to score at least three points for the Vermont aggregation in tomorrow's event. The track meet will be run off before the baseball game if possible.

RESEARCH CLUB TO MEET IN MORRILL HALL, TUES.

The final meeting of the Research Club will be held on Tuesday night May 17, at 8.00 p.m. in Morrill Hall. All graduate students who hold fellowships will be present at the meeting to give reports on the progress of their research work. The speakers for this meeting have not been selected as yet and the final program has not been definitely decided upon. However, since this is to be the last meeting it is certain to be the best one.

The ideal man is neither a Valentino nor a Will Rogers according to the co-eds at the Florida State College for Women. Instead, he must have a good sense of humor.

GOATS TO BUTT VERSUS MULES IN GRID BATTLE ENDING SPRING SESSION

Football Candidates Are to be Divided Into Two Strong Groups to Vie for Day's Honors

NEW RULES TO BE USED IN MONDAY P. M. GAME

Coaching Staff Satisfied by Excellent Enthusiasm of Men

For the first time in the history of football at the University of Vermont a real, full-time football game will be staged in the month of May. On Monday afternoon at 4.15 the vernal grid gladiators will don their moleskins for the fray which will culminate the spring training season.

The game will start promptly at 4.15 on Centennial Field. Twenty-five cents will be the special price of admission for students and fifty cents will be charged for adults.

The proceeds from this game are to go to the V Club, the newly-formed society made up of those men who have obtained a V in at least one major sport.

The group of players out for spring football will be divided up into two teams. One team will go out on the field as the "Army," clad in green shirts while the opposing faction will comprise the "Navy" and wear black shirts.

Officials for the contest have not been decided on as yet. The game will consist of the regular four ten minute quarters with fifteen minutes out for the halves and a minute rest between quarters. The ball will be put into play under the new rules for the first time at Vermont since the rules have been drawn up.

Every man will be given a chance to prove his metal in this spring fray. In this fracas the belligerents will do their best to stage a realistic battle as the sons of Erin line up against the Fascisti attired gentlemen Monday afternoon.

When the Army mule saunters out to get the Navy goat the coaches will have an excellent opportunity to size up the prospects for the autumnal games and see the results of an arduous session of spring football.

The coaching staff has been more than satisfied with the response to spring training. All in all the season has been one of the most successful preliminary training periods ever staged at Vermont.

Throughout spring training most of the time was spent on the fundamentals of football. Only a small part of the time was given over to actual combat. The final game has a two-fold purpose. It gives the men an opportunity to put into play the basic principles they have acquired and it gives the coaches an opportunity to develop green material which they would not have time to bother with during the early rush of fall practice.

The game is bound to prove a novel contest. With a ticket-taker, referee and linesmen the conflict will have all the aroma of a November tussle, lacking of course the coonskin coats and woolen lap robes.

DO YOU INHALE?

Here goes the last "sacred cow" in cigarette advertising!

INHALING has long been an "untouchable"... a subject taboo in the tobacco trade... a "sacred cow"! Why?... Because in every tobacco leaf—even the finest, the mildest—nature hides certain impurities which, when not removed, are unkind to delicate membranes!

And since, knowingly or unknowingly, we all inhale some part of the smoke from our cigarette—Lucky Strike developed that great scientific process which removes certain impurities. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Do you inhale? Remember—more than 20,000 physicians, after Luckies had been furnished them for tests, basing their opinions on their smoking experience, stated that Luckies are less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes.

PAGEANT, DANCES, WILL FEATURE LILAC DAY ON REDSTONE BACK CAMPUS

Tableaux Written by Gladys La Flamme '33 Will be Presented at Dorm Next Week Wed.

A pageant written by Gladys M. LaFlamme '33 and a program composed of esthetic dances, solos, duets and group dances, will feature Lilac Day, observed by Vermont women, which is to be presented on the Redstone back campus Wednesday, May 25, at four p.m. In case of bad weather, the pageant may possibly be postponed one or even two days. Mortar Board, women's senior honorary society, has complete charge of the annual spring festival. It is formerly biennial, but because of its popularity, has now become an annual affair.

Lilac Day was initiated by Vermont's first Dean of Women, Pearl Randall Wasson. Dean Wasson wished that Redstone be made more attractive by a large hedge of lilacs, and hoped that the planting of each bush would be a day of festival and beauty, with the same haze of memory as the commencement ivy on the library. Every other year after the beginning of this unique Vermont custom she personally supervised the proceedings as long as she was able, and after her, Mortar Board took over the responsibility.

In this year's pageant, the following women are to have parts:

Hope Ranslow '32 ..... Queen of the Lilacs
Katharine Rauh '32 ..... New Queen
Carolyn Taft '33 ..... Beauty
Sylvia Farnham '32 ..... Woodland Sister
Lillian Mount '32 ..... The Lake
Janet Miller '32 ..... The Mountains

Verna Carrier '32 Chosen Queen of Junior Prom; Receives Cynic Cup Offered to Most Beautiful Co-ed at University of Vermont

More Than One Hundred Couples Vote in Ballot Taken at Gala Annual Celebration of Junior Class Held Friday Evening in Memorial Auditorium

RESULT OF BALLOT IS RECEIVED WITH APPLAUSE

Verna E. Carrier of Bennington was elected Queen of the Junior Prom by poll of more than one hundred couples who attended the annual celebration of the junior class held last Friday evening in the Memorial Auditorium. As a result of the ballot Miss Carrier was presented with a silver cup offered by the CYNIC to the most beautiful co-ed at the University.

A burst of applause followed the announcement which was made by Coach John E. Burke, one of the chaperons.

The ballots which were attached to the Prom tickets were collected during the early part of the evening and the winner of the beauty contest was announced during intermission.

The CYNIC trophy was the second cup Miss Carrier had received during Junior Week, she having acted for Pi Beta Phi sorority which received the Wig and Buskin award for the best float among the sorority and women's dormitory entrants in the peerade advertising the Junior Week play, "Hay Fever," Thursday.

Colorful Prom

With weather conditions outside ideal the Prom, long awaited and heralded as the gala social event of the collegiate year, swung into activity at the stroke of nine, with dancing to the music of Billy Murphy's Royal Arcadians lasting until one o'clock.

The hall was transferred into an old-fashioned garden. Entrance was through a white arbor and pergolas roofed with colored streamers surrounded the dance floor. Reserved tables seating four persons placed in the pergolas were scattered about the garden for cabaret service. Lighting effects added variety to the color scheme.

In the receiving line were Fraser B. Drew '33, Prom chairman, Helen Mount '35, Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Braun, Dean and Mrs. E. Swift, Coach and Mrs. J. E. Burke, J. F. Wood '33 and Alice Hoyt '34. Those attending the Prom received novel favors which were included in the admission price of six dollars. A light lunch was served during intermission.

Beauty Queen Active

Miss Carrier, who is a senior enrolled in the classical course will graduate from the University in June.

She received the honor scholarship from Bennington High School and placed on the Dean's list her freshman year. She is a member of Eta Sigma Phi, honorary Greek society, French Club and the Y. W. C. SIGMA NU, PI BETA PHI FLOATS WIN AWARDS OF JUNIOR WEEK PEERADE

Receive Silver Cups Presented by Wig and Buskin, Men's Honorary Dramatic Society

PHI DELTS, TRI-DELTS GET HONORABLE MENTION

By R. S. WRIGHT '35

With the crashing, blaring R. O. T. C. band marching in the van, the Junior Week Peerade made its glittering way up Church Street last Thursday afternoon, advertising Noel Coward's "Hay Fever," the Junior Week play. As the procession passed the New Sherwood Hotel three judges picked the winning floats, one from the competing fraternities and one from the sororities represented, and chose one fraternity and one sorority float for honorable mention. Sigma Nu fraternity and Pi Beta Phi sorority triumphed, winning the silver cups presented by Wig and Buskin, men's dramatis society. Phi Delta Theta, last year's cup winner, and Delta Delta Delta received honorable mention.

Four fraternities, six sororities and three dormitories entered floats which all had something to do in their originating thought with hay fever. The thirteen entrees paraded down College Street, up Church, turned to the right on Pearl Street and Winooski Avenue, returning to Church Street by the way of Cherry Street. Then back down Church Street in the hot sunniness of a real spring day went the perspiring mummers, and returned to college via College Street, through streets lined with crowds of onlookers. The three judges, who from their vantage perch upon the canopy of the New Sherwood Hotel nominated the cup winners, were Lieut.-Col. F. F. Black, Prof. D. B. Carroll, and Dean G. F. Eckhard. The three agreed that the floats were very good, and that they evidenced a good deal of ingenuity and effort.

Hay Fever Protector

"Hay Fever Protector" read a huge sign on the Sigma Nu contraption, while mounted upon the float was a large box with walls of cellophane, within which reposed several members of said fraternity. "For protection from hay fever only." "Anyone can see through this." "Nothing to be sneezed at." "Buy one for your box at the Strong." "Laugh at Hay Fever" and "Approved by the Medes" were the legends inscribed on signs decorating various conspicuous places. The men taking part were M. J. Cardone '35, J. C. Greenan '34, F. B. Moore '35, W. L. Toomey '35, and W. J. Zakevich '35. This float carried off first prize for the fraternities, a cup.

Pi Beta Phi's entry was called "Doctor Metcalf Demonstrates Noel Coward's 'Treatment for Hay Fever.'" Doctor Metcalf (Elizabeth Wallace '33) was lecturing a class of medics (Marjorie Jenks '35, Helen Cook '34, Betty Crockett '35, and Verna Carrier '32), demonstrating the curative effect of several serums contained in bottles labeled "Householder," "Murphy," "Fitzgerald," "Edwards," "Rauh," "Wright," "Maguire," and "Westin" upon a patient (Isobel Torrens '33). First prize for sororities—a silver cup—was awarded to Pi Beta Phi.

Honorable mention went to the Phi Delta Thetas, for the fraternities. They constructed a covered wagon with a platform at the back upon which a gentleman with a walrus mustache and a frock coat extolled the merits of "Doctor Quackenbush's Hay Fever Tonic." (The

It is difficult to name the best scenes; impossible to select the outstanding players. The play improved as it progressed, the last part of the second act and the whole of the third act being excellent. The more characters on the scene, the better the performance was. The players supported each other so well that the appearance of several on the stage invariably presaged a scene immitable in its rendition.

That the more experienced characters would give a good account of themselves was anticipated from the start. The performances of Kathryn Rauh, Edward Fitzgerald, Dorothy Murphy, Fred Householder, Roberta Powers and Paul Westin—all of them but Miss Murphy seniors—all veterans in Vermont dramatics—were expected to equal in skill their former performances; and equal them they did. But it was also pleasing to observe the fully adequate performances of Dorotha Edwards, a newcomer to these productions, and of the freshmen Stuart Wright and Marie Maguire.

Miss Rauh, playing Judith Bliss, the mother, made much of her part, treating it cleverly and effectively. Fitzgerald, whatever he may think to the contrary, nothwithstanding, gave a remarkable per-

DO YOU INHALE?

Here goes the last "sacred cow" in cigarette advertising!

INHALING has long been an "untouchable"... a subject taboo in the tobacco trade... a "sacred cow"! Why?... Because in every tobacco leaf—even the finest, the mildest—nature hides certain impurities which, when not removed, are unkind to delicate membranes!

And since, knowingly or unknowingly, we all inhale some part of the smoke from our cigarette—Lucky Strike developed that great scientific process which removes certain impurities. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Do you inhale? Remember—more than 20,000 physicians, after Luckies had been furnished them for tests, basing their opinions on their smoking experience, stated that Luckies are less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes.

Verna Carrier '32 Chosen Queen of Junior Prom; Receives Cynic Cup Offered to Most Beautiful Co-ed at University of Vermont

RESULT OF BALLOT IS RECEIVED WITH APPLAUSE

Verna E. Carrier of Bennington was elected Queen of the Junior Prom by poll of more than one hundred couples who attended the annual celebration of the junior class held last Friday evening in the Memorial Auditorium. As a result of the ballot Miss Carrier was presented with a silver cup offered by the CYNIC to the most beautiful co-ed at the University.

A burst of applause followed the announcement which was made by Coach John E. Burke, one of the chaperons.

The ballots which were attached to the Prom tickets were collected during the early part of the evening and the winner of the beauty contest was announced during intermission.

The CYNIC trophy was the second cup Miss Carrier had received during Junior Week, she having acted for Pi Beta Phi sorority which received the Wig and Buskin award for the best float among the sorority and women's dormitory entrants in the peerade advertising the Junior Week play, "Hay Fever," Thursday.

Billy Murray played for the Sigma Nu dance, which was chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. R. F. Doane, and Prof. and Mrs. P. D. Carleton.

The Middlebury Black Panthers furnished the music for the Sigma Phi informal which was in charge of Paul Fischer '33.

Prof. and Mrs. L. B. Puffer and Prof. and Mrs. K. J. Sheldon chaperoned the Sigma Deltas semi-formal for which the Green Mountain Boys played.

Phi Mu Delta entertained with a semi-formal dance to the syncopation of Joe Lechnyr's band. The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Sinclair and Prof. and Mrs. C. I. Stineford.

Zeta Chi held a formal dinner dance at Oak Ledge Manor. Camp Grime's orchestra from Rutland offered the music. The affair was chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. H. G. Millington and Mr. and Mrs. George Ward. Cedric Cross '32 was chairman.

The Country Club was the scene of Tau Epsilon Phi's formal dance. Chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. W. Behney and Mr. and Mrs. D. London. Mack Bergman's orchestra furnished the music.

PROF. H. G. BENNETT GIVES CONCERT OF ORGAN MUSIC

A concert of organ music was given by Prof. H. G. Bennett head of the music department, Sunday afternoon, May 15. This was the first of a final series of concerts to be given this year. It was also the last public performance by Professor Bennett which will be available to University students for a year and a half, as Professor Bennett will spend next year abroad on his sabbatical leave.

This year, besides giving a concert at the beginning of the first semester, he trained the choir for its Christmas and Easter concerts and its duties at chapel and vesper services. In addition he coached and directed the opera "Cosi Fan Tutte."

The program rendered Sunday:

Marche Triomphale ..... Karg-Elert
Music of the Spheres..... Rubinstein
Fantasia and Fugue in G minor.... Bach
Chant de Mai ..... Jongen
Finale in B Flat Major ..... Franck

Other recitals of the series have been announced as follows:

Choir concert—date not decided.
Recital by students of voice, piano and violin, May 26.
Recital by students of organ and voice, June 5.

[illegible] a play without a plot, a [illegible] success depends upon [illegible] delineation of a group of [illegible] characters. It is difficult to name the best scenes; impossible to select the outstanding players. The play improved as it progressed the last part of the second act and the whole of the third act being excellent. The more characters on the scene, the better the performance was. The players supported each other so well that the appearance of several on the stage invariably presaged a scene immitable in its rendition.

That the more experienced characters would give a good account of themselves was anticipated from the start. The performances of Kathryn Rauh, Edward Fitzgerald, Dorothy Murphy, Fred Householder, Roberta Powers and Paul Westin—all of them but Miss Murphy seniors—all veterans in Vermont dramatics—were expected to equal in skill their former performances; and equal them they did. But it was also pleasing to observe the fully adequate performances of Dorothy Edwards, a newcomer to these productions, and of the freshmen Stuart Wright and Marie Maguire.

Miss Rauh, playing Judith Bliss, the mother, made much of her part, treating it cleverly and effectively. Fitzgerald, whatever he may think to the contrary nothwithstanding, gave a remarkable per-

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the CYNIC:

In the CYNIC of May 10 I have just read with regretful interest the letter of Miss Roberta F. Powers regarding Winnowings from the Old Mill.

Miss Powers is quite right, of course, in insisting that money ought not to be wasted on the maintenance of Winnowings, if the very existence of the magazine has no justification.

To the inquiry Miss Powers makes as to whether anyone ever greets a new issue of Winnowings with eagerness, I for one answer "I do."

"My heart leaps up when I behold
A rainbow in the sky."

sang Wordsworth. A similar exultation is mine, when I behold a product of original, creative thinking. If there is any other medium aside from the CYNIC, whose function differs from that of Winnowings, through which interested persons can observe and rejoice in the productions of those students of the University of Vermont who feel a creative urge toward writing, I do not know it.

The popularity of an activity is not necessarily a criterion of its value. Unless some other medium of expression can be substituted at once, questionable whether withdrawal of support from Winnowings, in order to apply the money thus made available to some other activity, merely because that activity is more popular, is to the best interests of the University or of the State of Vermont.

In any case I am one of the sucker faculty members outside the English Department—no aspersion upon the English Department intended—who can be counted upon always to subscribe for Winnowings and usually to read each issue through, sometimes including the advertising.

Being Collegiate

One of the most serious weaknesses of the American colleges and universities is the lack of uniformity in methods of admitting students, is the opinion of Dr. Carl A. Jessen, specialist in secondary education in the Office of Education here.

He reported last week that a survey of 523 American educational institutions showed thirty-six widely different standards of admission in use, many of them embodying complex and unscientific features.

He said that at present the New England States had the highest requirements for entrance based on the major subjects, English, mathematics, social studies, foreign languages and natural sciences. The Middle Atlantic States have the highest English requirements, and the Middle Western and Western States have lighter requirements in practically all fields.

Ohio Wesleyan University athletes are taught tap dancing to develop rhythm and coordination. The course is compulsory for those who intend to become coaches.

Students wishing to become editors of the Carleton College newspaper are required to compete for the jobs by writing editorials in a special examination.

After considering this plan the University found it impracticable of fulfillment at present. It is undecided what use will be made of the property which goes to the University without any stipulations as to its use.

Besides a number of smaller bequests to relatives, friends and servants, Mrs. Stetson also bequeathed $1,000 to the Alpha Chi Omega sorority to help in the purchase of their chapter house.

At a certain eastern college there is a rule that permits a class to dismiss itself should the professor fail to appear within ten minutes of the beginning of the period. A math class followed this regulation and was severely reprimanded the next day. "You could see I was here," said the aggrieved professor. "My hat was on the desk."

The next day when the professor entered, not a student was in the room but on each desk, there was a hat!

Before a large Junior Week gallery, the University of Vermont tennis team [illegible] the New York State Teachers College team in easy style by a 6-0 count. The victory is the second straight for the Green and Gold netmen, having previously defeated St Lawrence University.

Wilson disposed of Tarbox on number one court by a 6-1 6-3 score. Tupper had more trouble than Wilson in defeating his man, who used a variety of chop strokes. Myers defeated Meliski in rather easy fashion, while Mulcahy had a hard tussle in eliminating Hughes.

In the doubles Wilson and Tupper defeated Levenstein and Tarbox after taking a long 10-8 set. They won the second set of the match easily. Myers and Woodward had no trouble in trimming the number two doubles team.

The summary: Singles—Wilson defeated Tarbox 6-1, 6-3; Tupper defeated Levenstein 6-3, 6-3; Myers defeated Meliski 6-2, 6-4; Mulcahy defeated Hughes 6-2, 6-4.

Doubles—Tupper and Wilson defeated Tarbox and Levenstein 10-8, 6-2; Myers and Woodward defeated Hughes and Saroff 6-2, 6-3.

WHEN the girls begin to cut corners in our cars and do back somersaults in our planes and borrow our cigarettes—then it's time to take to a pipe!

Her smoke—a cigarette!

Call it the last stronghold of masculine defence—or the one pet diversion our little girls keep their fingers off. Call it what you will—there's something downright satisfying, understanding, companionable about a friendly, mellow, MASCULINE pipe! It's a real man's smoke!

A pipe is a man's smoke

And a pipe's at its best when you fill it up with Edgeworth. There's a rare, mellow flavor to the Edgeworth blend of fine burleys that simply can't be touched. It's cut long—to give you a cool, slow-burning smoke. And you'll find it the favorite with smokers in 42 out of 54 colleges.

You can get Edgeworth wherever good tobacconists sell smokes. But if you've never tried it, we'd like the fun of treating you to that first satisfying pipeful. Just write to Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

University Has Been Presenting Junior Proms 27 Years; Since 1905

First Annual Dance of Junior Class Held in Gymnasium With U. S. Cavalry Band and Orchestra Furnishing Rhythm for "Two Steps" and Waltzes

BY MEDORA KENDALL

Since 1905 the University has been presenting Junior Proms. The first annual dance of the junior class was held twenty-seven years ago in the College gymnasium which was decorated with palms, banners and flags. At one end of the hall the United States Cavalry band furnished music for "two steps" with an orchestra on the south side of the gym playing waltz rhythms.

A band concert preceded the dancing. President and Mrs. Buckham were members of the reception committee. The programs were bound in white leather and stamped with the University seal in gold. Dancing lasted until two-thirty in the morning.

In 1912, twenty years ago, the decorating scheme was a solid roof of green and gold crepe paper with streamers of the same colors on the sides of the gym. The lower third of the hall was made into a palm garden where there were twenty-five tables on which lunch was served. This prom closed at two o'clock. Among those in the receiving line were President and Mrs. Benton and Mayor and Mrs. Roberts.

A Decade Ago

Ten years ago about 125 couples attended the Junior Prom. Artistic decorations of green and gold and subdued lights displaying the letters 1923 transformed the gym into a dancers' paradise. The programs were black leather with the Vermont seal stamped in gold.

In 1926 the prom was held in the gym with the armory fitted up for a card and lounging room while refreshments and checking were handled in the cage to avoid congestion.

In 1927 the high school gym became the scene of the prom, since it could be more easily decorated than the College gym. About 150 couples attended this affair. During intermission refreshments were served at the cafeteria. The favors were round glass powder cases decorated with hand-painted flowers.

In 1928 the Junior Prom was held in the new Memorial Auditorium with 200 couples dancing and 250 spectators in the galleries. In the decorations there was a touch of the Spanish. Tables were placed along the side of the hall. The total atmosphere was one of a Viennese Carnival.

In 1929 the unique Dutch atmosphere which was present at the Prom was very well appreciated.

The Beauty Queen was picked at the Junior Prom for the first time in 1930. About 175 couples enjoyed dancing on a deck of a fully-rigged patriotic-colored yacht. The entire decorative scheme was developed with a nautical atmosphere. Life buoys, life boats, sails, flags, flags of all nationalities and waitresses in marine costumes were a part of the decorating plan. Leather-bordered traveling clocks, engraved with the Vermont seal and junior class numerals were the dance favors.

SIX-LEGGED CREATURES TOPIC OF MUSEUM TALK

"Six-legged Creatures," was the title of Mrs. E. C. Jacobs' lecture at the Fleming Museum Saturday afternoon. The talk was illustrated by pictures of colorful moths and butterflies.

The first picture was a diagram showing the parts of a typical insect—the head, thorax and the abdomen. This was followed by pictures showing the various stages in the metamorphoses of these six-legged creatures.

Insects pictured and discussed included the June bug, the potato beetle, the lady bug, tent caterpillar, coddling moth, electric light beetle, monarch butterfly, bema moth and the dragon fly.

Intramural baseball teams at Wake Forest College are not handicapped when it comes to a matter of equipment. The school furnishes the balls, bats, and catchers' equipment and all the students have to furnish is themselves.

PROF. BALDENSFERGER FINAL FRENCH LECTURER

The final lecture of the series sponsored by the Alliance Française was given at 8 o'clock last evening by Prof Fernand Baldensferger. He spoke on "L'ne Crise du Romain." The lecture was free and open to the public.

Professor Baldensferger, professor of literature at the Sorbornne has been constantly publishing essays and literary criticism since 1889.

Six of eleven faculty members of the University of Washington opine that students who aim for "A" grades in college are "barren of personality." One said that "A" students are freaks, another declared that it is the great band of "C" students who run the country.

Prof: Ah, well, in that case I'll give you a five—and erase it.

A recent announcement from Dean [illegible] states that those [illegible] undecided as to their [illegible] requirement blanks and that [illegible] deadline must stay should be passed [illegible] be sent in [illegible]

[illegible] there are two reasons why it is important [illegible] candidates be sent in their [illegible] requirement blanks. declared Dean [illegible]. "The first is that these blanks are distributed by the advising officers of the [illegible] and are designed to carry much information [illegible] student upon graduation. Secondly, sending out a group requirement blank [illegible] checked it does away [illegible] of study for the last years and to learn the requirements for graduation as the years [illegible]. In most cases he [illegible] with a member of the faculty, something which is bound to be of assistance.

[illegible] also stated that the handing in of these requirement blanks is not a hit or miss affair but a very material thing from the standpoint of the student.

MORE INTEREST BEING SHOWN IN CO-ED SPORTS

More Than Half the Total Number of Enrolled Women Taking Part in Some Out-door Activity

That more interest in women's sports is being shown this spring is evidenced by the fact that over half of the total number of enrolled co-eds are taking part in some out door activity.

Tennis leads in popularity with one hundred and thirty-two co-eds electing that sport. Miss Annie Baldwin is in charge of all the intermediate and advanced classes. The coaches for the intermediate classes are: Sue France '35; Mary K. Tupper '35; Dorothy Grocott '35; Barbara Weaver '35; Lois Whitcomb '35; Caroline Howard '35; Alice Gunn '34; Elizabeth Eckhard '33; Alice Mel[illegible]nell '34; Laura Tracy '34; Virginia Hert '35 and Ruth Dawson '34. Sue France is in charge of the singles tennis tournament to be held this coming week.

Baseball practice, too has been started under the supervision of Miss Alice Blanchard and Vic Chadbourn '31. The final game will be played off at the Spring Field Day.

Archery practice is held at Redstone and about seventy-five co-eds are enrolled in the classes. Miss Blanchard is in charge of all classes in this sport.

The tetherball poles have been set up at Robinson and Redstone and can be used at any time. A demonstration was given Thursday by Marie Maguire '35 and Ruth Dawson '34.

Spring Field Day will be held May 23 at Robinson. Finals in baseball, archery, tennis and the horseshoes will be played off then. Helen Mount '35 is in charge of the Spring Field Day and Marie Maguire '35 has charge of the horse-shoe tournament.

Members of Idaho University football team keep in shape during the off season by joining the tumbling class in the gymnasium.

DO you inhale? Seven out of ten smokers know they do. The other three inhale without realizing it. Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

Think, then, how important it is to be certain that your cigarette smoke is pure and clean—to be sure you don't inhale certain impurities!

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has dared to raise this much-avoided subject . . . because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Do you inhale? More than 20,000 physicians, after Luckies had been furnished them for tests, basing their opinions on their smoking experience, stated that Luckies are less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes.

WINNOWINGS WRITERS PAY HOMAGE TO EARTH

Review of April Number of Literary Magazine Reveals Poems of Outdoors

By Benjamin B. Wainwright

In the springtime, when nature, having burst from her cerements, dons the brighter-hued garments of a renascence, young writers with hearts attuned to this rejuvenation are moved to pay homage to the earth. It is not surprising, then, to find several poems on this opportune theme in the current number of Winnowings.

These poems are a somewhat monotonous tribute to the outdoors, but they have a considerable range in mental attitude. They pass from one season to another, and their moods vary from the elegiac to the blithe. Twice Miss Beardsley has summoned music from her lyre—once in a quatrain addressed to an anonymous recipient, four verses pregnant with concentrated, sad wisdom but unfortunately prosaic, and again in "First Love," which owes its more delectable melody to its wistfulness. With the author of "Who Moves Without Fear" we enter quiet glades wherein with renewed spirits we learn the secrets of the woods; it is a phantom world peopled by shadowy beings, but it offers cool, inviting refreshment for overheated persons. I have perversely saved for final comment the poem whose sonorous Latin title, "Sit Tibi Terra Levis," enables it to head the procession of contributions with becoming majesty; it is a threnody that barely escapes the slough of banal sentimentality in which such verse too frequently wallows.

What of the short stories in comparison with their poetic companions? Despite the more modest attire of prose, these narratives by virtue of their intrinsic worth surpass the poems. There is a wider gamut of subjects: ancient spinsters, grandfathers, and small boys emerge; sales of antiques, fires, and circuses form the kaleidoscopic material of these pages. "The Wedding Ring" relates the deceitful ruse of an old maid with such tenderness and understanding that the reader is convinced that in this instance secrecy is good for the soul. "Au-

DOUGLASS ISSUES LIST OF FACULTY FOR TWENTY-FOURTH SUMMER SCHOOL

Includes Nine Members of University Who Have Not Previously Taught at Summer Session

INSTRUCTION BEGINS ON JULY 15; CLOSES AUG. 13

The faculty for the twenty-fourth summer session at the University of Vermont, is announced this week by Prof. H. C. Douglass, director including new members who have not previously taught at the University, and non-members of the University faculty who have not previously taught in the summer session.

The session will open with enrollment July 5 and will close August 12. Several hundred preliminary announcements and 500 bulletins have been sent out to prospective students outside the State, and registrations are already being received. Since 1922 the enrollment in the summer session has steadily increased, year by year, from 558 students to a capacity enrollment of 1,000 students last year.

The newcomers to the summer school faculty are: Harvey S. Gruver, superintendent of schools in Lynn, Mass., and former teacher in the Harvard summer school; Miss Anne L. Mullin, instructor in elementary methods at Horace Mann School, New York City; Miss Blanche Hagert, demonstration teacher in the New Britain, Conn., Normal School; Miss Lois J. King, demonstration teacher at State Normal School, New Haven, Conn., and Damon Barnes, instructor in French at Chicago Latin School, who has also taught in a lycee near Paris.

Superintendent Gruver will give the courses which were given last year by Superintendent L. P. Benezet of Manchester, N. H. Miss Mullin will take the place of Miss Clara Wheeler in teaching principles of education in the elementary grades. Miss Hagert will be demonstration teacher for grades 3 and 4, and Miss King for grades 5 and 6 in the demonstration school at the Ira Allen School. Mr. Barnes will teach French.

Among the University faculty members teaching in the summer session for the first time are Prof. D. B. Carroll, who will take Prof. E. C. Mower's place teaching political science; Prof. George V. Kidder, who will teach Latin and Greek; Prof. Herbert E. Putnam, who will teach American history; William H. Behney who will take the place of Prof. P. A. Moody in teaching zoology; Miss Charlotte de-Volt, who takes the place of Miss

FREE PRESS COLUMNIST TO ADDRESS DEWEY CLUB

Mrs. Julian A. Dimock of East Corinth, author of the Burlington Free Press column, "Aunt Serena's Letter to Peggy" has accepted an invitation of the John Dewey Club to address its members at a dinner to be held at 7.30 o'clock, Tuesday evening, May 24, at the Greenebowl on upper Pearl Street.

Mrs. Dimock announces her topic as "Pain in the Mind."

The meeting will be open to any member of the student body or faculty outside the regular members of the Club, providing he notifies P. J. LaCross '32 at the Greenebowl, before noon Monday, of his desire for a dinner reservation.

At seven o'clock before the banquet the members are requested to meet in the Marsh Room of the Billings Library for the initiation of new and eligible members, the election of officers for the new year, and the transaction of business.

"Mrs. Dimock, the co-proprietor of the Dimock orchard in East Corinth, is eminent in state, political, social and journalistic circles," J. C. Carter, president of the John Dewey Club, says of her. "She has done much speaking about the State before both men's and women's groups on topics of a philosophical, psychological and economic nature. She has served as Representative in the Vermont Legislature and has written for magazines and newspapers on 'Humanism' and other subjects of a controversial nature. Mrs. Dimock has a most keen and versatile mind, is a charming and witty speaker, writer and conversationalist. It will always be a pleasure for any group to hear this woman."

BENNETT AND GROAT TO SPEND YEAR IN TRAVEL

Prof. H. G. Bennett, head of the music department, and Prof. G. G. Groat, head of the economics department will travel in Europe during the school year 1932-33 on sabbatical leave.

Professor Bennett will study music in foreign universities, probably those of France and Switzerland, although he has not definitely decided yet.

Professor Groat will leave immediately after Summer School for England, Germany and Italy. He will spend the winter with his family in southern Europe. He has selected no particular subject to study, but will observe industrial conditions especially in Germany and Italy. In the spring of 1933, he will return to England to study industrial conditions there. He plans to arrive home about July 1, 1933.

Miss LaFlamme's opinion was called forth in answer to a ... of ... on the grounds ... the ... was unpopular and a waste of money, which appeared in a letter written by Roberta F. Powers '32, ... subscription manager of the last ... issue.

Miss LaFlamme further declares ... there ought to be some means of publishing the literary work of the students at Vermont. In answer to the challenge in Miss Powers' letter which included a number of reasons why the magazine was considered an unnecessary draw on the student activity fund, Miss LaFlamme maintains that several people who would not otherwise make use of their writing ability, write material just for publication in Winnowings. Other contributions, the magazine editor explained, are submitted from regular work done for college classes. Miss LaFlamme contended that Winnowings is intended to be representative of the literary work of U. V. M. and should therefore, contain regular work done for classes.

The Winnowings head continued to say that Bluestockings, women's literary society does contribute to the magazine as well as the regular students of English and that entries for the Tri-State Literary Contest are published.

Circulation Controversial

In reply to the report of Miss Powers that in spite of having advertised the publication to the best of her ability, not more than fifteen people, either students or faculty members considered buying it, Miss LaFlamme commented that the circulation of the last issue numbered about 150. "The circulation is now exceedingly small but its figures are not so drastic as they have been stated."

An attempt, to change the style and customs of Winnowings was made at the beginning of the year, but all suggestions made by various members of the staff were voted down by members of the faculty or by other staff members. "The magazine is to undergo several changes next year, plans for which will be made this summer," says the new editor. These changes will be an attempt to make the publication popular enough to put it on a paying proposition. Nevertheless, its prime purpose is now and will continue to be to furnish an outlet for the literary ability of Vermont students.

"It is not expected that everyone will be interested in a thing of this kind any more than that everyone could be interested in a particular phase of athletics," says a member of the new staff.

It is generally agreed by members of both the new and old staffs that the magazine should be made more popular with the student body.

FRENCH STUDENT WILL STUDY AT UNIVERSITY

Mademoiselle Francini Inedjian of France will study at the University of Vermont during the school year of 1932-33. She is one of the students who will be exchanged from the universities of France to American colleges for the purpose of acquainting the students with members of foreign schools and furthering the use and teaching of the two languages in the respective countries.

Pres. Guy W. Bailey has awarded Miss Inedjian a scholarship which will partially pay her expenses. She will reside at Slade Hall.

Mademoiselle plans to teach English in her native country upon completion of her courses here. Dean Swift says: "It will be difficult for a young lady to study here alone in a strange country. It would be a splendid reflection upon our school if we had a few students who were interested enough to study abroad as she is planning to do."

Speaking of Mademoiselle Inedjian Sean Patterson says: "It will be a great pleasure to have her rooming with the women of the University, and it will be an unusual as well as a beneficial experience for them to have a foreign student among them."

CHOIR TO PARTICIPATE IN WASHINGTON PROGRAM

Sunday afternoon, May 22, at 4:00 p.m., in the Fleming Museum, the University Choir will take a part in the celebration of the Washington Bi-Centennial of the G. A. R. and the V. F. W. of Burlington. Under the direction of Prof. Howard Gordon Bennett, the choir will sing "Song of Faith" by John Alden Carpenter.

Mr. Carpenter is a noted American composer who spends his summers in Charlotte. Some of the words in the song which were spoken by Washington, and which are usually used in recitative, will be spoken by Prof. Raymond A. Hall of the Congregational Church in Charlotte. "Song of Faith" was espe-

UNABLE TO FIND JOB? ESTIVATE, SAYS PREXY

Summer Camp of Commonwealth College, Labor School, Offers Low Cost Vacation in Ozarks

Mena, Ark.—College boys who press their trousers by sleeping on them and coeds who wash out stockings in the basin at night to economize may look forward to a vacation this year and it will cost them less than staying at home, according to Lucien Koch, 24 year old director of Commonwealth College, the labor school here in the Ozark woods. At the same time they can get the point of view of the labor movement, he says.

"Students unable to find jobs this summer will want to estivate," says President Koch. "Estivation, in case you don't know, is like hibernation, only it's the summer you pass in a torpor. The Commonwealth College Summer Camp is a place to estivate so far as spending money is concerned. Students, teachers and others may visit here at a total cost of $25 a month, provided they follow our college tradition and milk cows or do chores around our 'farm campus' fifteen hours a week. The cost is even less to regularly accepted summer term students.

"But the camp is not a place to estivate physically and intellectually. Amusements include swimming, dancing, tennis, hiking, a labor theatre, a writers' club and discussion circles on world news, the labor movement today and the changing thought of a machine age."

Proceeds from the camp help maintain Commonwealth College, a school where students earn their way. President Koch worked his way through school and later taught at the Experimental College of the University of Wisconsin. Besides guiding the destinies of Commonwealth, he is head of the college carpenter crew.

E. WINANT NOMINATED FOR SENIOR PRESIDENT

... M. Winant was nominated for president at a meeting of the nominating committee of the senior class held Wednesday in the Old Mill chapel for the selection of permanent class officers. Verna Carrier was placed on the ballot for the position of vice-president and R. W. Cobb for treasurer.

F. Tupper, Jr. is the nominee for men's secretary, and Roberta Powers and Margaret Mower are candidates for women's secretary.

The committee was composed of a member from each fraternity and sorority and four from the class at large.

A class meeting will be held next week for election, discussion of Senior Week plans, and selection of class colors.

CHOIR TO PARTICIPATE IN WASHINGTON PROGRAM

Sunday afternoon, May 22, at 4:00 p.m., in the Fleming Museum, the University Choir will take a part in the celebration of the Washington Bi Centennial of the G. A. R. and the V. F. W. of Burlington. Under the direction of Prof. Howard Gordon Bennett, the choir will sing "Song of Faith" by John Alden Carpenter.

Mr. Carpenter is a noted American composer who spends his summers in Charlotte. Some of the words in the song which were spoken by Washington, and which are usually used in recitative, will be spoken by Prof. Raymond A. Hall of the Congregational Church in Charlotte. "Song of Faith" was espe-

UNABLE TO FIND JOB? ESTIVATE, SAYS PREXY

Summer Camp of Commonwealth College, Labor School, Offers Low Cost Vacation in Ozarks

Mena, Ark.—College boys who press their trousers by sleeping on them and co-eds who wash out stockings in the basin at night to economize may look forward to a vacation this year and it will cost them less than staying at home, according to Lucien Koch, 24-year-old director of Commonwealth College, the labor school here in the Ozark woods. At the same time they can get the point of view of the labor movement, he says.

"Students unable to find jobs this summer will want to estivate," says President Koch. "Estivation, in case you don't know, is like hibernation, only it's the summer you pass in a torpor. The Commonwealth College Summer Camp is a place to estivate so far as spending money is concerned. Students, teachers and others may visit here at a total cost of $25 a month, provided they follow our college tradition and milk cows or do chores around our 'farm campus' fifteen hours a week. The cost is even less to regularly accepted summer term students.

"But the camp is not a place to estivate physically and intellectually. Amusements include swimming, dancing, tennis, hiking, a labor theatre, a writing club and discussion circles on world news, the labor movement today and the changing thought of a machine age."

Proceeds from the camp help maintain Commonwealth College, a school where students earn their way. President Koch worked his way through school and later taught at the Experimental College of the University of Wisconsin. Besides guiding the destinies of Commonwealth, he is head of the college carpenter crew.

E. WINANT NOMINATED FOR SENIOR PRESIDENT

... Winant was nominated for president at a meeting of the nomination committee of the senior class held Wednesday in the Old Mill Chapel for the selection of permanent class officers. Verna Carrier was placed on the ballot for the position of vice-president and R. W. Cobb for treasurer.

F. Tupper, Jr. is the nominee for men's secretary, and Roberta Powers and Margaret Mower are candidates for women's secretary.

The committee was composed of a member from each fraternity and sorority and four from the class at large.

A class meeting will be held next week for election, discussion of Senior Week plans, and selection of class colors.

INDIANS ON WARPATH TO BEAT VERMONT JINX IN TOMORROW'S CONTEST

Rutkowski, Who Has Beaten Probably be on Mound For Catamounts

Tomorrow afternoon the Vermont baseball team plays host to the strong Dartmouth nine at Centennial Field. This will be the second encounter between the two teams, the first game having taken place at Hanover last Wednesday.

The Dartmouth team has had a hard schedule this season but has weathered it fairly well considering their line-up against powerful nines. Although beaten by Columbia last week the Indians from Hanover are back on the warpath once again, and hope to carry off the scalps of the Catamount nine.

Although meeting up against rather hard luck all season, Coach Larry Gardner's forces are confident of victory tomorrow. There has always been a good turnout at the Dartmouth game, and with the necessary support of the fans, the outlook is bright for the battle. Conscious of the fact that they beat Dartmouth in every game played last year between the two teams, Vermont is hoping to repeat last year's record.

The line-up for the game tomorrow is not definite, but the chances are that the regular team that has been playing in the last few games, will remain intact. The pitching will be lightened with the prospects of either Beckly or Rutkowski receiving the assignment. There is also the possibility that Farmer, who beat Boston University a few weeks ago, may see service. Rutkowski who has just recovered from a tonsil operation, has not shown the stuff this season that made a great flinger last year when he hung up two well-earned victories against the highly touted Big Green, but now that he is back on his feet again, the Waw-Hoo Waw's had better beware.

Eddie Winant will be on first base as usual. Eddie, who claimed the batting championship of the team while on the Southern trip, has been hitting into a bit of tough luck lately. He has been hitting the ball hard, but they don't seem to land safely. However his punch at the bat has been a vital tonic to the team. The remainder of the infield will be made up of either Cogswell or Macomber at the keystone sack, Rubino, who has been filling in for Pires, at shortstop, and McKay at the hot corner. The outfield will be taken care of by Collins in right, Captain Jay in center, and Talbert in left.

"Boy wanted" reads a sign on the dormitory room door of a co-ed of Boston University. On the adjoining door reads a sign "You are now entering inferno." They are collecting signs apparently at this university.

DO YOU INHALE?

...wonder why
cigarette advertising generally avoids this question?

ONE of the mysteries in cigarette advertising has been the apparent fear of the word "inhale." It seems rather foolish—for everybody inhales—whether they realize it or not... every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

Think, then, how important it is to be certain that your cigarette smoke is pure and clean—to be sure that you don't inhale certain impurities.

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question... because when you smoke Luckies your delicate membranes get the protection no other cigarette affords. All other methods have been made old-fashioned by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Do you inhale? Of course you do! So truly this message is for you.

THIRD STUDENT CONCERT WILL BE HELD THURSDAY IN MUSEUM AUDITORIUM

Six University Students Will Participate in Program to be Made Up of Varied Numbers

CONCERT IS FREE AND OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

Two wives of members of the University faculty are among the music students who are to present a program this Thursday in the Fleming Museum auditorium, at 8.15 in the evening, as the third in the final series of student concerts. They are Mrs. Olwen Prindle, wife of Prof. L. M. Prindle of the Latin department, and Mrs. Judith Moody, wife of Prof. P. V. Moody of the zoology department. There are six University members participating: Mailla Putnam '32, Katrina Munn '32, Effie Winn '33, Ruth Tarleton '34, Samuel Pierce, Jr., '34, and Muriel Magee '35. Jeanette Jerome is the one soloist who does not belong to the University proper, but is specializing in music alone. The concert is free.

Difficult is an adjective that can well be applied to the majority of compositions which will be rendered Thursday evening. Of the songs, those that stand out are Wagner's "Traeume," Liszt's familiar "Die Lorelei," and "Der Musensohn," by Schubert, as well as his well-loved "Ave Maria." "These songs are taken," declared Madame Elizabeth Bradish, vocal instructor, "from the very highest and most difficult song literature there is." She remarked that "Traeume," which is being given by Mailla Putnam, was originally intended by Wagner for a part of his famous opera "Tristan und Isolde," but he decided to make it a separate piece, and rewrote it. "Tristan und Isolde" is said to contain the greatest love music ever composed. Miss Putnam's song, however, will be the original love song which was at first a part of the opera, before it was rewritten. "Die Lorelei," of course, is the song of the Lorelei maidens who sat upon a rock in the Rhine River and lured sailors to death by the sweetness of their song. Miss Putnam has studied with Mme. Bradish for three years.

The three Schubert songs to be given by Mrs. Moody are very difficult, according to Madame Bradish, because they must be sung with a very smooth, legato, and require a very delicate treatment. Schubert's "Ave Maria," to be sung by Mr. Pierce, is not so difficult technically, but requires great interpretative skill. Mr. Pierce has studied with Mme. Bradish for a year and a half.

Among the piano solos is found Chopin's well-known "Etude in C Minor," sometimes called the "Ocean Etude." This composition has long been recognized as being for only the more advanced pianist and represents the waves and storms of ocean. It is from the "Phantasy-Etude." It will be given by Miss Munn. She also includes in her program "Whims," by Schumann, intended to translate the various emotional moods of a person into musical phrases. Miss Munn has worked with Miss Natalie Marston, piano instructor of the University for three years.

Mrs. Prindle will use the prelude from Grieg's suite "From Holberg Time" as her initial solo. Holberg was a famous playwright of the seventeenth century, a Dane who wrote comedies.

AWARDING OF PRIZES BRINGS ANNUAL FEDERAL INSPECTION TO A CLOSE

Delta Psi Wins Reserve Officers Cup—Company C Chosen Best Company—Burrows and Churchill Win Class Drill-Downs

OFFICER'S SABER WON BY PAUL E. WESTIN '32

Delta Psi won the Reserve Officers Cup for the fourth time in succession at this year's Federal Inspection. Company C, commanded by Captain Davis, was judged the best company and was awarded the American Legion trophy. The Drill-Down for the freshman was won by Frank P. Churchill, and G. H. Burrows carried off the honor for the sophomores. Both men were awarded cups. The Officers' saber was won by Capt. Paul Westin.

The officers' rifle team, consisting of H. Sheldon, Capt., W. Gilbert, L. Dunham, C. L. Parks, C. V. Primpas, R. M. Donahue, L. M. Freedom, and N. H. Press, was awarded certificates. The ratings of the fraternities competing in the competition are as follows: Delta Psi 92.8 percent, Sigma Phi 89.6 percent, Sigma Nu 86.9 percent, and Phi Delta Theta 85.7 percent.

The inspection started at 7:00 a.m. Friday morning with the sounding of First Call. As a part of the morning activities a formal call on President Bailey was made by the officers. At 8:30 the Battalion Review and inspection was held. The rest of the morning was taken up by practical tests for all classes. The freshmen demonstrated first aid, rifle marksmanship, scouting and patroling, military courtesy, and discipline. The sophomores worked with the automatic rifle, musketry, and scouting and patroling. The juniors had machine guns, .37 m.m. and 3-inch trench mortars, and military sketching. The seniors demonstrated combat principles and field engineering.

The afternoon program began at 1:30 and consisted of a demonstration of the rifle companies in attack. A mock battle was held on the back campus. The reviewing officers praised this work highly. Due to the rain Saturday morning, there was no parade as previously planned. The companies assembled at 7:30 in the gym and the various competitions were held.

The review of the battalion presented a very colorful picture. The band was on hand in full strength dressed in their West Point cadet hats and the green and gold capes. The frosh were attired in their new blue uniforms and the sophs in the olive drab suits. The rifles were extraordinarily clean and the belt buckles and brass buttons shone brighter than ever. The inspecting officers announced that the battalion was very satisfactory and that their work was very highly commendable. The rating has not been given yet, but it is expected that the University will still retain its good record and the Blue Star for excellency.

After the awarding of the honors Colonel Black made several important announcements. The final exam will be held in two installments; the first at 7:40 Tuesday morning and the last one at the same hour on Thursday morning. The battalion will form for the Memorial Day Parade on Monday but further details are to be announced later. The reviewing officers were Col. J. E. Cohn and Capt. F. G. McMillan. Many guests of the officers and townspeople were present at the formations. These formations marked the close of the drill for the year and with the Memorial Day Parade comes the end of the military year.

CYNIC BOARD ELECTS CONTRIBUTING EDITOR

At last Thursday's meeting of the Cynic Board George W. Patterson '34 was elevated to the rank of contributing editor. He is a member of Kappa Sigma and vice-chairman of the A. I. F. E.

At the same meeting Robert's Revised Rules of Order were adopted as the parliamentary authority of the board, and a temporary constitution committee was appointed to consider the remedying of certain defects in that document.

INITIATION BANQUET HELD THURSDAY NIGHT

T. Cogswell of Warner, N. H., was elected president of Key and Serpent, minor honorary society, at the initiation banquet held last Thursday evening at the Hotel Vermont. The vice-president is C. F. Dobson of East Templeton, Mass., the treasurer is D. J. Tobin of Fairhaven, Mass., and the secretary is C. B. Eaton of Worcester, Mass.

The initiates met at 5:30 at the Delta Psi house, where they found it necessary to perform the various ceremonies which are ritualistic traditions in such meetings. The banquet followed, the toastmaster being Pres. C. Streeter Brown '33. Prof. F. Tupper spoke on "Key and Serpent." After the banquet the initiates visited the different dormitories and sororities, speaking, singing, proposing, dancing, etc. It was necessary for them to wear a costume composed of a swallow-tailed coat, white tie, white spats, white gloves, a white carnation, and a high silk hat. The outfit was completed by a monocle and a cane. The new members assisted the Burlington police force by intense traffic directing. The men stood in prominent places at street intersections, and waved arms and hands to indicate their desires to the oncoming traffic.

The incoming men are: The four officers above mentioned, W. J. Gilbert of Burlington, C. I. Libby of Richmond Hill, N. Y., and W. W. Brehm of Rutland.

Outgoing officers of Key and Serpent are C. S. Brown, president, R. F. Colburn, vice-president, W. J. Burke, treasurer, and W. G. MacDonald, secretary.

The outgoing members of the junior honorary society are W. J. Burke of Rutland, R. F. Colburn of Burlington, Paul Fischer of Great Neck, L. I., T. F. Collins, Jr., of West Hartford, Conn., W. G. MacDonald of Wilmington, C. Streeter Brown of Newport, and L. E. Wood of Belmont, Mass.

MRS. DALLAS POLLARD IS DIRECTING PAGEANT

Lilac Day, the most beautiful of the traditions of the women at Vermont, will be held tomorrow on Redstone Campus. It has been the custom to celebrate this in a pageant written by a member of the student body. The pageant this year was written by Gladys M. LaFlamme '33, and is entitled "The Symbol." According to a statement by Mildred Akins '32, who is in charge of the affair, the idea this year is entirely original.

A great deal of time has been spent on the costuming this year, and it is hoped that they will add materially to the beauty of the pageant. Mrs. Dallas Pollard, who is directing it, designed the costumes, which were made by a committee of students. They are Leah Gowan '33, Priscilla Perry '33, Jean Kinlock '34, Elizabeth Eckhard '33, Charlotte Odell '33, Helen LeBaron '32.

The program consists of various dance numbers, which have been directed by Miss Anna Baldwin, of the women's physical education department. The solo dances are the "Dance of Memory" by Ruth Wood '34, and the "Dance of Hope" by Roberta Powers '32.

The orchestra for this dancing will consist of Frances Colburn, violin, Major Jenks, violin and Robert Jenks, flute. The pianists will be Edith Place '33, Margaret Kane '35, Helen Bellows '35, Stella Brown '34, Mailla Putnam '32, accompanied by Katrina Munn '32, will sing a solo.

The posters are in charge of Lois Burbank.

Group dances will include Ruth Wood '34 and Doris Landor '34 in the "Dance of Dreams;" Ruth Tarleton '34, Jennie Scutakes '34, Helen Fogg '34, Roberta Wallace '35, Rebecca Camp '34, Marguerite Keeney '33, Jane Parsons '35, and Betty Boright '35 in the "Dance of Archers," Elvira Farnam '34, Ara Armstrong '33, Norma Jones '35, Doris Landor '34, Stella Brown '34, Virginia Goodenough '33, Katherine Worthen '35, and Helen Backwell '34 in the "Dance of Beauty," Athene McNall '34, Stella Brown '34, Mary Kay Tupper '35, Elizabeth Beckwold '35, Madeline Ambrose '35, Evelyn Perry '35, Christine Volk '35, Ruth Wilkins '35, Virginia Pease '35 and Lois Whitcomb '35 in the "Dance of Joy."

The "Woodland Sisters" are Olive Potter '35, Marguerite Millet '35, Janet Dodd '34, Virginia McDonald '35, Helen Hemminger '35, Helen Miller '35, Edith Potter '35, Claribel Morris '34, Mary Poling '34, Marjorie Jenks '35, Elizabeth

Cynic Reporter Gives Impressions Gained in Fleming Room of Museum

By Ruth F. Schaefer

The impression of blue that one receives when he enters the Fleming Room of the Robert Hull Fleming Museum is caused by the beautiful tapestry drapes and cushions in it. After that impression one notices the painting of Robert Hull Fleming done last year by his niece, Katherine Wolcott, who arranged the room and exhibits in it. It is directly opposite the door.

Along the right wall between the windows are two tall cases, both containing Mandarin robes from China. The one in the first case is of blue silk with elaborate embroidering of dragons. One holds the pearl of immortality, other try to want to get it, with their mortal hands. The border, in gold, represents the sea of life (blood) beating against the rocks of the world. The cuffs are bent showing the men were forced to wear this type of robe by their Manchu conquerors. It is of the late Ching Lung period. In this case are also a man's cap and robe. The cap is of black satin with an ornament on top made of white horse hair dyed red to represent the social or political status of the wearer. With the cap is a queue, or pigtail, a custom of the Manchu Tartars, who forced it on the Chinese, after conquering them in 1644. Also in the case is a Japanese hand warmer, a small box, highly ornamented, and used to hold [illegible] ashes.

The Mandarin robe in the other case is of imperial yellow satin with designs of the ceremonial dragons. The color on this garment is very beautiful, and unusual. It is of silver leaf pasted on paper, cut into narrow strips, and sewn into the material. It is over 250 years old. A court [illegible] coat of dark blue brocade is also shown in this case as well as a Japanese [illegible] of bronze and a Japanese [illegible] of hammered brass.

At each end of this right wall in the corners are figures of Russian soldiers in armor. These are made of bronze, and rest on marble pedestals.

At the center of the opposite wall is a large case containing many small objects of Japanese origin, such as wine cups, hair ornaments, [illegible]ches, and paper. But the main piece in this case is a beautiful Chinese chapel wall hanging, yellow, embroidered with blue and green dragons. In front of this are a pair of Japanese tea caddies of bronze inlaid with silver, gold, copper and [illegible] metal, in designs of autumn flowers and foliage. They are [illegible] standards of workmanship. Between them stands a covered dish of rare old [illegible] from Tokio. Her particular kind is no longer made. This is on a standard of [illegible]. It is over a century old. In this same case is a Japanese smoking stand made of many kinds of wood. On either side is a water pipe [illegible], made of pure white metal and highly polished. On either side of this exhibit are cases containing beautiful

UNIVERSITY CHOIR WILL RENDER SELECTIONS AT WEEKLY CHAPEL SERVICE

In place of the usual chapel service, the University Choir will repeat John Alden Carpenter's "Song of Faith" in the Ira Allen Chapel Wednesday, May 25 at 10:00 a.m.

Mr. Carpenter, one of America's foremost composers who has spent his summers in Charlotte for many years, wrote this composition for the United States George Washington Bi-Centennial Commission for performance in a nation-wide celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington.

Raymond Avery Hall of the Department of English, pastor of the Congregational Church of Charlotte, will read portions of Washington's writings which are a part of this choral work as planned by Mr. Carpenter. Admission is free and the public is cordially invited.

If Prof. Louis Gottschalk's father had been available, things wouldn't have been so difficult for the professor when he attempted to brush up on his English.

Although he had been a history professor for years at the University of Chicago, officials failed to recognize him when he registered for an English course as a student. He was notified that he must pay $50 tuition and $20 matriculation fee. He later lost interest in the course.

U. V. M. SUMMER SESSION WILL OPEN ON JULY 5

The twenty-fourth summer session at U. V. M. will open on July 5 and close on August 15. The enrollment is to be limited to 1000 the faculty will include sixty members, several of them out of state instructors.

Courses offered in the summer session which are the same as those given in regular session will be accepted for credit toward a degree, provided that the entrance requirements are met. Students wishing to do advanced or other special work not announced in the bulletin may arrange to do so by communicating early with Dr B. C. Douglass, director of the summer session, or with the professor in whose department they wish to work.

The social calendar includes a variety of entertainments and excursions. There are excursions scheduled for Ausable Chasm, Ticonderoga, Mount Mansfield and Montreal at different dates during the summer. There are also to be several [illegible] the summer session picnic will be held on July 20 the Graduate Club dinner on August 8.

Stripes and More Stripes in Ties

Gay Neckwear Popular in Contrast to Quiet Tones in Suits and Shirts

STRIPES and stripes and still more stripes are evidenced by a mid-winter review of men's neckwear. Furthermore, they are stripes of gay colors, in contrast to the conservative tone in winter suitings. And they are not only gay but are of contrasting colors in themselves—contrasting but harmonious. One of the most popular colors in ties this winter is brown with stripes of red or wine color. Some shades of brown even have stripes of blue or green. Gold and red stripes are also seen on a dark brown background.

Almost invariably, in the best shops or on the best dressed men, the stripes seen are in neat cluster groups spaced rather far part. Not more than three contrasting colors are found in a cluster and as a rule it is two. Such gaiety in striped neckwear, it is noted, calls for conservatism in the shirt and collar. This may be in the form of a demi-bosom shirt of quiet pattern, with collar to match or white collar, or it may be in the form of white broadcloth, with separate collar or with collar attached. If the latter combination is used, a clasp pin or a tab collar adds to the smartness of the highly colored tie.

Sharp color contrasts in shirts have also produced this winter some demand for quiet, conservative colors and patterns in ties to go with them. Among these are observed such figures as the bird's eye, hound's tooth, neat geometricals and shepherd's crooks. There is also a definite trend among some particular dressers for plain, solid effects in neckwear. These are found in solid colors with "self" patterns. They come in rich shades and are distinguishable by their weave—miniature herringbone, chevron stripes, dice patterns, small diamonds, etc.

A new necktie feature this winter, which might be termed sportingly conservative, is a tie of solid color bearing miniature sports figures. You have to look closely to determine whether the little figure is a dog's head, a horse's head, a golf club, a shotgun, a reel or some other emblem of sport. Such ties are worn, not only for sports events and gatherings, but upon any occasion with street clothes.

Reports to neckwear manufacturers continue to sustain the old rule of good taste laid down for shirts, collars and ties. Gay ties with quiet shirts and vice versa.

WET GROUNDS PREVENT ANNUAL INDIAN GAME

The University of Vermont-Dartmouth game which was to have been played last Saturday afternoon was cancelled because of wet grounds and [illegible] of the most popular of the season at Vermont, would probably have been very closely contested. No definite date has been set for the contest as yet, but [illegible] will appear later if the game is to be played at some later time.

However, the team can be pleased at its southern [illegible] this year although the losses [illegible] greater than the wins the team [illegible] commendation. Yet since the [illegible] season has started, the Catamount team has won only a game and [illegible] well on its way to being trimmed [illegible] the teams in the remainder of its games.

The ball team takes on Middlebury this afternoon in an attempt to avenge the loss to nothing defeat at Middlebury, when John Beckley, pitching good ball, lost a pitchers' duel. It is surprising the way the team has [illegible] part of its games. They play just so good, almost as good as the other team, and yet it just is not able to surpass the other team. In the case of the weak New Hampshire outfit, the Catamounts played just good enough ball to allow the Wildcats to take the game 3-2. Yet when they bucked up against Dartmouth the following day, they play good enough ball to beat New Hampshire but not [illegible] enough to defeat Dartmouth. So [illegible] the entire season. It is hoped that the Catamounts will clean the tar out of the Middlebury nine in this afternoon's game.

A computation of the team's averages show that the team has slipped considerably since the southern trip. Dutch McKay alone has been able to boost his hitting average from .285 to .303 since that time.

THIRD STUDENT CONCERT WILL BE HELD THURSDAY

Grieg was so struck by these comedies that he composed an entire suite of five dances to represent the moods of these plays, which is written in the spirit of that time, called the "antique style."

Bach's "Well-Tempered Clavichord" is represented by the "Prelude in B Flat," which will be played by Miss Tarleton, who is also rendering "Clair de Lune," from the works of Debussy. Miss Tarleton has been a pupil of Miss Marston for the past two years. Muriel Magee contributes "Punchinello," a clown's antics, by Rachmannoff. She has also studied with Miss Marston for two years.

The two violinists will each play one selection. Miss Winn has chosen Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Song of India," and will give Kreisler's arrangement of it. Rimsky-Korsakoff was a sailor, in the first place, but he suddenly decided to take up music, and brought out his opera "Sadko," from which this "Song" is taken. "It is interesting to note," commented Miss Charlotte de Volt, violin instructor at U. V. M., "that such a composition could have been written by a man who had had such utterly different training." Miss Winn's instruction here has been for the last two years.

The "Andante Tranquillo" from de Bériot's Concerto in G is supposed to show off the technical facility of the player," continued Miss de Volt. Jeanette Jerome, a pupil of Miss de Volt's for one year, will play this particular number.

The choir concert took place Sunday, May 22, the second in the series, and the final concert will be by students of organ and voice on June 5 in the Ira Allen Chapel.

The program for Thursday's concert:

Prelude in B Flat (from Well-Tempered Clavichord) — Bach
Clair de Lune — Debussy
Nocturne in G Minor — Chopin
Ruth Tarleton, piano
A Song of India, — Rimsky-Korsakoff-Kreisler
Effie Winn, violin
Polichinelle (Punchinello), — Rachmaninoff
Muriel Magee, piano
Nur wer die Sehnsucht kennt, — Tschaikowsky
Traeume — Wagner
Die Lorelei — Liszt
Mailla Putnam, soprano
Andante Tranquillo (from Concerto in G) — de Bériot
Jeanette Jerome, violin
Wenn die Rosen bluehn — Reichhardt
Who is Sylvia? — Schubert
Ave Maria — Schubert
Samuel Pierce, Jr., tenor
Prelude from Suite "From Holberg's Time" — Grieg
Andante from Italian Concerto — Bach
Hark, Hark, the Lark — Schubert-Liszt
Olwen Prindle, piano
An die Musik — Schubert
An den Mond — Schubert
Der Musensohn — Schubert
Judith Moody, soprano
Grillen (Whims) — Schumann
Pastorale — Scarlatti
Little White Donkey — Ibert
Etude in C Minor — Chopin
Katrina Munn, piano

The accompaniments to the songs will be played by Mrs. Elizabeth Bradish; the accompaniments to the violin pieces, by Katrina Munn.

The concert is free and open to the public.

FLOATING UNIVERSITY TO REPEAT WORLD TOUR

Plans for a 35,000 mile trip around the world by more than 600 American college students, to sail from New York in October and return in May, and to be joined enroute by students from England, Germany, Norway and Italy, are being made by a group of nationally known leaders and by men and women prominent in the social, educational and business life of this and other states.

Senators Arthur Capper of Kansas and Royal S. Copeland of New York, Secretary of Labor William N. Doak, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Henry J. Allen, former Governor and Senator from Kansas, and Mrs. Allen, together with others well known here are included among the patrons of the movement, which is designed to broaden the outlook of American university men and women and give them a first hand knowledge of foreign peoples, places and conditions without loss of time in their regular college work.

A trans-Atlantic ocean liner, equipped with study halls, lecture rooms, science laboratories, auditorium, library, gymnasium and swimming pool, and chartered for the exclusive use of the "American Floating University," will serve as home and campus for the students during the eight months, or two college semesters spent on the world tour. Forty three countries, sixty-one ports and one hundred additional places of international significance will be visited and studied.

The University World Tour will be under the direction of a board of trustees of which Dr. Stanley P. Woodard of New York City is chairman, and which includes Charles K. Cooper, treasurer of the Santa Fe Railway; Dr. Charles F. Thwing, president-emeritus of Western Reserve University; Dr. John L. Merrill, president of All-America Cables; and Dr. James E. Lough, former dean and director of extra-mural activities at New York University. Headquarters have been established at 66 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

A faculty of fifty-five professors and instructors, most of whom will be on sabbatical leave from American colleges, is now being assembled by Doctor Lough, under the direction of the board. Classes corresponding to those in the usual college curriculum will be held regularly at sea, supplemented by field trips in the various countries visited.

The students will be selected for the tour on the basis of character and scholastic standing, with a quota assigned to each state in proportion to the number of college students resident in the state. Because of the international aspect of the movement and the interest shown by foreign governments and university groups, a special effort will be made to have the student body represent the best in American college life, it is said. Patrons and patronesses are now being chosen here and in other states to aid in making these selections.

The quota allotment of eighty-five students from the Pacific Coast States; ninety-five from the Western States; one hundred fifteen from the Middle West; one hundred from the South; one hundred twenty-five from New York and the Middle Atlantic States; and one hundred from New England.

ODDS AND ENDS

At Wittenberg University three blonde co-eds debated with three dark-haired girls from the institution on the subject that brunettes were more intelligent than blondes. The brunettes won, proving their point.

"Did you see the icicles on the radiator?"
"Yes, I thawed them."
"Saw, child, saw."
"What the hell should I saw?"

At Idaho University, a student recently set a world's record by consuming fifty-six raw eggs in an hour.

Cutting classes at University of Maryland brings a fine of three dollars upon the head or rather the pocketbook of the offender. That's one case where crime pays, and pays until it hurts.

More than six hundred students of all ages registered at a new series of free courses provided by Western Reserve University for the poor of Cleveland.

"There is an age to be born, to go to college, to wed and to die, and it's a mistake to do any of those things at the wrong time."—Pres. A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard University.

Middlebury College is instituting a course in lovemaking. Members of the senior class will act as demonstrators. Judging from the large enrollment, the Middlebury boys and girls want to polish their techniques. And even faculty members have announced their intention of signing up.

CLASS IN PSYCHOLOGY JOURNEYS TO WATERBURY

Under the supervision of Prof. John T. Metcalf the class in abnormal psychology made its annual trip to Waterbury last Thursday morning and afternoon, as a supplement to the regular course. As an innovation, members not enrolled in the abnormal psychology class were allowed to participate. Prof. P. H. Ewert conducted one group in the morning and Professor Metcalf took charge in the afternoon.

Dr. J. C. O'Neil, professor of psychiatry at U. V. M., gave a lecture to each group on the various types of insanity, and examples were shown to the students in order to emphasize the symptoms of the various classes. The students were shown through the institution and chatted with several of the inmates.

LIST OF NEW BOOKS AT LIBRARY COVERS A WIDE FIELD OF SUBJECTS

By Dorothy Kennedy

New books recently received at the Billings Library include a number of well-known authors, and not a few Vermont celebrities are represented in the list. The striking new book, "Living Philosophies," incidentally chosen by the Book of the Month Club, which is made up of the philosophies of famous men who are still living, contains, among others, the philosophy of the outstanding psychologist, Prof. John Dewey, who has done more in educational psychology than any other man in America. Another book, which stands in a class by itself, is the charming and individual "Pen-Drift" by Charles Clark, former writer for the Associated Press, officer in the National Life Insurance Company, and editor of the Brattleboro Reformer. Mr. Crane's style is wholly individual, being enlivened by a vivid imagination.

Other outstanding books in the list are Duguid's "Green Hell," which describes adventures of an explorer in the mysterious jungles of Eastern Bolivia; Sherman's "Americans," and a story of the boyhood days of Calvin Coolidge, by Carpenter. The diversity of the subjects on the list is extremely wide, ranging from religion to modern science; from music to agricultural discussions, and including French, German, and Latin treatises.

The list:
Bailey: Plant Breeeding.
Bartlett: Cooperation in Marketing Dairy Products.
Briffault: The Mothers.
Burtt: Religion in an Age of Science.
Carpenter: Boyhood Days of President Calvin Coolidge.
Chapman: Forest Management.
Clark: International Communication.
Crane: Pen-Drift.
Davis: Ancient Americans.
Dickinson: A Modern Symposium.
Duguid: Green Hell, Adventures in the Mysterious Jungles of Eastern Bolivia.
Elson: Women's Work in Music.
Enrique: Historic Development of Logic.
Fabre-Luce: Locarno the Reality.
Garth: Race Psychology.
Hooton: Up From the Apes.
Einstein, Dewey and Jeans: Living Philosophies.
Matthews: Growth of the Idea of God.
Matthews: How to Understand Music.
Morgan: The Animal Mind.
Moufflet: Contre le Massacre de la Langue Française.
Olver: Landscaping the Small Home.
Reavis: Pierce and Stullken: The Elementary School.
Ronaldshay: Life of Lord Curzon.
Sherman: Americans.
Smith: Agricultural Extension System of the United States.
Stillman: Story of Early Chemistry.
Taylor: Faith of a Moralist.
Train: Puritan's Progress.
Tsanoff: Nature of Evil.
Williams: The United States and Disarmament.
Wright: History of the Later Latin Literature.

REDSTONE CAMPUS SCENE LILAC DAY CELEBRATION

Eckhard '33, Helen Mount '35, Katherine Durick '34, Katherine Skinner '33, and Ruth Erwin '34.

Charlotte Odell '33, is in charge of music. The poetry is in charge of Gladys LaFlamme '33. Lillian Mount '32 was in charge of the programs.

In an interview, Dean Patterson, stated that she expected the pageant this year would be comparable with the beautiful one of 1925, which was written by Dorothy Parker '24, which was called "The Dreamers."

Lilac Day was established during the administration of Peal Randall Wasson, the first dean of women, whose hope it was that Redstone might beautified with lilacs. The planting of these lilac was to become a tradition at the university, similar to the tradition of the commencement ivy on the library. The lilacs are planted by the vice-presidents of all the classes. The members of Mortar Board are in charge of this day which has always been know as Lilac Day.

The members of the student body are urged to be present.

CYNIC REPORTER GIVES IMPRESSION GAINED IN FLEMING MUSEUM ROOM

Japanese and Chinese brocades. In the one to the left is a most intriguing nest of Japanese boxes.

At both ends of the left wall stand large cases containing wedding kimonos. The one on the right is of white satin embroidered in gold lavender, black and orange, and lined with coral satin. It is of the seventeenth century. In the other case the robe is of gray silk, lined with crimson. It is embroidered with brown and gray sparrows, sitting on golden branches.

On the right of the door as one leaves is a case which might be called African although there are many other than African countries represented. The center of this is occupied by a man's robe from Tunis. It is made in red and gold stripes. In front of it is a brass vase from Benares, India. Cobras form the handle to the piece. There is a candlestick from Kashmir, India of brass with enamel, inlay, also a woman's jacket, of Turkish origin. There is also some jewelry of silver from Africa, and some of brass from India.

In the left hand case are Italian laces, Turkish laces, Spanish, English and French fans. There is some glassware and chinaware from various parts of the world.

Along the end wall are two cases one on either side of Mr. Fleming's picture. The one on the right contains pictures of the various members of the Fleming family, books, commencement programs. One of the interesting pieces is Mr. Fleming's Delta Psi pin. Also there is his Phi Beta Kappa key.

In the left case are pieces of the Fleming family silverware, with some pieces that have been collected in many parts of the world.

In the early part of the nineteenth century Mr. Fleming's grandparents left Scotland for America, where they landed at Plattsburg. Hearing about the coming City of Burlington the Fleming family set out for it. On their arrival Archibald Fleming, then a young boy saw the college, and decided he wanted to attend it. He was graduated from Vermont. He was the father of Robert Hull Fleming, who also was graduated from Vermont. Mr. Fleming left Burlington for the west where he was successful in the grain business. He retired early, and has spent the rest of his time in traveling, accompanied by his niece, Katherine Wolcott. The articles in the Fleming Room were collected by him during his travels.

Reversible names have caused trouble before this, but the experience of a certain Boston University prof is noteworthy. This unfortunate gentleman was reading his roll one morning when his class was surprised to hear him call, "Darling Bertha." Realizing the faux pas, he hastily blurted out, "Bertha darling." Then he gave up in disgust.

DO YOU INHALE?

A frank discussion at last on a subject that has long been "taboo"

"LET sleeping dogs lie!" So said the cigarette trade when first we raised the subject of inhaling. But dodging an important issue is not Lucky Strike's policy!

Do you inhale? That question is vitally important . . . for every smoker inhales—knowingly or unknowingly. Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette! And the delicate membranes of your throat demand that your smoke be pure, clean—free of certain impurities!

No wonder Lucky Strike dares to raise this vital question! For Luckies bring you the protection you want . . . because Luckies' famous purifying process removes certain impurities concealed in every tobacco leaf. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

So, whether you inhale knowingly or unknowingly, safeguard those delicate membranes!

FIVE ORATORS TO MOUNT ROSTRUM IN EFFORT TO WIN KINGSLEY AWARDS

Entrants to Meet This Afternoon to Ascertain Date Event is to Take Place

ALL MEN ARE KEEN SPEAKERS AND DEBATERS

Five men have thus far shown their intention of taking part in this year's Kingsley Oratorical Contest. They are D. W. Jenks '34, F. G. Kinsley '35, R. I. Van Dyke '34, R. F. McCann '34 and R. S. Wright, Jr., '35. R. J. Mulcahy '34 is a possibility. Mr. M. D. Powers, who is in charge of the contest believes that it will take place either the 13th or 14th of June, Monday and Tuesday evenings respectively. He has called a meeting of the entrants for Friday of this week at 1:45 p.m. in order to determine whether these two dates would be the best for the largest number.

The only requirement for participation in the Kingsley Oratorical Contest is that of being a member of the freshman or sophomore classes of the University. The entrant should have a voice, and the ability to form words distinctly. He should also have selected some passage of "oratorical prose," as the catalog puts it, and have memorized it. When the great night comes, it is necessary that he ascend the rostrum, face the audience, whether there is one or not, and give the selection he has chosen, as an oration. He does not have to write his own speech, in fact it is preferred that he should not, but should find some speech of some past or present orator which has been preserved, and memorize it, giving it as he wants to give it. He will work out his own method of presentation, and use his own judgement as to how long the speech should be, keeping in mind the possible soporific tendencies of his address should it endure to a too unconscionable length of time.

There are three prizes which will be presented to the three best orators. First prize is $25, the second prize is $15 and the third prize is $10. A man winning first prize is automatically barred from further participation another year. That means, should a freshman win the first prize, he cannot take part the next year, as juniors and seniors are not allowed to contest.

In last year's contest R. Pearson Donaghy '33 won first prize after securing second prize the year before. Robert J. Van Dyke '34 was the recipient of second prize in last years oratorical contest. James Bigelow '35 got third place last year.

Of the men entered for this year's event, all have had much experience before. David Jenks '34 has been on the Rochester High School debating team and participated in the Peaby Cup debates between the freshmen and the sophomores two years ago. Van Dyke has debated several times on the issues of the debates and has participated in several class debates. He holds the honor of being a member of Tau Kappa Alpha.

Stephen Mulcahy, a recent debater and member of Tau Kappa Alpha, has been in numerous oratorical contests and has been in several debates this year. Stuart Wright is one of the outstanding freshman debaters and has been on the junior varsity trips several times.

WINANT PERMANENT HEAD OF SENIORS ACCORDING TO VOTE

Carrier, Vice-president, Cobb, Treasurer; Tupper and Powers, Men's and Women's Secretary, Respectively

PRINTED BALLOTS USED AT TUESDAY MEETING

Eddie Winant, of the Bronx, N. Y. was selected by the class of 1933 as the permanent president of the class. Verna Carrier, of Bennington, was selected at the meeting last Tuesday afternoon to serve as permanent vice-president. Frederick Tupper, Jr., of Burlington, became the permanent men's secretary, while Roberta Powers was elected to serve in the capacity of women's secretary. Raymond Cobb, of Burlington, was selected as the treasurer of the class.

The elections held last Tuesday afternoon in the Old Mill Chapel were characterized by the usual procedure, although printed ballots were employed to simplify the method of voting. Names had to be signed to the printed slips used as votes. There was no display of fraternity politics as is usually the case with all class elections with the exception of the permanent senior class officers.

Eddie Winant, winner of the presidential honors, has been very active on the campus in athletics. He is a three-sport man and a retiring Boulder officer. He is president of Student Union and headed the committee in charge of the investigation of the cancellation of the southern baseball trip. He is finishing his last sport year at college with the baseball team. At the time of the election he was playing ball against Middlebury.

Verna Carrier, newly elected vice-president of the class, has the distinction of being the Queen of Junior Week. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi and has played an active part in college life, being on the dean's list several times and is a member of various clubs.

Raymond Cobb of Bennington now is in the position of permanent class treasurer. He is also a returing Boulder man, and in his junior year was the editor of the Ariel. He was the advertising manager of the 1932 Kake Walk and was very helpful in its success. Cobb is the manager of baseball and is a member of Delta Psi fraternity.

Roberta Powers, the women's secretary, has been very active during her college career. Perhaps her outstanding honor is the election to membership in Phi Beta Kappa. She served as president of Tau Kappa Alpha last year. She has taken an active part in many of the college dramatic productions and was advertising manager of the Winnowings of the Mill.

Frederick Tupper, men's secretary, plays consistently on the University tennis team, and was in a large measure responsible for the team's winning the state title this year. He has won his letter in track and basketball in addition to tennis.

WILLIAM J. BURKE '33 AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP GIVEN YEARLY BY ELKS

According to information given out by Charles F. Mann, the president of the Vermont State Elks Association, William J. Burke '33, of Rutland, has been awarded the scholarship, which is provided for in the Elks National Foundation.

William Burke, the winner of the award, is captain-elect of the Vermont golf team, and is an outgoing key and serpent man. Last February he won his Kake Walk white jacket with Coach Walter Terrien. He is a member of the interfraternity council and was assistant manager of basketball.

The National Foundation is a fund being created by the Order of Elks of the United States and will when completed represent the vast sum of twenty million dollars, the income from which is to be used entirely for philanthropic and charitable purposes. While it will not reach its full measure for some time to come, it will, however, be a matter of a few years before it is a question to make many scholarships and one of these is to go to a scholarship to some worthy boy or girl in each state and one in each Lodge area in each state and one in each Lodge area in each state and one in each Lodge area

LILAC DAY

[illegible] spring had arrived, and with it the beautiful custom of [illegible] the President of our great state, of women, Pearl Randall Wasson. To one who so much loved the green loveliness of Vermont, it seems only right that a tribute should be given whereby that beauty is portrayed and the spirit, exemplified by her, perpetuated. It was her desire that the planting of lilac at Redstone should become as much a part of the University as the ivy at the library, and this year, in reinstituting it as an annual event, it has become that. It is indeed to the credit of those responsible for this change that it has been brought about.

Like Ivy, which [illegible] counterparts in many colleges, is as much [illegible] as is Kake Walk, Commencement time has no other place has a more [illegible] setting against which to hold a pageant than our own campus [illegible] its stately greenness and background of stately, yet [illegible] buildings. The pastel hues of the costumes blend in absolute [illegible] with the [illegible] coming of the lilac blossoms and the shady [illegible] of [illegible] lawn.

Much credit must be given to Gladys LaFlamme '33, the author of the new pageant. The Outing presented this year for the first time [illegible] the lilac as the symbol of the worthwhile things in the world, [illegible] has created a series of scenes which greatly surpass the usual type of [illegible] productions. It is more elaborate than the one used before at this occasion, and yet is simple in this complexity, bringing out the thought in a refreshingly new manner.

First conceived as a distinct part of the University in 1921, Lilac Day has now become incorporated among the activities of the women students to such a degree that innumerable hours are spent in perfecting the [illegible] which it is presented. Now sponsored by Mortar Board, it requires the expenditure of the utmost energy and enthusiasm by them to make it the success which it deserves to be. And this effort has been put forth by all those connected with it, especially by Mrs. Packard and Miss Baldwin, who directed the production, and by the girls who took part. It is to them that Vermont owes the perpetuation of this her most beautiful tradition.

New Means of Picking Medical Students is Better Than Old Way

Medical College Adopted New System Last Year on Suggestion of Association of Medical Colleges

JORDAN ENUMERATES VALUABLE FEATURES

Following suggestions from the Association of American Medical Colleges the medical faculty adopted, a year ago, a new method "for determination of the eligibility of applicants for enrollment in the College of Medicine." The factors designated for determining such eligibility were: "1. Pre-medical record. 2. Results of aptitude test. 3. Personality and general fitness to be determined in part by a personal interview." This method of determining the eligibility of prospective medical students was adopted, after careful consideration, by the dean and faculty because, according to studies by the Association of Medical Colleges, it was found to give a better index of the probable success of students in the medical course than any method hitherto employed.

A committee was named to serve, under chairmanship of the dean, as a committee on enrollment. This committee considers the three factors mentioned above with respect to each applicant.

The applicant's pre-medical record is examined carefully. It is checked to see that all courses required by the American Medical Association have been passed satisfactorily and the quality of work done in various subjects considered. In addition to this, the faculty members and dean as well as other administrative officers of the academic college are consulted as to their opinion of the student's work and ability.

The medical aptitude tests were [illegible] under identical conditions to all pre-medics throughout the United States. Last year over ten thousand students took this test. At Vermont, due in part to the fact that students are admitted from two-, three- and [illegible] there is a considerable variation in the scores received by the different members of the group. The test as a whole is, however, valuable when considered in connection with the student's scholastic record and with his interview.

The interviews for pre-medics, which have just been completed enable the committee to meet the applicant personally and to talk over with him, informally, a number of important and fundamental questions. The object of these interviews is to determine whether the applicant's personality and general fitness for the study and practice of medicine warrant his admission and promise a record which will be creditable. The committee wants to feel sure that each student admitted is selecting the right field and that he is likely to be a success in it from every point of view. The committee also desires that the applicant realize the seriousness of the career he is about to undertake. These interviews often bring out facts concerning the student or his conditions which otherwise would not be considered and thus afford the committee an opportunity to help or advise the student to his benefit.

The decision of the committee relative to the interviews just completed will be announced to the individual applicants as soon as possible. Many students who have not already applied [illegible] are considering entering the College of Medicine next September [illegible] asked to signify their intention.

It is the opinion of the [illegible] of the College of Medicine [illegible] dents admitted should be [illegible] character, that they should [illegible] personality, more than average [illegible] tic ability and a real interest in the study of medicine.

"I like to see a man smoke a pipe"

You've heard your own girl say it, perhaps. You're sure to hear it wherever girls get together.

She likes you to smoke a pipe

They pull away at our cigarettes. But they like to see us have a go at the "strong, silent man's" smoke—a companionable, time-proven pipe.

There is something satisfying about a pipe. It's a slow, reflective, hard-thinking smoke—or a calm, relaxing, restful smoke. The hunter's smoke, the fisherman's smoke, the engineer's smoke—a man's smoke, through and through.

And pipe smokers who know their fine tobaccos tell you there's no blend quite like the fine selected burleys of Edgeworth — the favorite tobacco in 42 out of 50 leading colleges.

A pipe is satisfying

Do try Edgeworth. Perhaps you will like it as well as most men seem to. Edgeworth is at your dealer's. Or send for free sample if you wish. Address Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22nd Street, Richmond, Va.

SPILLER ELECTED HEAD OF I. R. C. AT MEETING

James Bigelow, Vice-president; Cummings, Secretary and Patterson, Treasurer

S. Nathan Spiller '33, of Barre, was elected president of the International Relations Club at a business meeting held Tuesday evening in the Marsh Room of the Billings Library. James F. Bigelow '33, of Fair Haven, was chosen vice-president, Preston C. Cummings '34, of Burlington, secretary, and George W. Patterson '34, of Vergennes, treasurer.

Plans for the coming year were discussed and eligibility requirements established. Fifteen charter members were recognized. They are James F. Bigelow, Sylvia A. Boyd, Stanley K. Carter, Robert A. Cross, Fraser B. Drew, S. Nathan Spiller, and Theodore J. Taylor of the class of 1933, Ronald H. Bingham, William Cohen, Preston C. Cummings, Gordon I. Davis, Irving Lisman, Realtus F. McCuin, and George W. Patterson of the class of 1934, and R. Stuart Wright of the class of 1935.

The retiring officers are Paul J. Latrosse '32, president; Sylvia A. Boyd '33, vice president; Gordon I. Davis '34 secretary; and Stanley K. Carter '33 treasurer.

The new officers are active on campus. Spiller is president of John Dewey Club, sports editor of the 1933 Ariel, music chairman of the Junior Prom, news editor of the CYNIC, and assistant editor of the 1934 Freshman Handbook. He belongs to Phi Sigma Delta.

Bigelow is managing editor of the CYNIC, president of Tau Kappa Alpha, captain of debating, managing editor of the 1933 Ariel, and was the Junior Founder's speaker. He is affiliated with Zeta Chi.

Cummings belongs to Lambda Iota. He was recently elected treasurer of the class of 1934 and served on the Sophomore Hop Committee. He is a tennis scrub and was an assistant director of the 1935 Freshman Camp. He is social chairman of the French Club.

Patterson is secretary of the John Dewey Club and a member of Kappa Sigma. He was recently elected a contributing editor of the CYNIC and placed on the Dean's list last semester.

SOLDIERS AT COLLEGE TO MARCH IN ANNUAL MEMORIAL DAY RITES

On Monday, May 30, Memorial Day, the [illegible] R. O. T. C. battalion and band will participate in a Memorial Day parade to be held under the supervision of Stannard Post No. 2 of the Grand Army of the Republic and the Burlington Post of the American Legion. The parade will consist of most of the patriotic organizations in the immediate locality, and will move down lower Main Street, up Church Street, and Pearl Street at about [illegible] o'clock on the morning.

Allen Fletcher, commander of the American Legion Post in Burlington, who is to be marshal of the parade, is in charge of the Memorial Day parade and exercises. Adjutant Laduke of the Post has issued the invitation to the University to participate, and Pres. Guy W. Bailey has given the order that the battalion parade.

The Vermont R. O. T. C. battalion will take part only in the parade and will probably leave it at the corner of Pearl and Church Streets. The unit will then proceed to the back campus and hold a field parade, at which time the certificates will be issued to sophomores who have completed the two-year basic course. The battalion will then pass in review before the graduating cadet officers who will also be presented with their certificates of completion of the advanced course.

CHANCES FOR TITLE IN STATE TRACK MEET ON MONDAY NOT SO GOOD

Post Says, "We Can't Win, But I Don't Know About Second Place"

CATAMOUNTS HAVE WON TWO AND LOST COUPLE

Middlebury Favored to Win Fifth Title of Year in Meet at Centennial

[illegible] a win at the Green [illegible]ference track meet next [illegible]rning are pretty slim. [illegible] Post said when inter[illegible] "We can't win, but I don't [illegible] at second." However, the [illegible]best it has been in years, [illegible] two meets so far, and the [illegible]ent is there. Capt. Eddie [illegible] was optimistic, "We will not [illegible] with anything less than [illegible]," he said. He also stated [illegible] team was the best it h[illegible]s ever [illegible] he has been in college—[illegible] more men out, more let[illegible]earned, and above all, more [illegible]

[illegible]atamounts have won and lost [illegible]ular this spring. Montreal [illegible]A was defeated for the first [illegible] the history of the college, 79 [illegible] St. Lawrence was set down [illegible]. On the other hand, Colby [illegible] measure, 98½ to 36½, and [illegible] lost to Rensselaer Tech, 82½ [illegible]

[illegible]bury has had an equally good [illegible] They are credited with wins [illegible] University and Montreal [illegible]A. They defeated B. U. by a [illegible] and for purposes of com[illegible] scores, Montreal was trimmed [illegible]. They also placed third in the [illegible]

They [illegible] fifth in the Easterns and, pecu[illegible]gh, Trinity only got a sixth. [illegible] from the Nutmeg State [illegible] seventh and last with no points [illegible]

[illegible]ding the individual events, [illegible] at Norwich will probably win [illegible]. He has been clocked [illegible] year at ten flat. He is also [illegible] possibility in the 220, with [illegible] chance for Joe Delfausse. [illegible] of Middlebury is a strong [illegible] in the quarter, with Joe Del[illegible] the next best likely winner. [illegible] also has a good prospect [illegible] yard run in the person of [illegible] Fallon. Roy Brooks of Ver[illegible] are expected to place well [illegible] front.

[illegible] distance races will prob[illegible] the best events of the day. [illegible] Brooks of Vermont, and [illegible] Middlebury, are picked to [illegible] the shorter event, while the [illegible] honors will be divided be[illegible] Harwood and Hadley of Ver[illegible] Sears of Middlebury. Cliff [illegible] is the strong favorite to win. [illegible]an of Middlebury is picked [illegible] high hurdles. He has been [illegible] less than 17 seconds in every [illegible] once managed to come [illegible] winner in the lows, with [illegible]6 flat. YEARLINGS TO CONTEST LAST BALL GAME THIS AFTERNOON WITH T. C. A.

Doc Newton's Charges Have Won Five and Lost Two During Schedule Thus Far

CLOSE ENCOUNTER IS PREDICTED FOR FROSH

Swartz and Skinner in the Battery Positions for Kittens

The freshman ball team packs up its duffle and leaves today for the final game on schedule with Troy Conference Academy there. All evidence points to a close, interesting contest. In the game with T. C. A. played here on May 12 the frosh managed to eke out a victory at 4-3.

This game was loosely played and ten errors were chalked up against the men. Good battery work with Swartz on the mound for the Kittens was largely responsible for the Kittens victory in the first contest.

Swartz will in all probability start for the yearlings, with Skinner behind the plate. Both Burns and Rock were instrumental in the first victory, Burns hitting a three bagger.

The freshman baseball schedule is marred by only two defeats thus far, at the hands of the Dartmouth freshmen and the game with Clark school played on Centennial Field.

A second victory over T. C. A. will result in six wins in eight games.

For the freshmen, it can be said that they have played good ball throughout the entire season and have upheld the honor of their class in putting out a successful team. Like the football, basketball, and cross-country teams, they are putting forth a very successful year, and their eligibility to varsity positions next year should help to solve some of Larry Gardner's problems.

Swartz has had a good record in pitching as has Lanahan. Skinner seems to be the steadiest catcher and most natural catcher in college. Rock should easily cinch the shortstop position next year, while Burns seems in a fair way to taking third base position.

They should conquer Troy Conference Academy this afternoon, thereby completing a successful season of sports that they can look back on and admire.

EXCHANGES

According to a recent survey conducted at University of Washington, Ballyhoo and Hooey occupy second place in student sales. The reigning favorite continues to be that old standby, The Saturday Evening Post.

Down at North Carolina they have a prof who has taught a logic course for forty-two years and given only two A's.

A student at Purdue University received a picture postcard from his father, who was touring Europe, with the following message on the reverse side: "Dear son, on the other side you will see the rock from which the Spartans used to throw their defective children. Wish you were here."

Recently fifty students at Villaoin, Spain, locked two professors in a room until they promised to pass the whole class without examination.

Fifty Yale students attended a banquet at which a talk on "food poisoning" was given. After the dinner thirty men fell ill, while the other twenty men reported to the hospital the next day.

Student Union desires the cooperation of every college girl during Big Sister period next fall. Notices will be sent to those girls who have been assigned "Little Sisters." When they receive this notice, will they please write her a friendly letter.

Lilac Day Ceremonies More Beautiful Than Ever Before

Dean Wasson Memorial Makes Redstone Back Campus Loveliest This Year

[illegible] Day, a pageant inaugurated by Dean Kathleen Wasson, a former dean of women at [illegible] and continued in her memory, took place this year [illegible] May 26 at [illegible] on the [illegible] back campus. Due to the [illegible] of Mortar Board, national senior women's honorary society, [illegible] by Miss Anne Baldwin and Miss Dallas Pollard, the pageant was [illegible] to be more beautiful than ever before. The lilacs around the [illegible] of the lawn were in blossom and they were used to decorate the throne of the Queen of Lilacs. The pageant, "The Symbol," was written by Gladys LaFlamme '33.

The pageant opened with the reading of a poem written by Sara Teasdale) about the loveliness that can be found in life by the goddess of beauty. After the parade seven girls dressed in white costumes with colored scarfs and carrying the lilac chain, danced the dance of Beauty.

The Queen of Lilacs, in a robe of pale lavender, surrounded by dancing Woodland Sisters, enters and walks to her throne. The Woodland Sisters dance before her and all except one of them appear to be very happy. This one is weary of dancing and is just leaving when the light in the eyes of Queen draws her back. The Queen asks her why she is unhappy and the Woodland Sister answers that she is tired of eternally dancing and eternally singing, and wants to find something more worth while than just dancing and singing.

The Queen of Lilacs looks at her eagerly and tell, her that in the world of mankind there are many noble and eternal things and that she is to look for them. The dance of Hope begins and the Queen is so happy that she names the Woodland Sister, Sister of Life. The green woodland costume falls away and the Sister of Life, dressed in gold, dances the dance of Life.

After her dance she is still puzzled at what she is to do when the dance of Dreams progresses she begins to understand her task and leaves the wood after having promised the Queen that she would bring her a symbol of what she finds. The dance of the Searchers seeking the symbol ends the first act.

Act II

The Sister of Life returns, carrying lilacs. She looks for the Queen, but on the throne she sees not the Queen of Lilacs but a strange queen. The strange queen tell her that the Queen of Lilacs had gone to the land of the unknown. The Sister of Life is very unhappy but after the dance of Memory she suddenly jumps up and scatters lilacs over the place where the Queen had once been. She is smiling and says that the lilacs are the symbol of what she found and that once more she is happy. The dancers all [illegible] in rainbow colors, come and dance before her.

The pageant ends with a procession of the characters and the singing of Champlain.

[illegible] to the Alumni last year when the old timers showed the [illegible] that they still know how to handle a baseball.

Unfortunately the Dartmouth game scheduled for Centennial Field last Saturday was called off on account of rain. For the past three contests the Indians have succumbed to the Catamounts and a victory over the Big Green team would have done much to raise the morale of the Green and Gold. Three times Eutaw Ash, the [illegible] mainstay, has proved to be the downfall of Dartmouth batters. On June 20 he will have an opportunity to make it a fourth, when Vermont goes to Hanover for the last scheduled game.

At Holy Cross College there is only one Greek course and only one student taking it.

Copr. 1932 The American Tobacco Co.

REALLY now—how often have you wondered why the subject of inhaling has been generally avoided in cigarette advertising?

Why the mystery? Why the silence? We all inhale—knowingly or unknowingly! Each and every one of us breathes in some part of the smoke from our cigarette.

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has dared to bring up this vital question—for Luckies have the answer!

Luckies assure you the clean, pure cigarette you want . . . because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

DREW TO BE PRESIDENT OF INTERFRAT COUNCIL

Lamar B. Drew '33, of Randolph, senior representative of Lambda Iota, was elected president of the Interfraternity Council at a meeting of the Council held last night at the Delta Psi House. Lionel F. Read '33, of Woburn, Delta Psi's representative became vice-president and the senior representative of Kappa Sigma will serve as secretary-treasurer.

Asking freshmen for preference for rushing dates will be permitted next year by a decision made by the Council. This action, which strikes out the last clause of the rushing rules as published last year, was taken after a short discussion. A few of the representatives present expressed strong views on the matter but the majority didn't seem to consider that it mattered. Rushing dates were set for the third week in October; other definite action was the putting of the financial question over to next year.

The change in rules came after last week's discussion of the way in which the preference rule was broken during the last season. The old rule stated that no fraternity should ask any freshman for his preference of a rushing night. The rule was broken by almost every house and the one or two that did not break it felt that they suffered accordingly. The reason why most of the houses asked freshmen was to secure their presence at the party on the last night, which would give that house a psychological advantage. Some houses, which could not afford more than one party, broke the rule for financial reasons. It was felt by most of those present that the rule was useless although one or two raised the objection that the change would result in the asking of dates in the first days of college before the houses or freshmen would be able to exercise any judgment.

The rushing dates were moved ahead a week to the third week in October to prevent conflict with the monthly examinations which came at the same time this year. It is hoped that this will improve the scholastic records of the men who take part in the active rushing.

Next year, there will be a tax on each fraternity to defray Council expenses if the present plans are carried out. The amount has not been set, for it will be determined by what is needed each year.

An interesting proposal was advanced, namely, that rushing should be confined to two days all day with no obligation. This was promptly voted down for it felt that it would result in cut-throat tactics. Other defeated proposals were to have three days of rushing, and also to delay rushing until November. The plans adopted, however, call for four parties, as usual, to be held the third week in October with pledging to take place on Friday October 21.

EDUCATION DEPARTMENT IS PLACING STUDENTS FOR JOBS IN LEAN YEAR

Eight students in the four-year Education curriculum and fourteen in the Teacher Training course have already secured teaching positions for next year. There are also a number of other students who have prospects of positions, which are not as yet definite. This was the situation Tuesday, May 24, as announced by Prof. B. C. Douglass, head of the department of Education. Professor Douglass also said, "It is a slower year for the placing of teachers than has been true in the past few years." However, Professor Douglass hopes that later on there will be a greater demand for teachers than is the case at the present time.

Students who have already secured positions are: In the four-year Education course—Lillian Mount '32, Orleans High, English, French and Latin; Florice Murch '32, Danville High, French and Latin; Alice Brooks '32, Chapman Technical High, New London, Conn., Home Economics; Lois Harrington '32, Derby Academy, Home Economics; Doris Skinner '32, Bristol High, English; Katherine Skinner '32, Bradford Academy, Home Economics; Yolan Tiber '32, Huntington, Elementary School; Dorothy Davis '32, Hinesburg High, English.

In the two-year Teacher Training course—Ruth Andrus, Barre Town, Elementary School; Irene Caustic, Worcester, Elementary School; Bettie Curran, Readsboro, Elementary School; Cora Fleury, Grand Isle, Elementary School; Kathryn Jackson, Grade Six, Johnson, Training School; Myrtle Jaquith, Woodstock, Elementary School; Esther LaPierre, Northfield Falls, Elementary School; Doris Marston, Barre Town, Elementary School; Ruth Martin, Marshfield, Elementary School; Jennie Olmstead, Stowe, Elementary School; Lucile Pelsue, Mount Holly, Elementary School; Clara Stone, Roxbury, Elementary School; Margaret Wellinger, St. George, Elementary School; Grace Whitney, Brattleboro, Elementary School.

MCCUIN GIVES ADDRESS BEFORE REFORM SCHOOL

Drown '34, [illegible] prayer, and L. N. Hill '35. [illegible] was held Sunday afternoon, May 22, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and is the second and last of the year. McCuin spoke on the topic, "From Childhood to Manhood."

In a school spirit investigation at the University of Missouri, it was revealed that less than 25 percent of the freshmen knew the name of their dean.

A New York University seer has announced, "That even more authentic than those who kiss and write poems about it are those who don't kiss, but who write poems making it seem as though they did."

Do you inhale?

Almost an "untouchable" subject in cigarette advertising

...yet 7 out of 10 smokers inhale knowingly—and the other 3 inhale unknowingly!

REALLY now—how often have you wondered why the subject of inhaling has been generally avoided in cigarette advertising?

Why the mystery? Why the silence? We all inhale—knowingly or unknowingly! Each and every one of us breathes in some part of the smoke from our cigarette.

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has dared to bring up this vital question—for Luckies have the answer!

Luckies assure you the clean, pure cigarette you want . . . because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

It is a great pleasure to be invited to address you graduating class. I have never read a more interesting and informative history than that of the outstanding and leading universities of the country. The Grand Old State of Vermont is no exception to that. Its graduate from its institution since it has been established as have its pioneers are well known and as a leader regarded as indeed a great factor and I heartily congratulate the members of the graduating class of 1932.

I cannot believe that the bright earnest expectant faces of the members of this graduating class are those of the average. I am convinced that each of you will be more than average and because of this that each one will be a leader of tomorrow.

You have been trained by an intelligent hard working faculty especially well qualified to shape character and guide the minds of future leaders.

It is a mistake, however, to think that your education is completed that you are finished with books and book learning and need concern yourself no further with them. At this point in your lives you have only the foundation of your structure.

Books which you read and digest in the future will furnish a large part of the mortar necessary for the structure of success which you intend to build. Your school has done for you everything it could be expected to do. The rest must be done by yourself alone. It remains for you to avoid the pitfalls and to take advantage of the stumbling and pitch that are about you.

In legal standards deadheads have existed even at times as a student but now that you have met them I think you will realize that you are well planned with and have a distrust looking at respect for yourself as well as for the convictions of the faculty and the completeness and thoroughness of the course you have pursued.

School of Experience

You will find you are well equipped to enter the great school of experience [illegible]

Just what sort of a paper should the college sheet be. With the expulsion of Reed Harris from Columbia for [illegible] has come a furor of defense both for Harris and the press. He stood [illegible]. Not all the dean's denials can make it otherwise, for, after all, free speech means the right to print that which is annoying and provocative and disagreeable. No free speech problem ever arises as long as everyone likes what the other fellow wants to say.

As we [illegible] says. We do not quote Hearst because he is an authority on the subject and we don't care whether or not Reed has been expelled. We quote him merely because he stated, and succinctly, states our belief of what a college paper ought to be. Reed Harris is a victim of circumstance and to that it would have been rather unfair to have [illegible] alone. As it is, the world can readily see just why college graduates of today seem to lack originality—it is chalked up to them before they graduate.

Eventually industry will get down to a [illegible] where honest investment will yield its proper [illegible] where every dollar will be put to its best use [illegible] money now for no reason than to circulate it [illegible] on undeserving industries. Money which [illegible] for necessary goods might better be saved [illegible] be spent to better gain for industry itself.

The depression will end and undoubtedly [illegible] will be restored, for America with its [illegible] sources and small population must be prosperous; such prosperity cannot be created by red tape [illegible] more than can a sick man be cured by medicine [illegible] merely lowers his fever. Above all, the people must learn the lesson which the crash has evidently failed to teach them: that our economic structure cannot be stretched indefinitely. Unless the people realize [illegible] and learn how to use such knowledge, or unless a system is devised by government or industry to control wealth producing within proper channels, the world will undoubtedly be thrown into another period of depression when recovery from the present one begins to look as prosperous.—Emanuel A. [illegible] be imagined they would be. It is fortunate for most of us that we cannot look ahead too far with prophetic vision. Because the events which we might foresee would make life very hard. Things which may be faced with fortitude at forty or fifty years of age would be overwhelming to the spirit of twenty.

"And so the college man or woman looks back upon his college days as that period of life when the future was bright, when such obstacles as lay in the path seemed comparatively easy to overcome. Perhaps that is not true of every one who goes to college, but it will hold for the average. College days were the carefree days as one looks back upon them. They were the days of inspiration, of hopes which overtopped heights of high purposes which were to be fulfilled.

"Perhaps that is one of the principal reasons why alumni come back for commencement. They want to see youth on the threshold once more, even as they themselves were years before. They wish to recapture, if they can, though it be only second hand, some of that high mood of adventure and zest which they set forth upon the long journey from college classrooms.

Elder W. Holberg of Elmhurst, Long Island, for the oldest reunion class, 1882, said he thought it would be well for the alumni to gather beneath the statue of Ira Allen and sing "Home Sweet Home." He stressed the fact which the class of 1882 entered the University. He said it was a depressing era then, when the country seemed to be going to the dogs so the class was small. He prophesied the country will conquer the depression the same as it has other depressions. He said it is a great time to [illegible] strength and [illegible]

Judge Herbert E. Blanchard of Springfield spoke for the class of 1892. [illegible] some good stories reminiscent about the days of forty years ago and mentioned a number of the faculty members who had added to the education of the members of this class.

George P. Auld of New York, representing the class of 1902, said he was willing to admit that the "old fellows" had made a mess of things, but it was a problem what could be done about it. "A titanic upheaval of modern science" was what had brought about the present depression, he said. He reviewed some of the things which had brought about the present conditions. The boom was just "ironized greed rampant" he said. He declared that college training and the influence of quiet places such as Vermont will help to solve the present problems of the world.

Earle B. Waterman of Iowa City, Iowa, spoke for the class of 1907. He said his class graduated during a depression and that every time they had returned for a reunion there had been another depression so the class had decided not to hold another reunion for twenty-five years in order to avoid any more depressions.

Walton P. Kingsley of New York City, speaking for the class of 1910 said he felt very ill at ease on the platform because he had been sitting between John Alden and Bacchus referring to the Pilgrim and Roman costumes of the representatives of 1909 and 1911 on the platform. Mr Kingsley talked about his insurance and the "Back to the land" movement. He urged more effort to bring Vermont sons back to Vermont.

Lyman C. Hunt of Burlington speaking for the class of 1912 boasted of some of the deeds of his classmates. He mentioned Al Culkeen, who went to the Olympics just after he graduated from college and broke the world record in the broad jump at more than twenty feet feet. Mr. Hunt paid tribute to some of the old-time professors such as Peckham and Merrill.

Arthur H. Kober of Rutherford N. J. represented the class of 1917. As a Romeo he started talking to Latin. He told how the members of his class were stitted out by the depression of 1907 or

Dr. Jonas H. Ellis of New York City, 1917, said Vermont intercollegiate sports of the past few years have not been anything to be proud of. Some people do not think this is important but Mr. Ellis declared it is important from the standpoint of stimulating interest in and love for the college.

George Lomas of Averill Park, N. Y. 1927 told a good story and made a very favorable impression with his knack to tell stories and his striking personality.

E. Henry Powell of Cambridge, Mass. son of Miss L. Powell of Burlington and Miss L. Powell of Burlington spoke briefly, as did Ross Worrell of Providence, R. I. speaking for the class of 1931.

The senior marched to the center of the campus. The flag of 1931 was raised on the flag pole beneath the American flag which it remained the rest of commencement.

After closing the campus pilgrimage the seniors were seated on the steps of the Library Library and listened to farewell talks by two members of the faculty, Dean E. Swift, Prof. G. G. Groat, Prof. F. Tupper, Prof. G. P. Burns and Prof. P. Thomas.

Class Day Exercises

Forming in front of the Billings Library at 2:00 o'clock Linda [illegible] the seniors marched to the college green where the platform and chairs had been prepared for the usual class day exercises. Lockhart's orchestra furnished music. O. W. Jay of Albany, and President of the Senior Class gave the presidents address. Roberta Power of Morrisville, the class orator, and Lillian Mount of Burlington, the class [illegible]

The Boulder oration was given by V. O. Eaton of Worcester, Mass. [illegible] by E. W. Cobb of Bennington and the class poem, entitled "Stand Beside Me, Dear," by L. L. Fitzgerald of Brookline, Mass.

The address to undergraduates was delivered by P. L. La Cross of Burlington and the Ivy oration by Verna Carter of Bennington.

Jay's Address

In his address as president of the class Jay declared that the University of Vermont was too conservative that it must adopt progressive ideas.

Many [illegible] be referred to the cut system in effect at the University, declaring that it is not in accord with modern methods with the result that many of the students take more cuts than they are entitled to and [illegible] college.

Referring also to the athletic situation, he said athletics are at very low ebb at the University and something must be done about it. He contrasted athletic scholarships and [illegible] colleges, saying he saw no reason why scholarships could not be given to outstanding athletes as well as to outstanding scholars. He maintained the athletic standing as valid to be recognized [illegible]

Another criticism voiced by the class president was that there was not sufficient cooperation between students and faculty at the University. He said the faculty-student council is not organized to cope with the problem. There should be more contact between student and faculty members as a result of which [illegible] controls the college.

These criticisms, he said were made with the best of intentions to improve the college which all the seniors loved and honored. It was because they had the best for U. V. M. that they desired to see it a better college.

Discusses Campus Problems

Miss Roberta F. Powers of Morrisville delivered the campus oration. She reviewed some of the activities of the campus during the four years "it" passed. She said the Rah Rah type of college men and women is passing and as they place has come a more thoughtful group entering college who have problems and tries to solve them. Liberal thinkers are being given attention in college affairs in recent years.

Miss Powers discussed some of the problems which have arisen in student government at the University during the past year or two. She said the questions have been asked previously in the student body of late. Do we [illegible] our government? The answer to the first question is decidedly in the negative and the latter she believed the

How to Become a Leader

[illegible] leaders of yesterday are giving [illegible] place of today, and those of today [illegible] must give way to those of tomor- [illegible] The leaders of tomorrow, many of [illegible] are in this class today. It is reason- [illegible] certain that all of you will enter the [illegible] of professional world. Your [illegible] to receive from thence on should be [illegible] to qualify yourselves as quickly as possi- [illegible] for leadership in your line. To [illegible] succeed one must not be mentally [illegible] as well as more than physically lazy—ap- [illegible] pardon me, mentally, the word has a nasty [illegible] which we resent instinctively; rather [illegible] than admit most people will exert them- [illegible] to make a special effort. But we [illegible] will all practice mental laziness dur- [illegible] our whole lives, without the slightest [illegible] of shame, with a calm and resigned [illegible] assurance that we don't care since [illegible] we do not know of it within us, as [illegible] the laziness of our minds is not [illegible] visible to others, as would be [illegible] physical acts. We can excuse our- [illegible] selves for being mentally lazy, admit it [illegible] to ourselves, and yet do nothing [illegible] about it. Well, mental laziness, more [illegible] than other fault, is the beginning, the [illegible] and the end of progress in the [illegible] business and professional world; it fixes [illegible] definitely where we belong. It [illegible] counts our future course—down- [illegible] hill by notch by notch through the years, [illegible] eventually brings us to membership [illegible] in that army where the lot is most [illegible] which brings us by our own fault. [illegible] to the army of those dependent for [illegible] existence itself on the bounty of [illegible] others.

[illegible] Mental lazyness, refusal to tackle the [illegible] problem, is one of the ugliest [illegible] traits in human nature, and fortunately [illegible] not entirely too common. That is, it is [illegible] not what you provided you too do not [illegible] admit because it gives you your [illegible] start.

[illegible] Opposite to mental alertness, is one [illegible] of the beautiful traits—it is the one [illegible] that leads on the other direction, which [illegible] takes up and through the ranks of [illegible] men with whom you come in contact [illegible] and where you step without effort [illegible] into the ranks of the employers

The Central West

[illegible] When I say the central west, may I [illegible] explain? I refer to the fact that [illegible] in the early days of our country there [illegible] were men who wanted the colonists to [illegible] settle the shores of the Atlantic with [illegible] the west waiting for them. Years [illegible] later certain great leaders who [illegible] saw the possibilities of the new [illegible] land no idea of its great op- [illegible]

[illegible] passed away. Young men in the front ranks [illegible] campaign of trade must gain knowledge also [illegible] in this way we may gain the prestige which [illegible] our future progress and happiness.

Recent Progress

[illegible] Every [illegible] is another period in our history [illegible] by which I am inspired to encourage [illegible] you in the future great possibilities are [illegible] opened. But today the greatest history [illegible] century and discoveries [illegible] and progress [illegible] work upon your hand great things [illegible] the present but rather in anticipation of [illegible] great joy to them I encourage to look [illegible] and appreciate and to anticipate greater [illegible] and happiness and great usefulness [illegible] opportunity for service.

We have made great strides in the last [illegible] fifty years in the field of invention. We [illegible] have the telegraph, the telephone, [illegible] its passenger wonder the air and [illegible] conquer [illegible] we have the wireless sending to [illegible] leading [illegible] space [illegible] the [illegible] wireless messages [illegible] private along the [illegible] path of nature [illegible] the automobile [illegible] and [illegible] speed [illegible] the rural [illegible] of [illegible] conveniences of all kinds bringing [illegible] and [illegible] closer [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] various parts of the world, the [illegible] the talking pictures which give the [illegible] an opportunity to see and hear. These [illegible] are but a few of the inventions and [illegible] discoveries indicating the swift and far [illegible] reaching strides which our enterprising [illegible] citizens are making in the kingdom of [illegible] conquerable mysteries.

The Radio

The radio is for me a continuing source [illegible] of wonder and pleasure. Only recently a [illegible] number of events have occurred which [illegible] demonstrate the possibility and the importance of the radio.

Radio knows no distance. State lines [illegible] are meaningless to it, border between [illegible] nations no longer exist, the seas no [illegible] longer separate continents. Radio is [illegible] bringing the people of our great nation [illegible] closer to each other; promoting better [illegible] understanding between the people of the United States and foreign nations.

Tribute to Thomas A. Edison

Here may I pay tribute to a man whose [illegible] life and work should be an inspiration to [illegible] every young man and woman in our country. Yes, in the world, the late THOMAS A. EDISON, whose passing we all [illegible] mourn.

Edison was a great patriot. It is [illegible] customary to think of patriots and patriotism in terms of war-time service to the country. Peace-time service is taken as a matter of course, and not generally thought of as such. Yet, it is more true so, for it is done without the glamor and pomp of war; without the fever which takes us out of and beyond ourselves when battle is impending and present, and spurs us to glorious sacrifice.

To Be a Material Success

I have in my time observed, closely and penetratingly many prominent and successful business and professional men, and I have wondered what made them successful, what brought them to their prominence. I have been puzzled in attempting to reconcile what they seemed with what great things they had done. And I found they all possessed a goodly share of those qualities, the existence of which every one knows.

To be a material success you must practice the things which you may now regard as stupid and old-fashioned. Those ordinary, plain every day qualities, such as self-reliance, common sense, industry, energy, perseverance, honesty, sobriety, education, etc., which have been dinned into your ears, are the seeds of success, the fundamental qualities which produce it. Your assiduous care and nature of those seeds to the best of your ability will produce the blooms which is called SUCCESS and which all so greatly desire.

To Be Successful in Business

The person successful in business is honest honest with himself and those with whom he deals, but honest with himself first of all. He acquires the habit of recognizing and segregating conflicting thoughts and impulses. Whatever healing and bubbling within him. We are all subject to conflicting thoughts, desires and impulses; there is however going on in our minds a commotion and turmoil, a seething and bubbling in the mixture of good and evil of which we are compounded; those conflicts are forever ready to reveal themselves in a burst of physical action. The person with common sense is one who has learned to segregate the fair, the just, the honest parts of his thoughts and desires from the [illegible] dishonest, to compare the two and to discard the bad. He determines what [illegible] he should not do. I am not considering [illegible] honesty in so far as abstract virtue. I am calling your attention to a practical [illegible] fact that has been demonstrated repeatedly [illegible] in practical examples to the mind [illegible] that the honest and square [illegible] course is by far the best, the surest and most profitable, the [illegible] long run to be honest than to be dishonest.

As I have said he must be honest with himself first of all. He must be honest with [illegible] others. He may [illegible] for a time [illegible] profit [illegible] and he may by a clever [illegible]

Self-reliance

[illegible] Self-reliance is a great thing. [illegible] It is self-reliance and that is a fear of the unknown. It is a common habit to fret and worry to create obstacles but our advice to suggests the difficulties and dangers which we foresee in the path before us to create difficulties and dangers which may not even exist, and which generally never happen. Fear makes cowards of us all and what is fear but lack of self-knowledge. If we but seek to know the what when, why, how and wherefore of ourselves we cannot fail to know and understand others.

Self-reliance is one quality the seeds of which should be started early in life in home and in school and followed systematically all through life. All else is pointless if we do not develop the one quality. All knowledge is but the tool wielded by the self-reliant in carving out the object striven for, success.

No Secret Way to Happiness

In concluding my remarks I wish to state emphatically that there is today, no newly discovered secret way to wealth and happiness and they cannot be had by working a rabbit's foot, or mumbling a mysterious set of words.

The qualities existent in or acquired by an individual who has come down to us as a success are those I have mentioned. It is those same qualities which have produced the great leaders of today. And it is those self-same qualities which produce the leaders of tomorrow and the next day.

Those of you who selected a professional or business career after due care and thought, after studying yourselves, determining what you want of life and where, when, why and how you can get it, have half way on the battle, you regard the professional and business world as your oyster, you are eager and itching to fling yourself into the tide; the roaring in your ears, the rushing whirl of the stream stimulates, pleases and excites you; the very largest of the passing golden galleons of business you have sighted and marked for your own, you have vowed to yourself an objective, you have fitted yourself with the learning necessary to acquire it.

Power, Ultimate Object

Learning results in knowledge, knowledge to power and power is your ultimate object. It is yours, you will find you have learned the [illegible] secret of success, you know [illegible]

You are what the pessimists and [illegible] world is waiting for. Yes, it is waiting for you who know that what you want in the business world for you already [illegible] and [illegible] to get what you want for you who have taken full advantage of the [illegible] opportunities and comprehensive instruction which the universities have given you.

In truth if a trained alert, confident young man and young women such as you [illegible] which the business and professional world is seeking. For no matter [illegible] one may [illegible] already [illegible] and has made [illegible] and has made [illegible] that can be classified. Discussion of Reunion Plans

Dix plan was not working out successfully and should be abandoned, returning to the old plan of holding class re-

that the younger classes favored the Dix plan because it brings together at Commencement time the classes which were in college together, while the five-year reunion plan was favored by the repre-

in the habit of holding reunions on these five-year anniversary dates. There were several suggestions that a combination of the two plans might be effected, leaving the Dix plan in effect and yet allowing the various alumni clubs to hold five-year reunions to do so.

When the vote was finally taken, it was discovered that about as many of the representatives of older classes favored the Dix plan as the five year plan. It was suggested that, in order to secure a more representative vote, the alumni secretary send out ballots in connection with the Alumni Weekly next fall to give the readers of the Weekly an opportunity to vote on the reunion plan they favored.

The report of the finance committee was not very encouraging. It was reported that the income from the Loyalty

We know why men smoke PIPES

WOMEN don't smoke pipes. They're not the style for women. But pipes are the style for men, and more than that, a pipe and good tobacco gives a man greater smoking pleasure than tobacco in any other form.

A pipe is not for girls

In 42 out of 54 American colleges and universities Edgeworth is the favorite pipe tobacco. Cool slow-burning burleys give this fine tobacco exactly the character that college men like best of all.

A pipe is a real man's smoke

Try a tin of Edgeworth yourself! You can buy Edgeworth wherever good tobacco is sold. Or if you prefer, you can get a special sample packet free: write to Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va., and ask for it.

SMOKING TOBACCO

Edgeworth is a blend of fine old burleys, with its natural savor enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive and exclusive eleventh process. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—Edgeworth Ready-Rubbed and Edgeworth Plug Slice. All sizes, 15¢ pocket package to $1.50 pound humidor tin.

WELCOME FRESHMEN

Boulder Week to Start With Water Fight Thursday P. M.

Pep Rally, Cane Rush and Dance to Fill Program of College's First Celebration

ST. MIKE'S GAME ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Boulder Week, famous throughout the University of Vermont for its variety and spirit in activities, begins next Thursday afternoon when the freshmen will oppose the sophomores in the annual water fight on the grounds on the side of the gymnasium. A smoker and pep rally will be held Friday night in the gym as a forerunner of the St. Michael's game to be held the following day. During the halves of the football game the historic cane rush will take place, where the sophs will have an opportunity to get back at the frosh for the drubbing administered to them in the fountain fight.

The water fight, by far the wettest of any of the interclass scraps, will take place at four o'clock on Thursday. Each class team will have a fire hose with reduced pressure. The team which succeeds in driving back the other will be awarded the decision. The squad which wins two out of three decisions wins the fight. Old clothes and protection are generally worn.

The pep rally and smoker to be held in the gymnasium will serve to enthuse the members of the college. It is one of the customs of the University for the freshmen to attend en' masse. Cheers, songs and speeches serve to enliven the evening. Coach Burke and his staff will speak to the student body. Last year cider and doughnuts were served to cap the evening's good time. Freshmen are particularly urged by Boulder Society to wear their frosh caps. Every member of the male sex in the class of 1935 is requested to be on hand with his token of the University.

Between the halves of the St. Michael's game the cane rush will take place. Canes may be procured by the freshmen downstreet. Both classes will line up on opposite sides of the field and equidistant from the middle of the field. A signal by the Boulder man in charge of the fight will start the annual mêlée. The fight will be terminated by a timer's signal. The class to amass the greatest number of canes wins the fight. Last year the fight was a tie.

In the evening Boulder Week will be terminated by a dance.

NOTICE

All sophomores who desire to scrub the business side of the Ariel please report to C. J. Libby, business manager, on Thursday, September 22, at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house. A new system of selecting the business manager will be announced at this meeting and it is important that there are representatives from all the houses on the campus present.

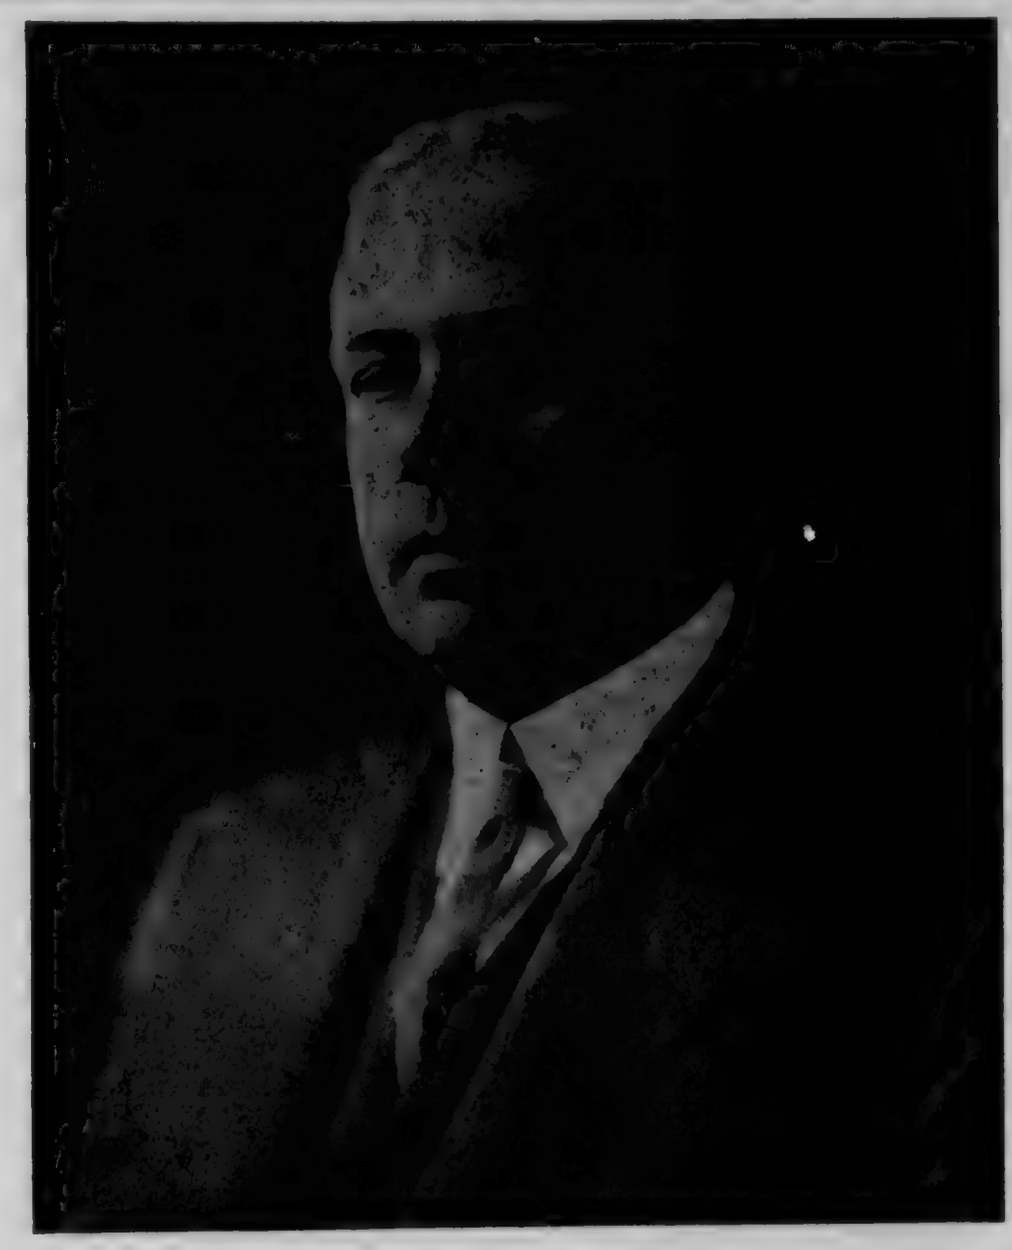
FOUNTAIN FIGHT WON BY BATTLING FROSH

Pres. Guy Bailey delivered the feature address at the opening exercises held last Wednesday morning in the Ira Allen Chapel. His address when he spoke to the faculty and students was "They That Go Down To the Sea in Ships." Prof. R. A. Hall was the chaplain of the morning offering the prayer.

Freshman Mixer



The entire college enjoyed the mixer held last Saturday evening under the sponsorship of Boulder Society and the personal supervision of David Webster, a member. Joe Lechnyr and his ten-piece orchestra played for the evening frolic in a way creditable to the best of orchestras.

The freshman fellows and girls met at seven-thirty in a preliminary get-together. At eight-thirty the floor was cleared for dancing and the entire upper three classes raided the dance floor. At first girls were seemingly on one side of the room and men on the other side, but soon the ice was broken and everyone was having a hectic time. The mixer is the first social event of the season and is always held at the end of freshman week. Last year it was postponed for a few days because of Dean Votey's sudden death. However, the annual frolic took place on schedule time this year.

Last Thursday evening the members of the freshman class defeated the forces of the sophomore class in the annual fountain fight held on the college green. The event, which is supervised by the Boulder Society was won by the frosh by a scanty margin. At all times during the scrap between the two lower classes was the fight kept moving, and the event was marked this year by an unusual large number of both classes taking a swim in the refreshing waters of the fast leaking fountain.

Sharp at seven thirty the frosh marched en masse and in a wedge shaped formation to the scene of combat. Linked arm in arm, they steadily moved forward until they were in striking distance of the 1935 men. The sophomores, who were concealed in the bushes at the side of the fountain rushed in two groups toward the freshmen, who greatly outnumbered them. The 1936 warriors broke ranks and rushed the few sophomores. In the mêlée that followed, many of the frosh in their haste to shove in their rivals,

PRESIDENT GUY BAILEY '00

Opening Address at Wednesday Chapel

It may have been the good fortune of some of you to have journeyed over the Massachusetts highway from Salem to Gloucester. If so, you may remember that an unusual statue is seen just before entering Gloucester, a city known the world over as a center of the fishing industry. It represents a fisherman, his hands grasping the spokes of the steering wheel of a fishing schooner. It was erected by the fishermen and sailors of Gloucester and their friends to the memory of those who have gone down to the sea in ships but have not returned.

Such a statue has an especial appeal to all who love the ocean. I am not a competent judge of the sculptor's work, but if the criteria of measurement were based upon the impression created upon the passerby, the artist may be said to have been most successful. Former Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes has said of the heroic bronze that "none so strongly impressed him as typifying and vivifying what was intended to be represented."

This memorial to the lost fishermen is notable not only because of its intrinsic merit, but because of its ideal location. As I have said, the figure is that of a fisherman holding the steering wheel. Apparently he is soon to cross the bar and the breeze is fresh. He seems to be gazing intently into the distance. One can well imagine that aside from an occasional line of smoke from a steamer there is nothing to divert his attention from the trackless miles of ocean that lie ahead of him. It has been my good fortune to see this statue many times and it has always profoundly impressed me. The posture is one of alertness, the poise indicates confidence, knowledge of the confronting problems. The calm dignity and faith acquired by years of buffeting with the elements are manifest in every facial line. Every characteristic indicates preparation for the voyage which has been begun. How fitting it is that the effigy of a fisherman guiding his craft through storm and stress, should typify the indomitable spirit of those who follow that vocation.

Looking upon this superb memorial and musing upon the hard life which the fisherman leads, causes one to think of life's voyage. In a sense each one of us is a voyager on life's vast ocean. In a sense we too are among those who go down to the sea in ships. The life of a sailor has its hazard and its happiness, its times of quiet and its times of stress, but always there is the vision of a quiet harbor and rest and peace and comfort.

I have chosen my subject, they that go down to the sea in ships, because it seems to typify those elements of character that tend to fit one for the chosen vocation of life. This voyage called life, as does the sailor's voyage, calls for preparation, for fearlessness, for confidence and for faith.

I ask of you this morning, particularly those of you who newly have come into our fellowship. What is your purpose in life? What is to be your goal in this journey of life? If you cannot give a fairly definite answer to this question, you should set about formulating one. To begin a voyage without a definite objective is unwise. Certain preparations must be made in advance. The charts need to be scanned anew and the latest information added to the fund previously acquired.

Countless millions have voyaged over life's sea and have reached the haven of reward. Countless millions more are now sailing that sea. Myriads have lived and died, making little or no contribution to human welfare. Others, many others, like the aged bridge builder of the poem, have "builded a bridge for him"—for generations yet unborn. Each worthwhile voyage on life's sea should yield experiences with which to check the old, whereby as the years roll on a more perfect guide for the future may be formulated.

No one, not even the greatest of men, ever gained from his one voyage all that is to be known about the sea of life. Weather conditions may vary; one's fellow seamen may be uncongenial; or worse, the craft itself may be unseaworthy; and above all, circumstances beyond control may bring the voyage to naught and even to wreck. However, each one of you for better or for worse is embarked and it is for you to see to it as best you can that wise choices are made, that your judgments are sound, that in short, you steer straight.

Life is a sea. We must make the best of fair weather, trim our sails in time of stress, take advantage of each of nature's moods, and choose well our leader. A sea-faring man has his alternate periods of calm and stress. This is so with every vocation, but his life is such as to afford an outstanding example of the vital need of adequate preparation, of fearlessness in the face of danger, of firm confidence in ability to meet whatever the future may have in store, and above all, of an abiding faith. No landsman would dare grasp the wheel for a sea voyage without a proper degree of confidence based upon experience and no owner wittingly would place one in charge who had not proved himself to be master of his craft.

And so in life's vocation thorough preparation is vitally necessary. You must be prepared to face difficulties as they present themselves. The critical affairs of life offer no compromise. You cannot avoid them, palliate them, or postpone them. Four years of collegiate study should enable you to evaluate facts and to ascertain the truth needed for life's preparation. Your instructors will, without prejudice, present various recognized theories and, so far as their research enables them, they will assist you in this important habit forming process.

You should always be seekers after truth, now as students, later as subordinates, and then, we hope, as men and women at the helm in various walks of life. I sometimes think it matters relatively little what curriculum you follow. What does matter is that through it you form the habit of learning to verify to the last detail the solution of each problem presented to you. Of course, special curricula are designed for instruction in special fields of endeavor and should be pursued by those intending to concentrate in such fields. However, the most valuable course will prove to be the one that tends to increase in you a real desire to know the truth and the reasons which support it.

Carelessness of thought usually leads to incorrect conclusions. You should proceed on the theory that every set of facts, if properly analyzed, should furnish the clew to a correct

SIGMA GAMMA ON TOP IN FRATERNITY RATING

Sigma Gamma sorority for the seventh consecutive time led all Greek-letter organizations in scholastic rating according to figures released from the Registrar's office. The women's societies all placed ahead of the men's groups.

No major changes in standing occurred among the sororities but among the fraternities the list was very much changed from that of last semester. Delta Psi jumped from ninth place among the men's groups to first and Sigma Phi fell from the top of the list to eleventh place. Lambda Iota dropped from second to fifth and Zeta Chi advanced from tenth to seventh.

The list is as follows:

Women's fraternities: Sigma Gamma, Pi Beta Phi, Kappa Alpha Theta, Alpha Xi Delta, K. E. L., Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Delta, Alpha Chi Omega.

Men's fraternities: Delta Psi, Tau Epsilon Phi, Sigma Delta, Phi Mu Delta, Lambda Iota, Kappa Sigma, Zeta Chi, Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Sigma Delta, Sigma Nu, Sigma Phi Sigma, Alpha Epsilon, Phi Delta Theta.

ONLY TWO OBTAIN ALL "A" RANK ON HONOR LIST

One sophomore woman and one freshman man of last year's two lower classes attained an all "A" standing last semester. They were Grace E. [illegible] '34 of Stowe and James M. [illegible] '35 of Richmond Hill, N. Y. The high standing list released by the Registrar's office and based on last year's grades follows:

(Two A (no grades below A): Grace [illegible] '34, J. M. Libby '35.

(Four B (no grades below B):

Class of 1934: J. L. Beckley, B. S. [illegible]mann, Stella Brown, C. B. Eaton, [illegible] Howe, Helen Jenkins, D. W. [illegible], B. J. Mulcahy, G. W. Patter[illegible], Pearl, Greta Peterson, A. The life of a sailor has its hazard and its happiness, its times of quiet and its times of stress, but always there is the vision of a quiet harbor and rest and peace and comfort.

I have chosen my subject, they that go down to the sea in ships, because it seems to typify those elements of character that tend to fit one for the chosen vocation of life. This voyage called life, as does the sailor's voyage, calls for preparation, for fearlessness, for confidence and for faith.

Each of you this morning, particularly those of you who have come into our fellowship. What is your purpose in life? What is to be your goal in this journey of life? If you cannot give a fair, definite answer to this question you should set about formulating one. To begin a voyage without a definite objective is unwise. Certain preparations must be made in advance. The charts need to be secured, new and the latest information added to the total previously acquired.

Countless numbers have voyaged over life's sea and have reached the haven of reward. Countless numbers are now sailing that sea. Myriads have lived and died making ... in the endeavor to better ... Others gone ... the aged bridge ... of the past have builded a bridge ... our generations yet unborn. Each ... voyage on life's sea should yield ... with which to ... the old where ... the years will be a more perfect guide ... the voyage may be commenced.

No one can know the greatest of men ever ... for his ... voyage as that is to be ... across the sea of life. Weather conditions may vary, unseen hidden reefs may be ... or worse, the most ... may be ... but above all circumstances ... may bring the voyage to naught ... even to worry. However each one of you ... better to be worse is considered and it is ... you to see that at best you eat that wise ... are made that your judgments are ... that at times you steer straight.

Life is a sea. We must make the best of fair weather, trim our sails in time of stress, take advantage of each of nature's moods and choose well our leader. A sea faring man has his alternate periods of calm and stress. This is so with every vocation, but his life is such as to afford an outstanding example of the vital need of adequate preparation, of fearlessness in the face of danger, of firm confidence in ability to meet whatever the future may have in store, and above all, of an abiding faith. No landsman would dare grasp the wheel for a sea voyage without a proper degree of confidence based upon experience and no owner wittingly would place one in charge who had not proved himself to be master of his craft.

And so in life's vocation thorough preparation is vitally necessary. You must be prepared to face difficulties as they present themselves. The external setbacks of life offer no excuse to postpone them. Four years of ... study should enable you to evaluate ... and to ascertain the truth needed for life's ... Your instructors will with ... prejudice present values recognized the ... as and so far as their research enables them, ... will assist you in this important ... ing process.

You should always be seekers after truth. Now as students after an understanding and then we linger as over and wonder at the beauty ... various walks of life. I sometimes think ... pattern ... what opportunities you ... Now. What does matter is that through ... you have the belief of carrying it ... the ... the ... of each problem ... ...

LARGEST FROSH CAMP IN HISTORY INTRODUCES MEN TO COLLEGE LIFE

attendance of forty five [illegible] years Freshman [illegible] previous records last [illegible] one The annual [illegible] Camp program consisted [illegible] by faculty and students [illegible] and calm discussions [illegible] the Vermont Christ[illegible] was held as usual at [illegible] Y M C A camp on [illegible] and September 9 to 12 [illegible] ship of Chester B [illegible] and addresses were [illegible] student and outside [illegible] the different parts of a [illegible] university life The frosh arrived [illegible] afternoon, together with [illegible] upperclassmen, and remained [illegible] Monday morning when they left [illegible] ington by bus The facilities of [illegible] Abenaki are made available each [illegible] for this purpose.

Friday evening's program began with [illegible] by Mr. M D Powers, secretary [illegible] Vermont Christian Association [illegible] V M C A, which were followed [illegible] outline by C. B Eaton, director, [illegible] camp proceedings and its purpose, [illegible] greetings from the V. C. A [illegible] W Stetson '34, as chairman of its [illegible] Dean Elijah Swift of the Arts [illegible] Sciences College told of the abolishment last year of freshman rules, and [illegible] the six traditional customs that [illegible] for the freshmen to be observed voluntarily by freshmen this year, expressing the hope that the new men would really remember them and abide by them He stressed the necessity of doing work [illegible], and advised the freshmen to be [illegible] hurry to join any fraternity and [illegible] pursue some extra-curricular activities during their work at the University. George R Merriam, State Y. M [illegible] secretary and director of Camps [illegible] during the summer, welcomed the [illegible] to camp, offering its facilities [illegible].

Charles Butler Speaks

Charles Butler, former secretary of the [illegible] Christian Association and [illegible] stationed at Yale University in that [illegible] gave the morning talk on [illegible] and Fraternities" from an [illegible] viewpoint based on his years of [illegible] as a college Y. M. C. A [illegible].

"[illegible]" said Mr Butler, "are [illegible] phase of college life, a rather [illegible] feature of it A crowd of [illegible] who are like minded finally come [illegible] that's what happened in the [illegible] college in the early days. One [illegible] questions which we like to ask [illegible] fraternities is about its history [illegible]. • • •

As to locals and nationals, locals are [illegible] very powerful groups. One advantage of the national group is that you get a larger group of men of your own interests. There are also national meetings.

Whether a chapter is a national one [illegible] merely a local one doesn't count very much. One's estimation of it is what [illegible] count.

"Don't be overwhelmed by the largeness of the group • • • The group you [illegible] college will make the most impression on you• • • It's not what you're going to do to your job it's what [illegible] going to do to you, and it's the [illegible] groups in college If you [illegible] wisely, if you get into the right [illegible] it does make a lot of difference [illegible] development. I have known [illegible] pretty much of a mess of [illegible] experience• • •

"[illegible] open houses carry you [illegible] to try to see the crowd as they [illegible] as they make themselves up [illegible] • • • take everything with a grain [illegible] • • • simply because one isn't a [illegible] doesn't mean that he can't [illegible]. If you've got the goods [illegible] you'll make good at any [illegible] regardless of whether you're a [illegible] man or not • • • It only provides [illegible] a starting point—a spring [illegible] • • • If you can't find the right [illegible] perhaps you'd be better off in [illegible]. Choose your own friends [illegible] be better off • • •

"If you [illegible] to learn anything about the [illegible] of the group, do so [illegible] which has some interest in [illegible] views of the college • • • [illegible] lecture on fraternity men to [illegible] contribution which they are [illegible] to make in the community."

When Mr Butler had finished, he [illegible] questions and discussion. The [illegible] asked about rushing, bidding, [illegible] wanted to know how long [illegible] was valid, and showed [illegible] in the relation of fraternity [illegible] to college lives.

[illegible] at the Great Stone Seat [illegible] session was limited to two [illegible] to root for the activity [illegible] interested one man to [illegible]. The Cynic was elucidated [illegible] '33, editor-in-chief who [illegible] Phi as well; C. J. [illegible] in debating; G. Patterson [illegible] the John Dewey Club. OPENING ADDRESS

[illegible] not made blindly He who is successful in [illegible] the lessons [illegible] knowledge and of [illegible] generally you should accept the [illegible] but, if at the same time you weigh in the balance the essential factors of the proposition under discussion you not only cultivate independence of thinking but [illegible] cover a flaw in our [illegible] processes and suggest a [illegible] whole to both parties.

For many years I have [illegible] and spoken to succeeding [illegible] men and women. I have always tried to stress the necessity of [illegible] in every [illegible] the particular time or [illegible] being put to a test that may [illegible] for better. Every [illegible] contact with [illegible] ought to be a [illegible] the tests of [illegible] the facts [illegible] processed may have a direct [illegible] with the [illegible] which the person will be engaged. Shall [illegible] the [illegible] not weigh [illegible] yourselves that any and every act may be a criterion by which you may be willing to be judged? You will not be permitted to select the criteria by which you will be judged.

You cannot say to the world that [illegible] be discarded, that you may be retained on measuring my value as a proper person for [illegible]. Every act good or bad will be appraised and the net result will be [illegible] worth. [illegible] your most [illegible] be closely connected with the [illegible] assuming some [illegible]. Days, months, even years may elapse but [illegible] acts are weighed in the balance and [illegible] dependent upon the verdict. The day [illegible] always comes. In some cases [illegible] every success [illegible] underlying the task as an easy one and not enough [illegible] In other cases [illegible] the verdict is [illegible] and the rewards are instant [illegible]. In either case however, there may appear to be [illegible] and the second is made. In this latter case [illegible] study premature acts that are [illegible] building and a degree of confidence in performing assigned tasks all have their [illegible].

A college education is a means to an end. In whatever field your interest seems to be, locate a definite [illegible] and [illegible] that goal. You must acquire the habit [illegible] and [illegible] searchful thinking otherwise [illegible] your years will be wasted.

It is a result you learn to render correct judgment more quickly than you [illegible] would have done that is worth while. If at the end of four years there is created in you a deeper, keener and more active interest in the whys and wherefores of worth while things your college course will not have been spent in vain.

To summarize this last thought we would have you cultivate and increase the desire to think and to reason. But I would not have you conclude that this is the sole purpose of a college education. Your acquisition of [illegible] knowledge [illegible] the value of language, [illegible] art and science will give an insight into the broader cultural field which [illegible] in after life will enable you to compare the thoughts of the best minds of not just the present [illegible] and even supposedly without [illegible] together in dealing with [illegible] many topics of [illegible] and in the resultant effort.

Then again your college education should enable you to get better with many types of [illegible] minds. A college [illegible] to put a [illegible] something [illegible] to the [illegible] attitude [illegible] fellowmen who [illegible] have been [illegible] [illegible] college training.

On the campus [illegible] should [illegible] regard the [illegible] others [illegible] with [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible]. You should never underestimate the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

KITTENS REPORT FOR INITIAL GRID SESSION UNDER COACH LEVINE

Yearlings Prepare for Four-game Schedule This Fall—Many Notable High School Stars Out

[illegible] Thursday afternoon [illegible] Levine at [illegible] initial workout [illegible] featured [illegible] drill. Featured [illegible] all but one of the [illegible] forward-passing [illegible]

Several freshmen of note reported in the squad on the first day of practice, and should them a fairly good team should be developed. There are very few star men from prep school on at Vermont this year, but there are [illegible] who have played on large [illegible] high school teams and have made [illegible] for themselves. Susie Paul, husky center from Tilton Academy, heads the list of favorites for berths on this year's Kitten club. Jack Bedell, who played fullback at Flushing High School for four years, ably tossed the passes to the ends and wing backs. Dick Martin from Claremont High School is fighting for a tackle position, while "Stubby" Bailey, last year's second-string quarter on New Hampshire '35, is out to call them for the frosh this year. Blackwell, also in the fight for positions, played four years on the Maplewood High School, New Jersey.

[illegible] Columbia University conferred [illegible] the degree of Ph.D. in 1931.

[illegible]r Donahue began to teach in [illegible] High School in 1903. He [illegible] there in the mathematics de[illegible] for six years. He was an [illegible] at Harvard (1910-1912) and [illegible]ington University, St. Louis, [illegible]-1914). He joined the fac[illegible]U. V. M. as assistant professor [illegible]athematics in 1914, and was pro[illegible] an associate professorship in [illegible] the position he occupied at the [illegible] death.

[illegible]following is taken from an [illegible]rt written by Prof. Evan Thomas [illegible]U. V. M.:

"Professor Donahue was an excel[illegible]student, always maintaining high [illegible] in his classes, and at graduation obtained Phi Beta Kappa. [illegible] as a teacher, however, that [illegible] the highest of his power. [illegible] the work of the classroom. [illegible] interested in his subject. He [illegible] expository gifts of a high [illegible]. He was endowed with a lively [illegible] and an abundance of ready [illegible] made it possible for him [illegible]ake dry and otherwise meaning[illegible] formulæ and propositions live. [illegible] all, he had a fine feeling [illegible] the members of his class.

"At the center of the work, there [illegible] interesting, inspiring per[illegible]. He was patient towards lim[illegible] capacity, and would tol[illegible] anything except down[illegible] to learn. With cases of [illegible] was resourceful. In other [illegible] students felt that in Pro[illegible]ssor they had not only had [illegible]ent instructor, but a very [illegible] friend.

"[illegible]demic interests and activi[illegible]ad and helpful. He served [illegible] committees and represented [illegible] most acceptably at [illegible]ings and other occasions. [illegible] chief interests outside of [illegible] was in athletics, and he [illegible] as a prominent mem[illegible] Athletic Council of [illegible].

"[illegible] earlier years of his life [illegible] had been a store[illegible]er and telephone [illegible]erator. During the [illegible] United States was in the [illegible] as a lieutenant, junior [illegible] defense, communi[illegible] the First District of [illegible] Navy. He was much [illegible]ing and was familiar [illegible] observations and navi[illegible].

"While in U. V. M. [illegible]ng as class treasurer [illegible] as the winner of [illegible] for speaking and [illegible]trance prize during [illegible]. His chief interest [illegible] the college had been [illegible] the Champlain Val[illegible] elected president of [illegible] Exposition, Inc., [illegible]925, and held that [illegible] years. He was the [illegible] 'Public Service' [illegible] the Vermont Alumni [illegible]1922. His recent [illegible]ress clearly showed [illegible] intimate knowl[illegible]ted U. V. M. as well as a broad range of thought in connection with public problems. He was a member of Delta Mu, Alpha Tau Omega, and Phi Beta Kappa.

Professor Thomas says: "No account of Professor Donahue's career would be complete without a clear recognition of his public spirit, his willingness to accept responsibility where no emolument was involved, and to throw himself wholeheartedly into the promotion of enterprises likely to be of public benefit. For example, he served as president of the village, president of the local board of trade and in various other capacities of a public sort in Essex Junction.

"In all his relations with the organized communal life, Professor Donahue maintained a sturdy independence, a stern aloofness from bargains, deals, dickers, and when a clear conviction was reached, the case for him was closed.

"In his death the University of Vermont loses one of its most devoted servants, the faculty a genial associate with whom it was a joy to work, the student body a most quickening influence, and his beloved Essex Junction an eminent citizen."

On July 18 1923 James E. Donahue was married to Miss Annie L. Swasey, Cornish, Me., who survives him. He is also survived by his sister, Mrs. Dan M. Johnson, and a brother, Dr. Harry A. Donahue, both of Essex Junction; a niece, Kathleen Donahue; four nephews, Harry A. Donahue, Jr., Paul D. Raine, Claude E. and Dan M. Johnson, Jr.; a grandniece, Mary Ellen Raine.

The funeral service was held at the Ira Allen Chapel at Essex Junction Tuesday afternoon, August 14, 1923. The burial followed privately on Wednesday, August 17

NOTICE

Mr. M. D. Powers, secretary of the Vermont Christian Association, wishes all men who desire part-time employment to come into the V. C. A. office to fill out an application card, giving information as to kind of work desired, free hours, addresses, and the approximate amount which each applicant would like to earn this year.

During the school year, calls for college men to do odd jobs such as raking leaves, mowing lawns, carrying out ashes and washing windows are frequently received at the Vermont Christian Association office, and in this way men who need employment can more readily find employment.

All University men and women are eligible to membership in the university choir and glee clubs. Trials will be held in the music building on Wednesday, September 21, and on Thursday, September 22. All candidates will please come to the music building in advance to sign up on the bulletin board for a time. All old members who wish to sing again this year are requested to try out.

C. T. LEONARD, Director.

All freshmen who wish to earn their numerals scrubbing freshman football will report to Mgr. Russell Colburn at Centennial Field any afternoon at four o'clock.

FIVE VETERAN HARRIERS RETURN TO AID CATS IN RETAINING STATE TITLE

Amherst, Williams, Conn. Aggies and Middlebury Listed on Shortened Schedule This Fall

Coach Archie Post, track and cross-country coach of the University of Vermont, issued the first call for candidates last Friday afternoon and was rewarded by the appearance of five veteran harriers. John Woodruff, star cross-country man in many of last fall's meets, Cliff Harwood, who ran distances surprisingly well last season both in cross-country and in track, and Dustin White, a member of last year's state championship frosh team, are among the leading contenders for this year's outfit.

Due to lack of appropriations, only four meets are on the schedule for this fall. The opening run is October 8, when the team will travel to Amherst in an attempt to avenge last year's 25-26 defeat. On October 22 the Cats will tackle the Williams team. On October 29 they will meet the Connecticut Aggies at Burlington. On November 12 comes their most important, when they meet Middlebury on the morning before the football game in an effort to retain the state championship. Last year the Catamount harriers trounced Middlebury at Burlington, but the team has suffered the loss of two of its best men by graduation—Ev Wilder and Hugh Varney.

COED FROSH INSTRUCTED AT THIRD ANNUAL CAMP SPONSORED BY Y. W. C. A.

Dean Patterson, Miss Florence Maddocks and Rev. J. Graydon Brown Impart Useful Information to Class of 1936 Girls

[illegible] freshman women girls [illegible] Tuesday, September 2 at Camp [illegible]. Here to receive their first introduction to college from the faculty and upperclassmen, they [illegible] their entire stay. The [illegible] was under the supervision of Norma [illegible] '33.

[illegible] freshman camp was introduced three seasons ago by Helen Mount '32, when Vermont installed the camp to give the sub-freshmen a brief outlook of college life, traditions and customs. The first camp, in the fall of 1930, was held at Camp Zuptekana on Coates Island. The following year, due to the generosity of the state Y. W. C. A., Camp Hochelaga was used for the ensuing frosh girls' camp.

Dean Patterson, Miss Florence Maddocks, secretary of the state Y. W. C. A., and the Rev. J. Graydon Brown of Rutland gave the principal addresses. The campus leaders told of college activities during the three-day session before the opening of the college semester.

At the general assembly held Friday night at the Wigwam, Norma Carder, camp director, welcomed the freshmen on behalf of the Y. W. C. A. The topic of Dean Patterson's address was "A Freshman Looks Ahead." She stressed particularly outside activities, scholarship and friends, commending especially the advantage a freshman has after she had attended frosh camp. Miss Patterson approved the program, which included nearly all forms of sports, assemblies and discussion periods.

The other speakers at this first meeting of the freshman women were: Daisy Putnam '34, president of Y. W. C. A.; Leah Gowen '33, senior representative of W. A. A.; and Sylvia Boyd '33, president of Women's Student Union. Miss Florence Maddocks, well-known by her activities throughout the State of Vermont, led the oratorical period. She stressed the desirability of a student's remembering her religion even in the hustle and bustle of college affairs.

Saturday morning and afternoon the women took part in a sports period. Sue Frances '35, Daisy Putnam '34, Leah Gowen '33 and Twink Mount '35 were in charge of the events. At the evening assembly Gladys LaFlamme '33 read several poems written by well-known writers. Mary Petrie, Florence Brown, Edith Whitcombe and Mary Whitney, all of the incoming class, rendered several musical selections to conclude the evening's festivities.

In addition to Norma Carder, presiding officer, the other upperclassmen at the camp were Daisy Putnam '34, Sylvia Boyd '33, Leah Gowen '33, Gladys LaFlamme '33, Gulla Clausen '33, Ester Urie '33, Marie Horak '34, Susan France '35, Elizabeth Rich '35 and Helen Mount '35.

The program during the day ran on the following order

7.30—Reveille
7.40—Exercises.
7.50—Dip in lake.
8.20—Flag raising.
8.30—Breakfast

RUSHING

"I DIDN'T catch the name, sorry."

"Smith."

"Oh, thanks. Where's your home, Mr. Smith?"

"Chicago."

"Oh! Got your gun with you? Heh, heh."

"Heh."

"Well, did you see the football game today?"

"Yes, I did."

"Pretty good game, eh? Randolph-Macon had a scrappy team. I guess they feel pretty good about tying us."

"I guess they did."

"What course are you taking?"

"Engineering."

"That's a pretty tough course. Yes, sir, that's a hard course. I think you've got a hard course in front of you."

"Yes, I guess it's pretty hard."

"I'll say. It's tough."

"Yes, I guess it is."

"Are you going out for anything this year? I mean are you an athlete or a writer or anything?"

"I don't know. I hadn't thought about it."

"Well, I guess everyone ought to get busy at something. You ought to take up something like that."

"Like what?"

"Like. Oh, you know Cavalier or something like that. Or football, if you see what I mean."

"Are you out for anything?"

"Why, that is, why, no. I've been pretty busy."

"Oh."

"That's a keen piece the radio is playing. What is it, do you know?"

"No, I don't."

"Well, it's keen all right. There's been some pretty good stuff published lately. Do you think so?"

"Yes, I guess so."

"Well, how does it seem to be so far away from home?"

"I've been at a prep school in New York for four years."

"I see. Where'd you go?"

"Rogers."

"Did you know Jones, Peterson, Swanson, or Carrie there?"

"No."

Of the eighteen students of Vermont who attended Camp Devens, three qualified in the pistol marksmanship as experts, five as sharpshooters and seven as marksman, as follows:

Experts: Harmon Sheldon, William Gilbert and Louis Freedom.

Sharpshooters: Perry Bove, Lionel Reed, Lester Woodward, Harry Loudon and Nathan Press.

Marksmen: Walter Shele, Roy Brooks, Leland Dunham, Lawrence Bowers, Robert Macomber, Cecil Utley and Russell Colburn.

Of the seven men in camp who qualified as expert riflemen, U. V. M. was represented by three: William Gilbert, second; Harmon Sheldon, fourth; Lawrence Bowers, sixth. Rifle sharpshooters: Perry Bove and Lester Woodward.

The eight Vermont men who qualified as rifle marksmen are: Leland Dunham, Lionel Reed, Louis Freedom, Walter Shele, Russell Colburn, Cecil Utley, Robert Macomber and Harry Loudon.

"I don't believe that anyone is planning these students who disappear mysteriously. It may be one of the ways of adolescence to seek a thrill. More likely it is a running away from reality and an inability to face facts on the part of the student," Professor Chase concluded.

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

NEW MEMBERS ARE ADDED TO VERMONT FACULTY FOR COLLEGE YEAR

Professors Bennett and Groat on Year's Leave—Bassett and Myrick Return From Abroad

Students returning to the University will find several changes in the faculty of the various departments of the College of Arts and Sciences. About a dozen changes have been made this fall owing chiefly to temporary leaves of absence granted teachers for study.

While Prof. B. G. Bennett, head of the department of music, is on sabbatical leave studying in Europe his place will be taken by Clair Thomas Leonard, teacher and composer. Mr. Leonard was graduated from Harvard in 1923 and received his M. A. degree there in 1924. He has taught [illegible] at Harvard and was twice awarded the John Knowles Paine traveling fellowship which he used for study in Paris under Nadia Boulanger.

Prof. G. G. Groat, head of the department of commerce and economics is also on sabbatical leave and will study in Europe. Prof. A. G. Buehler will act as head of the department during Professor Groat's absence. Prof. L. L. Briggs, who has done graduate work at Harvard for the past two years, will rejoin the economics faculty.

Myron Ellis Witham, for the past twelve years a member of the faculty of the University of Colorado as assistant professor and, later, professor of engineering, has been appointed assistant professor of mathematics in the College of Arts and Sciences for the year 1932-33. Professor Witham also acted as football coach at Colorado. He was graduated from Dartmouth in 1904 with the B.S. degree. The following year he taught mathematics and coached at Mercersburg Academy, returning to Dartmouth to continue his studies in the Thayer School of Engineering, from which he received the degree of C.E. in June, 1906. While studying at Thayer School he was also graduate manager of athletics. The following year he was coach of football at Purdue and was then engaged in engineering work in Chicago and the West until he went to the University of Colorado in 1920.

Prof. S. E. Bassett, head of the Greek department, has returned after a year in Athens, Greece, where he lectured at the American School of Classical Studies. Prof. J. E. Pooley of the Latin department will spend this year in graduate study at Yale.

Prof. A. B. Myrick, head of the department of romance languages, who has been in Italy during most of the past year, has returned.

Ralph H. Stimson has come to the University from the University of Illinois to take the place of Melvin H. Laatsch as instructor in the department of political science. Mr. Laatsch will spend the year studying at Princeton.

Miss Sarah Fisher, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Canfield Fisher of Arlington, novelist and educator, will teach in the department of English while doing graduate work under Prof. Frederick Tupper, head of the department.

Bernard Bloch, instructor in English at Mount Holyoke College, will come to Vermont under the auspices of the Linguistic Atlas of the United States and Canada to study Vermont dialects. He will receive a research fellowship from the University and will devote all of his time to study. He will be connected with the English department.

Miss Laura Parker, a U. V. M. graduate who has been teaching in Vermont and in the Mid-west since receiving her M. A. degree from the University, will return to take charge of English for teacher-training students.

Boulder Dance Will Bring to End Week of Activities

Smoker and Mixer Tonight, Cane Rush and Football Game Saturday Afternoon and Annual Dance Will Close Boulder Week Celebration

FRASER DREW, President of Boulder and Editor-in-Chief of the VERMONT CYNIC. Drew has charge of Saturday's dance.

PEERADE WILL BE HELD LATE THIS AFTERNOON

Once again Boulder Week is here. Every year the members of the Boulder Society undertake to direct a week of underclass revelry and merriment in order to [illegible] the general work after the opening of college. This year the week includes the parade to Centennial Field to see the last practice before the St. Michael's game, tomorrow, the smoker and mixer, the cane rush, the first home game and the Boulder dance.

Late in the [illegible] parade to Centennial Field this afternoon. On the eve of the first home game of the football season the traditional march from the gate to the field will take place. The students will form in a body at the Old Mill at four o'clock, proceeding thence to Centennial Field headed by Joe Lechnyr and his R. O. T. C. band. The parade to Vermont's final practice is one of the University's oldest traditions, and a large crowd is expected.

Tonight comes the annual smoker. It will be held, as always, in the gymnasium, starting at 7:30. Songs, yells and pep talks by coaches and old grads form a major part of the program, the music being furnished by Joe Lechnyr and the military band of the college. John Burke, varsity football coach; Sutton, assistant coach; Creehan; Sabin Abell, graduate manager; L. Brock '33, manager; and L. Bowers '33 and Bedell '33, co-captains of this year's squad, are the highlighters of the speaking program. All freshmen are required to attend this pep rally, and they are also required to bring with them their freshman caps, the symbols of their class. The custom which is rapidly becoming a tradition of serving cider and doughnuts will be observed fully, and according to L. Y. Reed '33, the Boulder man who is in charge of the affair, one of the biggest attendances at one of the snappiest rallies of all time is at hand.

And then, tomorrow, the first home game in Vermont's 1932 football year, and with it the third and last of the struggles between the members of the two lower classes, the ancient and honorable cane rush.

Saturday afternoon the freshmen are due at Hayes and Carney's for their canes, which are furnished free, and between the halves of the game the battle will rage. The march downtown begins at the Old Mill at 1.00 and all freshmen will meet there at that time. A section of the bleachers will be reserved for first-year men alone.

As in last year's contest, the following rules will govern, as stated by D. Webster '33, representative of Boulder in charge of the fight:

1. The scrap shall be of seven minutes' duration.
2. The canes shall be placed on the fifty-yard line, between the classes, who will rush from side lines, with the crooks of the canes as they happen to fall.
3. On a signal, both classes should rush for the canes and struggle for possession of them.
4. There shall be as many freshmen and sophomore men as come.
5. No men shall wear other than rubber-soled shoes or moccasins.
6. A warning whistle will be given one minute before the end of the rush. A pistol shot at the end will close the rush.
7. Canes in the hands of men of both classes shall be given to one class or the other upon decisions of Boulder according to the number of hands nearest the crook.
8. The crook of a cane with a foot or more of stub shall count one point. A whole cane shall count two points.
9. At the close of the match each class will file past a designated num-

LARGE ENROLLMENT AT SUMMER SCHOOL SESSION

Twenty States, District of Columbia and Two Canadian Provinces are Represented

The Summer Session of the University of Vermont and the State Agricultural College which closed August 13 had one of the largest enrollments in its history. The total enrollment for the session was 899 and though this is a 10 percent drop from the enrollment of last year, the banner year when one thousand were enrolled, it is about equal to that of 1928 and higher than any other year.

The geographical distribution of the 899 students was about the same as usual. Twenty states were represented, District of Columbia and two Canadian provinces. Vermont had the greatest number, 600; New York was next with 69; then Massachusetts with 56; Connecticut, 43; Pennsylvania, 35; New Jersey, 29; Maine, 13; New Hampshire, 12; Maryland, 9; Florida, 7; Rhode Island, 6; Ohio, 4; Michigan, 3, Indiana, 2; Virginia, 2; District of Columbia, 2; and Delaware, California, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Nova Scotia and Ontario 1 each.

The faculty was composed of members of the University's faculty supplemented by others from various schools.

Those here for the Summer Session only include: Damon Barnes, A.B., an instructor in French at Chicago Latin School; Benjamin W. Brown, A.M., assistant professor of English at Brown University; Clare Dudley Buck, instructor in expression, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Edward J. Colgan, A.M., professor of education, Colby College; and Elizabeth H. Dee, B.S., instructor in physical education, New York City.

The University was represented by Professor Douglass, director of the Summer Session and professor of education, and many others, including Professors Aiken, Bennett, Braun, Bueland, Butterfield, Carleton, Carpenter, Carroll, Dean, DeForest, Dykhuizen, Evans, Groat, Hall and Prindle, to mention but a few.

Courses offered are designed either for their value to teachers, principals and superintendents or for their cultural value. A number of languages were given, including Scandanavian, German, Latin, Spanish and French, also a number of English courses.

Many excursions and concerts were arranged for the students, so life in Summer School had its lighter side.

Interfraternity Week is here—a week of parties and varied activities for freshmen and upperclassmen alike. This week, of the house tight, the most crucial in the interval between the Freshman dances, but most important of all the week of the year known to fraternity men. This is the time when the weakest spots will show up, the last real chance to show the college spirit. This week-end, in accordance with interfraternity camps, the fountain tight and the cane rush is held. But it is supposed to be the two lower classes that are battling, while the entire student body and unites them. The real football game draws the entire student body and unites them as does no other event. A small, quiet crowd will do little good at Centennial Field Saturday afternoon, but a large cheering section of varsity backers' supporters will mean a lot to the team. So Saturday afternoon let's forget the movie at the Flynn, the assignment in chemistry, and the meeting of Alpha Alpha Alpha society, and turn out one hundred percent for the St. Michael's game. The team is working hard. Let's show them that we are with them.

To the incoming freshman who knows little of the problems which every year agitate the University campus and for which countless solutions have been suggested and tried, the solemn pronouncements of the Interfraternity Council at first may seem useless formalities to be disregarded with impunity.

The rules laid down by the Interfraternity Council are rules which have been evolved after many years of experience and which student and faculty opinion considers the best and most satisfactory. It is therefore for the freshman's best interests that he realize the importance of their enforcement and that he cooperate as far as possible in their observance.

These rules have a two-fold purpose. In the first place, they are designed to maintain friendly relations between the various fraternities at a time when relations might easily become strained. The other purpose is to safeguard the freshman against the evils of premature rushing and pledging. Where no definite system exists, the freshman is besieged by fraternity after fraternity. Bewildered, he is often wrongly influenced and chooses wildly. Later he may regret his rashness, finding himself affiliated with the wrong group. Under the present rushing system at Vermont the freshmen are given ample time to look around for himself and to make his own decisions carefully and thoughtfully.

An editorial in a Cynic of several years ago reads:

"The Interfraternity Conference has fixed a pre-rushing period which must not be violated, in practice or in spirit, by any one of its eleven members. During this period the freshman should look about but he should not be too hasty in arriving at conclusions. A trader will give five minutes, just time to decide to which organize paying most of the men who often he would care to associate himself. A freshman will give one a chance reading on the campus, in direct proportion to the extent and quality of its own activity on the campus. [Likewise he should investigate each fraternity's reputation, the records of its campus activities and its scholastic standing. We cannot emphasize too strongly the freshman's obligation to himself to associate himself with a fraternity whose spirit of scholarship is of the highest, whose members are well known on campus and which is generally respected. Above all, however the freshman must avoid rumors and the opinions of prejudiced persons. We suggest that he consult the lists of the Cynic, the opinions of disinterested persons and the results of his own personal observation during the formal rushing period.

"Meanwhile, let him respect the pre-rushing weeks and make it easy for the upperclassmen to do the like. He should not ask for advice concerning fraternities of any member of a conference fraternity, he should not attempt to enter a fraternity house, he should not seek any of those forms of 'entertainment' which are forbidden in the conference rules, and should acquaint himself with, and observe, the other rules as well.

"Open house nights are coming. There will be time enough then to think more seriously of fraternity."

THE KISS

A kiss is a peculiar proposition. Of no use to one, yet absolute bliss to two. The small boy gets it for nothing, the young man has to lie for it and the old man has to buy it. ETA SIGMA PHI TO ELECT OFFICERS AT FIRST MEET

Eta Sigma Phi, the honorary classical society, will elect new officers at its first meeting of the year to be held in the near future. The date for this meeting has not yet been set, but will be announced in the Cynic as soon as possible. Present officers of Eta Sigma Phi are: President Fraser B. Drew '33; vice-president Sylvia A. Lloyd '33; secretary, Gertrude Carleton '33; treasurer, Hugh Wilson '34. Faculty members of Eta Sigma Phi are: Prof. L. M. Prindle, head of the Latin department; Prof. S. F. Emmett, head of the Greek department; Prof. G. A. Kedder of the Greek and Latin departments; Prof. R. P. Johnson of the Latin department; Prof. J. T. Metcalf of the department of psychology; Miss Mary M. Patrick of the department of education; and Prof. Edward Y. Lindsay of the Latin department.

Eta Sigma Phi is a national honorary classical society, of which this is Iota chapter. Its purpose is to foster interest in the classics and friendship among classical students and for the furthering of this purpose meetings are held twice a month at which talks are given by members of the classical departments or visiting classicists. Papers are often read by undergraduate members of Eta Sigma Phi also. At other times Latin plays are read at the meetings, and sometimes social meetings are enjoyed by the members.

Eta Sigma Phi has a membership of about fifteen active members. Requirements for membership in Eta Sigma Phi are a grade of A for one semester in Greek, or a B for two semesters.

By closely following these rules the reader will breathe grounds the hallowed walls of the barber shop.

To the class of 1909 the CYNIC extends its heartiest welcome. You are already beginning to get something of Vermont and Vermont life. You are now forming the habits which will hold you during your college career. You are tending toward one of two extreme courses. There can be no middle. Your college life will be either a great help or a greater hindrance, either successful or unsuccessful. Which of the two depends largely upon your present attitude. President Buckham has already told you not to spoil your college course by mistakes "at the outset." No better advice can be given. In the channel that you enter now, you must swim to the end, and if on the way you are engulfed by whirl-pool or eddies, if you find it full of rocks and deceitful currents, remember that the other channel, the one you might have chosen, is quiet and peaceful, straight and narrow and success awaits the voyager at the other end. Again quoting the President, "choose deliberately"—and wisely.

One other thing. You have come to college primarily to study. That, however, is not all there is to a college course. Physical improvement, intellectual refinement, and moral elevation ... Among the un... dergraduates the sentiment seems to be current that at a college like Vermont, drawing its students from the sources from which to a large extent we draw ours, a little instruction of the right kind is beneficial rather than otherwise. Be that as it may it has been decreed that it shall cease. Our only purpose at present is to call attention to the Freshman Rules. The CYNIC heartily approves of them and believes that they should be rigidly enforced by the sanction of the ... [illegible] ... of the sophomore class.

3. Freshmen must not wear stiff hats except on Sunday.
4. Freshmen must not wear preparatory school numerals, letters or pins.

These orders drawn up by the sophomore class in accordance with the usual college customs, are approved by the upperclassmen.

If these rules are strictly obeyed further hazing will cease.

Here is a page from the freshman number of the September 8, 1900, CYNIC. Those were the days.

St. Michael's Here Tomorrow At 3:30

State Series Opener to be Difficult Contest for Cats

Purple and Gold Team Reputed to have Strong Gridiron Squad This Year Despite the Fact it is Their First Year at it for Some Time

CANE RUSH TO TAKE PLACE BETWEEN HALVES

The 1932 football season at the University of Vermont will [illegible] tomorrow, when the gridsters [illegible] encounter St. Michael's at Centennial Field at 3.30. The team has been awaiting their first opportunity to [illegible] practically the entire student body has been eagerly standing by to see the results of the team as they begin their [illegible] game schedule. While tomorrow's game is nothing out of the ordinary as the way games go, it is the season opener under a new coaching staff

Several unforeseen unfortunate events have stripped the Burke men of some of their best material. Jack Morgan's tackle berth has not been put on the eligible list, and will not be able to play for awhile. To somewhat offset these difficulties comes the news that Sabo Carracciolo, last year's tackle on the frosh team has returned to the ranks of football men. With him comes Ray Wesoly, a strong candidate for a backfield position.

While this is the first year [illegible] for St. Michael's in some time [illegible] current belief that the Catamounts will have more difficulty at their hands than any of the other state [illegible] contests. The intensive practice [illegible] the two teams will serve [illegible] to win for both sides. The [illegible] are known to have plenty [illegible] them, and they are turning out a class of football team according to reports.

Coaches Bob Carr and [illegible] have been devoting their [illegible] dividual instruction more [illegible] yardage gaining. Coach Carr [illegible] ed wonders with both the [illegible] and baseball teams at the Country Winooski Park, and is expected to have football team on the field tomorrow noon which will give Coach Burke [illegible] a run for their money

Saturday's game will find a strong team on the field for Vermont. Certainly the team is as strong as it has been for several years. Last week in the scrimmage with the Kents Hill several men showed marked ability. In that scrimmage Joe and Peter Delfausse of Rockville Center [illegible] the end positions. Al Taylor of Leominster, Mass. and Lee Moore of Burlington pounded at the tackles, Herb Holley of Hartford, Conn. and Spud Farmer of Sherman Station, Me. the guards. Co-captain Red Cook shot the passes back at center.

Beckley, Still, Rapuano and [illegible] composed the backfield. Bedell and Ed Saba were [illegible] nursing minor injuries Monday. Later during the week Ramon and Saba greatly strengthened the backfield, in fact the latter candidate has proved that a touchdown is scored after the other men are through.

CROSS COUNTRY MEN OUT TO DEFEND TITLE

General Class Meet to Augment Interest in Minor Fall Sport

According to latest reports from Coach [illegible] of the cross country team, the outlook for a successful season is fairly good. [illegible] appears that the championship team developed last fall will not be [illegible] as the only other contender in the state [illegible] will present a strong enough team to provide plenty of competition for the Catamount harriers.

Most of the season's preliminary training [illegible] and real intensive practice [illegible] Vermont meet on October 8 will [illegible] start. Exercises, short runs [illegible] of varying lengths featured the harriers' training [illegible]. Last year the team was completely [illegible] by the Lord Jeff team and the Green and Gold warriors [illegible] a average their close defeat [illegible].

[illegible] the services of the [illegible] material that was on hand [illegible] the graduation of Les Widder [illegible] and Herbert Lear's team [illegible] of Ray and John Wood [illegible] a letter winning. Dusty [illegible] Cliff Har[illegible] and Ken Brooks [illegible] captain [illegible] are also promising men for [illegible] this fall.

[illegible] the athletic department [illegible] of cross country [illegible] to take place sometime [illegible] the near future. It is hoped that [illegible] material for both varsity and [illegible] squads may be uncovered by this [illegible]. The course is a short one being [illegible] about a mile in length. A practice [illegible] will be held the week of October 3. [illegible] interested should see Archie Post at the Physical Education Department.

AGGIES MAKE TRIP TO GRAND ISLE ORCHARDS

Eighteen freshmen from the Agricultural College, who are enrolled in the pomology course, went with Prof. M. B. Cummings Monday to study the 300-acre orchard of the Grand Isle Orchard Company at Grand Isle.

The organization of men and women into commercial groups for harvesting operations and the machinery for sizing apples were the objects of special attention. This year there is a very large crop of apples at the orchard and the public is invited to inspect it.

RED ROCKS THE SCENE OF OUTING CLUB HIKE

The Outing Club opened its activities of the season last Sunday with a hike to the Red Rocks and Swallow Meadow. Starting from the gymnasium at 2:30 the adventurous hikers proceeded up North Prospect Street, down Ledge Road, and followed Swallow Road to the entrance of Queen City Park.

The hikers who went on the hike were all in the best spirit of the day, calling the hike the best ever staged by the Outing Club. The attendance was small, so that the hikers who were prepared to get eats and "rough it" as described in the invitation, had a half pounds of walking which gave the hikers five W. A. A. points apiece. A little excitement completed the hike when a dash up Colt Street was staged by several members of the Robinson Hall dining room staff, owing to the proximity of the supper hour.

Those who went on the hike included: Marv Petras '33, president of Outing Club; Geneva Wilcox '34; Mabel Larabee '34; Helen Allen '33; Jessie Nichols '33; Velma Purinton '34; Anna Green '34; Alta Rock '35; Phyllis Peacock '35; Dorothy Kennedy '35; Ruth Barron '36; Ruth Wright '36; Betty Brown '36; Frances Rowe '36.

GOLD KEY SOCIETY RUNS FROSH HAT INSPECTION

Gold Key society made an inspection at last Thursday morning's military drill to find out the men in the class of 1936 who were not wearing their frosh hats. The sophomore honorary society members caught many delinquent freshmen in the survey. The purpose of the count taken was to ascertain the number of freshmen who had the true Vermont spirit and were proud enough of their class to wear the token used.

Although no definite method of punishment has been adopted for the men who did not have their frosh caps, several dire suggestions have been made. From time to time during the year the second-year group will make the rounds of the freshman class and will take the list of men who lack their cap. "It would be a good plan for every freshman man in the class of '36 to procure his token of Vermont loyalty now, rather than suffer the consequences at some later date," was the statement made by one of the Boulder men.

Hazing, a form of torture for incoming freshmen, has nearly become extinct at the University of Vermont. Although drastic methods of enforcement of the freshman rules has been barred by the college, it is the part of the frosh to obey the dictates of their elders.

FROSH FOOTBALL SQUAD IN MIDST OF GROOMING FOR T. C. A. WEEK AWAY

Coach Levin Needs More Material Out, If He is Going to Preserve Record of Frosh Teams

With just a week of continuous practice behind them freshman football warriors under the tutelage of Coach Levine are getting themselves in fine fettle for their first tray with Tri-State Conference Academy a week from Saturday.

Although both the men and the coach are hard at work to get together a smooth working eleven, even the most optimistic football fans are not looking forward to a Kitten team which will equal last year's.

From the initial practice with twenty-six men out the number of candidates has dropped to eighteen. A great need for a larger squad is being felt by the coach since the present number will scarcely take care of any replacements likely to arise. The freshman schedule comprised of only four games throughout the entire fall is arranged so that it will have no drastic effect on the scholastic standing of the first-year men.

The freshman line will range about 170 pounds this year, while the backfield will hover around 150. Although there is a sprinkling of former prep school starts out, the first game will probably see a comparatively inexperienced backfield start. The line will be in somewhat better shape but many of the berths will be filled by new men.

The first few days of practice were taken up with fundamentals, limbering-up exercises and various preliminaries. Monday they ran through a light scrimmage with a little stiffer workout with the varsity on the following afternoon.

"Bumps" Levine is pinning his hopes on a few experienced men plus some new material with a chance for development. "Susie" Paul, Jack Bedell Dick Martin, "Stubby" Bailey and Romanos will probably comprise the nucleus of the eleven.

The starting game with T. C. A. will take place here next Saturday. The St. Lawrence and Middlebury games will be played away from home on October 15 and 22, respectively. The final game will be with Montpelier Seminary on Centennial Field, October 29.

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

THREE HUNDRED FIFTY ATTEND WOMEN'S MASS MEETING IN GYMNASIUM

Orientation Program for Freshmen, Feature of Evening—Activities Speeches Given

C. ODELL LEADS CHEERS

Approximately three hundred fifty [illegible] attended the women's mass meeting [illegible] Thursday evening in the gymnasium [illegible] the direction of Student Union [illegible]. An orientation program for freshman [illegible]coeds was the feature of the evening.

Speeches were given by Caroline Latt '33, Chief Justice of Student Union, who explained the essential regulations which the judiciary will enforce; Elizabeth Eckhardt '33, Mortar Board head who defined the purpose and aims of the senior honorary society; Ara Armstrong '33, president of W. A. A. who elucidated upon the activities and the means of entering the organization; Dorothy Murphy '33, chairman of Masque and Sandal, who described the modes of joining the women's dramatic society; Virginia Goodenough '33, who spoke on Dramatic Club, the "little sister" of Masque and Sandal; Gladys La Flamme '33, editor-in-chief of Hymenovings and president of Bluestockings, who invited all the co-eds to try-out in the literary field; Marguerite Dunsmore '33, essay editor, who described the work of the literary magazine; Lama Johnson '33 member of the varsity debate team, who urged the girls to become forensics; Dorothy Eckman '33 women's editor of the Cynic who told of the excellent journalist experience to be gained by Cynic work.

Sylvia Boyd Conducts Meeting

The meeting was conducted by Sylvia Boyd '33, president of Student Union and the speeches were interspersed with cheers and the singing of Vermont songs led by Charlotte Odell '33.

Student Union examinations for girls living in dormitories and private houses will be held in 27 Williams Science Hall, on Thursday evening, October 6, at seven-thirty.

A social hour followed the business meeting. Dancing to a three piece college orchestra was the means of entertainment. Ice cream was served, and the meeting closed at ten o'clock.

Big Sister Period, which extends from school opening to Christmas vacation, is now under way among Vermont co-eds. The Big Sister movement, regulated by Student Union Rules, has included the assignment of an upperclassman to each girl of the freshman class. As denoted in the handbook the Big Sister period has as its purpose "to unite fraternity and non-fraternity women in making every freshman and new student feel the warm welcome, the friendly helpfulness and the sincere interest which await her in Vermont."

Big Sister Rules

"Fraternity women shall be allowed to wear their fraternity pins after the talk on fraternity is given to the freshmen by the Pan-Hellenic president on Registration Day.

"No money shall be spent by any fraternity woman or group of fraternity women on any eligible new student, nor shall any eligible new student expend anything upon any fraternity woman or group of fraternity women.

"There shall be no mention of fraternity in any way whatsoever between freshman or eligible transfers and any fraternity or group of fraternity women.

"Fraternity women shall not discuss fraternity with each other in any way

ALL-FROSH DANCE TO BE HELD IN GYM SAT.

A dance for members of the class of 1936 will be given on Saturday evening, October 1, in the gymnasium under the auspices of the V. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. Admission will be free and all freshman men and women are invited to attend.

Freshmen may secure tickets free of charge by applying at the box office the evening of the dance.

S. K. Carter '33 and Mary Horak '34 are social chairmen of their respective societies. W. S. Stetson '34, chairman of the V. C. A. board, states in reference to Saturday's social: "The dance is given so the members of the entering class may make acquaintances and friends among themselves more quickly and easily than would otherwise be possible. Stetson addressed an appeal to the student body to 'give the freshmen a chance.'"

Sylvia Boyd '33, president of Student Union, who conducted the mass meeting held last Friday evening.

OPEN HOUSE NIGHTS TO START MON. OCTOBER 3

Will Also be Held Wed. and Fri. of Same Week and Two Nights Following Week

Open house nights, the introductory phase of freshman rushing will start on Monday, October 3. They will also be held Wednesday and Friday of the same week and on two nights the following week.

Details of the open house and rushing party routine were discussed and fixed at the first meeting of the Inter-fraternity Council held at the Owl House last Wednesday evening. Pres. Fraser Drew '33, Robert Cross '33 and Chester Eaton '34 were selected as the committee in charge.

It was decided that the freshmen will receive after the last open house night at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, October 21, in the Old Mill Chapel to receive invitations from representatives of Inter-fraternity Council to the various house rushing parties.

The rushing parties will be held on the first four nights of the following week, October 17 to 20 from 6 to 12 p.m. At this time the fraternity members are at liberty to discuss with the invited freshmen all fraternity questions regarding their respective houses.

On the day following, the last rushing party, Friday, October 28 the freshmen will again assemble in the Old Mill Chapel where Interfraternity Council representatives will give to each freshman the bids of the various fraternities to membership. Each freshman, at that time, is free to do one of three things with each bid he receives: He may accept it, or he may definitely refuse it, or he may indicate that he is undecided and take further time during which to make his final decision.

The Inter-fraternity Council at Vermont has been in existence for over fifteen years, and the program of regulated rushing adopted at Wednesday night's meeting, virtually the same as that used last year, is the result of these several years of experiment with various rushing systems. The council is composed of two representatives from each fraternity, one senior, and one junior, the offices in the organization rotating among the various fraternities in a definitely established order.

The purposes of the conference as stated in the constitution are "to promote the interests of the University and of the several fraternities represented therein, to insure cooperation among the said fraternities, and between them and the college authorities to the end that the condition of them and their relations with the college authorities may be improved."

At the last meeting, additional activities for the council were suggested but the matter was put over to some future meeting after the rushing season.

The members of this year's council

ECKHARD BECOMES HEAD OF ENGINEERING COLLEGE; SUCCEEDS LATE DEAN VOTEY

Newly Elected Dean Served University as Professor of Structural Engineering for Seventeen Years

STUDIED AT U. OF IOWA

[illegible] Eckhard, newly elected dean of the Engineering College, received [illegible] a week's vacation from the Board of [illegible] to attend the meeting of the Ohio [illegible]. President Eckhard has been active [illegible] the past year and has served the University as professor of structural engineering for seventeen years since 1915.

Dean Eckhard succeeds the late Dean George Votey who died last September in the seventy-first year after having been connected with the University for fifty-seven years and having held the deanship for thirty-six years.

George L. Eckhard is a native of Iowa. He was born in Waterloo, Iowa, November 21, 1878, and educated in the common schools there. After completing the high school course in Cedar Falls, he attended the Iowa State Teachers College where he received his M.D. degree in 1900. Following his graduation he studied at the University of Iowa and in 1907 he received the B.S. degree in civil engineering and later received his graduate degree of Civil Engineer.

At Vermont Since 1915

Dean Eckhard left his native state soon after he took at Ohio State U. Iowa and was appointed professor of civil engineering in 1907 at the New Mexico College of Mines. He remained there for six years, resigning to take Mr. Votey's position in 1909 where he held a similar position. In 1914 he became associate professor of structural engineering at Pennsylvania State College, where he taught for three years. Dean Eckhard came to Vermont in 1915 as professor of structural engineering and has been here ever since.

Among the societies of which Dean Eckhard is a member are the American Society of Civil Engineers, Sigma Xi, and the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education. He is also a member and president of the Vermont Society of Engineers.

Speaking of the recent improvements in the facilities of the Engineering College, Dean Eckhard announced it is safe to report that the new shops and testing rooms are situated in the Old Mansion which has been renamed the Engineering Annex.

DANCE BRINGS BOULDER WEEK EVENTS TO CLOSE

Activities Include Smoker, Parade, Cane Rush; Hose Fight Indefinitely Postponed

Saturday evening's Boulder closed the Centennial program brought to a close the events of a week devoted to special class activities conducted by the sophomore honorary society. The activities included a pep meeting, a parade, a cane rush, and a dance. The freshmen-sophomore hose fight which was scheduled to take place during the week was indefinitely postponed.

One hundred couple danced to the music of Lochner's Vermonters from nine to twelve on Saturday evening. Drew president of Boulder had charge of the evening's entertainment.

Pres. and Mrs. F. W. Dow and Prof. and Mrs. R. T. Johnson chaperoned and greeted the guests in the receiving line.

In commenting on the success of the week's activities Drew stated that the Boulder program had served as an excellent means of demonstrating class spirit and the Boulder president further said that he believed the society had well accomplished its purpose of helping to the celebration of Centennial.

Pep Rally

Singing of Vermont songs, cheers and several short talks were features of the program at the pep meeting held Friday evening in the Gymnasium. Cider and doughnuts were served to the 800 men who turned out at the rally.

Sabin C. Abell '28 graduate manager of athletics, was the first speaker. He emphasized the Vermont spirit and paid tribute to the work of the coaching staff and the players during the past two weeks of practice. Chairman L. E. Reed '33 introduced L. N. Brock '33, manager of football.

"Vermont Victorious" was sung before the program continued with talks by Co-captains Bedell and Bowers, Assistant Coaches Sutton and Crehan, and Head Coach John H. Burke. G. W. Flynn '35 and J. S. Wool '35 led the cheers and songs. R. O. T. C. Band played before and after the rally as well as for the songs.

Coach Burke asked for "not only a scrappy team but a snappy student body on Centennial Field." Complimenting the enthusiasm in evidence, he concluded "Let's keep up tomorrow, through the year, and for years to come."

Frosh Take Cane Rush

Saturday between the halves of the Vermont-St. Michael's game the freshmen triumphed over the sophomores in the annual cane rush, also sponsored by Boulder. Eighteen representatives from the sophomore class faced a group of about sixty-five first year men in preparation for the "stick fight."

The canes were placed in middle of the field by Boulder men and at the signal both teams charged. Members of both classes grabbed canes and rushed to secluded spots of the field to await the end of the seven-minute period. Others from the two teams formed fighting units and passed the time scrapping and grab-

MLLE INEDJIAN ENROLLS AS EXCHANGE STUDENT

Mlle Francine Inedjian who for the past seven years has studied toward a bachelor's degree in the Lycee Victor Duruy de Paris has enrolled at the University where she will be an exchange student this year. Her course of study will be under the general direction of Professor Tupper head of the English department.

Mlle Inedjian will reside at Slade Hall and will take her meals at Robinson Hall, where she will preside over a "French table." Here American words will be taboo, her table companions and conversation will be entirely in French. Miss Inedjian and her companions will reciprocate and aid her in the speaking of the English language.

The French exchange student, whose home is in Paris has lived in France all her life, except for a short time spent in England.

MUSIC DIRECTOR LAUDS RESPONSE OF STUDENTS

103 Try Out for Glee Clubs and Choirs; Music Dep't to Sponsor Free Public Concert Series

"It is very gratifying to have such enthusiastic response from the students, particularly from the freshmen and other new men and women." Thus declared Claire T. Leonard, acting professor of music in H. G. Bennett's absence, when interviewed concerning musical prospects for the ensuing year.

Mr Leonard further stated, "I am sure that with continued support of the members of the choir and glee clubs, we may heartily anticipate an attractive series of musical events."

One hundred three men and women have thus far tried out for choir and glee clubs and others have signed up for [illegible].

The first rehearsal for the choir will be this evening at seven o'clock in the Ira Allen Chapel. The first meeting of the Women's Glee Club will be held tomorrow night at seven fifteen o'clock in the Music Building when the men's organization will rehearse Thursday evening at seven o'clock.

To Present Recitals

Listed as a series of free public concerts to be given by faculty and students and sponsored by the music department, will be a program of organ compositions to be presented by Mr. Leonard. This recital is scheduled for Sunday afternoon, October 9 in the Ira Allen Chapel.

A violin sonata recital is the next musical event to take place. Miss Charlotte de St. teacher of violin and viola will be the violin soloist of the evening and Mr. Leonard will accompany her on the piano. A sonata of Mr. Leonard's composition will be played during the course of the evening. The program will

FOOTBALL AT VERMONT

[illegible] John Davis and his grid machine opened the Green and [illegible] enough last Saturday afternoon on the Centennial Field gridiron when the Catamounts romped themselves in the waning [illegible] of the final period and romped home with a 7 to 0 victory. We would like to remind our readers that one year ago today Vermont [illegible] the highly touted Union machine by the same score. Union, [illegible] undefeated and ended the season with an imposing [illegible] of victories. We remind you that Vermont faded out of the [illegible] picture dropping the remainder of her encounters by varying [illegible].

The point we wish to stress at this time is this. Shall a new year, a new football season blessed with the addition of a reputable coaching staff and forty fighting candidates, follow the unenviable rut of the past? Every autumn a new squad unacquainted with the dismal Vermont record, troops out to the grid; fully determined to avenge the setbacks of the past and as some of us know, every fall another [illegible] season of heartaches and disappointments is recorded on Vermont's [illegible] annals. Will the team, encouraged by their initial win proceed to triumph as other colleges do, taking advantage of their recent mistakes and profiting them improving under capable tutelage to win the Green Mountain title?

We do not ask the team that—we ask you. What will you, the rooters and supporters, do to aid your representatives on the field? From long experience we will tell you. Disheartened by the results of the Dartmouth contest, you will quit in the emergency, forsake the eleven in time of stress preferring to enjoy the football cinema at the Flynn where the right aggregation always wins and the hero makes the touchdown. There is no denial to this implication. When there is reason to cheer it is only fair to all concerned that it is done. But that is exactly what did not happen last Saturday afternoon. No one will deny that the players were giving their all to win the game and start the season right, no one will deny that they were fighting and doing the best they possibly could.

We therefore sincerely appeal to you students and supporters of Vermont to show your respect and honor for the team and University by being present at the remaining games and cheering your team, not only as a winner but also as a hard, clean fighting loser.

JEROME FARWELL.

College Eighty Years Ago

A Ripple at Jones

Mrs. Jones was in a quandary. Her [illegible] usually so calm and placid were an expression of mingled perplexity and dismay. For the thirteen years that she had kept a boarding house she had never allowed herself to be late in getting a single meal. She gloried in the fact, she boasted of it to her neighbors, but now!—

She had risen a trifle late this morning, still as she had planned for breakfast the evening before—sausage and [illegible] potatoes—there was time enough.

With a little more haste and less care than usual she dressed and catching up the pantry key from its nook on the kitchen she hastened to the kitchen. She had always been in the habit of keeping her pantry locked. Now that I do not place absolute trust in my boarders, she would explain to her neighbor across the way, but the habit of locking everything as I found it, keeping the food locked, hastily throwing the key in the lock and giving it a hasty turn before it was fairly in place she broke it off short. Hence her perplexity, hence her dismay.

She began at once to try to pick the lock with a hairpin, but remarkable as it may seem, she had left [illegible] She now saw she was getting more and more nervous every minute, it concluded she had better call Jones to [illegible] So back she went to her [illegible] sputter and called "Charley" a voice that would shame with almost a whisper. Now Jones had been out the previous evening at an important meeting of the club, and had on retiring [illegible] some strong tea so it is not at all surprising that Mrs. J was obliged to surrender the realm to Hypnos before she got any response. [illegible] Jones took a half turn over and [illegible] and muttered [illegible] "What's [illegible] Mrs. Jones was just the [illegible] probably the better [illegible] have deserted [illegible] had he not [illegible] shaken [illegible] by his own [illegible] voice and mild [illegible] was [illegible]

When Jones at length appeared in the kitchen he had a short piece of stiff wire in his hand, and a superior smile on his face.

It might as well be understood here and now that Jones was a genius, and the work of picking a lock, although somewhat beneath him, was still right in his line.

"I'll have this door open in about three seconds and a quarter," said Jones confidently, as he inserted the slightly curved end of the wire in the keyhole. He worked the wire back and forth gently, trying to poke out the broken key, and would have doubtless succeeded if the wire had not, in some way, become fixed in the keyhole.

Jones gave it a slight jerk, but it did not come out. He gave it a fiercer snap, but it did not budge. He wound the wire around the poker and putting one foot against the doorcasing gave a mighty tug. The wire thereupon let go of its hold—of the poker.

Jones started rapidly for the other side of the room and would likely have struck it with considerable force if the breakfast table had not been directly in his orbit; as it was, he struck the latter with violence sufficient to precipitate most of the dishes on the floor. While Jones gathered himself up, Mrs. J. performed the same office for the crockery, much of which was not broken. Jones did not say anything as he arose from among the debris; but the solicitous manner with which he smoothed out his vertebræ, as he went out the door, rendered words unnecessary.

He soon returned, however, with a set countenance and an iron bar which spoke volumes for the speed with which he would enter the food repositories. He jabbed the sharp point of the bar between the door and the casing and gave it a quick jerk. There was a sharp click as if something had given way, but the lock still held. Again the bar was applied, but this time with a steady pressure. When he thought he had the casing sprung back far enough he called to his wife to hold the bar. When Mrs. Jones had a firm grip on the bar, Jones backed off about six feet from the door and, with his body bent slightly forward, he charged the door somewhat after the style of a battering-ram. The door opened readily and Jones went in. If he had been content to have stopped on the threshold all would have been well; but he [illegible] he sped across the pantry floor toward a large pan full of dough which had been quietly rising, not, however, with any expressed or implied expression of greeting him; but in order that the boarders might have [illegible] for breakfast. Into this [illegible] were plunged luckless Jones—[illegible] ending the agony. The door [illegible] and that was what Mrs. [illegible] wanted. Soon the storm passed and there was heard the cheerful hum of the flies and the appetizing sizzle of the sausage which told the boarders, who had gathered by this time, that others had assumed their usual [illegible]

[illegible] Winnowings will publish four issues [illegible] year [illegible] Lafollamme [illegible] a new program for the magazine [illegible] In each issue there will [illegible] writers' contest and the regular [illegible] feature to the magazine will include [illegible] reviews, editorials, humor [illegible] and a contributors column. A [illegible] also is planned as well as a [illegible] department.

[illegible] announced especially for people [illegible] interested in creative writing [illegible] the manuscript of their work will be [illegible] information about [illegible] and material, according to [illegible].

Material entered in the Tri-State [illegible] Contest of last spring will be used during the course of the year.

TWO ART CLASSES INITIATED

There are two art classes at the University of interest to students, alumni or others who have a desire to develop appreciation or ability to draw and paint. On Wednesday at 9 a.m. for one hour a group of students study the principles of Art Appreciation and the characteristics of Modern Art. On Tuesday and Thursday from 2-4 a class in outdoor sketching and [illegible] drawing may also be entered by any persons who wish to do so. Both of these are small groups with a space available for a few more enthusiastic members. All those who are interested call at noon or at 6 p.m. 2854 or 2416-M.

NOTICE TO SENIORS

Seniors in the College of Arts and Sciences (those taking the curriculum of commerce and [illegible] are alone excepted) are required to write six reports for the English department—three each semester. Lists and details will be supplied at the English office.

THE MOST unexpected and pleasant things happen to you when you get the Shredded Wheat habit! That's because Shredded Wheat gives you the energy you need to make every day a push-over! It's Nature's own energy food—100% whole wheat!

That means nothing lost, and nothing added! All the energy-building elements that smart old Nature put into wheat are kept for you in Shredded Wheat.

MEDIC RINGS CALL BELL; ROUSES CO-EDS AT DORM

All aren't door bells and some bells aren't dumb. In fact, there is a variety named call-bells—so the medic on the track of a football ticket book found out. He was looking for a freshman co-ed who lives over at Robinson. The story:

He came to Robinson Hall the other night and found Redstone. After discovering Robinson he attempted to enter. He found no door bell, apparently no

Conference Cites Rule

The following are the rules adopted by the Conference for the season of 1932-1933:

1. Beginning with the first day of football camp, no fraternity man shall entertain, discuss fraternity matters with, or extend invitation to membership to any freshman or new student, until the end of the neutral period after regular bidding time, except at open house nights or rushing parties as explained below. (The word entertain is interpreted as meaning accompanying at meals, dinner engagements, out-of-town athletic contests, etc.)

2. No freshman or new student shall be allowed in any fraternity house between afternoon dates excepting open house nights and rushing parties.

3. The Interfraternity Council will designate five evenings in October when fraternities may welcome freshmen to their houses or rooms. Entertainment shall be limited to "smokes" and no fraternity matters shall be discussed at these meetings. Personal invitations may supplement the general invitation to all students.

The freshman class shall be divided into eleven groups which shall visit the fraternities according to an arranged schedule. The last two nights visiting shall be optional.

4. On the Friday following the last of the open house nights, freshmen shall assemble at 4 p.m. in the chapel of the Old Mill to receive date cards from representatives of different fraternities, filling out same as has been customary. A member of the faculty who is a disinterested party and yet competent shall be designated by the Conference to meet the freshmen as a body and to make such explanations to them as are necessary before they go through the line.

5. Rushing dates four in number, will be held on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Evening dates will last from 6-12 p.m. No fraternity shall make more than one date with any one freshman.

6. From 12 p.m. Thursday, after the last rushing date, until 7 p.m. Friday shall be a strictly neutral period, during which time no active or associate member of an organization belonging to the Conference shall hold any communication whatsoever, with new students.

7. At 2 p.m. on the Friday following the last rushing date the members of the Conference shall meet and bring all their invitations in sealed and addressed envelopes, said meeting to be held in the room in the Old Mill designated by the President of the Conference. Within each envelope shall be only the printed form of the invitations properly filled out and an unsealed envelope with the address of the inviting fraternity upon it. The invitations shall then be delivered by the respective representatives of the different fraternities in conference assembled to the freshmen presenting themselves before said Conference. In a room, adjoining the Conference room each freshman shall fill out the blanks "I accept," or "I do not accept your invitation to membership", and shall then put each invitation in the envelope addressed to the inviting fraternity and return same to the Conference room.

On the day of pledging, when the invitations are being given out, fraternity men will remain in their homes.

Every invitation shall be in writing and upon printed form furnished by the secretary of the Conference. Invitations not accepted shall be returned. This does not apply after pledging day.

8. Every pledge shall be valid for a period of seven months, unless rescinded by the pledging fraternity.

Any fraternity directly concerned with a person who is pledged at another college but before being initiated transfers to Vermont must notify or discharge said pledge within ten days after the arrival of said pledge. The fraternity may retain or disburse said pledge by reporting same to the President of Conference.

9. All pledges shall wear buttons, unless pledges shall be declared irregular by the Faculty Council; they shall be openly known by all fraternities. It is herewith expressly ruled that the Faculty Council alone shall have power to declare a pledge irregular or unlawful.

10. Penalties for the infraction of the Rushing Rules will be administered by a Faculty Council comprised of five members of the faculty who are members of fraternities which do not have chapters here.

In dealing with a violation, the Faculty Council shall sit as a court with the offending fraternity as the defendant and the President of the Council (Faculty) as a judge. All the evidence shall be presented to the court by both defending and prosecuting fraternities, and then a decision will be made by the court alone in secret session. A majority vote of the court will convict. The names of persons bringing charges will be withheld.

11. The punishment for infraction of these Rushing Rules shall be the denial of the right to pledge men during the remainder of the school year and probation from all interfraternity contests. These shall include all inter-fraternity athletics and Kake Walks. In cases of minor infraction the length of the probation will be determined by the Faculty Council. Subsequent infraction of these rules or evasion of the penalty during the period in which the fraternity is being penalized for infraction of the rules shall be subject to punishment by the University Council. If a fraternity is found guilty by the Faculty Council of infraction of these rules the knowledge of such and the reasons shall be distributed to the freshmen of the next year through the Freshman Handbook and it shall be published by the Cynic.

Any freshman or new student involved in any infraction of the rules must be suspended for probation from accepting a bid from any fraternity even in the event that a period of not less than one year or greater than one year from that time elapses.

By Laws. The president and the faculty advisor shall divide the freshman class alphabetically into eleven groups and shall draw by a schedule governing the visiting of the fraternities by these groups as provided for in the rushing rules.

NOTICE

All women members of the sophomore class who desire to scrub the business side of the 1934 Ariel should meet with Claribel Morris, women's business manager, and Charles Libby, men's business manager, Wednesday afternoon, September 28, at four o'clock in the Old Mill Chapel. A new system of choosing the women's business manager will be discussed at this meeting. No previous experience is necessary for scrubs.

MISS PUTNAM, PIERCE WIN IN VOCAL CONTEST

Marilla R. Putnam '32 and S. Pierce, Jr. '34 were the winners in the vocal contest of the Sixth National Radio Audition conducted by the Atwater Kent Foundation at the Athena Club rooms Wednesday evening.

This is the third year that Miss Putnam has won the contest in Burlington. Both she and Pierce are pupils of Madame Elizabeth Bradish of the music department.

Three women and five men took part in the local contest. Miss Putnam sang "The Hills of Home" by Fox. Pierce sang "Who Is Sylvia" by Schubert. Harley F. Wilson accompanied at the piano.

Mrs. E. G. Wilson of Burlington is the local chairman of the audition. The judges were: Miss Charlotte deVolt of the music department, Mrs. Gladys Pitkin and William P. Walker.

Both the winners are now eligible to sing in the State Audition to be held in Burlington October 21. This will be a radio broadcast so that the general public may assist in the judging.

DARTMOUTH GRID SQUAD ROUTS NORWICH ELEVEN IN OPENING GAME

Play of Fishman, Donovan, Hedges, Morton, Clark Baffles Visitors

[illegible] Dewey were three weeks of solid and hard drilling by head coaches Dave Cantwell and Ike Cassidy on drills consisting of the Green complex. Shot up and down Memorial Field, scrimmage attempting forward passes, three hour-long Saturday sessions of signal drill, and a final workout at 2:30 to 6 on the field afternoon of the 1932 football season.

Although the game looked not at the Dartmouth men and showed all the tricks and speeds that they had in their repertoire, it was not a satisfactory game. The eleven that represented Dartmouth played straight football, using only the simplest of line bucks and line plays occasionally showing a flat or Warner flash, carefully saved always for the end. Cantwell last year in the Stanford encounter. Yet the game was not without its thrills for the 8,000 odd spectators that turned out to see the first colorful of Dartmouth home games.

The game was scarcely a minute old when little Sammy Fishman, Green quarterback, brought the crowd to its feet with a 58-yard return of Martin's wild placed kick. But Clark held the distance record for the day when he broke through the cadet ranks, reeling off 61 yards for a touchdown a little later in the first period. Flashes of runs were evaded throughout the game. Although some of the Dartmouth scores was tallied by consistent drives down the field, a greater number of counters resulted from runs of over twenty yards.

It is hardly fair to tout any one man as a record performer for the Green since practically five teams had been on the field when the final whistle sounded. Nevertheless it is safe to say that as ball carriers Fishman, Donovan, Hedges and Billy Morton will bear watching while Bill Clark, who made his varsity debut Saturday, seems to be adept at both the running and kicking ends of the game. As far as the line is concerned, it looks as if Dartmouth has little cause to worry even when he comes against some stronger material than Saturday's game opposed. Since the beginning of practice Coach Cantwell has had four men grooming and polishing his ends and the work is showing results already. Those who remember the ruling the Dartmouth end took last year will profit by watching them here a little closer in the Vermont encounter next week.

Score: Dartmouth 73. Touchdowns: W. Clark 4, Donovan 2, Pease 2, F. Morton, Stanich, Mahoney, Fishman. Point after touchdown: Fishman 8 (placement). Wendell (placement), Hedges 2, Cronin, E. Morton, Cassidy, Pease. J. F. Keegan (Dartmouth). Umpire: H. D. McGrath (L. C.). Linesman: A. R. Lape (Lawrence). Field judge: A. W. Reiley (Colgate). Time: Four 10 minute periods.

GOLF PLAY ALREADY STARTED FOR THIS FALL

The annual golf tournament held each year at the Woodstock Country Club is to get under way. No matches could have been played to date. Playing is open to all the except freshmen and those through Interclass Rules from competing in golf.

Weights [illegible] to play. A Hurt '33 and a Sprowl to win. John Mahoney '33 will have a return match with Austin Noble '33 and Donovan '33 and Hedges '33 might have a mixed match between a golfer and a tennis player. Almost any sport can have Hedges '33, Brown '34 golf match, Cassidy '33, Cassidy '33 and Cronin '33 vs. Jacobson '33 and Cronin '33 and Donovan '33 and Gustafson.

As a result of several campus fires Cambridge police have asked Harvard students to quit [illegible] and to cease throwing lighted matches from dormitory windows.

Miss Mack Robertson pianist, and Mr. Schwab of the New York String Quartet, supported an guest artists in a musicale given Sunday afternoon at the Phi Delta Theta chapter house. Seventy-five guests including members of the faculty were present at the concert.

Miss Robertson, who appeared with Percy Grainger last winter in concerts, played "Country Gardens," by Percy Grainger as part of her program. She also gave imitations and impersonations of Paderewski and Pachman.

Mr. Schwab, who plays the viola with the New York String Quartet, included in his program selections by Chopin, Brahms and Schumann.

Sigma Phi Holds Dance

Sigma Phi Fraternity entertained at a tea dance at the chapter house on Saturday from 4:30 until 8 o'clock. Music was furnished by Doten's Band.

Prof. and Mrs. D. B. Carrol and Mr. E. F. Dixon and Miss Louise Bartlett were the chaperones.

U. V. M. Alumni Marriage

K. M. Stevens '31 of Boston was married to Miss Eleanor A. Beebe of Woodstock, Mass., according to a recent announcement.

Mr. Stevens is an inspector at the United Farm Bureau cream plant and is in charge of the cream furnished to the First National Stores in Boston.

K. E. L. Holds Tea

The members of K. E. L. Society were entertained at a tea at the home of Pearle Cannon '33 Sunday afternoon, from three to five.

DARTMOUTH MEN GET CONTROL OF HANOVER

Clever people those Dartmouth men, and quick to realize the power of the electorate.

When the people of Hanover, New Hampshire tried to put more money in the town coffer by passing a rule that all students must vote so that the town might collect a poll tax on them, the Dartmouth men went into a huddle to see what they could do.

They could do plenty. They found they controlled a majority of the votes so they passed some ordinances, decreed that the town of Hanover should build a town hall one foot square and one mile high. They further decreed that a wall eight miles high and one mile thick should be built around the town.

The rule requiring Dartmouth men to vote was repealed.

Village Bans Sunday Shaving

In North Carolina Fayetteville's law prohibiting a person to shave on Sunday still holds good reports Tom Ayscue colored. Long ago an ordinance was passed prohibiting barber shops on Sunday except for a number of citizens it might be open at the discretion of the chief of police or the mayor. Tom's barber protested repeal of the law but said he was willing to go to a neighbor's house to perform his essential work. Tom brought on many talk and the council consented to the board of aldermen for only on every Sunday morning closes. The board took the matter under advisement and announced a decision would be rendered later.

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies . . . the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

That package of mild Luckies

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, tho he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON

Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?

They Have Their Troubles

The 225 students of Presbyterian College here, who left the campus in June rejoicing in the decision of the board of trustees of the institution lifting the ban on dancing on the campus, are eagerly awaiting the board's reaction to the recommendation of the Presbyterian synod of South Carolina that the restriction be again placed on the students.

The synod had before it, as well, a resolution to prohibit the students from dancing anywhere and to make it a sin for members of the church in the state to dance, but this resolution was defeated.

The historic U. S. S. Constitution, well known as "Old Ironsides," now in harbor at Washington, D. C., has a post office hidden away in it, where those who wish may mail letters which will be stamped "U. S. S. Constitution—Washington, D. C." and an unofficial catchet picturing the frigate sailing closehauled with sails set. More than 500,000 letters have been mailed in this post office since the first stamp was cancelled in it September 10, 1931.

A change in the curriculum of the United States Naval Academy has been made to allow the inclusion of more cultural subjects. It was found that the curriculum was too technical.

Visitors to the world's fair at Chicago next year will be able to have their photographs taken in the dark. The fair is to set up a booth and use the newly discovered ability of the infra-red rays to make objects visible in the dark to a photographic film.

Jerane Storrs Ibershoff, Smith College student, was killed by a tramp last month while walking alone in the Swiss Alps where she had spent the summer with a younger sister.

As a further step in the reorganization of the conservatory of music at Rollins College, members of the conservatory faculty have been appointed to titles of academic rank for the first time in the history of the department.

Of the 1932 graduating class of sixty at Western Reserve University Law School last June, fifty-two passed the Ohio bar examination later in the summer. The two who received the highest grades in the bar examination were the two highest honor students at Reserve last year.

RUGG, GILLIAN TO SPEAK AT TEACHERS' CONVENTION

Eighty-third Annual Meeting of State Association to Take Place in City October 13-15

Harold Rugg, educator, and Strickland Gillian, entertainer, will be highlight [illegible] at the sessions of the eighty-third annual convention of the Vermont Education Association, which will hold its three-day program of educational conferences and [illegible] in Burlington, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 13, 14 and 15. The three-day program of educational conferences and [illegible] will be announced by officers of the association. Among other speakers on the program will be James Edward Rogers, nationally famous lecturer.

A feature of the conference will be two concerts, one presented under auspices of Prof. C. Leonard of the University Music Department, and another by the Burlington High School Girls' Glee Club [illegible] Convention Concert [illegible].

On Friday evening the All Vermont High School Orchestra, [illegible] pieces, which meets every spring at the Music Festival in Burlington, will play. The conductor is H. F. Whittlemore of Somerville, Mass. The Burlington High School Band will also assist in the program, directed by Mr. A. F. Holmes.

[illegible] of the state department, and Dr. Arthur J. Klein, specialist in rural education of the United States Office of Education, Miss Jessie Field, president of the Association, Dr. Harold Matlin Hopkins, president of Dartmouth College, Prof. Harry F. Perkins of [illegible] and Mrs. [illegible] state president [illegible] Federation of Women's Clubs, will be [illegible] stoner of Education.

Forty [illegible] and discussion will be devoted to conferences on every subject and activity from the kindergarten to the last year of high school. Each subject has a chairman and an outside speaker.

There are twenty-one different conferences scheduled beginning in the morning and continuing in the afternoon.

Mr. Rugg, who will speak at the conference, has written a series of social science text books besides investigating in other fields of education. He recently spent six months in China and the material for his talk will be drawn largely from his experiences there.

THE CALL OF THE WILD

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by Paul Bransom, America's foremost animal painter . . . inspired by the savage struggle between the ferocious wild dog and the vicious wolf . . . as described in Jack London's famous novel of combat against crude nature in the frozen north.

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies . . . the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"

That package of mild Luckies

"If a man writes a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor . . . build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON

Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?

TO PRESENT SPEAKERS OF INTERNATIONAL FAME AT VESPER SERVICES

Five Speakers of International Reputation Will Address Sunday Vesper Services in Ira Allen Chapel

SEVERAL ARE FAMILIAR TO VERMONT STUDENTS

Five speakers of international experience and reputation will address the Sunday vesper services in Ira Allen Chapel ... Universities of Vermont this year. Pro... Guy W. Bailey of the University announced today. They are the Rev. Wm. P. Shatford, pastor of the Church of St. James the Apostle, Montreal; Professor Samuel T. Dutton of Dartmouth; Dean Emeritus Charles R. Brown of Yale Divinity School; the Rev. Robert W. McLaughlin, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Rev. Lionel C. Douglas, pastor of St. James United Church, Montreal.

Canon Shatford, who will speak at the services on October 30, prepared for the Episcopal ministry at Bishop's College, Windsor, Nova Scotia, and was ordained in 1896. After serving three Nova Scotian parishes he was called to the Church of St. James the Apostle. He has been professor of Diocesan Theological College and Congregational Theological College and Fellow Governor of McGill University. During the World War Canon Shatford served for four years with Canadian troops, was mentioned in despatches and awarded the Order of the British Empire.

Doctor Joshi who will speak on Sunday, November 27, is professor of comparative religions at Dartmouth, and was the first exchange professor from India to the United States. A native of India, Doctor Joshi studied there and at Columbia University. He represented India at the International Peace Conference. In America he has delivered Carnegie Foundation lectures on peace, Earl Foundation lectures at the University of California and Rapp-Coudert lectures at the University of Cincinnati.

Dean Brown will preach on December 29. Dean of Yale Divinity School from 1911 to 1928 and Dean Emeritus since 1928, he is the author of many widely read books on religion. Among these are: "The Making of a Minister," "These Twelve," "The Art of Preaching," "The Religion of a Layman."

Doctor McLaughlin will preach on February 26. He was ordained to the Congregational ministry in 1895 and has held pastorates in Brooklyn, N. Y. from 1908 to 1921 and in Worcester, Mass. from 1921 to 1929. After returning from active service he was for a time pastor of an American church in Berlin, Germany. Doctor McLaughlin is the author

MANY FROSH COUPLES ENJOY V. C. A. MIXER

Over 150 couples made merry last Saturday evening as the melodious rhythm of Comarder's orchestra floated through the U. V. M. gym. The dance was under the auspices of the Vermont Christian Association with Stanley Custer '33 as chairman and Marie Herak '34 as assistant. In the receiving line were Professor and Mrs. L. S. Powell and Professor and Mrs. W. G. Van Note.

Only freshmen were admitted free of charge to this affair, a break the annual Freshman Dance. Upperclassmen were barred unless they wished to pay the fee, a precaution the management exercised by the V. C. A. that upperclassmen would not attempt to crash the gate but would give the freshmen a chance to get together as a class. Despite this precaution 150 set to enter the charge was made.

Alice Stevenson, upperclassman, was admitted free.

The V. C. A. will sponsor another freshman event this year for those frosh who did not attend the dance. It will be in the nature of an informal outing.

250 MOUNTAIN DAY TICKETS MUST BE SOLD TO GUARANTEE HIKE

Many Points of Interest May be Seen on Saturday October 15

As was announced in the last issue of the Cynic, Mountain Day is set for Saturday, October 15, at 250 advance tickets can be sold. These tickets are on sale at the Y. C. A. Office, the Y. W. C. A. Office and the University Store. Members of the cabinets of both men's and women's Christian organizations also have tickets.

Points of Interest

A large scale map and two men experienced in the art of climbing Mount Mansfield will be waiting for the hikers when they arrive at the Half Way House on the B. R. I. busses. The main trails will be shown to those who are unfamiliar with the lay of the land as far as Mansfield is concerned, and temporary guides will be placed at perplexing spots along the trails. As a rule the Long Trail, which runs along the top of Mansfield's ridge and all of its side trails are blazed by the Green Mountain Club, and even those who have never ascended to the Chin, the highest point in Vermont or to the Nose or anywhere on the profile, and have never looked down on the cirrus across Lake Champlain to the Adirondack range and could go as far as Mount Royal and Mount Washington will have little difficulty in finding their way about.

The route to be followed is from the Half Way House up the Old Half Way along part the Hotel and up the ... back again and along the profile over the Upper and Lower Lips and ... Pinnacle Trail to Taft Lodge, where coffee and light lunch will be served as far as is known now. From the Chin by the trail from Taft Lodge ... south and down and back to the Half Way House by the Sunset Ridge ...

The disadvantage of this route is that lunch will come too late in the afternoon. Long arrived at Taft Lodge and the observer is that one goes down Sunset Ridge and Sunset Ridge Trail. However, we may be able to serve coffee at the Hotel so that lunch will come at an earlier time, and then there will be nothing to the way for a great climb, commented R. S. Wright '33, the V. C. A. cabinet member in charge of the outing. He went on to say that a change had been made in the arrangement for lunch. The price for bus transportation both ways will be the same, $1.00, but the hiker will be able to buy a ticket for either a complete light lunch, or for coffee alone.

In case of bad weather that Saturday classes will be held just the same, and money will be refunded to those who have purchased tickets.

LONG LIST OF FROSH TURN OUT FOR CYNIC WORK

Thirty-one freshmen, sixteen men and fifteen women answered the call for Cynic scrubs last week. There is still opportunity for several more freshmen to try out for the board. At the meeting held last Monday in room one, North College, the editor-in-chief gave preliminary instructions in the principles of news writing to the assembled group of scrubs and divided them into two groups. Members of the first group will report for work every Friday and members of the second group will take their assignments on Tuesday.

This year's list of scrubs is longer than in years past and a larger number will compete for the nine positions open to members of the class of 1934. Elections will be made at a later date based upon the quality and quantity of the scrubs' work and upon an exam given by the editor in chief.

Frosh Scrubs

Lyndes Ide, Ruth Barton, Mildred Perrin, John Caldwell, Charlotte Davis, Dorothy Hooper, Margaret Hoyt, Jessie Hendrickson, Robert Farrar, Edward Bates, Catherine Mahoney, Lowell Thomas, Arthur Meredith, Eleanor Rose, Esther Sweetser, Lowell Speed, Helen Welch and Mary Skinner.

Tuesday's assignment: Alice Brownell, Pauline Cassidy, Eugene Downey, Raymond Greenacre, Elizabeth Hoyt, Jessie Hooper, Hyman Kaplan, Orson Lee, Jr., John Leach, Delaware Marsland, Maurice Piper, Albert Robbins, William Scott, Rodney Tetrault and Ruth Wright.

Eleven Groups of Freshmen Make Rounds of Fraternities

All Houses are Fully Lighted for Most Strenuous Rushing Year—No New Radical Changes in System

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB MEMBERSHIP NUMBERS SIXTY-FIVE VOICES

Larger Number this Year than Last Under Direction of Prof. C. Leonard Rehearse for Coming Programs

LARGE NUMBER TURN OUT FOR MEN'S GLEE CLUB

Sixty-five women form the membership of the Women's Glee Club, larger than it was last year. There are sixteen first sopranos, twenty-second sopranos, fifteen first altos, and fifteen second altos. They had their first rehearsal of the year last Wednesday in the Music Building under the directorship of Professor Clair Leonard. Mr. Leonard brought out several songs that might be used, and the club tried them over. Thirty-one of the sixty-five are freshmen.

As with the Men's Glee Club, tryout trials will be held and quartets are to be formed to aid in the practice. These quartets will not be selected by Mr. Leonard, but may be formed in any way the women see fit as long as they join with one person of each part. First concert will be November 20.

Men Hold First Rehearsal

Twenty-six men turned out for the first rehearsal of the year. Men's Glee Club last Thursday at the Music Building only five were absent. Due to the largest number to attend a glee club rehearsal of the men for two years. There are twelve tenors.

The men rehearsed three songs which are being considered for use by the club and Professor Clair Leonard has also directed the rehearsal explained plans for the coming year. He asked the boys to form quartet among themselves and practice or not at this time, but for further tryouts at a future date. He also announced trials for accompanists for the Glee Club and requested everyone who could play the piano at all to try out saying that two, three and perhaps four accompanists were wanted.

Women's Glee Club

MORE WOMEN LIVE IN DORMITORIES THIS YEAR

An announcement from the dean's office states that there is a larger number of women than usual living in College dormitories, as compared with a smaller number in private homes. Dean Hoyt, in charge of the housing of all college women, says that she is encouraged and inspired that all college women and girls in college dormitories believe living. The number of women living in dormitories is relatively responsible than the same from year to year, as does the number of women living in private homes.

This year there are one hundred and two girls living in dormitories as compared with one hundred and twenty-four last year at this time. Of the total number of women living in dormitories this year, one hundred and seventy-one are living in private homes.

RUSHING RULES TO BE FAITHFULLY OBSERVED

Last night ushered in the first of the Open House nights at fraternity houses on the 1932-33 rushing season. The freshman class was divided into eleven groups which visited the fraternities according to schedule. The opening night brought forth a large number of freshmen and on the whole most of the men followed the schedule faithfully. A new schedule has been adopted by the Interfraternity Council for this season, and freshmen are asked to read it carefully as it has been revised from the schedule printed in an earlier edition of the Cynic.

The new rules for the rushing season of 1932-33 are as follows:

RUSHING RULES

1. Beginning with the first day of the rushing season, all freshmen shall report to the Dean of Women's office for registration. Freshmen who do not register will not be permitted to participate in rushing.

2. Freshmen may not receive bids to fraternities before the first day of the rushing season.

3. Freshmen may not receive bids to fraternities before they have been in residence at the University for one week.

4. Freshmen may not receive bids to fraternities before they have been in residence at the University for one week.

5. Freshmen may not receive bids to fraternities before they have been in residence at the University for one week.

FRATERNITIES

[illegible] of the men's [illegible] Today and for the next [illegible] will be faced with the problem of seeking a [illegible] for some this [illegible] while for others the problem presents [illegible] be solved in a night. While the season [illegible] and there are many more exciting nights the time [illegible] so near at hand the freshmen should take advantage of [illegible] the character of the fraternities from the very beginning. The problem presents itself individually and likewise it must be [illegible]

It is impossible to generalize successfully upon the subject of [illegible] upon the principles involved in the choice of fraternity affiliation. We can only offer a few suggestions.

[illegible] a fraternity or not is a matter of personal [illegible] It is the problem which each freshman must consider [illegible] Of course it is well to accept advice, [illegible] but it is well also to consider carefully the origin of the advice. If it is [illegible] a confirmed man it is likely to be prejudiced as well as that from [illegible] a non-fraternity man. If the fraternity man advises you to stay out, [illegible] it may mean that he unfortunately made an unhappy choice at one time or another. Whereas, if a non-fraternity man advises you to go fraternity it is possible that he made the opposite [illegible] while all such advice is good it [illegible] "Taken with a grain of salt." Thus the first problem presents itself for the personal opinion of each individual of the class of 1936.

Secondly we should advise the freshmen not to jump at hasty conclusions. The one purpose of the Inter-fraternity Council is to guard against such mistakes. The Council is out to protect the individual freshman from making rash movements and it deserves credit for that. Therefore it is necessary to consider each house carefully. Look for the things that you deem worthy of a college fraternity. Each fraternity has its advantages for certain classes. Make sure that you select the fraternity in the right class. Make certain that there are men whom you can respect and upon whom you can rely; men who have interests and ideals in common with your own cherished ideals; men with whom you can study and depend upon for advice; men with whom you can feel companionship and revere as brothers for, after all, these men are the men with whom you must stay through the remainder of your college career.

Although the time is short, such decisions do not have to be made in haste and, furthermore, should not be so made. A single visit may quickly eliminate a house from the list, but be certain not to make rash movements for which you may be sorry.

Again, do not make your decision mainly from exterior appearances, but go below the surface where the real facts of fraternity life are resting. Further, do not decide merely upon the basis of national or local merits, since both have deserving contributions. Likewise a fine house is by no means a standard of determination. It may denote wealth, or age but neither is a determining factor in ranking college fraternities. Often a less pretentious house may develop a far finer class of men with whom any should be proud to associate.

Finally, it is not the house, the college standing, or the wealth with which you must decide, but rather the type or class of college students with whom you are to spend the rest of your college days that should be your guide in your final choice of a particular fraternity. Much depends upon this in regard to your success—not only in college affairs, but also when you get out into life.

REALTUS MCCUIN.

COLLEGE SPIRIT

A decade or more of years ago, a strong Notre Dame team was scheduled to play a very weak opponent in an early season game. The Notre Dame men, confident of success, traveled blithely to the smaller university, but by some queer turn of fate, they were vanquished by the admittedly inferior eleven by a 16 to 10 score. Not wishing to return by daylight that Saturday afternoon on the planned train, where everyone would see them, the Fighting Irish team revised their plans and boarded a train which got into South Bend at three o'clock Sunday morning. They planned to sneak to their boarding place unseen by anyone in an attempt to live down the disgrace of their defeat.

Arriving in South Bend by the early morning train, the weary and discouraged team found the town dark and gray. They stepped off on the platform and the train pulled out leaving a shamed bunch of athletes in the cold dawn. Suddenly, the station lights were flashed on! A mighty cheer rent the air! From out of the station came the entire Notre Dame student body and against a mighty cheer reverberated through the small town. The students were proud of their team even though they had suffered defeat.

It was on this occasion Knute Rockne, United States' most famous coach of football, made his famous quotation: "To Notre Dame will I give my services to the end of my days." Thus we have a rousing exhibition of college spirit—one that should pervade every student at the University of Vermont. Will it ever be that way here?

He was born in Philadelphia, January 24, 1909, and graduated from the Brooklyn Preparing High School in Brooklyn, N. Y. He enrolled at Vermont with the class of 1932 in the Commerce and Engineering course.

Traynor, a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity would have played his third year at second base in the spring of 1931. While in college he attained a hitting average of .235 during his last season, and participated in every minute of every game. He was high scorer in the 1931 interfraternity touch football tournament.

The Traynor Trophy will not be kept in permanent possession by any fraternity, but will rotate from year to year to the winner. Sigma Phi was last year's winner, with Alpha Tau Omega as runner up. This year, the cup will be awarded at the Memorial game in the spring of 1933.

A Correction

Poor grammatical construction was the source of much comment in the article concerning the spring Dartmouth-Vermont contest in last Tuesday's CYNIC. In the next to the paragraph the second sentence should have read "The Dartmouth lads are saving the new mode of attack for the University of Vermont game." By the looks of the score the Big Green should have used their new stuff last Saturday.

Touch Football Series Begins Next Friday

Ten Teams Are Listed to Fight For Title and First Athletic Points for Traynor Cup

The University of Vermont touch football schedule has been announced by the Physical Education department. Archie Post, who is director of intramural athletics, is in charge of this fall's annual event. The first game will be held on Friday, October 7, between Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Tau Epsilon Phi fraternities. In league A, Alpha Tau Omega will meet the Independents on October 11. Lambda Iota will play Zeta Chi on October 14, while Delta Psi will meet the winner of the latter contest.

In League B, Phi Sigma Delta will play Kappa Sigma in the first game on October 10. In the second game of the League B schedule Phi Mu Delta will contest Sigma Delta on Monday, October 17. Sigma Phi, last year's champs, will play the winner of the latter match on Monday, October 24.

Freddy Tupper, Frankie Bush and Percy Billings who were the stars of last season's championship Sigma Phi team are not back again for this year's team. The Sig team has been very materially weakened by the loss of these men. Alpha Tau Omega, last year's runner up, has a fairly strong team this year. Sigma Alpha Epsilon, which had a very strong outfit last year, is somewhat weakened this year by the loss of Mercier. All games will be played on the back campus and will be started at 4.00 p.m. sharp. The final game will be played early in November.

From Other Papers

New York Herald-Tribune

Hanover, N. H., Oct. 1.—Dartmouth ran into a surprise package this afternoon in the form of a well-coached team from Vermont, which troubled the Dartmouth varsity for the major part of the game and held them to a 32 to 0 score.

Dartmouth scored six times, but five of the touchdowns were the result of either a long run or a blocked kick, or directly attributable to penalties.

Springfield Union

Hanover, N. H., Oct. 1—(AP)—Vermont offered strenuous resistance for two periods today but cracked in the last two and bowed to Dartmouth's high-powered Indians, 32 to 0.

Boston Post

Hanover, N. H., Oct. 1—Dartmouth encountered a stubborn little foe in the University of Vermont here today and until the last period was forced to the limit to gain a 32-0 triumph.

KELLEY FORGOT HIS NOTE OF INTRODUCTION

The crowd had its first laugh when Ed Kelley, leading Boston College quarterback had to return to the bench for a note for the referee. Under the present system at the Hoopla a substitute must take a panel carrier a paper bearing the player number and position of the player's name, number and position of the player he replaces. After racing onto the field in the second quarter, Kelley turned and ran back to the bench, where he picked up the note and returned.

CAT'S MEOW

—Sports Editor—

Congratulations to the players and coaches for running such an impressive showing at Hanover last Saturday.

From every corner we hear praise even though the Catamounts trailed 32 to 0. Evidently the point which we have been attempting to stress all fall namely that scores and coaxy should not be handed to visitors alone has been driven home.

Our sympathy at the entire CYNIC staff is extended to Dave Behringer, who suffered a broken leg as a result of the game.

One of the most encouraging results of the Dartmouth game appeared in the press reports, all of which characterized the Catamounts as a well coached hard fighting team which outtackled the Big Green.

Such reports have a great deal of value, both to students and alumni, who have not heard such characterizations of a Catamount grid machine for several years.

Saturday surely was a great day for the underdogs with Bates, Boston University, Bowdoin, and William and Mary all having their day.

Providence, the team which appears here next Saturday, did well in playing Holy Cross to a 26 to 6 score. O'Keefe, the Friars fullback, will be the man to stop.

The frosh, opening their season against Green Mt. Junior College, came back after a slow start, to play their heavier rivals on even terms during the last half.

We also extend our sympathy to Red Negis, acting Kitten captain, who suffered a badly fractured leg above the ankle during the closing minutes of play.

Although the frosh did not look too impressive in their game Saturday, Coach Levine has two weeks in which to get his charges in shape for the game with St. Lawrence University yearlings.

Those who saw Coach Jack Heffernan's Green Mt. Juniors in action were very favorably impressed with their showing. Their heavy line and fast backfield should take them quite a ways this season.

28 MAJOR LETTER MEN ARE BACK THIS YEAR

Only One Three-letter Man Included in Recent Survey of Green and Gold Sport Veterans

A recent survey on the campus reveals that there are twenty-eight varsity letter men at the University of Vermont this year. There is only one man who has garnered a letter in three different sports, but several have letters in two different sports. There are no four letter men here this year. Of the twenty-eight men, twelve are from Vermont; seven hail from Connecticut; five are from New York; Massachusetts claims two; with Maine and New Hampshire one each.

In football there are Larry Bowers '34 from Southington, Conn.; B. B. Blodgett '33, from Pittsford; Thomas Collins '33, from West Hartford, Conn.; Jackson Morgan '34, from Burlington; Jesse Rust '36M, from Burlington; Max Powell '34 from Burlington; Norman Perry '33 from St. Albans; Edward Saba '34, from Wilmington, Conn.; William Bedell '33, from Flushing, N. Y.; Joe Delfausse '34, from Rockville Center, N. Y.; Andy Wesoly '34 from New Britain, Conn.; George Rapuano '35 from New Haven, Conn.; Fred Wagner '34, from Plainville, Conn.; Chester Lafe '33, from Essex Junction; James Wood '33, from Belmont, Mass. and Spud Farmer '33 from Sherman Station, Me. In other words there are fourteen football lettermen in college this fall several of whom are under warning and are not able to play.

In basketball the second of the major letter sports there are seven lettermen back for another year at the team. They are Lindsley Morgan '34, Chester Lafe '34; Ed Saba '34; Tom Collins '33, who repeat from football and John Beckley '34, from Great Neck, N. Y.; Mike

An Old Grad Wild Over Indian Game

A certain doctor, whose name is unobtainable who graduated in the 80's, was quite aroused by the game at Hanover last Saturday afternoon. He is quoted as saying in regard to the valiant contested Dartmouth-Vermont grid battle. "I have attended almost all the big Dartmouth games here at Hanover and I have watched most of the big Vermont games and I have been pleasantly surprised. For the past three years having the undersized players such as Cassels Buck and that gang I have seen a Vermont football team fight together so wonderfully and harmoniously as they did today. In my opinion that is the best Vermont team that has ever been put on a field."

Varsity Cross Country Men Run In Trials

Woodruff, Ineligible, First; Harwood, Second; White, Third in Friday Run

The varsity harriers had their first time trial last Friday afternoon. They ran a somewhat circuitous course of about two and one-half miles length. John Woodruff '34, an ineligible and one of last year's best men was the first man in the time trials to finish. Cliff Harwood '34 was close behind Woodruff and after him came Dustin White '35, Carl Rogers '35, Roy Brooks '34, Ralph Hadley '33, Philip Hebb '35 and Charles Howe '35 finished in that order. The time was not exceptionally fast because the brisk afternoon air necessitated the wearing of sweat shirts and part. Woodruff's time was about fifteen minutes.

The course starts on the back campus up past Morrill Hall, out on the Williston Road, along East Avenue to the back road to Centennial Field. At the field, the men made a turn around the track and came out to East Avenue again to Colchester Avenue. From Colchester Avenue the boys went up the long hill in front of the hospital on the Hospital Drive, and then between the hospital buildings back on the road near Converse Hall.

The Kitten harriers also had a workout on the short course. Coach Ludlum timed his men in. Suitor came in first followed by Agnew and by Dalsault. The short course is about three miles long.

T. C. A. Defeats Kittens, 12-2 In Fall Opener

Negis Injured in One of Last Plays of Game After Starring Throughout Entire Contest

POOR OFFICIATING MARS WELL-FOUGHT BATTLE

...Conference Academy traveled ...Burlington to overpower the Ver... Freshman team by a 12-2 score ...Centennial Field last Saturday ...noon. The game was close and well contested throughout. In fact the northern school had the edge over the more college team during the entire second half. Both of the latter's touchdowns came in the first half, after the teams were just getting used to each other's style of playing.

The first tally came when T. C. A. blocked a Kitten punt and marched the ball down the field for their first score. The touchdown came when Petrocka carried off left end for 3 yards and a touchdown. T. C. A. missed the extra point when their kick went wild. A Vermont fumble a little later was the cause of the second touchdown. Rossi went around left end to make a first down on the second play. He went to Vermont's 2 yard line. After no gain for two downs, Rossi tore around right end for a distance of 10 yards. The touchdown came a little while later when Rossi went through left tackle.

The second half opened auspiciously enough for Vermont when they completed a long 25 yard pass. However, the referee penalized Vermont for moving after the whistle was blown. The penalty put a lot of fight in the team and it probably would have been just the best for the mentioned offside to be just been in the way of one of the plunging backs. Vermont kicked to T. C. A. who fumbled the ball to Vermont. The Kittens did not have enough power to drive through the strong T. C. A. defense and relinquished the ball on downs. The green college boys started an offensive drive that was stopped when they were penalized 5 yards of half the distance to their goal line.

Vermont's chance to score came when Morrill blocked a T. C. A. punt and Brooks Vermont's 9 on the ball. Back on the goal line but immediately punted. T. C. A. took advantage of the fumble and fell on the ball. It is still a question in the minds of many whether the play should have been ruled a touchdown for Vermont or whether it should have been ruled a safety as it was ruled. The ball was carried back and forth across the field, first to Vermont's possession and then to T. C. A. In the very last play of the game Red Negis broke his leg above the ankle. His playing throughout the game earned him no little acclaim from the onlookers.

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

ERNEST JOHNSON, TENOR, WILL APPEAR AT CHAPEL SERVICES WEDNESDAY

Negro Singer to Present Half Hour Program of Spirituals and Sacred Music

Ernest Johnson, negro spiritual singer, who presented a musical program at the University last year, will appear in the Ira Allen Chapel, Wednesday morning, October 12. Roland Hayes, interna... ...singer, once said of Mr. John... son: "He is the greatest and best negro spiritual singer of modern times."

Mr. Johnson during the half hour chapel period will explain the develop... ment of the spiritual and conduct the services without the aid of the choir.

Last December Mr. Johnson attracted a large audience to the chapel at which time he explained the origin and history of the songs that he presented. Among the numbers he sang were, "Steal Away To Jesus," a selection expressive of American Negro life in the cotton fields following the slave insurrection; "Swing Low Sweet Chariot," which carries with it the traditional customs of certain Negro tribes who would place the body of their chieftain in a boat letting it drift on the falls of some river; "Crucifixion"; "Go Down Moses, Way Down in Egypt's Land," and "Were You There When You Crucified My Lord."

Toured Country

During the past year Mr. Johnson has been conducting a successful tour of the entire country. Three years ago Mr. Johnson appeared at the Vermont State Conference of Congregational churches in St. Johnsbury. Rev. William F. Frazier, secretary of the Vermont Congregational Conference says of him: "Members and visiting guests of the Vermont Congregational Conference in St. Johnsbury were delighted with Ernest Johnson's interpretation of the Negro spirituals and other sacred music. He was with us for three days and his popularity grew with each appearance. We felt that we became well acquainted with him and it would be fair to say that those who heard him were as much impressed by his winsome, happy personality as by his excellent singing."

Mr. Johnson is a native of Massachusetts. He has studied with the internationally known tenor, Roland Hayes, also with Mr. Hayes' accompanist, Percival Parkham.

Y. W. C. A. HOLDS VESPER SERVICES AT REDSTONE

Redstone Dormitory was the scene of a vespers service sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Mrs. Pollard as the speaker gave the girls many suggestions for the better enjoyment of a college course.

Dana Putnam '34, president of Y. W. C. A. was in charge of the service and was assisted by the other members of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet who are Marion Horan '34, vice-president; Susan Farmer '35, secretary; Eunice Dow '35, treasurer; Rachel Cassidy '33, chairman of conference; Caroline Morse '33, chairman of social service; Cecilia Carson '33, chairman of social service. During the course of the evening Mary Wilson '35 gave several piano solos and Marion Mayer '34 played a piano solo. Hymns were sung and a prayer was offered by Mrs. Pollard. After the close of the service the girls toasted marshmallows around the fireplace.

Vermont Doctors Hear American Medic Head At Annual Meeting

Dr. Edward H. Cory of Dallas, Texas, Speaks at 119th Gathering of State Medical Society

BEECHER HAS CHARGE OF EVENING BANQUET

Dr. Edward H. Cory of Dallas, Texas, president of the American Medical Association, addressed the 119th annual meeting of the Vermont State Medical Society held yesterday morning in the Medical College. Doctor Cory spoke, also, last evening at the banquet given by the Ethan Allen Club house. Speakers from Montreal, Boston and Washington, D. C. were also included in the program.

Dr. L. J. Rogers, president of the Vermont society, called the meeting to order at nine o'clock yesterday morning. Prayer was offered by Rev. Skidmore Mayo, pastor of the Unitarian Church. He was followed by Dean J. N. Jenne who gave the address of welcome. Reports of committees and officers were next presented.

Varied Program

At the banquet held last evening Dr. C. H. Beecher was in charge of the varied program. Following Doctor Rogers' response to the toast, talks were given by Mr. Andrew M. Young of Burlington. The Doctor From The Business Mans Viewpoint. Mr. M. L. Powell, The Doctor From The Lawyers' Viewpoint. Dr. A. W. Hastings of Plainfield represented the clergy with his address, "The Doctor From The Minister's Viewpoint" and Dr. Edward Cory of Dallas, Texas spoke for the medical profession, closing the contributions, "The Doctor From The Doctor's Viewpoint."

Other talks presented at the morning session were given by Dr. Albert M. Crane of Bridgewater on the subject "Diagnosis and Treatment of Trigeminal Neuralgia"; Dr. Charles Armstrong, surgeon United States Public Health Service, Washington, D. C.; Dr. Richard B. Cottell, surgeon Fahey Clinic, Boston and Pres. E. H. Cory of the American Medical Association.

President Rogers opened the meeting Thursday afternoon with the President's Address and was followed by speakers who presented papers. They included Dr. Edward D. Churchill, professor of surgery at Harvard Medical School, and Dr. Donald S. King, chief of the Pulmonary Clinic of the Massachusetts General Hospital.

Meeting Today

At the opening of today's meeting following the reports of the House of Delegates, a symposium will be held on the subject of "Obstetrics." The speakers will be Dr. Jean Y. Patrick, associate in gynecology and obstetrics, Royal Victoria Hospital of Montreal; Dr. James W. Duncan, clinical professor of obstetrics, McGill University, Montreal; Dr. Gerald C. Mulhado, associate in obstetrics and gynecology, Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal; and Dr. Herbert M. Little, professor of obstetrics, McGill

I. R. Club Sponsors College Poll on Presidential Issue

Will be Held in Coöperation With Cynic News Department; Ballots to be Printed in Publication, Checked off and Collected in Box Placed in Old Mill. Results to be Released Simultaneously with those of Other Colleges

SALISBURY DISCUSSES CONFLICTING STRUGGLE

Says Inner Division, Result of Battle Between Flesh and Soul

"There comes a time in each of our lives when we are divided against ourselves," declared the Rev. C. C. Salisbury of Barton in chapel Wednesday.

"This division is the result of a struggle between the longings of the flesh and highest desires of the soul. The fact that we only partially understand the world in which we live makes us more confused.

"If we satisfy our desires we are disloyal to the best in us and if we are loyal to a friend we may be neglecting our duty to mankind.

"Jesus tells us that to be happy we must 'Seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness.' The only way to seek happiness is through righteousness.

"The great problem is not what is right but how to do the right thing. The first thing is to realize that we need direction and that God is within our realm and not something we are unable to reach." Rev. C. C. Salisbury's advice was that Jesus be the guide in this matter. That in looking to Jesus and following His direction one will have gone the way of righteousness and will have attained happiness."

DAILY PRINCETONIAN TAKES LEAD IN PROJECT

In cooperation with the Cynic News Department the International Relations Club will sponsor a campus-wide poll to determine the presidential choice of the Vermont undergraduates. Ballots will be published in the forthcoming issues of the Cynic and they will be collected and counted in a ballot box to be set up in the Old Mill.

The ballot will be taken in cooperation with the movement being sponsored by The Daily Princetonian, daily news organ of Princeton University at Princeton, N. J. The composite nation-wide results as collected by the newspapers of leading universities and colleges will be released simultaneously, each paper publishing them following the printing of the announcement of its own individual results.

Of Local Interest

According to officials of the I. R. Club the ballot is a direct outgrowth of increasing undergraduate interest in political affairs, both in national and international scope.

In a statement issued today S. Nathan Sperle '33, President of the International Relations Club, declared:

"The participation in this national political poll and the interpretations backed by presidential appointees have been so extensively featured on the public at large that every student should be thoroughly acquainted with them. This poll is an opportunity that we would all like to see and have our real thinking along national lines.

"Maine went Democratic, Wisconsin put a monkey wrench in the Lafollette machine, 1924 is all we what the Democrats at Vermont will do."

The Princetonian, commenting on the desirability of united student action on the poll says:

"The views of undergraduate opinion should prove far more effective than the same number of poll taken independently and at different times. It will constitute not only a striking accumulation of student votes through undergraduate newspaper cooperation, but also an interesting reflection of national and perhaps personal political trends in undergraduate circles.

"At various collegiate institutions political discussion is assuming the form of debates, student forums and stump oratory. Political speakers sent direct to the colleges are exhorting student support for their respective candidates. In other schools the lecture committees and administrative heads are substituting political campaigners for the usual lecture speakers. Letters from the respective national committees have been distributed urging formation of Republican, Democratic, Socialist and Communist clubs. Many such clubs have been organized and according to press releases are exerting tremendous influence on undergraduate thought and local trends in politics.

Campus Prophets

Several campus leaders at U. V. M. have issued unofficial statements on the possible outcome of the Vermont poll, the majority of student commentators prophesying a Republican landslide. [illegible] ...and a change is always for the better.

Reporter Visits Photographer at Work in Fleming Museum Studio

Makes Acquaintance of George, Ariel Artist from White's Studios Who Discusses Technique of Picture Taking and Psychology He Uses

F. I. H.

When the rumor churned through to the Cynic office that there was a man working down in the basement of the Fleming Museum who, in his own field, was famous and who had some interesting things to say, a wait was taken at all speed to interview him. After a short search and considerable bewilderment in a place heavily populated with mummies, we found the man we were looking for. He was George, Ariel artist from White's studios, who is taking the pictures for the Ariel. He has a merry twinkle in a rabbit-punch mustache and a smile as if [illegible]

In a recent Ice last week at Colgate University football games of the past were being recalled when the subject of the 1926 Navy game was brought up. In this particular game Colgate was leading 7-6 and their fullback had just plunged over the goal line with what he thought was the winning touchdown but he fumbled the ball and a Navy man ran 99 yards to a touchdown and victory for the Midshipmen. An observer at the game stated that he had seen practically every game on Farragut Field and he had never seen a Navy team so badly outplayed.

After the fourth day of registration at the University of Kentucky figures showed that the freshman enrollment was off approximately 113 from last year. The total enrollment is expected to be 2,500.

Ouch! Mr operation

This seems to be the battle cry at the University of Kentucky where three embryo surgeons are working diligently to discover some means of telling the sex of a garter snake. Nine snakes arrived at the University this summer. One already has been offered in the interests of science while the other eight still survive. It has been decided after many consultations that the sex of snakes cannot be determined except by means of fatal vivisection.

The Color Scheme

"And is make-up important in pictures like these?" interrupted the reporter.

"Make-up is very important. Some girls know how to put make-up on, and some do not. When they don't know how, it is terrible. When they do, it makes a lot of difference. By the way, do you know, if I could take some of the girls of this University and have them [illegible] on the back of cards I would be [illegible] to get [illegible] types. HARVARD MAN'S DIARY POPULAR AT WELLESLEY

WELLESLEY, Oct. 6—A very complete diary, lost on the campus by none other than a Harvard young man is giving the rounds at Wellesley College.

In several instances the writer launched into words of wisdom. Two quotations read "If you want to be original saturate yourself with facts" and "There is no shorter path to prominence than the path that leads home."

That the keeper of the diary has felt the wave of economy is evidenced by an entry recording the purchase of a 5-cent ice cream cone.

BOSTON UNIVERSITY MEN PARTIAL TO BRUNETTE; THEY PREFER HER DUMB

Money Means Nothing in Young Lives of Majority of Prospective Husbands at College of Business Administration; Not Looking for Dowries

SOME RUN TRUE TO FORM

By the Boston Post

Money means nothing in the young eyes of most of the prospective husbands at Boston University's College of Business Administration and as for blondes they are most distinctly taboo. HILL AND DALERS RUN AGAINST AMHERST MEN IN TOMORROW'S MEET

Lord Jeffmen Have a Difficult Four and One-half Mile Course Which Cats Must Run Over

The Green and Gold varsity cross-country team leaves this afternoon for the first meet of the season to be held at Amherst tomorrow, October 8 with the Lord Jeff harriers.

The men are all in good shape for the meet, with a few minor exceptions. Some of the boys have incurred blisters and stone bruises in the week's training, but have taken good care of them and are eager to run against the Sabrinas. Very good time has been made over the four and a half mile course during the week. The course at Amherst is about the same length, and is considered by many harriers as a difficult run. It is very hard to run over unless a man is used to it.

Although the men who were making the trip had not been definitely announced at the time this issue went to press, nevertheless it is safe to assume that Capt. Roy Brooks '33, Ralph Hadley '33, Cliff Harwood '34, Dustin White '35, Carl Rogers '35, Dick Hurley '35 and George Ranslow '35 will be the ones to uphold the honor of the University in the cross-country field.

Brooks, Hadley and Harwood are the only veterans on the team this year. They ran over the difficult Amherst course. White, Rogers and Hurley were on the 1935 team. Ranslow is a new man developed this year. The team as a whole is for the most part untried material, as far as varsity competition goes. In addition tomorrows meet with the Amherst hill and dalers is the first meet of the season over a strange course. If the men win in tomorrows run it is safe to assume they will take over Middlebury for the state title again this year.

The Green and Gold cross-country men oppose the Williams team in two weeks at Williamstown, Mass. Only one meet is scheduled for the Catamounts home course and that is with the Connecticut Aggie bunch. The final and most important meet of the season of course will be the contest with the Middlebury harriers at Middlebury.

AMHERST

Charging through the varsity line on every other play, the Amherst freshmen put up a creditable showing against Coach Jordan's Lord Jeff varsity in the first scrimmage held between these teams as the drive for the Union contest continued. Using almost a first string line but reserve ball carriers, Jordan had the varsity advance the ball the length of the field several times as hard charging and blocking was stressed.

Baylor University will put its football team on the field this year with something new in the way of equipment. They will wear green knitted football pants and we presume, will have a staff of expert crocheters on the sidelines ready for all emergencies.

CAT'S MEOW

SPORTS EDITOR—

Coach John Barker Catamounts ran up against more stiff opposition tomorrow when they meet Providence.

Dropping a 26-6 game to Holy Cross last week after tying their season's opener with Rutgers 6-6, the Friars will be out to break out the winning column.

According to press reports Providence like Vermont looked far better in its setback to Holy Cross than the score would indicate, two of the Crusaders touchdowns coming as results of intercepted passes.

Providence has a powerful line, in Coach O'Keefe an all around performer who tackles with the best in New England small college circles.

Interfraternity touch football competition opens up this week with the Sigma Phi's champs for the past two seasons, favored to repeat.

Coach Archie Post takes his harriers to Amherst today, where they open their season against a veteran Sabrina team tomorrow afternoon.

With several veterans again working under his tutelage, the Catamounts are expected to have another successful year.

NEW HAMPSHIRE

The University of New Hampshire football team showed a noticeable improvement in the handling of assignments and the carrying out of plays Tuesday night at the end of a two-hour scrimmage in which members of the first four teams took part. As in the Boston University game, the first team failed to sustain their drives with the consistency sought for by the coaching staff, but all in all, the Blue and White eleven looked better than at any time in the past two weeks.

With an important shake-up in the personnel of the first team promised by Head Coach Bill Cowell before the Wildcats enter the Harvard stadium tomorrow, competition for positions is at a high pitch. George Sousanne and Ken McKeever look strong at the pivot post, but the work of Don Dunnan, regular center in the Boston University game, was outstanding and therefore he will probably get the starting call Saturday. Virge Corti and Bill Penn, relief guards, are pushing Connie Morin and Wes Haynes, but lack the experience which would rate them as first string material.

BOWDOIN COLLEGE

A defense against forward passes was the subject of close study on the part of Bowdoin College football players and coaches at the practice Tuesday afternoon. Bowdoin having exhibited a bad weakness in that line during the game with Massachusetts State last Saturday.

Considerable time was also spent in studying the plays used by Williams in anticipation of Saturday's game. This afternoon Thurston B. Sumner '34 of Somerville, Mass., a promising back who was injured during season practice, returned to the squad and Dave Mean '33, of Omaha, Neb., a veteran varsity sub of last season, also reported for practice.

NAT SPILLER ADVANCES IN FALL GOLF TOURNEY

Nathan Spiller '35 advanced two rounds in the fall golf tournament played on the Waterbury Golf Club. During the first two weeks of play ten first round matches and two second round bouts were completed. Spiller's victories included one over Lawrence Fontanella '35 medic and a difficult quarterfinal contest with Earl Hart '35. F. H. Woodruff '34 defeated L. A. Hart '36 two and three. R. E. Hart '35 later commented by Spiller conquered R. D. Passumpsic '35 four and three. L. N. Beckelman '36 beat F. J. Churchill '35 four and three. C. L. Brown '34 won from W. F. Leonard '34 by default.

COMPETITION FOR NET CHAMPIONSHIP HELD UP BY RAIN AND WETNESS

Six Matches Completed by Contestants for University Tennis Title

Rain and wet courts interfered with the completion of the first-round matches in the annual fall tennis tournament at the University of Vermont. Four of the first-round matches and two of the second-round bouts had been completed up to the time of printing. The most fiercely contested match was between Art Blakey '34 and Oliver Eastman '35 played on Monday afternoon. The scores were 6-4, 1-6 and 8-6 in favor of the latter contestant. The players were somewhat handicapped by the advent of darkness in the third and last set of the match.

Watty Morgan '35 medic was advanced to the second round by default on a victory over Harold Spear '34 by scores of 6-1, 6-1. In the third first-round match of the upper half of the tournament, Atwood Hardin took the measure of Chester Buchanan 6-2, 6-1. In the lower half of the annual competition for the Lawrence cup, Nat Wells decisively defeated Bob Bristol '36 by the scores 6-4 6-1. Both Hatch Wilson and Norman Myers members of last year's state champion tennis team have reached their way into the quarter final round of the tournament championship matches. Both Myers and Wilson drew byes for the first round and all the seeded players. Myers defeated Bob Eaton '36, 6-2, 6-2, while Wilson eliminated Bob DuPlessis '35 6-1, 6-4.

AT B. U.

Bernard Bloom was the outstanding star of the second annual field day of the Boston University School of Education Wednesday afternoon at Nickerson Field, Riverside. Besides cleaning up most of the dash events he ran on the School of Education winning relay team and placed third in novelty quarter-mile event.

LEVINE LETS FRESHMAN GRIDSTERS REST AFTER DIFFICULT T. C. A. GAME

Negus, Only Man Not Able to Return to Wednesday Workout; Out for Remainder of Season

STRONG CANTON TEAM NEXT ON FROSH LIST

Coach Burkman Reputed to Have Numerous Prep School Stars on His 1936 Team—St. Lawrence 1935 Took Measure of Vermont 1935 Last Year

Following their difficult tussle with the Tech Conference Academy eleven last Saturday the Cotton gridsters took a short rest from practice on Monday and Tuesday so that they might unlimber several lame muscles and catch up on studies.

Fred Negus, who broke his leg in the Green Mountain Junior College game, is around on crutches. Nevertheless he will be unable to play any more this year. With that one exception, Wednesday's practice found the still peppy frosh football men at it hard in getting ready for the St. Lawrence freshman game on Saturday, October 15. Judging from football history in the past the freshmen will have a tougher game on their hands with the Canton boys than they had with T. C. A.

It was last year's powerful St. Lawrence frosh team which conquered the 1935 team by a 3-0 tally. The St. Lawrence men were the only ones to score on the University of Vermont yearling grid team last year during an otherwise successful schedule. From all reports Coach Burkman has just as strong an eleven this season, having many formidable prep school stars on his team's roster this fall.

Although Saturday's game with T. C. A. resulted in defeat, Coach Levine obtained some valuable information that will enable him to smooth over some of the rough spots and make some adjustments which will prove helpful for the rest of the season's games. Levine has his eye set for a victory in the Middlebury contest which would give the Cotton the state championship.

The loss of Negus, one of the star men on the offensive and defensive plays, will handicap the team quite a little. However the loss may be in some manner recompensed by the addition of Kenneth Marcoux, former prep school star at North Adams, Mass., to the Cotton squad. The men obtained some valuable experience in their initial encounter especially in the backfield where playing experience was noticeably lacking. Although the line showed up well on the defense, it lacked coordination and cooperation in play. The fact that Saturday's contest was the first the men had ever played together somewhat pardons the loss, because the team did show much improvement during the second half of the game.

BUSINESS STAFF OF 1934 ARIEL DEEP IN ANNUAL FALL ADVERTISING WORK

Printing Representatives Met by Editor and Business Manager Last Tuesday Afternoon and Evening

The busy season of the 1934 Ariel business staff has already begun under the managership of Charles Libby '34, business manager. When the call for business scrubs was issued, five women and seven men responded. In the short time since the general call, they have solicited several hundred dollars' worth of advertising from the various local companies. In addition to the work around town, the scrubs are sending away to various concerns for foreign advertising.

Last Tuesday, October 4, Editor Chester Eaton and Business Manager Charles Libby interviewed several printing company representatives. The men from the companies submitted their bids for both the printing and the binding contracts for the 1934 Ariel. Representatives from the Collyer Printing Co., Newark, N. J., from the E. L. Hildreth Co., Brattleboro, Vt., and from the Free Press Printing Co. met at the Sigma Phi Place.

The men's business staff met at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house Friday evening, September 30, 1932. Several advertising plans were discussed and several details concerning the fall work were explained in order that the business might progress smoothly. Last Tuesday afternoon, the women's business board met with the scrubs to allot work for the fall.

In a short interview with the CYNIC reporter, Business Manager Libby averred, "Yes, the work is coming along. I hope that the contracts that were mailed out to all the fraternities, sororities and organizations on the hill will be mailed to me as soon as possible. It is impossible to make complete plans for the book yet, if we do not know what is to go into it. Any sorority, fraternity or group which has not received one of the contracts sent out, please get in touch with me as soon as possible." The contracts were mailed out this year, according to Libby, in order to prevent any late bill collecting, which has hampered and worried past business managers.

BAILEY CUP DEBATE TO TAKE PLACE VERY SOON AT FLEMING MUSEUM

Lower Class Forensicists Preparing for Annual Verbal Clash—Six Frosh Out

M. D. POWERS TO MAKE SELECTION OF TOPIC

Sophomores Strong This Year—1935 Team Won Last Year

The annual verbal clash between the [illegible] classes for possession of the Bailey cup will take place some time in the near future in the auditorium of the Fleming Museum. To date six freshmen have announced their intention to Mr. M. D. Powers, coach of the varsity debating team, of trying out for their class team. Last year about a dozen first-year men participated in the initial tryouts for the freshman Bailey cup team. The sophomores have not had their tryouts yet, but there are several men interested in upholding the honor of their class.

The six freshmen who are out for their team are F. R. Greenmore of Winooski, A. J. Levin of Bellows Falls, F. M. Hale of Windsor, David Pinsky of Hartford, Conn., S. L. Stebbins of Poultney, and Max Singer of Bridgeport, Conn. Greenmore has had a good deal of public speaking before labor unions and outside of school. Levin was on the Bellows Falls High School forensic team. He won a debating scholarship to the University of Vermont this fall. He also obtained the Theodore Roosevelt memorial prize in 1928.

F. M. Hale had two years' experience on the Windsor High School varsity debating team and was captain of his team during his last year in high school. The Windsor team won the Vermont State championship in 1931. Pinsky was on the Hartford Public High School debating and dramatic teams for two years. Stebbins has had two years' experience on the Troy Conference varsity debating squad, participated in two prize speaking contests, was a member of public speaking and debating classes and was a member of the literary society. Max Singer has had no recent debating experience but was a member of the debating club in his high school and has had speaking parts in six school plays.

For the sophomore debating team the following men will in all likelihood announce their intention to try out for the class team. They are Stuart Wright of

Dates Changed at Pan-Hellenic Meeting Friday Evening—New Rule Added to Rushing Laws

Pan Hellenic Council held a meeting last Friday evening to straighten out the conflict in dates between the proposed Mountain Day on Saturday, October 15, and the three open-house dates, which were scheduled to take place on Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons. At Friday's convene it was decided that the open-house afternoons would come today, tomorrow and Thursday from four to six o'clock.

This afternoon all freshmen and transfer women may have the opportunity to meet Alpha Chi Omega, Kappa Alpha Theta, and Pi Beta Phi. Alpha Chi Omega will be at home in its house at 384 Main Street. Kappa Alpha Theta will welcome all newcomers at their house at 215 South Prospect Street. Pi Beta Phi will hold open house at their home at 369 South Prospect Street.

Tomorrow afternoon two fraternities may be visited. They are Alpha Xi Delta and Sigma Gamma. Alpha Xi Delta will entertain freshmen and newcomers in their rooms at 192½ College Street. Sigma Gamma will be at home at their rooms at 192½ College Street also.

On Thursday afternoon the final of the tall sorority open house regime all freshmen and new students may visit Delta Delta Delta and Kappa Delta. Delta Delta Delta will welcome visitors at their rooms at 328 Pearl Street. Kappa Delta welcomes newcomers at their rooms at 328 Pearl Street also.

All women are to keep in mind the following rushing rules and the new additional rule that was added to the rest last Friday evening:

1. Fraternity women shall be allowed to wear their fraternity pins after the talk on fraternity is given to the freshmen in the fall.

2. No money shall be spent by any fraternity woman or group of fraternity women on any eligible new student, nor shall any eligible new student expend anything upon any fraternity women or group of fraternity women.

3. There shall be no mention of fra-

DARWIN P. KINGSLEY '81, FAMOUS VERMONT GRAD, DIES AFTER LONG AILING

Was Chairman of Board of N. Y. Life Insurance After Being Its President 24 Years

BORN AT ALBURG, VT., GRADUATED PHI BETE

Has Been Especially Interested in University of Vermont Undergraduate Activities

[illegible] York [illegible] Darwin P. Kingsley [illegible] chairman of the board of the New York Life Insurance Company, died at his home here on the morning of October 3 after a long illness of heart disease.

Kingsley, who had been ill for two years, took a turn for the worse last June while at his summer home in Bennington. L. L. S. Y. Oule reports was he sufficiently strong to permit the return to New York.

Kingsley became chairman of the insurance company's board of directors in March 1925 after having been its president for twenty-four years.

Darwin Pearl Kingsley was born at Alburg, Vt., May 5, 1857. Of old New England stock and the son of a small but thrifty New England farmer, he was educated in a typical district school. [illegible] in his vacations on the farms of his father and his neighbors. At the suggestion of the family physician who considered in the law a degree for higher education he entered the University of Vermont where he paid his own way by various kinds of labor. He was an honor student a member of Phi Beta Kappa and was graduated in 1881 with the degree of A.B. Later the University conferred upon him the honorary degrees of A.M. LL.D. and L.H.D. On leaving college he [illegible] Horace Greeley a proverbial advice and went West.

Settling in Colorado he became the editor of a local newspaper which introduced him into the political life of the state. Taking a conspicuous part in the [illegible] progress of Colorado he became state auditor and state superintendent of insurance. From this position he was called by the New York Life Insurance Company to take charge of its New England department.

His success as an executive was so marked that he was summoned to the home office of the company and rose through the various grades of superintendent of agencies, third vice-president, and vice-president to the presidency. He was elected to this office in 1907, just at the close of the famous Armstrong investigation which had resulted in confusion and disorganization in the business of American life insurance. All financial institutions at that time were suffering more or less from the blight of popular distrust. To accept the headship of a life insurance company at such a time was a responsibility which inevitably involved many unprecedented anxieties and problems. Mr. Kingsley, however, ac-

Freshmen Marvel at Wonders of Glamorous Fraternity Houses

[illegible] that time-honored and hallowed custom of fraternity rushing [illegible] and to the University of [illegible] its approach comes the [illegible] house nights, rushing [illegible] and pledging.

[illegible] of keeping fraternity [illegible] first-year men and other [illegible] men is common to most [illegible] rushing has been systematized by a council representatives. Open houses give [illegible] men an opportunity of seeing all the houses and of knowing all the men [illegible]

[illegible] of colleges pledge men [illegible] freshman year either before [illegible] examinations. Other [illegible] Dartmouth do not pledge [illegible] more year.

[illegible] systematized schedule on [illegible] nights are conducted [illegible] evolved from that type [illegible] "throat" rushing where men [illegible] even before they came [illegible] perhaps a fraternity man [illegible] newcomer at the station, [illegible] and ask him to "come up [illegible] and meet the boys," whereon [illegible] freshman became "one of the [illegible] next four years."

This system has been abolished from the halls of Vermont through regulations enforced by the Interfraternity Council.

With the first week of open houses past there have as yet been no reports of casualties due to superfluous good fellowship, and the freshmen seemed to have weathered the season very well so far. On a veritable Cook's tour the new men wander about progressively to the different fraternity houses.

The fraternity man gets out the old blue serge, dolls up a bit, puts on his best good-fellowship air and planks himself at the ivy portals with a big grin and an open hand.

Every man is out to do his level best and like the landlord with a new prospect for the empty house they hang the picture over the crack in the wall and park the family skeleton in the attic for the night.

The present-day politician has nothing on the four-year fraternity man and the odds are two to one that the fraternity man can boast of a wider grin and stronger wrist muscles from prolonged handshaking.

Unexpectant, the freshman is ushered into his first open house midst a blaze of good-fellowship. He had never known

Museum Displaying Valuable Set of Musical Instruments Now

A new exhibit of musical instruments from the Orient was opened to the public Sunday afternoon at the Robert Hull Fleming Museum. It contains specimens of Zulu, Ethiopian, Hawaiian, Eskimo, African and American Indian war and ceremonial drums, stringed instruments and flutes.

One of the most interesting of the instruments is a long, narrow, box-like [illegible] called a kora. Its ends are carved [illegible] in oriental design. The instrument has a dozen strings, placed together with the fingers. It is held [illegible] the ground with the player kneeling beside it.

The Kinnor, an Ethiopian instrument [illegible] often [illegible] in Biblical and oriental literature, looks something like a combination bellows and bag pipe. [illegible] two long bars connected across the top with a bar around them with [illegible] to which are attached five strings. These are played with the fingers or with a [illegible] plectrum.

The museum is lucky in owning one of five known American Indian pipes, which have been called musical tubes. These were found around Swanton, Vt. They are a hollow stone tube, of small diameter, and about nine inches in length.

A Burmese harp with a canoe-shaped [illegible] and a long curved neck is attracting much attention. It is tuned by sliding the strings up and down the neck, but the player can produce a variety of tones. Children, regardless of age, at a party given at the museum last week, and at the pastoral ball in honor of children regardless of age, at [illegible] time that it was given, have [illegible] the instrument. [illegible] has [illegible] a pottery [illegible] which looks like a cocoanut with the opening covered over with a parchment-like head. The instrument is held [illegible] the neck by a leather thong and one hand is held under the bag arm. [illegible] sounding notes are produced by beating on the head with the fingers of [illegible] hands.

Another instrument of unusual appearance is a long necked violin, called a [illegible]. The body is a half gourd highly [illegible]. There are seven strings. The [illegible] is held [illegible] and operated with a finger board with ten [illegible] frets. It is tuned by pegs on the side, back and front of the neck.

Another gourd instrument is a Pueblo dance rattle. A grass Zulu rattle is also [illegible].

A large Zulu marimba is the cause

Only a loyal talkative [illegible] were out a half dozen or more of the listeners. When a man such like [illegible] it [illegible] of the experienced [illegible] man diplomatically shifted his [illegible] upon [illegible] a nearby brother.

[illegible] is any freshman knocking at the [illegible] of a sorority house or girls [illegible] this year a mistake here not as [illegible] have existed since rushing [illegible] are [illegible] to be returned over such four pas.

[illegible] consumption among the visiting ranges from a cigarette a night to a [illegible] at each house. It would do the heart of the Lucky Strike people good [illegible] see the way the boys go after the cigarettes.

Sometimes it happens that a certain bunch of new men scheduled to show up at a certain house at a certain time do not make their appearance like the lost Israelites nobody knows where they are.

With the three scheduled open house nights successfully completed two more nights remain this week when the new men can visit any house which has taken their fancy. And then they will be over. The hearts of the lower Temple shall rejoice and deliberate accept and reject. The freshman will get his bid or not.

His [illegible] was manifested by interest in the students of the University and has been the donor of many prizes. The University of Vermont and greatly owes a man who [illegible] loved so much to [illegible].

MOUNTAIN DAY

[illegible] of this week has been set aside for Mountain Day. But unless the student body shows more enthusiasm during the next two days, Mountain Day will have to be abandoned. Very little support has come from the students so far. Apparently such a perfect date not [illegible] to obtain and before this year will get an end to Mountain Day [illegible] for years to come. In recent years only a few students have been interested in the mountain [illegible] and the efforts of the Vermont Outing Association have been wasted. This year the Association is doing all in its power to arouse interest and make the holiday a success. Unless 250 tickets are sold the administration does not feel justified in suspending classes. The student body must respond immediately or Mountain Day will be discontinued indefinitely.

THE BAND

We congratulate the R. O. T. C. band and its leader on their excellent performance this year. Under Joe Lodenius's leadership Vermont has always been well represented in recent years among collegiate organizations but rarely has a Vermont band made a better showing than at the Dartmouth and Providence games this fall. The band is indispensable for Kake Walk, the games and many college activities. It deserves the support and appreciation of every member of the student body.

U. V. M. BAND PLAYS AT THREE GRID CONTESTS

The University of Vermont R. O. T. C. Band has again started off the school year with a bang! It first appeared at the St. Michael's game on Centennial Field Saturday, September 24, outfitted in their snappy blue suits, the green and gold capes, and the "Shako." At the tryouts held the first week of school, under the direction of J. F. Lechnyr, twenty-five freshmen and fifteen sophomores were made members of this year's band.

Supplemented by three juniors, Vermont's proud organization journeyed to Hanover, N. H., Saturday, October 1, to attend and play at the game between Vermont and Dartmouth. Again, outfitted in their smart uniforms, the band members turned out for the game with Providence, last Saturday afternoon.

The following men are now attending rehearsals at Converse Hall

Autumn is the finest time of the year on a Mount Mansfield trip. The temperature is neither too cold nor too hot, the air is clear and bracing, and the foliage of all the miles of forest stretching away from the mountain on all sides [illegible] blend of rich tall colors—somber reds, burning reds, bright and yellow shading to green, and the [illegible] everywhere. In the fresh greenness [illegible] the trails are wet [illegible] the water a coat of [illegible] and ice and snow [illegible] the tree branches to make [illegible] patterns but it can be bitterly [illegible] the landscape is hidden by a [illegible] blanket of snow. As for summer, [illegible] almost tropically torrid, and the climbing then is well-nigh guaranteed a sure fire reducer for those too robustly inclined.

CHECK-UP TOMORROW TO DETERMINE WHETHER OR NOT MOUNTAIN DAY, SAT.

All Arrangements Complete for Gala Event of School Year if Enough Tickets are Sold

Let you! Tomorrow [illegible] the final check up [illegible] given to the administration [illegible] on whether or not [illegible] a Mountain Day this year [illegible] thus far are no more than [illegible] we are to have a Mountain Day the ticket sale will have to show a [illegible] increase in the day and a half we have left," was the comment of [illegible] '35, the V. C. A. Cabinet member in charge.

All arrangements have been [illegible] for the outing, and all that remains is the consent of the administration for the big day. If one out of every four buys a ticket, the quota of 250 will be [illegible] and the largest number of Mountain Day enthusiasts for three years will make the trip up, along, and down the great Mansfield ridge.

Seven-thirty Saturday morning is the zero hour for the departure of the two busloads, and the other three groups of buses will leave at 8, 8.30 and 9. [illegible] twin-coaches of the B. R. T. Company will make the trip through Underhill and Underhill Center to the Halfway House in approximately one hour. The two miles of steep, sharply curved road from the main highway to the Halfway House will constitute the greatest difficulty to the large, forty-passenger buses.

Halfway House is the name given to the one-story building at the end of the automobile road and the start of the two trails up the mountain. This edifice is open during the summer months for the sale of supplies to the frequent groups of Mansfield enthusiasts, but when the University hikers get there it will be closed.

A trail starts from the Halfway House branching after about one hundred feet. The right branch leads to the hotel on Summit House, and is the trail planned for the ascent by the students, as it is a bit easier than the left branch, and is more convenient as far as lunch is concerned, since that break in the day's activities will take place at the hotel. This trail ends at the top of the Mansfield ridge, meeting the Long Trail itself there, the junction being [illegible] by a large signpost. Then a right-hand turn to the right takes one [illegible] the ridge through a grove of evergreens a short distance [illegible]

Sunset Ridge is the name [illegible] forming the left fork at the [illegible] will be the route for the descent [illegible] for the hike are followed [illegible] does not matter which [illegible] person ascends, as both [illegible] arrive at the hotel, but the [illegible] trail is steeper and [illegible] walk the length of the [illegible] Chin, where the trail [illegible] gunning of the rocky peak [illegible] where the hotel is located.

Once up on the Mansfield [illegible] past panorama [illegible] the Halfway House [illegible] part of the trains, and [illegible] lows out over the [illegible] countryside patched [illegible] over the undulating [illegible] the farthest range [illegible] on the other side of Lake [illegible] On clear days, the spire [illegible] Chapel can be discerned, [illegible] merely the beginning of the [illegible] of terrain that can be [illegible] Chin and the Nose.

The trail to the Nose [illegible] hotel, clearly marked [illegible] is more a rocky pathway [illegible] winding and circling [illegible] proboscis of "Old Man Mansfield." [illegible] the early arrivals it will be [illegible] for lunch, but for the [illegible] will probably remain [illegible] side trip.

When the dinner hour [illegible] steaming hot coffee will be [illegible] hotel.

An important change has been made in the arrangements for lunch. Instead of being served at the hotel, it will be picked up at the [illegible] before leaving, when the [illegible] shows his ticket. The [illegible] punched and returned [illegible] mountain top for coffee.

LUNCH ARRANGEMENTS CHANGED FOR SATURDAY

An important change [illegible] in the lunch arrangements [illegible] Day. Instead of the [illegible] served at the hotel, [illegible] be served there. The [illegible] may be obtained at the [illegible] by showing the lunch [illegible] from 7.15 on on Saturday. [illegible] coffee alone has been [illegible] ticket will be exchanged [illegible] for two cups of coffee. [illegible] lunch have been [illegible] should be merely [illegible] Corner and kept for [illegible] at the mountain [illegible] year and the change [illegible] year to simplify matters.

S. A. E. WIN EASILY THE FIRST INTERFRAT TOUCH FOOTBALL GAME FRIDAY

Muddy Field Handicaps Players in Loosely Played Contest—Mulcahy and Valerio Star for Winners

A rather ragged Sigma Alpha Epsilon team took over a still more ragged Tau Epsilon Phi touch football team last Friday afternoon on a muddy field by a 34 to 12 score. Both teams were evidently out of practice. Mulcahy and Valerio did much of the ball carrying for the Sig Alphs, while Gladstone and Gould did the same for their side.

Much difficulty was evidenced because the field was muddy. Friday's game was the first of the interfraternity touch football series held every fall by the intramural department. The lineups:

S. A. E.	Tau Ep
Valerio	Gladstone
Mulcahy	Gould
Wells	Silverstein
Walters	Selib
Buxton	Levine
Patch	Risman
Tolman

Substitutions: Mahoney for Buxton, Walker for Wells.

Seven points in three games is not enough to win them in any league.

The opinion of several experts interviewed after the game was that the Catamount line, with the exception of the ends, is the best to grace Centennial Field in many moons. A little more experience will no doubt prove to be of great aid to the unseasoned wingmen.

That setback to the tune of 20 to 6, which St. Michael's handed Norwich, has a rather pleasant sound when picked up by Vermont followers.

Middlebury did well to hold their high-powered Massachusetts State rivals 13 to 6. Unquestionably the Panthers are the team to beat if the Catamounts are to take the conference honors.

New Hampshire was outclassed by Harvard Saturday, but the readers will remember that the Wildcats were last year, but came up here and ran roughshod over the Catamounts.

Boston University, with Nyles Lane directing, is certainly off to a good start. Not since back in the days of Mickey Cochrane have the Terriers won two straight. Capt. "Whitey" Clem and Gus LeGurn are running wild in the backfield, and even Herb Semmo caught a pass last Saturday.

Detailed Description of the Providence-Vermont Game

Providence Breaks into Winning Column by Scoring Two Touch-Downs Against Vermont Squad

O'KEEFE MAKES BOTH TALLIES ON SPINNERS

The University of Vermont grid team let down for just one-quarter of Saturday's game with a strong Providence College eleven and lost by a 13-0 score. The game was well played in many respects but until the final five minutes of play was entirely lacking of any spectacular football. Providence played fundamental football and played it well to win.

The Friars first tally came after Bedell had fumbled to give Providence the ball on Vermont's twenty-seven yard line. Landry went around right end behind splendid interference for a twenty three yard gain and a first down. Wright made three yards through tackle. O'Keefe, carrying the ball, went through on a spinner to make it a touchdown. The kick for the extra point went wide.

It was not long afterward that Providence's second touchdown was scored. After the Friars had kicked off to Vermont, Beckley tried a pass on the first play that was intercepted by Wright of Providence. On the first play Landry went off tackle for a twenty yard gain, being thrown out of bounds at Vermont's five yard line. Again O'Keefe went through for a touchdown on a spinner. The kick from placement was good giving Providence a 13-0 lead.

No more scores were made for the remainder of the game. Providence had her second team in part of the time and they were just as effective in holding Vermont as was the first team. The Vermont team did not put up the brilliant fight they exhibited against Dartmouth. They did not play with the spirit and abandon they did over at Hanover. The blocking was weak, the tackling ineffective in many cases and the general teamwork seemed poor.

Providence, the stronger team, outclassed Vermont in every department of the game. Every play Providence tried the line opened up wide holes for the backfield runner and formed perfect three-man interference on the end runs. From the standpoint of football, playing, as exhibited by the white jerseyed men, was good to watch. It is probably the best show of football that Centennial Field has seen for some time. Time and again the strong Providence line would smash a hole through the Vermont line for a five or ten yard gain.

After the two touchdowns in the first period, the ball seesawed across the field. Fumbles and penalties were many and several times it looked as though Vermont were going to drive the ball down the field for a touchdown, but each time the Providence line held and held hard.

The real excitement of the game came in the last minutes of play, when an impromptu passing attack on the part of the Green and Gold warriors began. The most spectacular of the passes, was a pass from Beckley to Ramon, which netted twenty two yards. It looked as though Vermont would score at the rate they were completing the passes. How

First Quarter

O'Keefe kicked off to Saba on Vermont's 10-yard line. Saba ran the kickoff back to the 28-yard marker. Bedell plunged through center for a one-yard gain. Beckley kicked out of bounds on Providence's 44-yard line. O'Keefe lost a yard around end. O'Keefe plunged for a one yard gain on the next play. Then Wright went around left end for five yards. O'Keefe kicked out of bounds at Vermont's 22 yard line. Beckley netted one yard off tackle. Saba plunged from kick formation for four-yard gain. Beckley threw a fullback pass through center for a first down.

Saba met a stone wall on the first play, and on the next play Bedell fumbled. Davis of Providence recovered the elusive ball on Vermont's 35-yard line. Landry went for 22 yards around right end. Wright went three yards on an offtackle play. O'Keefe slide off right tackle for the first touchdown of the game. The extra point was not made.

O'Keefe kicked off to Saba on Vermont's 10 yard line. Saba ran the ball back to the 27-yard line. Beckley attempted a pass, which was intercepted by Wright on Vermont's 37-yard line. He was downed on the 32-yard line. Landry went for a big gain of 22 yards off tackle. A Vermont offside gave Providence a five-yard gain. On the next play O'Keefe scored the second touchdown on a spinner. O'Keefe kicked the extra point.

O'Keefe again kicked off to Saba on Vermont's 15-yard line. Saba ran the ball back to the 38-yard marker. Saba went through center for a yard. A pass from Taft to Roly Delfausse was completed for a first down. Saba lost four yards on a double reverse. Taft fumbled with Providence recovering the pigskin.

O'Keefe made six yards off tackle. Landry went around right end, but was nailed for a loss. On a penalty against Vermont, Providence made a first down. O'Keefe fumbled on a reverse, but recovered, losing about nine yards. An incomplete pass and then O'Keefe punted down to Vermont's 19-yard strip. Saba went out of bounds on the 20-yard line. Saba plunged for no gain; the same was true on the next play. Beckley was nabbed on line of scrimmage.

Barberito made 11 yards around right end on the first play for Providence after they had received the ball on downs. No gain on the next play and the quarter ended. Score: Providence 13, Vermont 0.

DEBATERS TRAVEL TO PLYMOUTH NORMAL FOR FIRST VERBAL BATTLE

Bates on the Schedule for Next Monday Evening—Team Not Picked as Yet

Varsity debating this year will start with an encounter with Plymouth (N. H.) State Normal College. The Vermont team will journey to New Hampshire tomorrow, and debate there on "Resolved, That collegiate athletics are detrimental to the best interests of the American public," in which they will uphold the negative.

This debate will be in the nature of a practice debate for Vermont, in preparation for their Maine and Bates debates the following week, although a different team may be sent to the latter two debates.

Next Monday, Bates College will welcome the Green and Gold team. As has become the tradition between Vermont and Bates, this will be the first real varsity debate in either college's schedule and, as usual, it will be a no-decision contest. Here the war will be waged because of a difference of opinion on "Resolved, That approximately one-half of all state and local revenues should be derived from other than tangible sources."

The following evening Maine College will entertain the varsity in a decision debate. As Mgr. J. E. Bigelow '33 remarked, "We beat them last year, and they're out for revenge up there this season." The encounter will be over the question "Resolved, That most advertising tends to be detrimental to the best interests of the general public."

Cuts of the squad after trial debates have reduced the list of possible men for any of these debates to J. E. Bigelow '33, R. E. McCuin '34, C. A. Rogers '35, W. H. Myers '35 and R. S. Wright '35. These five men have been holding practice debates and meetings for two weeks in preparation for the two affrays.

The first home debate will be held here about the first of November, and several home tilts will be returned engagements for some colleges, Columbia, New York University, and Plymouth Normal being among the number. A feature of this year's list of debates is a radio broadcast from WGY in Schenectady, N. Y., with Union College.

DEBATE PROSPECT GOOD SAYS MANAGER LEVIN

Prospects for women's varsity debating at the University look brighter this year according to Manager Sophie Levin '33. A schedule has not yet been arranged but plans are under way for the first encounter with McGill University in November.

The present members of the varsity team are Laura Johnson '33 captain, Sophie Levin '33 and Virginia Goodenough '33. Augusta Cohen '34 is assistant manager of debate.

The upper-classwomen scrubbing for varsity are Alma Farmer '34, Agnes Kittell '35, Esther Feldman '35, Winifred Perry '35, Lilya Roe '35, Barbara Briggs '35 and Betty Rockwell '35.

Freshman women debating this season are Mary Whitney, Calista Sweet, Esther Sinclair, Thelma Leach, Betty Brown.

Debates are to be held at the Fleming Museum Wednesday October 19, at 4.00 p.m. and Friday, October 21 at 4.00 p.m. The topic for both debates is "Fraternities are beneficial to the students on the American campus."

RUSHING BIDS TO BE DISTRIBUTED THIS P.M. IN OLD MILL CHAPEL

Frosh Will Meet at 4 O'clock to Hear Dean Swift

Last night, Thursday, October 13 was the last night of the first phase of the current rushing season. Continuing on the rest of this week and next the fraternities will attend the second part of their association with active brothers in rushing parties.

This afternoon at four o'clock in the Old Mill Chapel, the freshmen will assemble to listen to Dean Elijah Swift who will advise them about choosing the various groups to which they may soon belong. After the talk, each will pass before the Interfraternity Council to receive his rushing date. This year October 17, 18, 19 and 20 have been selected as the party nights. The last one will come on a Thursday night so that football men, who must not be kept up on the Friday night before a game, may attend the dates.

The system this year, as last year, divided the freshmen into alphabetical groups for the first three nights. The last two nights, Tuesday and Thursday of this week were optional. During the first week, each freshman had an opportunity to visit four houses each night thus covering all twelve houses. On the fourth and last nights the freshmen after having seen each house, went only to fraternities they considered most favorable to them.

There was considerable discussion among fraternity men as to the practicability of the new plan as inaugurated last year. Some were of the opinion that the limited time schedule did not give them time to become acquainted with freshmen and vice versa. On the other hand, others thought there was ample time if a competent system was established. Nevertheless, considering the whole plan of open house a CYNIC survey has found it to be most successful, although there is, of course, considerable effort on the part of each fraternity in entertaining the guest.

Rules Re-stated

It would be well here to offer an opportunity for freshmen and fraternity men to check up on the rules concerning

The University is offering two competitive examinations in mathematics and in Latin for prizes and open to any member of the freshman class. Since the University requires no examinations on entrance, these examinations are being held in their stead to determine the best paper in either subject. Anyone wishing to take either one of these examinations, merely has to appear at the appointed time and place.

The first a competitive examination for the Howard Entrance Prize and second prize in Latin will be held in two parts on the afternoons of Wednesday and Thursday, October 12 and 13, from 4.00 to 5.30 in Room 31, South College. Any member of the class of 1936 may take the examination, whether or not he or she is taking Latin in the College. Candidates must take both parts of the examination to be considered for the prizes.

Under the terms of the will of Mrs. Hannah Howard, late of Burlington, a prize of $20 will be awarded to the member of the freshman class who shall attain the highest grade in a competitive examination in mathematics. A special exam will be held to determine the winner of the prize on Thursday, October 27 from 4.00 to 6.00 in Room 3, South College. All members of the freshman class with no previous college training are eligible to compete.

The math examination covers the math required for entrance that is elementary and intermediate algebra and plane geometry. For reference see pages 111-112 paragraphs 12 and 14 of the current catalogue for a statement of the ground covered by the exam. The two subjects, algebra and geometry, will be given equal weight.

U. V. M. STUDENTS GO TO POLLS TODAY IN VOTE FOR PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES

Ballots Placed in Fraternity Houses and Halls of College Buildings

I. R. CLUB IN CHARGE

Voting in the University presidential poll starts today, continuing tomorrow and next week. Ballots, in addition to those inserted in today's CYNIC are being distributed among the several fraternity and sorority houses, and in the halls of the Colleges of Arts and Sciences, Agriculture, Engineering, and Medicine, according to an announcement made late last night by S. N. Spiller '33, President of the International Relations Club which is sponsoring the poll.

Must Sign Ballots

The announcement also stated that the ballots would have to be signed with the class of the voter added as no complete student check list may be obtained before issuance of the University directory. Coupled with the statement came Spiller's declaration that "there is no need for hesitation before casting your ballot as personal preferences will be kept strictly confidential by both the CYNIC and I. R. Club committees in charge of the tabulating."

Cynic Bulletin

A CYNIC bulletin from the news department exhorts: "Get on the band wagon and join the parade of student voters indicating their preference for the candidates for the presidency. Friday the CYNIC will issue complete details of this college-wide movement being conducted under auspices of the Daily Cynic. In order to insure our complete cooperation with the movement a signed ballot must be received from every student enrolled in the University. Whether you are Republican, Democrat, socialist or otherwise indicate your personal choice by marking a ballot, clip one ballot from the CYNIC or secure one from the committee in charge."

W. W. Brislin, president of the junior class, when interviewed last night declared that he foresaw a Democratic victory. "Competition will be keen," Brislin stated, but there is no doubt that Roosevelt will be the presidential choice of Vermont students."

Questions submitted to faculty members during the past week regarding the poll elicited no reply excepting the statement that, "It is an interesting issue and we will watch for the results with interest."

A communication from the College Division of the Republican National Committee suggests in addition to the straw ballot the formation of a U. V. M. Republican Club. The letter received by the CYNIC, signed by Paul Whiten Orvis, Williams College '30 of the National Headquarters Office states:

"Send us the result of your straw vote. Prepare for a big rally between October 30th to 27th ask us for speakers suggesting prominent Republican alumni. We will try to get them for you. Try to get sons and daughters of prominent Democrats to join Republican Club and in their names."

WILBUR CASE GOES TO STATE SUPREME COURT

Legal questions involved in the disposition of the estate of the late James B. Wilbur, University patron, are to go to the Vermont Supreme Court. Chancellor A. L. Sherman of Burlington, who heard the chancery case of the State of Vermont against the Bankers' Trust Company of New York, trustees of the estate, filed a finding of facts and an order a few weeks ago which settled the question of the amount of inheritance taxes due, the disputed point of whether the Library of Congress or the University should receive a certain bequest of $1,500,000, the decision being in favor of U. V. M., and also made a special finding in relation to a residue which was to go to certain historical societies.

An appeal has been filed by the Colonial Society of Massachusetts, the Massachusetts Historical Society and the American Antiquarium Society of Boston, which will carry the litigation to the Supreme Court.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF D. P. KINGSLEY '81 HELD IN IRA ALLEN CHAPEL

President Bailey Conducts Ceremony in Honor of Vermont Alumnus, Trustee

Episcopal Church funeral services for Darwin P. Kingsley '81 who died last week in New York City were held Wednesday morning in the Ira Allen Chapel. A large number of flowers sent in honor of the Vermont trustee, for whom the University's flag had been flown at half-mast were placed in the auditorium.

The chapel was filled with the many friends, business associates and relatives of the late insurance head. Pres. Guy W. Bailey presided with Bishop S. B. Booth of the Vermont diocese officiating. There were no eulogies nor was there any vocal music rendered. Prof. C. Leonard, acting music director was at the organ.

Included among those attending the services were members of the University of Vermont faculty, members of the state branch of the New York Life Insurance Company who attended in a body, members of the State Life Insurance Underwriters Association, National Life Insurance Company of Montpelier which was represented by Pres. John Thomas, Delta Psi fraternity Frank C. Partridge, former senator F. S. Brigham, former congressman and C. P. Smith.

The honorary bearers were: Robert Roberts, H. M. McFarlane, Mason F. Stone, J. H. Deavitt, T. C. Cheney, C. J. Wright, R. L. Patrick, Newman Chaffee, F. A. Lawrence, all trustees of the University, Chauncey Brownell, J. H. Macomber and F. S. Isham. Also included among the honorary pall bearers were the four deans of the University. J. L. Hills, dean of the College of Agriculture, Elijah Swift, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, J. S. Jenne, dean of the College of Medicine and George F. Eckland, dean of the College of Engineering.

The active bearers were five students, all members of Delta Psi fraternity. They were: Raymond Talbert, Robert Macomber, Samuel Pearce, Jr., Lionel F. Reed, John L. Buckley, and Mark Lee Powell, Jr.

Interment followed in Lake View Cemetery, with the Rt. Rev. Samuel B. Booth officiating.

FIRE DRILLS CAUSE OF DORMITORY CONTROVERSY

A controversy has developed among the several dormitories concerning the new fire drill record set by the girls. According to latest reports Redstone has established a record of two minutes, several seconds being claimed by Redstone Hall students who clocked up a count of four minutes.

An honest man's the noblest work of God. — Alexander Pope.

V. C. A. COMMITTEE MAKES PLANS FOR COMING YEAR

Plans are now under way for a program of work for the Committee at Deputation of the Vermont Christian Association. Already two dates have been set for community services. On November 13 the committee will take charge of the young people's service at the Methodist Church in Burlington and on November 27 they will travel to the Community Church at Grand Isle.

Clarence Dugan '34 of Burlington, who is director of deputation of the V. C. A. has already sent letters to most of the churches throughout the northern part of the state explaining the purpose of the committee's plans. This is the first step of the movement to secure the deputation work will consist of four visits as well as conferences.

Invitations is extended to all students who are interested in this work and who are willing to lend their services toward the worthy work which it is doing.

The following evening Maine College will entertain the varsity in a decision debate. As Mgr. J. E. Bigelow '33 remarked, "We beat them last year, and they're out for revenge up there this season." The encounter will be over the question "Resolved, That most advertising tends to be detrimental to the best interests of the general public."

Cuts of the squad after trial debates have reduced the list of possible men for any of these debates to J. E. Bigelow '33, R. E. McCuin '34, C. A. Rogers '35, W. H. Myers '35 and R. S. Wright '35. These five men have been holding practice debates and meetings for two weeks in preparation for the two affrays.

The first home debate will be held here about the first of November, and several home tilts will be return engagements for some colleges, Columbia, New York University, and Plymouth Normal being among the number. A feature of this year's list of debates is a radio broadcast from WGY in Schenectady, N. Y., with Union College.

DEBATE PROSPECT GOOD SAYS MANAGER LEVIN

Prospects for women's varsity debating at the University look brighter this year according to Manager Sophie Levin '33. A schedule has not yet been arranged but plans are under way for the first encounter with McGill University in November.

The present members of the varsity team are Laura Johnson '33, captain; Sophie Levin '33, and Virginia Goodenough '33. Augusta Cohen '34 is assistant manager of debate.

The upperclasswomen scrubbing for varsity are Alvira Farman '34, Anita Kittell '35, Esther Fishman '33, Winifred Perry '35, Elva Fox '35, Barbara Brown '35 and Betty Beckwith '35.

Freshman women debating this season are Mary Whitney, Calita Sweson, Esther Sinclair, Thelma Leach, Betty Brown.

Debates are to be held at the Fleming Museum, Wednesday, October 19, at 4:00 p.m. and Friday, October 21, at 4:00 p.m. The topic for both debates is "Fraternities are beneficial to the students on the American campus."

RUSHING BIDS TO BE DISTRIBUTED THIS P.M. IN OLD MILL CHAPEL

Frosh Will Meet at 4 O'clock to Hear Dean Swift

Last night Thursday October 13 was the last night of the first phase of the rushing season. Continuing on the rest of this week and next, the prospective fraternity men will attend the second part of their association with active "brothers" in rushing parties.

This afternoon at four o'clock in the Old Mill Chapel, the freshmen will assemble to listen to Dean Elijah Swift who will advise them about choosing the various groups to which they may soon belong. After the talk, each will pass before the Interfraternity Council to receive his rushing date. This year, October 17, 18, 19, and 20 have been selected as the party nights. The last one will come on a Thursday night, so that football men, who must not be kept up on the Friday night before a game, may attend the dates.

The system this year, as last year, divided the freshmen into alphabetical groups for the first three nights. The last two nights, Tuesday and Thursday of this week were optional. During the first week, each freshman had an opportunity to visit four houses each night, thus covering all evelen houses. On the fourth and fifth nights, the freshmen, after having seen each house, went only to fraternities they considered most favorable to them.

There was considerable discussion among fraternity men as to the practicability of the new plan as inaugurated last year. Some were of the opinion that the limited time schedule did not give them time to become acquainted with freshmen and vice versa. On the other hand, others thought there was ample time if a competent system was established. Nevertheless, considering the whole plan of open house, a CYNIC survey has found it to be most successful, although there is, of course, considerable effort on the part of each fraternity in entertaining the guests.

Rules Re-stated

It would be well here to offer an opportunity for freshmen and fraternity men to check up on the rules concerning

PRIZE EXAMINATIONS WILL SOON BE GIVEN IN MATH AND LATIN

The University is offering two competitive examinations in mathematics and in Latin for prizes and open to any member of the freshman class. Since the University requires no examinations on entrance, these examinations are being held in their stead to determine the best paper in either subject. Anyone wishing to take either one of these examinations, merely has to appear at the appointed time and place.

The first, a competitive examination for the Howard Entrance Prize and second prize in Latin will be held in two parts on the afternoons of Wednesday and Thursday (October 12 and 13) from 4:00 to 5:30 in Room 31, South College. Any member of the class of 1936 may take the examination, whether or not he or she, is taking Latin in the College. Candidates must take both parts of the examination to be considered for the prizes.

Under the terms of the will of Mrs. Hannah Howard, late of Burlington, a prize of $20 will be awarded to the member of the freshman class who shall attain the highest grade in a competitive examination in matimatics. A special exam will be held to determine the winner of this prize on Thursday, October 27 from 4:00 to 6:00 in Room 3, South College. All members of the freshman class with no previous college training are eligible to compete.

The math examination covers the math required for entrance, that is elementary and intermediate algebra and plane geometry. For reference, see pages 111, 112, paragraphs 12 and 14 of the current catalogue for a statement of the ground covered by the exam. The two subjects algebra and geometry will be given equal weight.

U. V. M. STUDENTS GO TO POLLS TODAY IN VOTE FOR PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES

Ballots Placed in Fraternity Houses and Halls of College Buildings

I. R. CLUB IN CHARGE

Voting in the University presidential poll starts today, continuing tomorrow and next week. Ballots, in addition to those inserted in today's CYNIC are being distributed among the several fraternity and sorority houses, and in the halls of the Colleges of Arts and Sciences, Agriculture, Engineering, and Medicine, according to an announcement made late last night by S. N. Spiller '33, President of the International Relations Club which is sponsoring the poll.

Must Sign Ballots

The announcement also stated that the ballots would have to be signed with the class of the voter added as no complete student check list may be obtained before issuance of the University directory. Coupled with this statement came Spiller's declaration that "there is no need for hesitation before casting your ballot as personal preferences will be kept strictly confidential by both the CYNIC and I. R. Club committees in charge of the tabulating."

Cynic Bulletin

A CYNIC bulletin from the news department exhorts "Get on the band wagon and join the parade of student voters indicating their preference for the candidates for the presidency. Friday the CYNIC will issue complete details of this college wide movement being conducted under auspices of the Daily Princetonian. In order to insure our complete cooperation with the movement a signed ballot must be received from every student enrolled in the University. Whether you are Republican, Democrat, Socialist or otherwise, indicate your personal choice by marking a ballot, clip your ballot from the CYNIC or secure one from the committee in charge!"

W. W. Brislin, president of the junior class when interviewed last night declared that he foresaw a Democratic victory. "Competition will be keen," Brislin stated, but there is no doubt that Roosevelt will be the presidential choice of Vermont students."

Questions submitted to faculty members during the past week regarding the poll elicited no reply excepting the statement that, "It is an interesting scene and we will watch for the results with interest."

A communication from the College Division of the Republican National Committee suggests in addition to the straw ballot the formation of a U. V. M. Republican Club. The letter received by the CYNIC, signed by Paul Whiten Orvis, Williams College '30 of the National Headquarters Office states:

"Send us the result of your straw vote. Prepare for a big rally between October 20th to 27th ask us for speakers, suggesting prominent Republican alumni. We will try to get them for you. Try to get sons and daughters of prominent Democrats to join Republican Club. Send us their names."

WILBUR CASE GOES TO STATE SUPREME COURT

Legal questions involved in the disposition of the estate of the late James B. Wilbur, University patron, are to go to the Vermont Supreme Court. Chancellor A. L. Sherman of Burlington, who heard the chancery case of the State of Vermont against the Bankers' Trust Company of New York, trustees of the estate, filed a finding of facts and an order a few weeks ago which settled the question of the amount of inheritance taxes due, the disputed point of whether the Library of Congress or the University should receive a certain bequest of $1,500,000, the decision being in favor of U. V. M., and also made a special finding in relation to a residue which was to go to certain historical societies.

An appeal has been filed by the Colonial Society of Massachusetts, the Massachusetts Historical Society and the American Antiquarium Society of Boston, which will carry the litigation to the Supreme Court.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF D. P. KINGSLEY '81 HELD IN IRA ALLEN CHAPEL

President Bailey Conducts Ceremony in Honor of Vermont Alumnus, Trustee

Episcopal Church funeral services for Darwin P. Kingsley '81 who died last week in New York City were held Wednesday morning in the Ira Allen Chapel. A large number of flowers sent in honor of the Vermont trustee, for whom the University flag had been flown at half-mast were placed in the auditorium.

The chapel was filled with the many friends, business associates and relatives of the late insurance head. Pres. Guy W. Bailey presided with Bishop S. B. Booth of the Vermont diocese, officiating. There were no eulogies nor was there any vocal music rendered. Prof. C. Leonard, acting music director was at the organ.

Included among those attending the services were members of the University of Vermont faculty, members of the State branch of the New York Life Insurance Company who attended in a body, members of the State Life Insurance Underwriters Association, National Life Insurance Company of Montpelier which was represented by Pres. John Thomas, Delta Psi fraternity, Frank C. Partridge, former Senator; E. S. Brigham, former Congressman and C. P. Smith.

The honorary bearers were: Robert Roberts, H. M. McFarlane, Mason F. Stone, E. H. Deavitt, T. C. Cheney, C. J. Wright, R. L. Patrick, Newman Chaffee, E. A. Lawrence, all trustees of the University, Chauncey Brownell, J. H. Macomber and E. S. Isham. Also included among the honorary pall bearers were the four deans of the University: J. L. Hills, dean of the College of Agriculture; Elijah Swift, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences; J. N. Jenne, dean of the College of Medicine; and George F. Eckhard dean of the College of Engineering.

The active bearers were six students, all members of Delta Psi fraternity. They were Raymond Talbert, Robert Macomber, Samuel Pierce, Jr., Lionel F. Reed, John L. Beckley and Max Leon Powell, Jr.

Interment followed in Lake View Cemetery with the Rt. Rev. Samuel B. Booth officiating.

FIRE DRILLS CAUSE OF DORMITORY CONTROVERSY

A controversy has developed among the several dormitories concerning the new speed record for fire drills. According to latest reports Redstone has established a record of two minutes, second place being claimed by Robinson Hall students who clocked up a count of four minutes.

V. C. A. COMMITTEE MAKES PLANS FOR COMING YEAR

Plans are now under way for a successful year for the Committee on Deputations of the Vermont Christian Association. Already two dates have been set for community services. On November 13 the committee will take charge of the young people's service at the Methodist Church in Burlington and on November 27 they will appear in the Community Church at Grand Isle.

Clarence Thomas '34 of Burlington, who is chairman of deputations of the V. C. A. has already sent letters to many of the churches throughout the northern part of the state explaining the services which the committee is doing. This is the first step in the movement to make the deputations work still greater in outdoors as well as indoors.

Invitations to entertain by all students who are interested in this work and who are willing to lend their services toward the worthy work which it is doing.

MORTAR BOARD'S FALL DANCE

Mortar Board's annual fall dance will be held Saturday evening, November 5, at the University gymnasium. At this event it is customary for women to invite the men to attend the dance as their guests instead of following the usual procedure. No orchestra has been selected as yet, but a detailed report will appear in a later issue of the CYNIC.

A tutorial bureau for the assistance of women students maintained last year by Mortar Board, will be resumed again this year. Volunteers from among the co-ed student body are requested to act as tutors, and they are paid for their services by the Mortar Board Society by the hour. The tutoring is free to all women students.

Mortar Board also carries on a dormitory room inspection every year. The dormitory which has the neatest and best looking rooms receives a twenty-dollar gold piece for a prize.

CROSS-COUNTRY TEAM PRACTICING FOR MEET WITH WILLIAMS MEN

Williams and Middlebury to Run It Out Tomorrow—Vermont and Williams Meet Next Week

With the Amherst meet already behind them the varsity cross-country men are pointing toward the Williams College meet with keen interest. After last Saturday's victory over Amherst, the men took it easy during the first part of the week. In the latter part of the training period they have started running longer distances in preparation for the Williams course which is very long.

Coach Archie Peters met came through Saturday without any serious trouble. There were no pulled tendons or shin splints to hamper the team in its daily workouts. There is no meet scheduled for the week, and the men will work out their hardest next week. On the other hand, Williams is opposing a strong Middlebury team tomorrow afternoon.

The Williams squad has been practicing strenuously all week under the direction of Coach C. F. Seeley. The squad is reputed to be one of their strongest despite the fact that there are only two letter men back on the team this year, Capt. S. D. Fisher '33 and Garrett Goodbody '34.

The bulk of the Williams strength lies in the inheritance from last year's freshman team. Ellis, Crawford, McVeigh, Ransom, Schacte, Fitzhugh and Pioneer. Although, in light of the victory with Amherst last Saturday, the Vermonters expect to win, it is safe to say that the encounter with Williams will not be a set-up for the Green and Gold harriers. Last year the Catamounts had no trouble in taking Williams over the bumps in Burlington.

DARTMOUTH PUSHED TO BEAT LAFAYETTE 6-0

HANOVER, N. H.—It took Dartmouth's full strength to turn back a rugged Lafayette team last Saturday 6 to 0, and Sammy Eckman's short goal kept our yards in the third period was the only score.

Dartmouth employed its shift throughout the game and showed several new passes, but only Eckman stood out as a consistent running back and he earned the honor of the Green throw until an ankle injury forced him out in the last period.

WHITE PASSES TO BUSH FOR MASS. STATE'S WIN

MIDDLEBURY, Vt.—Massachusetts State football team defeated Middlebury College, 13 to 6, last Saturday. Middlebury's lone tally came in the first period on the result of a lateral from Hoehn to Hartnett. The play started from the Massachusetts State 28 yard line.

Shift's seven yard mark off left tackle in the second period and White's pass to Bush in the third accounted for the Massachusetts State touchdowns.

HARVARD USES FOUR TEAMS TO BEAT N. H.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Harvard's heavy varsity last Saturday rumbled over the luckless New Hampshire eleven, scoring six touchdowns and winning its second game of the season, 40 to 0.

Although the Crimson regulars played only a short time and ultimately gave way to third and fourth stringers, Harvard piled up nineteen first downs and gained 320 yards by rushing and forty-four by passing. In each of the first three periods Harvard scored twice, but in the last quarter against Harvard's substitutes New Hampshire held the Crimson scoreless.

LAST-PERIOD COLBY RUSH BEATS COAST GUARD, 21-0

WATERVILLE, Me.—Colby College defeated the U. S. Coast Guard Academy in football 21 to 0. Except for a safety in the first quarter all of Colby's points were made in the last period. Mahoney and J. Peabody for Colby and Davis and Columbus for the Academy were the stars.

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

Worcester Tech Gets 15 to 6 Win Over Norwich

Oddity of Contest is Completion of 21 Out of 34 Forward Passes by Cadets But Only One Touchdown

The Norwich football players presented an aerial attack that enabled them to complete 21 forward passes out of 34 tried in their game with Worcester Tech Saturday. But the Blue Staters won 15 to 6 by means of their superior running offensive.

In the closing minutes of the contest one of the Cadets' many aerial passes brought them a touchdown when Ridlon caught a pass from Hodge and ran 40 yards to the goal line. In the first half the Horsemen twice came within ten yards of the goal by means of their passes but they were halted these both times.

Worcester scored in the first period on a drive from its own 20-yard mark. The engineers hammered their way to the Norwich 25 and there Norcka threw a forward pass, Malby caught it, tossed a lateral pass to Gould and the latter gained the goal line. Norcka kicked the extra point. In the second period the visitors made another touchdown on a 60-yard march to the goal, featured by good passes by Sadona, Edgeworth and Gould. Gould again made the touchdown this time on a line play from the three yard stripe. Worcester added two more points to the final frame on a safety when Hodgkinson blocked a Norwich punt over behind the goal line. The summary:

Herbert Hoover Wins in Straw-Ballot Sponsored by International Relations Club

Republican Candidate Polls 179 Votes; Is Closely Followed by Norman Thomas, Socialist Party Nominee with 155; Roosevelt, Third, Receives 77 Ballots

COMMUNIST, PROHIBITION PARTIES GET VOTE EACH

Herbert Hoover was elected as the presidential choice of Vermont students in the straw ballot conducted by the Cynic and International Relations Club at the combined colleges of the University during the past week. The Republican candidate received a total number of 179 valid votes closely followed by Norman Thomas, Socialist Party nominee with 155 votes. Franklin Roosevelt, the Democratic party's standard-bearer came third with a total of 77. Two votes, one apiece were cast for the Prohibition and Communist parties.

497 Ballots Cast

A total of 497 ballots were cast out of which number eight four were ruled as defective and 413 good by the committee of three passing on the validity of the ballot votes. The committee consisted of a representative from the Cynic staff, the International Relations Club. In the tabulation of ballots twenty ballots were found to have voted twice and three ballots three times.

The ballot issued last Friday at noon to the Arts College and Engineers' boxes and issued sometime at noon Monday in the gymnasium. Ballotting in the Medical College was completed two hours Tuesday morning, 6:30 until 8:30.

Hoover received the majority in both the Medical and Arts College out of a total of 413 votes cast in the Medical College he received forty-four, Thirty-three votes and one spoiled ballot. Hoover's vote in the Arts College totaled 135 votes. Thomas received 121 votes and Roosevelt 77. One Prohibition ballot was also received. Democratic men and women voted for Roosevelt but many men gave preference to Hoover as did girls of the women's college. Only two men voted for Thomas, three women for Thomas and one man for the Prohibitionist candidate. 3 ballots

Thomas Leads at Fraternities

Thomas led the other contestants at the fraternities. He received forty-three votes and two spoiled votes. Hoover placed second with the fraternity students receiving thirty-seven votes and the women's votes. Roosevelt was a [illegible] third, getting eight votes. The only complete vote cast for Foster came from a fraternity man.

The total tabulations showed that out of the 413 valid votes polled 207 men and sixteen women voted Democratic. 117 men and forty-two women voted Republican; 114 men and forty one women voted Socialist and two men cast

RECORD ENROLLMENT OF GRADUATE STUDENTS REACHED AT VERMONT

Thirty-three, Largest Number in University's History Work Towards Masters' Degree

INCREASE DUE TO STRICT TEACHING REQUIREMENTS

This year marks the largest enrollment of graduate students in the history of [illegible] V. M. according to a statement by the University committee on graduate degrees. Thirty-three graduates of [illegible] different colleges and universities are now working for master degrees. Last year the number of graduate students totaled twenty-six.

This increase the committee on graduate degrees believes is owing to the present tendency to require better preparation for all teachers from those in the grades to university instructors.

This is especially marked according to a statement from the committee in regard to [illegible] positions in the better high schools and for promotion of those already employed. The requirement is also being extended to grade school teachers and salaries are more and more reflecting the amount of training a teacher has had.

"This requirement by the school authorities has resulted in a large increase in graduate students both in the summer session and the regular sessions of the University, who are working for a master's degree. Such graduate work does not indicate that the teacher has spent an extra year or its equivalent in college but that he or she has been trained to do original work and has the ability to meet new situations by gathering data and drawing logical conclusions from it. Only in this way can capable leaders be developed."

Nineteen Vermonters

Of the thirty three graduate students enrolled, nineteen are University of Vermont graduates. The others are graduates of Brown, Dartmouth, Yale, Rensselaer, Radcliffe, Smith, Cornell, Connecticut Agricultural, Wisconsin, North Dakota, Ontario, Nevada, South Carolina and Mississippi A. and M.

The graduate students are carrying on work in sixteen different subjects, agriculture leading with five students working under the direction of the Vermont Agricultural Experiment Station. They are: H. C. Fowler, Connecticut Agricultural College '31, agricultural economics; Gilvert Lea, University of Wisconsin '31, soils; W. G. MEETINGS INSTITUTED FOR CLASS IN MUSIC I

The first of a series of open meetings of the music I class will be held in the Music Building Monday, October 24, at ten-thirty in the morning according to an announcement early this week by Prof. C. Leonard, music director. Illustrations of the principal composers studied will be presented. Professor Leonard will be assisted at the meetings by the other members of the department staff, Mme Elizabeth Bradish, and the Misses Charlotte deVolt and Miriam Marston.

At Monday's meeting Madame Bradish will sing Italian arias of the seventeenth century. Miss deVolt, at the piano, will play a Bach sonata.

All students interested are invited to attend the musical gatherings. Dates on which the meetings will be held will be announced.

Debaters Drop One Contest on Annual Invasion of Maine, N. H.

Hold No-decision Tilts With Plymouth Normal and Bates Colleges, Receiving First Setback at Hands of University of Maine Forensians

By R. S. Wright

Wednesday saw the return of the varsity debating team of five men from its first trip of the year, to Plymouth Normal College, Bates College, and the University of Maine, an itinerary covering over 600 miles. The first two named were no-decision contests and the last, with Maine, was a decision debate. The judge's vote was two to one in favor of University of Maine. This is the first defeat of Vermont's debating season.

Leaving U. V. M. at noon last Saturday, the team, consisting of J. E. Bigelow '33, manager, R. E. McCuin '34, captain-elect, C. A. Rogers '35, W. H. Myers '35, and R. S. Wright '35, reached Plymouth, N. H., late that afternoon. Plymouth Normal, exclusively a women's college, follows the ancient New England custom of beans and brown bread every Saturday night, and that Saturday evening was no exception. The simple fare disposed of, the Vermont men struggled into their tuxedoes, this being a formal affair, and sallied forth to the hall, where the debate was to take place. Once there, they found a large audience of about 150 awaiting them, and four men went on the platform, the others remaining in the front row for timing purposes. The four debaters at this affray were Bigelow, McCuin, Rogers and Wright. Myers acted as timekeeper.

The American style was used, three speakers taking turns, first with constructive arguments, followed by rebuttal. McCuin substituted for Rogers in rebuttal, Rogers taking the second constructive speech with Wright first and Bigelow third. Resolved, That intercollegiate athletics as now conducted are detrimental" furnished the foundation for the evening's debate, Vermont taking the negative. Neither of the three sophomore representatives of Plymouth Normal had ever debated before.

Sunday in Plymouth

Sunday morning was spent in Plymouth, church being followed by dinner in the college dining hall. Immediately afterward the quintet started off in the general direction of Lewiston, Me., their next stop, the vehicle of transportation being a 1929 Ford sedan, well filled with luggage, forensicists and the printed page.

The town of Lewiston and Bates College! Five o'clock that afternoon found them in Lewiston, established in Chase Hall, the student union building of Bates College. Sunday evening was spent in going through the town and investigating in especial the French quarter, which was quite extensive. Lewiston has about the same population as Burlington, but is primarily a business instead of a residential town.

Monday breakfast was eaten at the Commons of the college. It seems that at Bates all of the freshmen are obliged to live on the campus, and therefore in dormitories. Consequently, most of them eat at the Commons. There are no fraternities at Bates and no sororities, although according to one student the women's organizations amount to the same thing. The enrollment totals about 825.

Debating at Bates is a major activity. The coach is famous internationally, for Bates has made world tours and entertained European teams for several years. Only last year a team composed of men from Oxford and Cambridge came over to Bates to debate their varsity, and that same varsity made an extended debating tour of Canada. Last year they held the

The money in carrying on this project is obtained through trusts which amount to over $100,000,000 given by about twenty-five different persons each one presenting the money and specifying that it be spent for some definite purpose.

The commission consists of 300 members, leading citizens of their respective communities. Ex-Gov. J. E. Weeks is the chairman, and a very active member of the organization. Many of the departments of the State government including the Fish and Game Club, the forestry and school departments have had a part in the work of the commission.

At today's meeting new committees to carry on the work of the commission will be appointed.

The present executive committee consists of John E. Weeks, chairman; William E. Dyer, vice-chairman; Pres. Guy W. Bailey, treasurer; Prof. Harry F. Perkins, secretary; Mrs. Richard Averill, Mrs. H. K. Brooks, C. F. Dalton, C. H. Dempsey and H. F. Luce.

Today's Cynic carries a letter that [illegible] students have shown [illegible] [illegible] college [illegible] [illegible] have during the present [illegible]

That the [illegible] voted overwhelmingly for Thomas is no true indication of the political opinions of their members. The fraternity men took the straw ballot as a joke and their unserious preference [illegible] among the [illegible] outcome prove our validity in this contention.

It has been pointed out in [illegible] that the visit of Vice-Premier Charles Cross at the [illegible] last [illegible] many influence the political thought of the State. The same [illegible] of [illegible] were made [illegible] and it appears [illegible] as [illegible] we will in all probability [illegible] Vermont "go as goes go Louisiana."

[illegible] will no doubt be pleased that but one Communist vote was registered. We take the straight ballot as merely an indication [illegible] and another factor pointing to the promise that Vermont is far from radical.

That several students have not received a college conception of economics is evidenced in the large number of ballots rejected as invalid. Fifty-four students have yet to learn that all is not comical that stops with laughter rather in many instances pathetic.

In general we may conclude that as President Spiker of the International Relations Club states. The results speak for themselves and show that they are not to be taken lightly as an expression of University thought. W. C.

The Possibility of Freedom

It has been argued that the spirit of a university must be the spirit of freedom if thought is to be stimulated to its fullest development. The question at once arises. Is free [illegible] possible. If students are supposed to follow their own [illegible] and interests, are they not liable to make irreparable mistakes which, they would have escaped had they been required to follow certain courses. Thus we are faced with a fundamental dilemma on the one hand compulsion smothers thought, on the other, compulsion seems necessary to make certain that students will know that which is essential to a rounded mental development. How can freedom and necessary authority be reconciled.

The answer lies in the use of a professional imperative. Let the University say to the student. You wish to enter this institution, which implies that you wish to pursue a course of study in some field of knowledge. You are given the liberty of choosing the field in which you wish to work. You choose such and such a field. Very well. Now within this field, there are certain things which a well educated man ought to know. Accordingly, the university must set certain standards, and to those who reach these standards it will grant degrees. If, therefore, you wish to receive a degree it will be necessary for you to prepare yourself to meet these standards. The responsibility for preparing yourself is yours, and you may go about the task in your own way and at your own pace. The library and lectures of the university are at your disposal, you may attend lectures or not as you think best. The advice and guidance of the faculty are also open to you. These things the university provides for your use, but it does not demand you to use them. Its only requirement is that before you receive your degree you must show that you have attained the standards the university has set. The responsibility is your own.

In this way, by setting certain standards that are intrinsically reasonable and desirable while leaving the responsibility and effort for attaining these standards to the individual student himself, the dilemma is solved and freedom is possible under authority.—John Thurston of Minnesota.

Evans Wall, author of "The Love Jungle" and "The No Nation Girl," has left his swampland and moved the scene of his new book up to a farm. A huge farm, full of troubles for Dave Kerr, who married a sophisticated city girl from New Orleans, and who, being constantly occupied with his work and troubles, has never given a thought to the sex life any more than he had given a second thought to the purpose behind his setting hens.

The evolution of the psychic problem raised by his delicate wife and her triumph and remaking as a daughter of the soil show the skill of Evans Wall as a writer and his penetration as a student of human nature. He has been highly praised by metropolitan critics, and although the Herald Tribune may have stretched a point when it characterized the book as having the seductive savagery of a tribal love dance, we think that they are right in sensing his ability to hit at the primitive moving forces in the humbler strata of our population.

Louis Gayreau, author of the best seller Hot News, which was screened, has again done a book about the newspaper world, supposedly true to the last manuscript. The Scandal Monger is the story of a typical scandal columnist. This type has been revealed Gayreau shows the steps by which the scandal-shoveler rose from obscurity to "glorious wealth and power" only to lose it all in the end in the net of his own intrigue. The columnist doesn't hesitate to kill with his barbs, and at length loses his sanity under [illegible] pressure from his editor.

... the capital of Maine, and investigated the archives there on the subject of advertising, securing a dozen pamphlets vividly describing and setting forth the beauties of the State of Maine.

Passing through Bangor, they reached the Theta Chi fraternity house at the University at five in the afternoon. They were given supper and quarters at the fraternity house, and spent the time until the debate in finishing up their side. In this debate Vermont took the negative on the question, "Resolved, That most advertising tends to be detrimental to the general public." The debate was held in a small classroom of the Arts and Sciences Building, a group of students numbering about thirty-five attending. The teams contained two men each, and once more both members of the opposing team were sophomores. First both sides alternated with twelve-minute speeches in presentation, making four speeches in all, and then each side had two seven-minute and two five-minute rebuttals. It was the main contention of Rapaport and Boothby, the Maine men, that the main objection to advertising was that it harmed people mentally, morally and physically, by misrepresentation. They endeavored to prove that most of the money spent on advertising came directly from the pockets of people who could make better use of their time and money.

Vermont, on the other hand, contended that the greater percent of advertising was a positive benefit in that it brought before the public new products, kept them informed of changes, and showed them what to buy. Bigelow and Myers fought the good fight at this debate but it was of no avail. They lost the contest by a score of two to one, thus giving Maine her revenge for Vermont's victory last year.

Seven o'clock Wednesday morning, and the green Ford, somewhat the worse for wear, rolled out of the campus driveway, and took the highway for Burlington. With two stops, one for lunch and the other for gas, the five reached U. V. M. at 4:15 that afternoon, traveling 300 miles from Orono. In all, the trip covered three states and over 600 miles.

Janitor Claims Seniority Is Oldest Service Man

Edward Shequin, Billings Library Factotum Has Been in Charge of Building for Seventeen Years; Recalls Time When Students Numbered 350

By Arnold A. Ross

"Yes, sir, I'm the oldest service ... on the campus and outside of ... I'm the oldest man ... were the words of ... janitor of the ... Library as he chatted with ... Tuesday.

"I've been here for seventeen years now," Mr. Shequin went on. "Things change, people come and go, new buildings go up and new faces are seen in the library.

"There were only 350 students when I came, now there's over a thousand."

To the reporter's question as to what he thought of the college students at Vermont, Mr. Shequin's reply was quite favorable.

"They're a nice bunch of students. Ever in my seventeen years here, have I had what you might call a word with any of them. Oh, they do cut up a little now and then though," he amended.

"And the matter of the electric light bulbs—" the reporter tactfully broached the subject, fully aware that he was treading on dangerous ground. For there had been vague rumors afoot that certain of the light-fingered gentry had taken the ... bulbs and made off with them for purposes of illuminating their own abodes.

Mr. Shequin laughed good humoredly. "Well, I must admit that certain students do borrow them from the lights on the lower floor for reading purposes or other temporary uses, but I get them back. The largest number I've found missing at any time ...

"You know," he continued, as he turned the reporter, "I'd rather have a fellow come and see me if he had busted the bulb to his room and ... that he'd rather give me one than to have him take one out of the stalls. You see when they take them from the stalls, I don't know anything about it and when somebody goes in and finds the place dark there's apt to be a complaint."

So whenever some collegiate bibliomaniac burning the midnight oil too late finds himself lacking a Mazda why the best thing to do is for him to drop in and see Mr. Shequin.

The Smoke Story

"Another thing I have to watch out for is the smoking. There's a lot of books and papers in here and you can't be too careful. You know I like a good smoke just as well as the next fellow but when I want a pipeful I have to go outside.

"I had a funny thing happen one day with some smokers, though." The narrator laughed gleefully at the recollection. "There were several fellows and girls in the back room having a good time, in their own quiet way—but the smoke, you could cut it with a knife. Well I walked in. All the fellows butted their cigarettes but one girl was so frightened she didn't know what to do and just stood their with her cigarette in her hand. I said to them 'You know follows the rules about smoking here. Of course I know that you girls don't smoke.'"

The reporter emphatically and unfortunately omitted such a charge.

"I can see that by your hand I said, and you know that girl looked down at her cigarette and blushed something ...

It seems that Vermont hasn't been singled out for ... with Shequin as we got to be known on other college campuses for Mr. Shequin said that as far as he knew very few books of indeed any at all were stolen from the shelves.

"Yes, sir, I've handled quite a number of books during my seventeen years at the library," the janitor continued. "I bet if you stacked ... one on top of the other it would be quite some stack. And then if you lined up the people that have graduated from college during my day here there'd be quite some ...

There had also been reports that at one time in the past the basement of the library where Mr. Shequin has rigged up a homy little office was converted into a gymnasium. Here gymnasts of the past were wont to assemble and indulge in ... feats of strength and ...

Kicking the Can

"You see that can hanging up there." He pointed to a small tin can dangling from the asbestos-covered steam pipe. "Well some of the boys used to come down and have a try at kickin' the can. Six feet three, she sets." Of course the reporter had to have a try at the can.

Then the janitor humorously recounted how one of the stellar gridmen of the Green and Gold in past years had made a painful connection between the cement floor and the base of his spine in his efforts to kick the can. And how finally the gymnast with a commendable determination had realized his ambition and booted the elusive can from a low stool. This gymnastic apparatus was but one of many to ...

RADIO BILL PROMISES SOME SPICY FOOTBALL PROGRAMS FOR WEEK

Tomorrow's Broadcast of Yale-Army Classic to Lead in Importance Over Air

The radio bill of football fare promises [illegible] super tempting grid dishes during the next few days.

From the Bowl at New Haven Ted Husing will dish out his well spiced word pictures over the WABC-Columbia network on Saturday, October 27 on the occasion of one of the traditional high lights among the meetings on the eastern schedule that between Yale and Army. On the following Saturday October 29 Ted will air one of the classics of the 1932 schedule from the Smoky City—the battle between Notre Dame and Pitt, two of the most potent "power houses" of this current season. Each contest will go on the air at 1:45 p.m. eastern standard time, preceded by a fifteen-minute "Football Souvenir Program" of songs of those colleges.

"Sleepy Jim" Crowley, Michigan State mentor and ex-"Horseman" will be the interview guest of Christy Walsh during the "All-America Football Show" over WABC-CBS from 9.00 to 9.30 p.m. tonight. Crowley first achieved fame several seasons back as a member of football's most famous combination—the "Four Horsemen of Notre Dame"—in which his mates were Layden, Miller and Stuhldreher. All have since then continued their football careers with notable success as coaches. Crowley took over the reins at Michigan State immediately after his graduation from college and brought it up from comparative obscurity to become a power to be reckoned with in Mid-west football circles. Considerably renowned as a wit, he made opposing football players suffer as much from his unmerciful "ribbing" as from physical struggles, and some of his sparkling humor will doubtless be injected into the interview. Freddie Rich and his band and the male chorus will offer songs of colleges playing a prominent part in the football achievements of the previous Saturday in addition to the Maine "Stein Song," the "Washington and Lee Swing," and a song of the University of Nebraska. Harry von Zell will give his "fan's ear views" of two exciting games of Saturday, October 15, and Christy will name his list of the week's ten best individual players throughout the country to complete the program.

Eddie Dooley, sports writer and former all American quarterback from Dartmouth, will be heard as usual every Thursday, Friday and Saturday, from 6:30 to 6:45 p.m. eastern standard time over an eastern WABC-Columbia net work with his "Football Dope" forecasts, results, and chatter about teams and players.

BENNY FRIEDMAN RATES YOUNG INMORTAL TITLE

"Benny Friedman always did the right thing at the right time," says Damon Runyon, in an article in Collier's Weekly series of "Young Immortals" in the November issue of that magazine. "It was the sort of sportsmanship that prompted Yost to say: 'He is the only quarterback I've ever seen who never makes a mistake.'

"Never once did he call 'his' men signal to carry the ball inside the opponent's twenty yard line in spite of what he was for three years" up on the list of conference luck starters. Our system locked entirely opposite plays from without a miss. In his senior year he captained the Michigan team that only lacked a point of being undefeated and untied champion. He was elected class and honor. He was elected class and Michigan's the two highest campus honors at Michigan.

In the three years that he has been in New York he has largely through his own efforts directed not less than a hundred thousand dollars worth charities. Several times each month he speaks before high schools or boys clubs always stressing the necessity of obtaining well rounded education for the sake of use in life. This autumn he will lead the Brooklyn Dodgers on a new campaign for non-football fans, one major idea is [illegible] to get up the game and give the customers more of a show for their money and (2) to see to it that a fair percentage of the gate receipts go to charity. He's perfectly honest about his football playing. He knows he is good and he'll tell you so, but there is no arrogance to him."

"Nature in the Raw"— as portrayed by Meissonier's famous painting (1855)... inspired by the savage passion held in check by Henry IV's stern edict against duels among the nobles of his court.

They are not present in Luckies . . . the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"
That package of mild Luckies

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, tho he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON.
Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?

MOCK TRIAL CARRIED ON BY MEN OF ADVANCED MILITARY DEPARTMENT

Courts-Martial Tries Freedom, While Reed Acts as Counsel for the Defense

Once each year the military department hold a mock trial or courts martial. The trial has been taking place the last few days on the campus of the University of Vermont. All the senior members of the military department are active participants in the trial taking place.

Louis Freedom is the defendant in the case which started last Thursday morning. He was charged with being A. W. O. L. and petty larcency of stealing a pair of military boots. The attorney for the defense is Lionel Reed while Mario Ciardelli is the assistant counsel for the defense. The Trial Judge Advocate is Lester Woodward, while his assistant is David King. The president of the court is Topper Lenden. The officers sitting in the court are Charles Grant Raymond Bagley, Russell Collamy, Hoyt Press, Max Powell, Al Baldwin, Leland Dunham, Mickey Walker and John Willis. The witnesses in the case are Grant Bowers, Valerio and Utley. The court stenographer is Lorraine Guillett '29.

On the men sitting on the bench Bagley, is the Law Advisor. Willis is the accuser.

Last Thursday morning, the men on the jury were sworn in. The Chief Judge Advocate read the charges to the defendant attorney and the defendant. The defense counsel asked for the removal of Major Press from the jury because he had previously sat on the jury against the same defendant. However, Major Press rebutted the statement by the fact that since on the former occasion the defendant had been ac...

SENIORS TO BE ADVISED THIS YEAR BY MEMBERS OF THE ENGLISH DEPT.

Tentative List of Seniors and Their Faculty Members Published

The English department has announced a slight change in the handling of the senior reports this year. All students have been assigned to professors or instructors who will act as advisors with full authority.

The members of the English department would like to have each student see his advisor as soon as possible in order to get the reports under way. Under the old plan where anyone could consult with any member of the department, there was a great deal of confusion and a pile-up of reports at the end of the year. The system this year is expected to alleviate these troubles.

The reading required this year the same as was required last year is divided into 8 groups with different numbers in each group, seniors who are majoring in each field and those who are not. The first group, the non-electives group, is a study group, the next electives group is a study of literature. The second is a study of literature. The third, plays. The third, the novel. The fourth, poetry. The sixth, history, and the sixth poetry, and the seventh is the Bible, biography, and the seventh is a complete list of titles be applying to be adviser in the department.

A senior who is not majoring in English is required to report on six titles, one from group two, one from group three, one selection from each of the groups four and five and a report on two group six or Individual selections. A senior who is majoring in English is required to submit seven reports as follows: One report selection from the first group, from Group II, Elective and one from Group III, three reports on plays including one of Shakespeare's, six selections from Group V, two one selections from Group VI, two biographies and a report on some Individual selections.

CHOIR IS REFORMED FOR ACTIVE VOCAL PROGRAM DURING COMING SEASON

List of Members Announced by Director Leonard as Season is Outlined

The University Choir has again been formed this year under the direction of Prof. C. I. Leonard acting as music director during Prof. H. G. Bennett's sabbatical leave. The choir has rendered selections at three of the five chapel services held this fall. A vacation was given the singers on Wednesday, October 12, when Ernest Johnson negro singer of spirituals, conducted the ten o'clock session.

At the first Sunday vesper service to be held October 30, the choir will offer an anthem selection. Rehearsals are already in progress for a concert to be held sometime just before the Christmas vacation.

The following members of the student body compose the University Choir:

First sopranos: E. Brown '36, R. Love... '36, L. Johnson '36, M. Putnam '34, F. Wilkins '35.

Second sopranos: B. Eggleston '33, H. Hooper '36, C. Odell '33, V. Punnton '34, I. Swanson '...

First altos: M. Hayden '34, P. Perry '33, L. Petrie '36, E. Wallace '33.

Second altos: N. Candee '36, C. Cate '... J. Monahan '35, E. Reesa '33, J. Wilcox '36.

First tenors: R. Collamy '33, A. Hurd... '33, R. Jenks '35 (mgr.), R. Neal '36, ... Preston '34.

Second tenors: E. Bingham '34, E. Eat... '34, J. McGrath '34, H. Varney '... (mgr.), A. Wilcox '35.

First basses: D. Campbell, J. Gordon '33, C. Hale '35, F. Nejsel '36, H. Rowe '36, G. Bartlett '34.

Second basses: G. Davis '34, C. Harwood '34, D. Jenks '34, W. Morgan '35, A. Williams '35, S. Wright '35.

At the last meeting of the Men's Glee Club, Thursday evening, October 13, the following members were elected to offices: D. W. Jenks '34, manager; G. L. Davis '34, C. E. Harwood '34, A. R. Wilcox '35, assistant managers. Concerts by the organization are in the making, and it is expected that the club will make a trip to Boston to take part in the New England competition.

WORK ON GRINDS MUST BE IN BEFORE END OF MONTH AVERS MARTIN

Printing Contract to be Let During Week, While Budget is to be Printed Soon

Work on the grinds for the 1934 Ariel has already been started according to a statement by Grand Eelator Raymond Martin of Kirtland, Vermont. Grind editors were selected one from each fraternity on the campus. It is their collective duty to have all grinds in to Martin before the end of the month.

The grind editors from the various fraternities are as follows: Lambda Iota, G. L. Davis; Sigma Phi, G. H. Burrows, II; Delta Psi, J. L. Beckley, Phi Delta Theta, K. E. Johnson; Kappa Sigma, G. W. Patterson; Alpha Tau Omega, W. R. Ryan, Sigma Nu, E. W. Carlson; Phi Mu Delta, W. O. Concan... Tau Epsilon Phi, E. W. Weinstein; Zeta Chi, J. E. Moore; Phi Sigma Delta, W. V. Cohen; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, D. C. Worcester; Sigma Delta, W. F. ... Independent, E. H. Leighton.

Most of the preliminary work on the annual book has been completed and a number of the features picture have been taken. This is usually one of the biggest and hardest jobs on the book according to the editor. Aside from the regular book, the 1934 Ariel will have individual pictures in the fraternity section.

There will be a meeting of the managerial board tomorrow evening at 7:30 at the Sigma Phi place. There will also be a meeting of the entire business staff this afternoon in the Old Mill Chapel at four o'clock. A contest, a budget of the "real dope" will be published next Thursday in the Cynic. The printing contract will probably be awarded this week as it is necessary to hold the business manager and editor.

CASTS FOR DEAN CUP PLAYS ANNOUNCED AS PRACTICE IS STARTED

"Susanna Skids," "When the Horn Blows" and "And There Was Light" are the Plays

Casts for the plays presented by the three Dean Cup teams were chosen at tryouts held Monday and Wednesday afternoons of last week under the direction of Virginia Gunderson, assistant professor of Dramatic Arts. These plays are given every fall under the auspices of the Dramatic Club, and usually offer a good chance for those who are not already members of the Dramatic Club to make it and only be taking a part in the performance but in doing managerial or committee work. Those who made the casts are requested to be present at the first rehearsal which will be held later. (Continued on page 3)

DANCE THE NEXT EVE. TO BE EXCEPTIONAL

The annual Key and Serpent parade and pep rally is to be a prelude to the first ... ever held in Burlington and will start from the Univer... of Vermont at the Old Mill Clock tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock. The parade will proceed down College Street to the City Hall Park where the annual Norwich pep rally is being sponsored this year by Key and Serpent, junior men's honorary society.

Cheerleaders John Burke, Fred Graham and ... ... and Cheerleaders Larry Lamprey and Skip Bisbee and Manager ... Hawk will make up the principal parts on the speakers program. Others interested in producing entertainment at the Dartmouth game on Vermont will assist in the pep rally. The songs and cheers will be led by George Fraser '33, Caroline Lee '33, Florence Reese '33, Winona Cutler '33 and Lucy Wood '33, who so capably handled the cheer leading at the Providence game several weeks ago.

Thomas Cogswell '34, president of the society, will act as toastmaster at Friday evening's festivities. Donald Tobin '34, chairman of the rally, expressed the desire that every man in the college student body attend the rally to help us in the return for the game on the following day. He hopes that more freshmen will attend the rally than there were at the last preparation for the annual interfraternity game of the season and, probably, the contest at which the most freedom is exhibited.

FRATERNITIES' MESSAGE TO FROSH

[illegible] welcome you. You are [illegible] salvation. You are [illegible] growth whose aims are [illegible] development. To the eternal fresh [illegible] year we present [illegible] each year we pass in review before [illegible] each pledge we the fraternities absorb a new group of men [illegible] to provide the executives of the future. In change, [illegible] you we place [illegible] unknown factor. On you we place [illegible] for the coming years.

But you are no mere machines, giving a calculated amount of [illegible] to the good will. You are personalities latent with possibilities [illegible]. The personality is no mere factor. Primarily, it is an [illegible] to the fundamentals of friendship. But this, even, is too [illegible]. Friendship grows spontaneously and well it comes cooperation [illegible] appreciation. A fraternity with such a foundation is a [illegible] with no external [illegible] necessary. From such a group a strength of well directed action will issue, gaining acceleration [illegible] each new obstacle with each new impulse.

Only two of them years ago, we too were freshmen; as the years have passed we have matured more and more the far-reaching influence of the fraternity. But change and new blood are necessary; you symbolize the intangible. Consequently with new hopes for ever greater [illegible] we turn to cast for that which is to come.—J. I.

Regarding That Rally Friday

To be sure the varsity gridsters have not been playing the brand of football they were predicted to play after that memorable Dartmouth game early in the season but they are fighting and have not been beaten as badly this year as they were last year.

Friday evening as a preliminary festivity to the Norwich encounter the entire student body will march down street en masse to hear speeches and give cheers in the City Hall Park. The torchlight parade is one of the few real traditions that have been retained through the years at the University of Vermont. Red lights, shouting, [illegible] songs, the band, pep talks and good fellowship have reigned at all these pep rallies. Men and women are invited to participate in Friday evening's rally. To make it stronger, if college men and women have college spirit at all, they should lay down the books on Friday evening and get out and shake down the hill with the rest of the college.

The team needs support now more than ever before. They are about to launch their ship against Norwich and Middlebury, but there must be crowds to give the team a real send-off on its voyage. Let's have everyone present at Friday evening's rally.

EQUITATION CLASSES TO START NOVEMBER 7

Captain Clark, instructor in equitation, announces that classes in horseback riding have started on the military riding master. These classes will start November 7, Wednesday and continue every day, Saturday and Sunday for twelve weeks the rest of the semester.

INTEREST

Prof. Dean Meredith: What is interest?

Junior: In the early times receiving interest was considered a crime and a sin because that a person lent money to another the second person was supposed to be in trouble and his love in danger. He gave money the least to the lender with out putting in the act. The borrowed money was supposed to be used to keep the borrower from prison. But today money is borrowed not only for [illegible] purposes. It is borrowed by one person that he may increase his profits and out of these profits he is able to pay interest to the one of whom he borrowed.

Prof. Butterfield: What sort of a curve would you get from the equation y = x if you should rotate it.

F. M. Libby: It would be a doughnut in infinity.

Prof. Linearity: Now Whalen, I want you to go to the board and prove to the class that if two intersecting lines in one plane are respectively parallel to two intersecting lines in the other

Whalen: I think the bell just rang, Mr. Linearini.

First freshman: Are you going to that Kay and Snake social Saturday night?

Second frosh: I think I shall go.

First frosh (again): Social I.

Prof. Carpenter: What's the trouble, can't you make out the text?

Young Lanou: I can see the text alright but the interlining is a little indistinct.

Prof. Meredith (again): And will you do this.

Clem Taylor: I either didn't understand the question or I don't know the answer.

Prof. Metcalf: Does anyone in the class remember anything that happened before their second birthday?

Johnny Symonds: Yes, I remember shaking hands with the doctor when I was born.

Prof. Powers (in debate lecture): Debate requires thought.

Mike Benway: I guess I'd better drop the course.

Miss Courtney: Why do you wish to change your seat, Bowers?

Bowers: It seems to be too small for me.

Miss Courtney: You may do so then.

Valerio: May I change my seat also?

Miss Courtney: Why do you wish to change your seat, Valerio?

Valerio (spitting): Because I don't want to look at that girl all day.

Miss Courtney: Then, look the other way, why not?

Mike: Then I'll have to look at you all day and that will be worse.

Walters (at engineering camp): What are we going to use for a tent tonight, Clarence?

Brewer: Well, we may as well use Wegner's pants tonight.

There will be a meeting of the entire men's editorial board of the Ariel staff at Sigma Phi Place on Wednesday, October 26 at 7.30. Per order of Chet Eaton.

THEATRE

Majestic

(M. J.) Pack Up Your Troubles. [illegible] another. Good exercise for the weak appendix. Laurel and Hardy in an [illegible] slice of army life. The latter feature of the two [illegible] is a happy compromise between the old-time days and the present [illegible] style. There is surprising [illegible] and the pantomime [illegible] exceedingly thereby.

(W. L.) The Old Dark House. J. B. Priestly's shocker brought to life and sound. Frankenstein Karloff returns to the Majestic in Universal's new release. Charles Laughton, Mel Douglas, Lil Bond, Ern Thesiger, Gloria Stuart, and others furnish the atmosphere and plenty of action.

(F. S.) The Vanishing Frontier. A tale of the Old West, with Evelyn (Miss U. S. A.) Knapp, Zasu (Handy) Pitts, Ray Hatton, and J. Farrell MacDonald having leading rôles. Johnny Mack Brown, starring, played his first job with J. Coogan, but got on the wagon right off, playing successively with M. Davies, N. Shearer and the great G. (you-better-go-now) Garbo.

State

(M. T.) But The Flesh Is Weak. Better not miss it this time. Robbie (my-sweet) Montgomery improves tremendously with time. What a lover! Don't you wish you could say "I adore you" with the nonchalance of our national parlor hero. One would think he were addressing the elevator operator, "Nine out, please." Good support.

(W. T.) Heart of New York. Mendel Marantz had ideas, but his family couldn't see them. He steals much of the show from the celebrated comics, Smith and Dale. See what happens when the invention works. Complications and lots of heart throbs in between laughing spells.

(F. S.) Beauty and the Boss. Lots of alliteration: Marian Marsh and Warren Williams. Story of big-city life and the steno in the clutches of a love. . . . good show.

Strong

(M. T.) What Price Hollywood. She belonged to the crowd. Even her love was public property. Oh, Oh. Connie Bennett, Lowell Sherman, and Neil Hamilton. What a combination. Some inside angles.

(W. T.) The Night Mayor. After doing a Winchell, Lee Tracy takes a flyer at being ex-mayor of New York. He put the It in politics, says the P. A. And here's Evalyn Knapp again. Warren Hymer, Eugene Pallette. Good for a few hours.

(F. S.) Hell-Fire Austin. With the wonder-horse Tarzan. Relaxation days. Blazing six-shooters and flying fists mark the fantastic trail of this hard-hearted [illegible] who never started a fight but always ended one.

Marsh Library Rules

I. Speak only in a whisper while in this library. Members of the faculty may laugh and shout, but their right comes through might, therefore cannot be questioned.

II. Committee meetings have first right to the use of this library unless ejaculated by contentious instructors.

III. If, by a rare stroke of fortune, you have been permitted to enter the sacred precincts, keep watch for an incoming professor. If one appears, do him homage in inverse proportion to his importance. If it is the president, merely walk out: if it is a professor go out on hands and knees, but if it is an instructor microbe, worm your way out from the awful presence—stopping from time to time so that he may spit upon your head.

Beginning this fall two of the smaller dormitories at Mount Holyoke College will be run on a cooperative basis, with the girls doing all of the work except the cooking and in turn receiving a reduction of $200 from their tuition and board fees.

NOTICE TO SENIORS

Seniors in the College of Arts and Sciences (those taking the curriculum of commerce and economics are alone excepted) are required to write six reports for the English department—three each semester. Lists and details will be supplied at the English office.

NO FOOLING . . . . you'll be surprised at the way an order of Shredded Wheat each day can snap up your energy. And why shouldn't it?

Shredded Wheat is Nature's own energy food . . . 100% whole wheat. Not a thing added and not a thing lost. All the energy-building elements that Nature intended you to have are right there, ready to get going.

And you can shout this around the Campus, too! You don't have to learn to like Shredded Wheat. Eat it once, twice, three times and you're friends for life. Quick, waiter, bring the cream!

When you see Niagara Falls on the package you KNOW you have Shredded Wheat.

MIDDLEBURY DEFEATS ITHACA COLLEGE, 25-7

Middlebury, Oct. 22—The Middlebury eleven swamped Ithaca College this afternoon 25 to 7.

Lee Parcher made twenty three first downs to the visitors 5.

The performance of Hoyle and Williams coupled with Collins' line plunging netted Middlebury four touchdowns and Cooke kicked a point. A short pass from Parrick to Kanzand, who had to stand to score, and Sawyer's kick account for the Ithaca total. The summary

Three U. V. M. Men Are News Reporters

Two men in this University are working on local newspapers and another of the class of '32 is in correspondence. They are R. C. P. Eaton '34, and F. F. Upper '32, McCuin holding a position on the Burlington Daily News and Upper being on the staff of the Boston Free Press. All three have figured in college editorial circles. Upper's positions of reporter and managing editor on the Cynic board and now a news editor on the Free Press. Eaton is editor now of the Burlington Daily. Neither McCuin nor Upper intend to make the journalistic profession their life work.

McCuin writes University news for the Burlington Daily News and is one of those people who are responsible for the University news and editorials in the Cynic. Usually news stories are handed in three or four times a week commenting on his work McCuin says, "The work is stimulating and I think it is good training in literary work. I find it very enjoyable." He has held his position since the opening of college.

Eaton holds a similar position on the staff of the Burlington Daily News. His reaction is, "The Free Press is a live news." Eaton also finds the work interesting and stimulating. He has been working the same length of time as McCuin.

Upper has been writing sports for the Free Press since the beginning of the year. He finds that his experience on the Cynic board was a great help for journalistic endeavor.

Golf instruction is being given as a regular physical education course at Washington University.

KAPPA SIGMA OUSTS PHI MU DELTA FROM TOUCH FOOTBALL COMPETITION

Zeta Chi Defeats Lambda Iota by 14-0 Score in Previous Game of 1932 Series

The Kappa Sigma touch football team quickly rolled over the Phi Mu Delta team by an 18-12 score last Thursday afternoon on the University back campus. The winning touchdown came in the last quarter.

Both teams played good ball, had fine material, and seemed evenly matched all around. The breaks were evenly distributed throughout the contest. The Phi Mu backs with H. E. Howard, acting captain, resorted to many trick plays to gain their ground. On the other hand, the Kappa Sigs played fast, straight football using the fundamentals to the best advantage.

Play was fast throughout the entire contest. Both teams were battling throughout the game. At the beginning of the second half Pete Eyford kicked off to the Kappa Sigs, who took the ball and ran by a series of short passes for a touchdown. Bing Brown made the tally. Buster Adams immediately booted the pigskin on a kick off, and the Phi Mus immediately retaliated by scoring a touchdown.

During the first quarter the ball was rushed down the field by the Sigs and another touchdown was scored. The Phi Mus got their second and last tally not soon afterwards on a pass from Young to Bushey. In about the middle of the fourth quarter Harper Pires passed to Bus Adams, who whipped a long pass to Ken Smith who scored a touchdown. The final count was 18-12 in the Kappa Sig favor.

Zetes Down Owls

Earl Morse '34 and Poogo Pogar '35, bespectacled stars of the Zeta Chi team, led their team to a victory over the Lambda Iota touch football team last Wednesday on the back campus by a 14-0 score.

The game was close throughout, neither team showing a great deal of strength, but the Zetes, supplied with a crop of rabbits' feet, received a large number of breaks. Capt. Date Bennett '34 of the Owls seemed outstanding for the losers, whereas Glen Ricker was the dependable man on the Zeta Chi team. Both teams were evenly matched.

Pogar was the outstanding man on the defensive for the Zeta Chis, while Earl Morse did most of the pass blocking. It was Pogar who drew first blood by nailing "Mam" Scott behind the goal for a safety. Score 2-0.

The ball see-sawed up and down the field with no particular advantage, until suddenly on one play Earl Morse intercepted a pass meant for Howard Abbott and ran and then passed to Logan, who romped to the first touchdown of the game. The score was then 8-0.

The second touchdown did not come until the last quarter, when Ricker received a pass and stepped over the goal line. The final score was 14-0.

Several publicity students from Boston University recently conducted a survey of over two hundred business men. The resulting statistic revealed that the comic strip is the most widely read section of the daily paper. Display ads and photographs rate next in order, and editorials won fourth place.

A "junior freshman" squad will be maintained at the University of Illinois this season for those unable to make the "freshman varsity."

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the noted artist, Karl Godwin ... inspired by the fierce and brilliant assault by Clive and a handful of followers, outnumbered 20 to 1 by savage hordes of bloodthirsty natives, at the Battle of Plassey—the birth of the British Indian Empire —as described in the famous Henty book, "With Clive in India."

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies . . . the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

MAHONEY IS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF FROSH

H. Leonard Mahoney of South Adams, Mass., was elected president of the class of 1936 at the first meeting of the past two weeks and in the Williams recess Hall. Other newly elected presidents were E. Rathbun Greenough of Warwick, Willard D. Gorton of Burlington and Gertrude Smith of Hyde Park, Mass.

E. Elizabeth Haig of Burlington was chosen vice president over Frances Kemp of Fort Meade, Va., and Eugene Atwood of Middlebury. Nan Barbeau of Greenwich, Conn., became secretary. Other candidates were Harriet Gray of Burlington and Lucia Chapman of North Williston.

Arthur Mayville of Milton was chosen class treasurer from a field of six candidates. The other nominees included Robert Neal of Springfield, Clifton Howes of Adams, Mass., Samuel Stebbins of Pembroke, N.H., Montgomery of Rockport, Me., and John Caldwell of Lyndonville Center, Mass.

AVERAGE FROSH DOES NOT STUDY CORRECTLY REVEALS MISS NULTY

Interview With Director of Counsellors for Frosh Women Shows Many Causes for Failures

"The average freshman does not know how to study," states Miss Nulty, director of counsellors for freshman women. "Usually she does not make a wise use of her time, becomes discouraged because college work requires more effort and its standard are higher and finding the attempt too difficult drops out early or fails to measure up to the required academic standards." Miss Nulty proceeding said that in her opinion many of these freshmen do not know what it means really to work because they have been doing the same work as everybody else, without effort, and when something real is required of them they are helpless. Many students in classes, the greatest percentage, succeed in getting a passing grade, and those students also have supposed during the term to work very little to succeed in the final examinations. Many are attracted by the

TWO PROFESSORS RENDER PERSONAL ACCOUNTS OF TRIP

Professors Myrick and Bassett Address Church Assemblage in Inspiring Talks

CONTRAST GREECE AND ITALY NOW AS FORMERLY

Contrasting the Greece of thirty years ago with that of today and the Italy of three decades ago with the present day, two University of Vermont professors gave an inspiring travelogue to the presence of nearly 200 members of the College Street Church recently at the autumn parish gathering.

Prof. S. F. Bassett, who with Mrs. Bassett spent several months in Greece, took the parishioners on an imaginary trip across the Atlantic and along the Mediterranean Sea in December, when, he said, the seas had none of the aspect of fear crossing and the skies never seemed better.

First Visit in Thirty Years

It was his first trip to Athens in thirty years and Mrs. Bassett's first trip. They had some of Vermont's climate there, he said, for the winter was the coldest in forty years.

He told of the changes wrought in forty years, one of the most important being the change in population, from 3,000,000 to close to one million people, the majorities of whom were refugees from Smyrna in 1922.

Professor Bassett told of meeting many Americans in Athens, especially in the colleges. The outstanding work of Americans there is the lake and dam, at which the Attica which in little over four years were built to supply the city of Athens' one million population with one of the best waters in the world.

He touched a number of other points of historical interest and presentations are taking place currently at Corinth and Delphi. He gave of the ruins of the temple of Olympian Zeus, the theatre, capable of accommodating 20,000 persons, at Delphi and Corinth, the ruins of Diogenes. He told of visiting Acropolis Hill with Mrs. Bassett, one report of which the church

Several Vermont Students Travel to All Parts of State to Take Charge of Services

Many student deputations to communities of the state are being organized this year by the Christian Association of the University of Vermont. Mostly by Pioneer graduate courses in Christian work at the University of Redgrave and probably no state group contains together as many students from all parts of Pioneer students taking part in the course but several leaders and speakers have been listed.

Last Sunday, October 23 a deputation was sent to the state Industrial School at Waterbury in the afternoon and another to the Baptist Church in Burlington in the evening. On Tuesday of this week a musical program is being provided for the Ladies' Home Circle of the Methodist Church in Essex Junction. Next Sunday two deputations will be sent out at Charlotte and another at South Royalton. On the following Sunday November 6 there will be a deputation at Cambridge and on the Sunday after one at the Methodist Church in Burlington. Other locations that will have deputations that are not as yet definitely arranged are Grand Isle, Swanton, Orwell, Brandon, Randolph, Marshfield and Johnson.

Among students taking part in the deputations during the year are: Joseph Burlington; Sylvia Bond, West Newbury, Mass.; Clarence Bragg, Bradford; Norma Carder, Newport; Lloyd Eastley, Montpelier; Arlington

ALLIANCE FRANCAISE WILL SPONSOR LECTURE GIVEN BY PROF. REAN

Illustrated Program to be Presented on French Life During the 18th Century

Prof. Louis Rean from the University of Paris will read an illustrated lecture Saturday evening, November 5 at eight o'clock in the auditorium of the Robert Hull Fleming Museum. The lecture is the second of a series of French talks sponsored by the Alliance Francaise. The last lecture was given recently here ago by Father Hermann of St. Michael's College.

Mr. Rean will lecture before a number of French classes and the public is invited to attend.

Monsieur Rean was born in Paris in 1881. He graduated summa cum laude from the University of Paris and was a professor at the Lycee Janson de Sailly. He was appointed professor of the Lycee Pasteur in Neuilly in 1911 and was a professor there until 1920 when he was made professor at the Lycee Voltaire. At the outbreak of the World War he became director of the Service de Propagande de Presse Etrangere. At the end of the war he resigned to accept the position of Professor of French Literature at the University of Pennsylvania where he remained until 1926. He was then made professor at the Lycee Janson de Sailly where he remained until 1930 when he was made professor at the Lycee Voltaire. At the outbreak of the World War he became director of the Service de Propagande de Presse Etrangere. At the end of the war he resigned to accept the position of

TORCH PARADE TONIGHT, DANCE TOMORROW EVE

Tomorrow's game with the Norwich Horsemen will find the Green and Gold team completely prepared for Vermont's second home contest of the season. The cheering section will present a novelty at the game when they form the letters "N" and "V" with cards, with which they had previously been supplied by the Gold Key society. It is the first attempt on the part of the student body to present anything along that line.

Students who wished a seat in this section must exchange his student ticket for a ticket in the reserved section this afternoon that is sections C and D in the south stand. Exchanges can be made in the Old Mill this afternoon between the hours of one and five o'clock. And right in the middle of the whole section will be the R. O. T. C. band.

Concerning the Letters

The letters have already been marked out on the seating plan for the cheering section and at that time Gold Key pins were placed in the seats marked on the seating plan. The person may have cast a green card and a gold card on both G. W. Plaza. The head cheerleader will announce the color of the card to be used and then he signal all the cards in the section are to be raised. Get on your feet and yell for the team. Don't be bashful. Get on your feet and yell for Vermont and show them that we are behind the team. Remember that the Norwich game is the first game in the conference and that a victory is necessary if we are to win the championship.

At 7:30 tonight at the foot of the campus there will be a torch parade. Last year this parade was a big success and this year it promises to be even better. Everyone is urged to be present and to bring a torch. The parade will march around the campus and then to the Old Mill where the rally will be held. Short talks will be given by Coach Jack Lavigne, Captain Ed Cullen and Manager Bill Hall.

Tomorrow night there will be a dance in the Old Mill. Admission will be 50 cents per person. Everyone is urged to attend this dance.

Professor Ewert has hit on an unusually effective method of producing strong motivation to get the best possible score continually throughout the trials. The score is measured in the speed of reading a series of the letter [illegible] the number of errors are present.

After the subject has reached the smooth plateau of speed he is given a [illegible] bar code. From now on he must keep his score at least as high as the standard [illegible] to the experimenter. Professor Ewert would like to have more than 200 students take the tests. He may be found during school hours on the third floor in North College. Those who have practiced mirror drawing will not be allowed to take the test.

Student Union Council Believes Society at Dorms Would Help

Believing that student government should do more than make and enforce rules of conduct the executive board of Student Union is cooperating with Dean Patterson to create a better social life for women downstairs. The aim is not only [illegible] to create a social program for the year depending on the interest of students in the dorm, and to make suggestions as to the kind of [illegible] It is thought that by proposing [illegible] such recreations as [illegible] house teas and dancing a better spirit of [illegible] and cooperation among the girls.

Johnson Hall started the social activities by combining the advantages of a large dining hall with a victrola and [illegible] dancing to make a most enjoyable [illegible] dance. The first event proved so successful that plans are now being made by a committee under Wanda Cutler '33 for a Hallowe'en party to be given on some evening of next week.

Slade Hall is really leading in social activities but mainly because of the [illegible] upperclasses than the older dorms. But also because the girls living there have caught the spirit of cooperation as interpreted by Student Union. Outside of study hours there is very often a group of girls gathered around the piano either singing or listening to the more talented. The kitchenette, which contains two dish

Columbo was the big gun for the A T O team although Breslin Burke and Mahoney were not far behind him. Columbo accounted for three touchdowns for his team. The first score in the second half for A T O came from a short pass from Breslin to Burke over the goal line. Another tally came when Columbo ran half the length of the field eluding the best efforts of S A E. The luminaries for S A E were Melodia and Valerio. Bernie and Mike exhibited a speed and accuracy in catching and receiving passes that compared favorably with the A T O aces.

The attack of the winners was remarkable, six passes completed in succession before finally being knocked down. Their defense was not much inferior to

BAILEY CUP DEBATE TO TAKE PLACE WEDNESDAY IN MUSEUM AUDITORIUM

The Question, Resolved, That the Honor System Should be Adopted at the Colleges of U. V. M.

SENATOR BAILEY, DONOR OF CUP, INTERVIEWED

Stebbins, Hale and Greemore Debate Against Patnode, Rogers and Kingsley

The annual traditional clash of the two lower classes, the battle of brain not known as the Bailey cup debate, will be held Wednesday evening, November 9, at the Fleming Museum on the subject, "Resolved, that the honor system should be adopted by the colleges of the University of Vermont." will be discussed. Senator Bailey, donor of the trophy given at this debate, when interviewed made the following statement: "I was a member of the Intercollegiate Debate Club, which later formed the Intercollegiate Debate Society. When working for my advance degree, I offered the cup to stimulate inter-class debating. Asked the question as to what constitutes the subject matter of these debates should be, he said, "I think the outside subject matter, other than college activities, should be used, however I believe this year's question is very appropriate."

Senator Bailey graduated in the class of 1904 and received his advanced degree the following year, his B.L.L. completed two years later from the Harvard Law School.

After graduating from Harvard Law School he responded to the call to arms and returned at the end of hostilities with the rank of captain.

Since his return to civil life he has been active in all civil and political movements for the betterment of Vermont. He represented the town of Colchester in the state legislature and drafted and obtained a city charter for Winooski, the city of which honored him by electing their first mayor; since that time he has served in the Senate of the state and has been prominently mentioned as a state trustee of the University.

The men who will compete for the cup are: S. Stebbins, F. Hale and G. Greemore for the frosh and G. A. Rogers, H. Patnode and F. Kingsley representing the sophs.

Kay Tolman announces that all dues for Bluestockings must be paid by Wednesday, November 2, or they will be raised to $1.50.

BOTH STAFFS OF ARIEL MEET TO DISCUSS THEIR RESPECTIVE FALL WORK

Printing Contract Award to Free Press Co. After Deliberation on Part of Editor and Business Manager

Both the editorial and business staffs of the 1934 Ariel are making good progress in their respective work. There was a meeting of the editorial staff Wednesday evening, October 26, at the Sigma Phi Place at which time the scrubs and editors were instructed in their work. Editors were reminded to begin getting copy in at the Free Press office. C. B. Eaton '34, of Worcester, Mass., editor of the 1934 Ariel, showed staff members the proposed cover for the yearbook. It was also stated that the binding contract was in the process of being awarded while the Free Press Printing Company had been given the printing work for the 1934 edition of the Ariel.

On Thursday afternoon, October 27, the business staff of the Ariel met at four o'clock in the Old Mill Chapel. C. J. Libby '34 of Richmond Hill, N. Y., business manager of 1934 Ariel addressed both the men and women scrubs. He discussed the prospects in advertising and told the scrubs to get their advertising copy in this week, so that the Free Press might start printing the same.

In an appeal to the student organizations, Mr. Libby is quoted as saying: "All contracts of fraternities and organizations still outstanding either

DRAMATISTS TO PRESENT "TO THE LADIES"; TRIALS TODAY AND TOMORROW

Former Tryout Dates Nullified at Meeting of Dramatic Societies Friday P.M.

PLAY WILL BE HELD IN MUSEUM IN DECEMBER

Comedy is Light in Comparison to Those of Former Years

"To the Ladies" is the University Players' choice for the year's fall play, tryouts for which are being held this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon in Room 3 North College. All students are welcome to try out for this play, and freshmen are particularly invited to be present, since the present membership of the two honorary dramatic societies is quite low. There are seven men's parts and three women's parts with other extras.

A joint meeting of Wig and Buskin and Masque and Sandal was held last Friday afternoon to consider and decide upon the production for this fall, and among those considered were "The Circle," "Cousin Kate," "Laff That Off," and "The Nut Farm." Later on "Candida," "The Enchanted Cottage," "Bird in Hand," "Mary the Third," "The Admirable Crichton," "Quality Street," and "To the Ladies" came into discussion, and "To the Ladies" got the final vote.

Light comedy describes "To the Ladies." It is a three-act play, with two sets, and a large number of characters. The reasons for this play being chosen instead of one of a large number of plays higher in literary value were that

NEW GOLD KEY MEMBERS NOT TO BE ANNOUNCED TILL APPROVED BY DEAN

Men to Replace Those Who Dropped Out of College selected at Meeting Last Wednesday

Gold Key, sophomore men's society held a meeting Wednesday evening, October 19 to elect new members to replace those who dropped out of college. Pres. J. M. Libby '35 said that their names would be announced as soon as official approval had been received from Dean Swift.

G. W. Flynn '35 cheer leader, asked the society's support in a new cheering plan which was carried out last Saturday at the Norwich game, when the students were seated in sections forming the letter "V" for Vermont and "N" for Norwich.

J. R. Simonds and R. F. Palmer were appointed to investigate inexpensive ways of transporting students to the Middlebury game Saturday, November 12. It was pointed out that comparatively few students attend out-of-town games and perhaps if a cheaper means of transportation was provided, school spirit and interest in the team and games would be increased.

Gold Key members are fraternity men elected for a high standard in scholarship and leadership. There are thirteen at present: H. H. Abbott Lambda Iota; M. H. Carlson Phi Delta Theta; R. S. Brooks Sigma Phi; G. H. Cook Jr. secretary Kappa Sigma; W. R. Hanke Sigma Delta; J. M. Libby, president Sigma Alpha Epsilon; J. P. Mahoney Alpha Tau Omega; R. F. Palmer treasurer Delta Psi; T. M. Reeves Sigma Nu; J. R. Simonds Delta Psi; F. R. Sinsabaugh Sigma Alpha Epsilon; G. W. Starbuck Phi Delta Theta; and R. S. Wright Zeta Psi.

SEVEN YEARS' JINX BROKEN AS CATS WHITEWASH HORSEMEN SATURDAY

Old Mill Bell, Token of Vermont Victory Rings for First Time After a Norwich Game Since 1925

For the first time in seven years the Burlington based Old Mill bell rang after a Norwich game. In fact, all loyal Green and Gold supporters have wanted since 1925 to score a win over the Norwich cadet team. Last Saturday the fighting Green and Gold gridsters battered a persistent Norwich team back and forth across Centennial Field to score an impressive 19-0 win over their ancient rivals. Eddie Saba, Vermont right half back, contributed his share of the score with eighteen points on three touchdowns. Herb Holley kicked the extra point after the third touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Vermont Backfield Goes Well

For the first time since Vermont has played at her home field has the backfield functioned in the manner they did last Saturday. The starting backfield of Bowker, Cobb, Lott and Esposito went well in the game. Sometimes at intervals another complete backfield was inserted against the Horsemen. The combination of Buckley, Benson, Landau and Saba proved to be the scoring backfield. Both backfields played the games of their lives.

Vermont's first score came during the second quarter when a fumble by the Norwich team was recovered by Vermont on the former's fifteen yard marker. Buckley carried the ball on the first play, but on the second play Buckley passed to Eddie Saba behind the lines and the latter ran around right end for the first touchdown of the game. Incidentally the score was the second of the season scored by the backfield.

Along the close of the same period found the Vermont team touchdown bound. Vermont obtained the ball from Norwich on downs on the former's forty-five yard line. Again the passing combination Buckley to Saba proved very effective when the fullback pass to Saba on Norwich forty yard line and Saba ran the remainder of the distance to the goal for the second score of the game. Lott's drop-kick for the extra failed. The half ended soon afterwards.

New Backfield Injected

The lighter backfield, called by some the "jess backfield," was inserted at the beginning of the second half. The team matched down the field to what looked like another score. However Norwich held when the ball was within ten yards of their own goal and Vermont was restrained in their attempts. The beginning of the second half found many spectacular runs being pulled off by the Green and Gold backs.

No scores were made during the third quarter of the game. Nevertheless the Cadetmen several times threatened the Horsemen goal several times. The third score of the game came late in the fourth quarter. Sherman got the ball on the

MILITARY BALL TO BE AN ELABORATE AFFAIR THURSDAY EVE, NOV. 10

Price Will Not Exceed Two Dollars Announces Chairman Austin

Scabbard and Blade, the honorary military society of the University will sponsor its first formal function, the military ball in the gymnasium on Thursday evening November 10 1932 the evening preceding Armistice Day, which is a holiday for the students on the hill. A large crowd is expected by members of the dance committee.

The hop is under the direction of E. L. Austin, who states that the price of tickets will be as low as possible and will not exceed $2.00 per couple. An elaborate metal program will be given with each ticket.

An eleven piece orchestra, functioning under the guidance of Freddie Lynch, will furnish the music. Refreshments will be served.

Inasmuch as the military ball is a formal function, the freshmen and sophomore may wear their uniforms instead of customary evening dress.

This year the honorary military society, Scabbard and Blade, is making an attempt to bring back the glamor of former military balls. The gymnasium will be appropriately decorated and together with the new blue and white uniforms will not lack in color and regalia.

The chaperones will be Col. and Mrs. Frederick Black, Col. and Mrs. Barnes of Fort Ethan Allen, the guests of honor, Capt. and Mrs. Campbell, and Capt. and Mrs. Craig.

FLEMING MUSEUM ART ASSOCIATION LISTENS TO TALK BY ROBERT VOSE

The feature of the first meeting of the Fleming Museum Art Association which was held last Friday was an original portrait by Whistler, hung for the occasion in the Willard room of the museum where the officers and members of the Association received their guests. Accompanying the famous painting was its owner, Robert C. Vose of Boston, who is an ardent collector of American art and whose father founded in 1880 the famous gallery where many paintings of the great old American artists have been exhibited for nearly a century. Mr. Vose spoke briefly and informally on American art centering his interest on the great Whistler whose painting he knows so intimately and well.

The portrait which is of a standing figure in white facing the onlooker and to be very characteristic of Whistler's style and composition comes following from the "Portrait of His Mother" and his "Carlyle" which are the best known of his portraits.

The priceless portrait of Whistler's mother will be loaned to America during the World's Fair in Chicago. It is often said that this picture and the Mona Lisa are the two most widely known paintings in the Louvre. Whistler, an ardent experimenter in an infinite variety of subjects and media, by outstanding quality in beauty of design in color and arrangement in which the Japanese influence is strongly evident. It is said that he never missed Japanese methods in art but advanced them so sincerely that he came to be rather as do the eastern artists as a mirror for true composition rather than a thing to copy. For this reason he was accused of being too abstract and inhuman.

FRATERNITIES TO HOLD ANNUAL PLEDGE DANCES

The first of the regular fraternity dances of the season are scheduled to be held November 12 and November 19. All but one of the fraternities belonging to the Interfraternity Council will have their annual pledge dance on one or the other of these dates.

Lambda Iota plans to have an informal pledge dance November 19 at the regular hours 9:30 p.m. to 12 midnight. Music will be furnished by Carnaders Orchestra. Prof. and Mrs. Bullard have been elected for chaperones. The dance is to be in the charge of the Phi Delt social chairman.

According to C. W. Janke '33 Sigma Alpha Epsilon will also hold an informal pledge dance on November 12. George Wagner's orchestra will provide the music. Prof. and Mrs. Stuckert will act as chaperones.

Sigma Nu plans to have Fred Lynch's orchestra for a dance on the twelfth of November. This will probably be an old fashion dance. It will be chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. Van Vleet and Dr. and Mrs. Dennis. F. O. Powers '35, K. G. Sylvester '35, M. F. Gardner '35 and F. H. Spence '35 are the dance committee.

A dance will be held on the same night by Sigma Delta. According to W. R. Janke '35 who is in charge Don Preston's orchestra will syncopate. Prof.

French Student Likes University Very Much

[illegible] Inedjian, the French girl from [illegible] very graciously received a [illegible]orter and gave a most interest[illegible]view on her impressions of V[illegible]. On the whole, she likes it [illegible] and she is enjoying her work [illegible].

[illegible]e was asked how she liked [illegible]ade, she said, with a broad [illegible]She it very much. Because [illegible]ll, I am getting to know the [illegible] well. They are all so nice [illegible]ery happy here." She quite [illegible] the American girl with her [illegible]l frankness. "The girls in [illegible]rte different. You are much [illegible].

We never mention men except [illegible] very closest friends, but you [illegible]them openly. It is very nice, [illegible].

[illegible]s are giving her some trouble [illegible]must spend an hour and a half [illegible]ment that would take you a [illegible]r so. The professors are [illegible]. I don't understand all they [illegible]sor Tupper speaks like an [illegible] and is easy to understand [illegible]s used to the English rather [illegible]American."

[illegible]s interested in all outside [illegible]s, unfortunately, she has not [illegible]to spend on them. In France, [illegible]ch thing as organized ath[illegible]the Lycee. The girls must [illegible] or play tennis by them[illegible]ne's main sport is swim[illegible].

"Burlington in all ways, especially [illegible]ets on the lake. She thinks, as all do, that it is one of the most beautiful spots she's ever been in. When asked how prices in Burlington compared with those of France, she hesitated, then said "Shoes are about the same, but I think you must pay too much for dresses."

With fear and trembling, the reporter asked what she thought of the girls' French. She smiled and said, "What you say is very good, but, of course, I'm used to foreigners, so I have no difficulty understanding you."

She thinks we dance very queerly. "In France they do not bend the knees or put the arm around the partner's neck. They always dance straight, never side ways like you do. It seems that you always dance the same way. In France we do several steps—the tango, the waltz and others." The music here is far inferior to French music. "I haven't heard any very good jazz since I've been here."

She has no favorite subject. "I take American and English literature, old time and present-day literature, political literature and political science. I like them all." From these courses it was deduced that she would go back and teach English in France but she said, "I don't think so. It would take six more years before I get my degree and they are too long. I think I will go into the law school. That is only three years."

She seemed to have plenty of work ahead of her for the evening so the reporter left marveling at the way she could understand and speak a language so entirely foreign from her own.

For the first few years after the adoption of Vermont's constitution, the establishment of a University in [illegible] was delayed for State authorities that Dartmouth College crossed the Connecticut River was sufficient for both the needs of New Hampshire and Vermont. But in 1791 a charter was granted to the University to be established in Burlington, Vermont. [illegible] and [illegible] were obtained by subscriptions.

[illegible] for the University chosen the following year was one mile [illegible] lake and two hundred seventy-seven feet above it. In 1793 workmen completed a house with the kitchen attached for the president of the College. Daniel C. Sanders was the first person to occupy [illegible] when the University was authorized and as a faculty he had under him one tutor.

In 1801 at a cost of thirty-five thousand dollars the original Old Mill was erected. The land had been cleared and the bricks laid the year before but workmen did not [illegible] the actual construction until the year after the University organization.

By 1812, the University was quite an establishment: that over fifty students each whom paid twelve dollars a year as tuition; there was a staff of five professors in addition to the president; and the president received an annual salary of six [illegible] became temporarily demented in the May of 1824, when fire openly demolished the [illegible] largely through the [illegible] and a group of alumni, North College was rebuilt immediately and Middle College in 1829 [illegible] following year. The only calamity which occurred during this time was the burning of the bell tower in 1883.

And today, even while we are thinking about all the past years of the University, we may wonder at the courage of the early ministers who undertook the presidency of the infant University; we hear from the bell tower of the Old Mill the ringing of a cracked bell—the symbol of victory.

One interesting incident that is told concerning the history of the bell in its former days still lurks in the minds of [illegible] the old graduates, who were at the University at the time when the bell was rung every morning for chapel. A group of 1900 class members undertook to silence the bell one cold wintry night and used a novel method of doing the [illegible] They climbed up to the belfry and turned the bell completely over. After this operation had been performed, the ardent funsters carried water to the tower and filled the bell to overflowing. So cold was the evening that the water froze inside the bell almost as soon as it was poured in. When the clapper had been entirely crusted in ice, the members of the hardy band descended, their work accomplished. The next morning when the unwelcome bell was supposed to ring for the morning chapel, it could not function and the students slept far overtime.

CO-ED PHYSICAL ED. DEPT. ANNOUNCES ADDITION OF SEVERAL NEW COURSES

Miss Cummings Deplores Need of New Gym to Properly Maintain Interest in Co-ed Athletics

Miss Eleanor Cummings, head of the women's physical education department, recently announced that a new course for senior women, consisting of basketball theory and coaching, has been added. There will be opportunity for practice coaching with freshman classes. This course will enable those taking it to coach basketball in high school if such a need should arise. Ping pong equipment has also been added. A slip will be placed on the W. A. A. board in the Y room, on which one may sign up for use of the equipment.

When asked what the women's physical education department needs most Miss Cummings replied, "A new gymnasium." She stated that for several years it has been considered necessary, but lack of funds prevents further plans from being formed. As to its location, she said the only probable one would be in front of the hockey field and tennis courts. "If not a new gymnasium," continued Miss Cummings, "some extra gymnasium facilities should be provided, for there is not enough time for women's extra-curriculum basketball. There is practically no time when the gymnasium is not in use, either for women's gym classes or for men's varsity basketball practice so that the women, though eager to practice, have very little opportunity to do so."

Miss Cummings also emphasized the fact that the women's dressing rooms are very small and allow no privacy and scarcely adequate space. There are no showers, which are almost a necessity for any gymnasium. A swimming pool, though not absolutely necessary, would certainly add much to it.

As regards outdoor sports, both Miss Cummings and Miss Blanchard agreed that the hockey field needs reconstruction and the tennis courts need better drainage. Both the tennis courts and the hockey field are located on a high and windy place. Because of the strong wind, frequently classes cannot play on the field. If there were sufficient money to build a cedar lodge on the west side of both the tennis courts and the hockey field would serve as a windbreak. There are no correct hockey goals and new archery equipment is needed. Through the Redstone back campus now serves as an archery range, one located nearer the gymnasium would be more convenient. "Most of all," said Miss Cummings, "for outdoor sports we need good weather, so I am determined not to have it."

RUDOLPH TO FUNK PASS RESULTS IN VT. SCORE

Seminary Team Represented by One of Most Powerful Squads in Existence

The freshman eleven's last game of the season, with Seminary by the score 14-6, made one more in a long list acquired by the team which is one of the strongest, in recent years, made up of aggregation of former high school

The lone freshman touchdown on a pass completed from Funk who carried it over the goal three yards for the tally.

Montpelier Seminary's touchdowns on forward passes, one in the first period and one in the last. The Capital City boys tried few passes in the course of the afternoon, preferring to attack principally by power plays which the fast working backfield was particularly successful.

The freshmen failed to get started until the latter part of the game when the Kittens advanced the ball well into their opponent's territory. Seminary who didn't seem to be quite up to par in the Middlebury freshman game showed marked improvement in this game. Romanos, Gardner and Morrell exhibited a little late season form while Cupello and Rudolph in the backfield showed the benefit of experience gained throughout the season.

Callaghan, Oney and Cote starred well for the seminary team. Although the freshmen were unsuccessful in gaining a victory throughout the season, they exhibited a commendable spirit. Handicapped by a lack of material with which to work Coach Foster has been instrumental in developing a machine which functioned smoothly toward the last of the season. The experience which the boys have gained will be invaluable to the varsity squad next year.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

SCABBARD AND BLADE TO SPONSOR MILITARY BALL THURSDAY NIGHT

One of the Year's Big Formal Dances will be Elaborate Affair on Eve of Armistice Day

On Thursday evening, November 10 the Annual Military Ball will be held in the gym from nine until one. This is one of the new formal dances of the year at the University and is under the auspices of the Scabbard and Blade, honorary military society.

According to E. L. Austin, the chairman of the dance committee, it will be the most novel hop of the year. The gym will be decorated in red, white and blue cut bunting. Armistice Eve, the ceiling canopied to a dome, streamers running to the side walls and balconies. Freddy Lynch's eleven-piece band will furnish the music, playing from the center of the floor. Machine guns, rifles, sabres and military equipage placed about the floor and platform amid the colorful decorations will add an atmosphere peculiar to the occasion.

The battalion members present will be in uniform, the blue and white of the corps; the cadet officers in cavalry dress and battalion command. Scattered about among these will be the usual number in formal civilian dress.

In the receiving line, Colonel Barnes, commandant of Fort Ethan Allen, and his wife, will be the guests of honor. Colonel and Mrs. Black, Captain and Mrs. Campbell, Captain and Mrs. Gray, all of the battalion commandery, and Cadet Officer E. L. Austin and Miss Wheaton, representing the Scabbard and Blade, will comprise the rest of the line.

Tickets for the ball are on sale by the Scabbard and Blade members at their respective houses.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT TO GIVE SECOND CONCERT

Mme. Elizabeth Bradish, dramatic soprano, and Miss Merian Nutter Morton, pianist, will give a recital Wednesday, November 9 at 8:15 p.m. in the Gymnasium. Their program will include selections from Mendelssohn, Rachmaninoff, Poldowski and many other famous artists. Both Mme. UNIVERSITY OF PARIS PROFESSOR TO SPEAK AT MUSEUM TOMORROW EVE

La Société française au XVIIIe siècle d'après les temps de Monsieur le Comte" will be the subject of the French lecture to be given by Prof. Louis Roan of the University of Paris, Saturday evening, November 5, at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the Robert Hull Fleming Museum under the auspices of the local Alliance Française. This is the second lecture in a series sponsored by the Alliance Française. It will be illustrated as was the first one given October 11 by Father Herrmant of St. Michael's College.

The list of honors according to Professor Rose in Stage Love at Princeton in 1881 he prepared for the coming presidential and is now chosen such by his made a name for himself. He held the position of director of the French Institute at St. Petersburg from 1911 until 1914 and was a visiting [illegible] 1914 to 1917. From then until the end of the World War he was director of the service d'Information de Presse Etran. After the end of the war he resumed the position of professor of the history of art and also is the Director at present of the Institute de France and of the Institute de Sciences de Paris. [illegible] director of the French Institute at Vienna. For [illegible] publications, the most [illegible] honors he received in 1921 the prize of the Académie des Beaux Arts. All of [illegible] achievements were not quite enough for one man. M. Pratt has also published many books in French, Italian, Russian and German art.

Another lecture of absorbing interest will be given Thursday evening, November 17, in the Museum. The speaker will be M. Rene Puaux, who delivered an address on the same here last year. He selected the same being Morocco. This lecture as well as the first two, will be illustrated by [illegible] slides.

Hoover Proves Favorite in Nation-Wide College Poll

Receives Plurality of Votes Cast in 31 Out of 47 Participating Colleges; His Total is 29,289 Votes, Nearly Half of 58,686 Cast, Cynic and Princetonian Officials Announce

ROOSEVELT GETS 18,212 VOTES, THOMAS, 10,470

Receiving a plurality of the votes cast in thirty-one out of forty-seven participating colleges, Pres. Herbert Hoover won the nation-wide college presidential poll, officials of the Cynic and Princetonian staffs announced today. Hoover's total was 29,289 votes, nearly half the 58,686 ballots cast in the national balloting. Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York received 18,212 votes, third and fourth places going to Norman Thomas, 10,470 votes, and William Z. Foster with 718.

Thomas Leads in Five Colleges

The announcement by the newspapers [illegible] comes coupled to the large number of votes amassed by Thomas as the most striking feature of the poll. The second [illegible] candidate who led the voting in five colleges carried Colorado and Missouri and came close to Roosevelt's total in the East and Middle West. In the former section he received 4,972 ballots to Roosevelt's 5,103 and in the latter 3,408 to [illegible]. Throughout the voting Thomas' [illegible] were Columbia, New York [illegible], the University of Colorado, the Colorado School of Mines and St. [illegible].

Roosevelt received support in only eleven southern colleges which gave him [illegible] lead on his total vote. Hoover rolled up a clear majority in the three remaining sections. Foster's 718 votes came from scattered sections of the country with the greater number from the East. William D. Upshaw, prohibition party candidate with 103 ballots was the only minority candidate to receive more than scattering support.

The figures on votes included in the poll represent a vote in all but six of the 531 votes in the electoral college. Of these, Hoover carried nineteen with a total electoral vote of 296 on a bare majority. These states are Arizona, California, Connecticut, Illinois, Maine, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Vermont, Washington and Wisconsin.

Roosevelt won Arkansas, Florida, Kentucky, Louisiana, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia with a total of 114. Thomas' total of twenty-six carried Colorado and Missouri.

Roosevelt's Percent High

Next to the poll shows that Roosevelt's 76 percent in the entire southern area is the highest sectional percentage amassed by any candidate, followed by Hoover's 60 percent in the Far West and 56 percent in the East. The Middle West ran to the closest to the national percentages with Hoover receiving 51 percent instead of 49 percent and Foster completing the 1 percent average which he surpassed only in the East where he received exactly 4 percent. Thomas made his best showing in the Middle West where he received 25 percent of the total vote. The percentages for the entire poll gave Hoover 59 percent, Roosevelt 37 percent, Thomas 18 percent, and Foster 1 percent.

So says one interviewer, [illegible] running. "And just as her name [illegible] be a part of herself, so does her [illegible] One is reminded of the pretty [illegible] in Maeterlinck's 'Blue Bird' or [illegible] of Unborn Souls. Here, amid [illegible] nes too crowd around old [illegible] clamoring to be allowed to [illegible] on the earthward journey, and [illegible] ing his especial desire TO BE [illegible] be poets, some to be sculptors, [illegible] one might imagine Sylvia [illegible] at Father Times's robe and say- [illegible] 'Please Father Time, let me go. I [illegible] be a great violinist.'

[illegible] Father Time consents. When [illegible] asks, 'To whom shall we send [illegible]' the old gentleman replies, [illegible] a particularly fine musical family [illegible] Houston; by all means let her be [illegible] up by them. Here is the ad- [illegible]

[illegible] that is how Sylvia must have [illegible] the home of Ernest Lent, a well- [illegible] violinist, and his wife, a talented [illegible]. One day comes the news that the late [illegible] Auer has arrived in this coun- [illegible] and that he will accept a limited num- [illegible] talented pupils. Sylvia was among [illegible] first to play for him and was, in fact, [illegible] first American pupil to be accepted [illegible] him. Aside from her violin, which is the central sun around which her world revolves, Sylvia's interests find a diversity of expression. Swimming and horseback-riding are her favorite sports, with reading and chess for quieter moods.

"Mike, a would-be wire-haired terrier who has a few inches too much of tail, has missed distinction as a pure breed, occupies the privileged post of confidential friend and most lenient critic to Sylvia. He accompanies her in her practice hour, taking his place beneath the piano, where he dozes off, completely indifferent to the relative merits of the classic and modern schools. To him Sylvia will confide her ideas of interpretation, which he receives with a languid thump of the tail, as though to signify that he has been interrupted in a very delightful dream, but he quite agrees with her; besides, it must be right if she says so. All of which is very delightful and conducive to a thoroughly congenial companionship.

"Busy mornings are spent in her music room, building up new programs, under the dozeful eyes of Mike. Lucky dog! some will say."

Review of "The Winnowings"

By Prof. Julian Lindsay

I have happened to like [illegible] in the opening volume of the new [illegible] I can not help but feel that [illegible] is an advance in [illegible] particular over [illegible] Of course, editors are helpless without contributors and to the latter eventually chief credit must be given.

What one likes best and appreciates most depends a great deal on what he carries to his reading, a point, incidentally, clearly and impressively made by Miss Gates in her editorial, "How Do You Read?" which, by the way, everyone should read with care. "There is no disputing about matters of taste." On several points I am led to give the palm to the essay by William Cass, "Colonel Cockroach." Although it may perhaps be properly included in the class of literature labelled "unnatural natural history" because it ascribes to the southern variety of cockroach sweet tempered qualities hitherto unnoticed, differing widely from the usual conception of the insect as one having traits similar to those of its prototype—witness well-documented instances of the Colonel stalking out with his roast under the very noses of hosts and guests assembled at table and his stalking terror into the hearts of young mothers lest he abduct their new born babes—still so skilfully has Mr. Cass presented his case that one is almost persuaded to grant the virtues he ascribes to his subject. His writing possesses a quality of humor characteristic of the best type of personal essay, the lack of which makes this term of recognition the one in which college writers least often succeed. The reason for the usual lack of success is perhaps not too severe, yet keener necessary to the watchfulness on the personal essay is of the subtlest and rarest sort known as whimsicality. It is this which has made Charles Lamb that prince of personal essayists, his charm and fame. It is something which cannot be cultivated to any discernable degree except that wide reading which makes possible skilful, not to say incongruous, allusion—apparently a characteristic feature of the type which is essentially literary—endears the essayist's stock in trade. Certainly Mr. Cass is worthy of unstinted [illegible] He has [illegible] a pleasant [illegible] Mr. Wentworth [illegible] to the [illegible] [illegible] are combined. [illegible] is that the impression [illegible] excellently done.

The short stories [illegible] with. The Sanctuary [illegible] Miss Stein with [illegible] mastery of short [illegible] vault to be found with [illegible] that they have tailored [illegible] technique. The stories are [illegible] they do not lend themselves. This is generally [illegible] are competently written, [illegible] is, indeed, a particular [illegible] in itself. An opportunity [illegible] usually occurs only when [illegible] treat of similar phases [illegible] Miss Gates' contribution [illegible] modern type of short story [illegible] with the realm of the mental states, it would appear with ever increasing [illegible] modern life recedes from [illegible] physical adventure. Miss [illegible] present offering takes us [illegible] and heat of the most [illegible] "the sport of kings," [illegible] can doubt that she has [illegible] One of the judges of last [illegible] Literary Contest on [illegible] "Strategy" remarked that [illegible] patently a man's story [illegible] ing confirmation that Miss [illegible] evidently knows her [illegible] plishment any woman [illegible] What is even more [illegible] pride is that she has [illegible] towards artistry that [illegible] mood unerringly dictates [illegible] exclusion of all extraneous [illegible] Sinon has written a [illegible] every horse lover will [illegible] quickening pulse. What more [illegible] one ask?

One hesitates always to [illegible] on verse. A poem, [illegible] tially a unit, when successful [illegible] debarred from ungracious [illegible] and captious probing. Professor [illegible] land of Harvard possibly had [illegible] of this in mind when he said [illegible] very like an egg." The [illegible] implication is that a poem [illegible] when it is good is [illegible] when it is in any particular [illegible] again like an egg, it is [illegible] bad. The differences [illegible] when they are good, are [illegible] kind of mood or expectation, or tone, there are [illegible] and there are solemn moments [illegible] and the depths and [illegible] expressions may be [illegible] good for their kinds. In [illegible] remarks it would be [illegible] fault with the verses [illegible] current Winnowings. All [illegible] for their several kinds [illegible] the typical form or [illegible] all are competent and [illegible] single one which [illegible] readers by extremes [illegible] fitness. If I declare a [illegible] again be only my personal [illegible] in no wise will my [illegible] choice of those who [illegible] Although I grant the [illegible] Fitzgerald's "Songs [illegible] of Miss Dunsmore's "[illegible]

Kappa Sigma scored their lone tally in the third period on a pass from Pitre to Adams. Mehigan and Pitre did most of the tossing for the Kappa Sigma team and formed a fast combination in the backfield.

Burt Barnard both quarterbacked for the winners and did the majority of the tossing. He crossed the goal in the first period for the first tally in the winner's the second coming in the last period on a triple pass from Bud Grant to Crane to Post.

Sigma Phi Eps in League B defeated Phi Delta Theta to reach the semi-finals of the league and will meet Kappa Sigma. In League A A T O and Delta Psi were the two survivors. Delta Psi defeated Zeta Psi to reach the semi-finals, while A T O downed the unbeaten S A E to advance to the position.

Delta Psi showed good teamwork and speedy execution of their plays in their game with Zeta Psi, but A T O pulled out the best touch football seen on the back campus in their game with S A E.

The final game will take place on Centennial Field on Friday, November 11 at 2.30 in the morning.

[illegible] the winning play [illegible] comes at promising young artist [illegible] Brooks, who is in doubt as to whether or not the author wrote it intended her [illegible] would make the best wife. Not until he experiences a hideous nightmare in which he visions life as it would be if he were to marry one of these girls, does he realize that Mac Brooks, his crucial and contradictory, is the ideal girl.

The class of '34 presented "And There Was Light," by Irving Cobb. The four characters in the play were: The doctor, Grace Harris; the nurse, Barbara Whitney; Mrs. Pendleton, Ruth Wood; and the girl, Marjorie Collins. It was directed by Caro Wyman '33, and managed by Katherine Shaw, Betty Baker, and Lola Goodrich. The plot centers around a selfish woman, Mrs. Pendleton, who, with everything one could desire, is most unhappy. The doctor, with the aid of the girl's clever acting, brings his unfortunate patient to a realization of her true condition, and shows her the road to happiness.

The members of the freshman class gave the production "Suzanna Slide" in Carolyn Barr under the direction of Mary Potter '35 and the management of Betty Gray. Esther Snyder and Elizabeth Hare. The cast of characters [illegible] Suzanna, Marion Herbert; Dan [illegible]

The Brown Bear, battered and stunned by the mighty [illegible] was a matter of minutes [illegible] 80 yards to a touchdown through the gathering dusk and toppled Holy Cross in Brown Stadium 10 to 7.

Two dramatic drives left a crowd of 18,000 limp from excitement aroused by the succession of spectacular plays that marked the bruising battle between two New England football powers fighting to keep their records unsullied by defeat. The fortunes of war favored first the Purple then the purple and Crusaders but to the end Brown courage and determination prevailed.

In a whirlwind game of thrills and sensations of running, passing and punting that held a near capacity throng of pre-depression size enthralled for more than two hours in Franklin Field, the mighty Pitt team, victor over Army and Notre Dame, rolled along its unbeaten trail with a 19 to 12 triumph over a gallant crew of Pennsylvania opponents.

Attacking with irresistible and exalted fury, Army's gold-helmeted team drove up and down Soldiers Field and almost tricked Harvard the worst drubbing in its history [illegible] Boston. The score was 46 to 0 and a title to indicate adequately the immense margin of Army's superiority.

VERMONT FROSH CLOSE BOOK ON UNFORTUNATE FOUR-GAME GRID LIST

Kittens Outclassed by Every One of Opponents During Season—Green and Gold Outscored 40-8

The Vermont freshmen closed the book on what was from practically any angle an unfortunate season. They succeeded in winning only two games out of four. The next game with [illegible] was saved from being a white-washing when Pinksky fell on the ball over the opponent's goal line. Rudolph got the only other score the Kittens made when he crossed Montpelier Seminary's goal line on [illegible]

The comparative scores do not augur well for the rankings. The rolled up [illegible] eight points to the forty points scored by their opponents, just one-fifth the number. They were definitely outclassed by every one of their opponents [illegible] Middlebury and St. Lawrence defeated the freshmen by only one touchdown but the score was not indicative of their superiority.

Individual scoring honors for the freshmen do not run into higher mathematics either. Rudolph leads the race with his six tallies, Pinksky coming second with [illegible]

A lack of experienced material was one of the difficulties Coach Bumps Levine encountered in welding a freshman eleven together.

Gardiner, Paul and Morrell formed a [illegible] for his line but seasoned backfield men were unavailable. The freshmen showed a great need of field generalship in one or two of their games. Poor quarterback judgment was quite obvious in the St. Lawrence game.

The loss of Blackwell, Negus and Larlas along with some others after the first game, proved to be a great handicap to the freshmen.

The freshman eleven will assemble once more before disbanding when they will run through some of the Middlebury plays to aid the varsity in their coming tilt with the Panther team.

Freshman elections, the custom will probably take place some time next week.

CAT'S MEOW

—Sports Editor—

In playing a scoreless tie with Boston University the Catamounts turned [illegible] for the first time since November 8 [illegible] when Norwich and Vermont were deadlocked, 0 to 0, at the conclusion of a game which the Catamounts should have taken.

Although a pre-game comparative score analysis would indicate different the Catamounts did well in keeping the Terriers from crossing their goal line.

Coach Myles Lane has done a very good job in his first year as a head coach. The consensus of opinion after the game was that Boston University is a well coached team.

That goal line stand which the fighting Catamounts put up in the last quarter, is one of the most determined ones displayed on Centennial Field in recent years.

The lack of capable line substitutes became very forcible apparent Saturday when at various stages of the game, the first string men were replaced, with the end in view of saving them for the Middlebury game.

Middlebury served notice that it will be a hard team to beat Saturday, by taking the Horsemen into camp, 24 to 0.

An analysis of Middlebury's touchdown shows that two came as results of intercepted passes, while the remaining two followed blocked punts.

In defeating Holy Cross, 10 to 7, Brown pulled an old moth-eaten trick out of the bag at just the right time. With but a few minutes of play remaining, and the ball on the Crusaders' 2-yard line, Gammino crashed through center during what looked like an argument in the Bruin backfield between Chase and Gilmartin.

Even smart teams use old plays.

That 46 to 0 smothering which the Army administered to Harvard, further brings out the fact that the Crimson has been highly overrated, especially by the Boston papers.

Red Grange calls Coach Bob Zupke of Illinois one of the smarest and most capable in the game, and he even overlooked Ken Fields when the Army star was under his tutelage.

Even the best of them pull a boner now and then.

All candidates for varsity and freshman basketball teams are requested to report at the gym Monday evening, November 14, at 7.30, in uniform. The men are requested to supply their own uniforms for the first practices until a squad is picked.

SENIOR CO-EDS EKE WIN OVER SOPH TEAM IN VOLLEYBALL FINAL

Rainy Weather Halts Tennis Matches—Cold Winter Sports Start Friday

The fall sport's program for Vermont co-eds has not yet ended, according to an announcement made by Miss Cummings, director of physical education for women. The volleyball tournament came to a close Wednesday, November 2, when the Seniors beat the Sophomores in a close game with the final score 29-28. The Seniors had previously scored 32-28 over the Juniors, while the Sophomores had defeated the Freshmen 33-27.

Due to rainy weather which has rendered the courts unfit for playing, the winners of the tennis tournament have not yet been decided. The Seniors versus the Sophomores and the Juniors versus the Freshmen have each played one set, but must now wait for more favorable weather conditions.

The hockey finals also have yet to be played. The Juniors defeated the Freshmen in the semi-finals with a 1-0 score, after a second game had been played because of a tie in the first. The Senior-Sophomore score was 2-0 in favor of the Sophomores. This brings the Sophomore and Junior teams to the finals, with a great diversity of opinion on the part of the student body concerning the final outcome.

Winter sports began Friday, November 4, when the indoor classes in gymnasium work and dancing were held for the first time. Required hygiene lectures began yesterday and today, and are to be held in the auditorium of the Fleming Museum at three o'clock in the afternoon. Girls' bowling starts tomorrow at four o'clock. A large number of co-eds have signed up for this elective sport.

Members of women's volleyball teams at the University who took part in the fall tournament were: Seniors, who won the tournament, Esther Urie, Mary Petras, Georgia Nichols, Helen Allen, Effie Winn, Leah Gowen, Ethelda Miller, Virginia Goodenough, and Lenda Walker, with Marion Urie as substitute.

Juniors, who lost to Seniors in preliminaries, Daisy Putnam, Grace Harris, Norma Hathorn, Edith Rogers, Helen Roberts, Alice Hoyt, Ellen Lyman, Ruth Johnstone, and Ruth Reynolds, with Anna Grace, Doris Folsom and Geneva Wilcox as substitutes.

Sophomores, who lost to Seniors, 29-28 in finals, Irene LaFountain, Winona Oatley, Marie Naylor, Anita Kittell, Helen Mount, Marguerite Millet, Adelaide Lockwood, and Fannie Hosley, with Mildred Bartlett, Grace Spelman, and Madeline Newboro as substitutes.

Freshmen, who lost to Sophomores in preliminaries, Florence Brown, Marion Giddings, Margaret Paterson, Dorothy Willey, Hester Martin, Phoebe Hooker, Laura Fleming, Rita Finnegan and Gladys Coker with Elizabeth Johnson, Ethel Perrotta and Katherine Harte as substitutes.

THE FALL OF TICONDEROGA

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by F. C. Yohn...inspired by that horror-filled dawn when the bloodthirsty savages fell on Ethan Allan's gallant "Green Mountain Boys" of Fort Ticonderoga fame. "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

CO-ED MANAGERS WILL CHOOSE VARSITY TEAM

As a finale to the co-ed volleyball tournament recently completed, the varsity volleyball team will be chosen by the class and co-ed managers, and results will be published next week.

The tournament closed on Wednesday, November 2, the Seniors winning the final game. In the semi-finals, played on October 28 the games were: Seniors vs. Juniors and Sophomores vs. Freshmen. The Seniors won their game 32 to 28; the Sophomores won theirs 33 to 27.

According to Miss E. Cummings, director of women's physical education, the final game, won by the Seniors, was a most excellent game."

Colombo and Williams Star for Victors in Bang-up Football Tuesday Afternoon

Playing head-up football the A. T. O. [illegible] defeated Delta Psi 30-7 in the game last Tuesday afternoon, to become king of League A and arrive at the finals. In front of a sparse back campus the A. T. O. seven played the same speedy, accurate kind of football by means of which they ousted S. A. E. earlier in the series.

Colombo and Williams were two outstanding luminaries among the stellar aggregation of the winners. The red-shirted pair, Brislin and Burke, formed a combination hard to beat. Hugh Wilson, Whitey Palmer and Johnny Simonds were the principals of the Delt cast.

Delta Psi kicked off. A. T. O. then started a march up the field which ended up over the goal line for the first score right off the bat on a pass from Curly Williams to Bill Brislin. The second tally of the afternoon, another for the victors, came when Bill Brislin intercepted a pass from Johnny Simonds, slipped to his knees on the slippery field, got up and heaved a long pass to Harte who was patrolling a sector near the goal line without a Delt around. Harte loafed

The [illegible] team redeemed itself with [illegible] first state contest last Saturday [illegible] noon from Norwich University [illegible] 24-0 score.

Vermont Potential

On the other hand Vermont has its victories and defeats. With the beginning of the season the Catamount started things off on the right foot with a victory over a powerful M. A. C. eleven. Since that time the Vermonters have had an enviable record, losing 7-6 to a powerful Clarkson team that so thoroughly trounced Middlebury, defeating Norwich by a 20-7 score, and a strong R. P. I. squad. In the second game of the series Vermont held Dartmouth to a 35 [illegible]

Middlebury's next opponent defeated Norwich when it defeated Vermont 13-0. The game was played on Saturday after the first few minutes of play till the end of the game. Vermont dropped a night game to New Hampshire 22-6.

The next week Vermont jumped into the winning column by taking its second game in the state championship series. The Cats defeated the Cadets 7-0 by playing a fine type of offensive football during the afternoon. Last week the team made a rather weaker showing when it barely tied the Boston University team 0-0.

Reports of injuries received during the Clarkson contest the Blue and White team was not in its full strength for the game with Norwich. However Middlebury authorities hope that Hartrey will start in the backfield. Backus, Hyde and Williams will round out the backfield and the announcement that Reed and Sargent will be playing at end while Macleod and Reese will play tackles. Lovell and Wright, both veterans, will be at guards. Corliss, another veteran, will be heaving back the passes.

It haunted clerks for generations

"The first of the month" used to be a time of feverish activity for ledger clerks. But the Bell System accounting staff — breaking away from tradition — simplified the keeping of accounts and rendering of monthly statements to customers.

They applied a modern system of rotation billing to the telephone business which now spreads this work evenly throughout the month. In co-operation with manufacturers, they devised special typewriters and bookkeeping machines. Thus they did away with inefficient rush and achieved greater accuracy, speed and neatness.

This is but one example of a point of view found throughout the Bell System. Even long accepted routine is constantly studied — it's always worth looking for the more efficient way!

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"

THE BLACK PANTHER
"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the great animal painter, Paul Bransom . . . inspired by the natural ferocity of "Bagheera," the black panther in the famous "Jungle Book." "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"

New Rules

The changes in the rules are as follows:

Rule 5, Section 6—Each player must be numbered on the front of his jersey as well as the back.

Rule 7, Section 12—Blocking is now defined as personal contact, thus authorizing what had been improperly called the "legal block." Screening is the proper term to apply to cutting off legally and without personal contact the approach of an opponent who does not have the ball.

Rule 7, Section 13—Face guarding takes place when a player disregards the ball and faces an opponent, thereafter shifting his position as the opponent shifts, thus obviously interfering with the latter's progress.

Rule 8, Section 8—(a) When a team gains possession of the ball in its own back court, that team must advance the ball over the center line within a period of ten seconds unless the ball, while out of control of the team, touches or is touched by an opponent. In the latter event, a new play results and the ten-second period begins again when the possession of the ball is regained on the back court, until:

1. A try for goal has been made; or
2. A jump ball at center or elsewhere has taken place; or
3. An out of bounds award has been made; or
4. The ball has been recovered from the possession of the opponents.

(b) When a team gains possession of the ball in its front court as a result of (1), (2), (3) or (4) under (a) it may cause the ball to go back over the center line once only.

Rule 14, Section 9—After a foul throw and an honest attempt, the ball does not enter the basket, touch the rim or backboard, it shall be awarded to the opponent of the free thrower on the end near the basket for which he was throwing.

Rule 14, Section 12—A player shall not withhold the ball from play for more than three seconds while standing in his free throw lane with his back to his basket. If the player bounces the ball while standing still, or while pivoting with his back to the basket, he is regarded as withholding the ball. [illegible]

FOR YEARS and years Shredded Wheat has attended all the best colleges and never flunked a single exam. It's Nature's own energy food—100% whole wheat. It's just the thing before that "eight o'clock" . . . just the thing after an evening hitting the books.

Eat Shredded Wheat for wider-awake days. Eat it for sounder-asleep nights. Best of all eat it because it's one "sensible" food that knows how to taste good, too.

Begin the good habit today! Keep it up for a week, and see if it doesn't make you snappier and happier!

When you see Niagara Falls on the package, you KNOW you have Shredded Wheat.

BASSETT DESCRIBES STUDENT STRIKE TAKING PLACE AT ATHENS U.

Greek Professor Relates Experiences Abroad During His Sabbatical Leave

A compromise reached in a strike of students who objected to the methods used in examinations for degrees at the University of Athens, Greece, was described by Prof. S. E. Bassett of the Greek Department who returned from a sabbatical year in Greece this summer, in an interview Tuesday. The compromise, Professor Bassett explained was in favor of the students, who for a week refused to attend lectures.

During his stay in Greece Professor Bassett spent most of his time at the Graduate Archaeological School in Athens where he delivered a series of lectures on "Home." This institution is an American school of classical studies and is attended only by graduates of American Universities. He was a student there in 1901 and 1902 and is now a member of the fellowship committee and of the managing committee which has direct control of the school. The running expenses of this school are contributed by funds collected from different American colleges amounting anywhere from $200 to $750 a year. U. V. M. has been for forty years a contributor. There have been three visiting professors from Vermont to that institution. First, Prof. James R. Wheeler professor of Greek here, was the chairman of the managing committee from 1892-3, second, Prof. George F. Hawes, 1902-3, and third, Professor Bassett 1931-32. Also although he was not a professor here Burt Hodge Hill graduate of '95 was the director of the school for twenty years from 1907-1926.

Professor Bassett also stated that there are two other colleges in Athens in addition to this one. The University of Athens, and the American College operated by the Near East College Association of New York City. The University of Athens is a typical European one therefore, it is unlike American institutions in many respects.

The American College has for trustees both Americans and Greeks, and its aim is to introduce American ideas of education both in curriculum and in college

MISS CARLTON TO HEAD GREEK CLUB

Leah Gowen is Chosen Vice-President, Joyce Young, Treasurer of Eta Sigma Phi

Natalie L. Carlton '33 of Burlington was [illegible] elected president of the local chapter of Eta Sigma Phi honorary [illegible] society, at the November meeting held Tuesday evening in 33 South College. Leah E. Gowen '33 of Concord, N. H. was chosen vice-president, Joyce Young '34 of Vergennes secretary and H. C. Wilson '34 of Windsor treasurer. Other new officers are Ruth M. Reynolds '34 of St. Johnsbury, corresponding secretary; Ida Sanger '34 of Burlington sergeant-at-arms, and Helen Bellows '35 of Newport, chorister.

After the election of officers a short business meeting followed. Invitations to membership were extended to Constance M. Calkins '35 of Westford, C. I. Keelan '35 of Montgomery, Margaret E. Nugent '35 of East Gloucester, Mass., and K. L. Raymond '35 of Burlington. These four students have fulfilled the requirements for admission by attaining an average of B or higher in a Greek course for at least two semesters.

Plan December Meeting

Plans were discussed for the December meeting of the society which will be held at the home of Prof. and Mrs. Samuel E. Bassett at 295 South Prospect Street. The program for this meeting will be in charge of Sylvia A. Boyd '33 and Leah E. Gowen '33. The new officers will be installed by the retiring president, F. B. Drew '33, and the new members will be initiated. A social hour will follow the regular meeting.

OUTING CLUB SPONSORS NOVEL HIKE TOMORROW IF WEATHER PERMITS

Mary Petras, President, Urges That Many Co-eds Turn Out in Order to Earn W. A. A. Points

Outing Club will sponsor another of the series of hikes planned for this year tomorrow, November 19 starting from the gymnasium at 2:00 p.m. This time the co-eds interested will stage a football hike.

The route and plans cannot yet be disclosed but suffice it to say that it will furnish entertainment fit for any football fan. Sufficient at least, is the opinion of Mary Petras '33 president of Outing Club who is most anxious that a large number of co-eds come out for the hike. As added inducement she suggests that points earned on hikes are very helpful in making W. A. A. An honor roll will soon be posted and will include the names of all freshman women who are members of the association.

Miss Petras thinks that it is better to start working for W. A. A. awards when a freshman, because it is much harder to earn them later on in the college course. For instance, it takes only 400 W. A. A. points for a freshman to win her numerals but a sophomore must earn 600 points in the sophomore year to be awarded numerals.

Outing Club is as the name suggests an organization formed for the purpose of encouraging an interest in outdoor activities. For some time it has had a considerable handicap with which to cope—the Vermont weather. The present Outing Club is of fairly recent origin although quite [illegible] has been such as [illegible] for a number of years when [illegible] and for a number of years a [illegible] support.

MAN VISUALIZES CHRIST SAYS RICE IN CHAPEL

Man constantly tries to visualize a physical Christ and fails as he attempts to grasp concrete personal fact, concerning the Savior according to Rev. E. Leroy Rice pastor of the Barre Congregational Church, who spoke in chapel Wednesday morning.

Reverend Rice took as his scriptural reading the twelfth verse from the twenty-sixth chapter of the gospel according to saint John which tells of the Greeks who came to Jerusalem desiring to see Jesus and said that he found something symbolic in this desire to see Jesus in the flesh for that is the desire of every human being.

"We are all painting our own portraits of Christ as we go through life we are continually striving for more concrete facts about him, yet we can never complete these concepts. God is evident to many of us in the wonders of nature in the streams and forests and mountains yet we all seek something even more definately human than these things. God had something to say that could not be expressed in the language of nature. It came closer to human life itself. God sent his message in a human life, the supremely beautiful consummation of his world. Yet it is of necessity a human weakness that we see without being able to visualize concretely the very face and likeness of the Divine.

"Last year, in Milan I saw the painting the 'Last Supper,' by Leonardo Da Vinci. There is a story concerning this painting that DaVinci painted in all the disciples' faces before attempting that of the master. He found great difficulty in delineating the features of Jesus and was probably never able to do so to his own satisfaction. This same difficulty is present in all of our lives. We shall never be able to complete our portrait of Christ."

SMALL SQUAD OUT FOR VARSITY COURT TEAM AS PRACTICE STARTS

Football Players to Appear Next Week When Work Starts in Earnest

With the football men taking a short rest from intensive practice, the varsity basketball squad is about one of the smallest to ever be out. There are exactly eight men out for the team this year so far. Until next week that is all there will be. At that time most of last year's regulars who played football are expected out.

Coach Earle has been working with a small varsity crew and a large freshman contingent. Capt. Frank Pyott lead the men out. Mike Vagott, Tom Collins and Bob Grant are subjects from last year's team. Irving Green, Otto Jaeger and Stretch Squires complete the squad roster.

The men have been gradually rounding themselves for the grueling season ahead of them. "Formalities must be cut out by the end of the week," stated Coach Burke in the initial practice. The men worked the ball up and down the floor several times to get the feel of the ball. Passing and then shooting to the basket occupied the men's time for a while.

Practice was closed by the usual twenty-five foul-shots. Coach Earle believes that foul shooting should be emphasized and indeed, the foul shots completed last week were ample proof that his method of practicing the series helped. Several laps around the track were prescribed for several of the men.

The freshmen out do not compare with the quality of the freshmen that have appeared in previous years. About twenty-five candidates showed up at the practice. The year's schedule of games about the team will be arranged. There are several teams in the town that could make it interesting for any freshman team.

Among the candidates out there are only two outstanding ones on the floor. Andy Werner from Torrington looks pretty fast while Bob Neal last year's all-New Hampshire High school basketball man plays well. Dick Trudeau, Montpelier Seminary forward last year, is showing up well. Most of the men will be returned for the third squad.

Aside from losing Jacobs, a regular, a practical team has been picked for this season is to be regretted.

CAT'S MEOW

—Sports Editor—

St. Michael's seems to have twisted the Panther's tail by calling them on a play-off.

Although Vermont is obviously a disinterested party in the controversy, it seems that out of respect to another member of the Green Mountain Conference, Middlebury should play St. Michael's.

The boys do not want to play" states Graduate Manager A. M. Brown at Middlebury, adding "and the president doesn't want us to play that is too bad.

We wonder if anybody there is going to object to their playing St. Michael's" is backstreet and broadcast.

Elsewhere on this page you will find the all state team picked by the sports department. It has been our custom at times to select these mythical combinations as a friendly impartial basis in contrast to the selections made by those back in State competition.

Doubtlessly some will be pleased and others disappointed. It can't be like more than pick 'em ever.

Basketball now appears to take the limelight from football. Still waiting the next six weeks it will be in full swing.

While on the subject of basketball we expect to remind the readers that St. Michael's will not be on Vt.'s slate this year.

Sincere sympathy is extended to our Cynic Jay Peebles who is suffering a great deal of pain due to a broken arm.

It cannot get dramatic and likewise disappointing as hockey ads, such a mysterious should herald him in his last game.

The Athletic Council is indeed fortunate in having a man of Professor Adams' ability and interest appointed to work with them.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL

Professor Butterfield was elected chairman at the last meeting of the Athletic Council to fill the place vacated by James Donahue. The new chairman graduated from Worcester Polytechnic Institute in 1898, and later received his Master's degree from Columbia in 1903. He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

PROF. CARPENTER TALKS TO FACULTY MEMBERS ON ATHLETIC SITUATION

Luncheon Last Friday Noon Scene of Discussion—Subsidization of Athletics is Under Fire

Thirty professors and instructors attended the annual fall luncheon of the University of Vermont faculty at the Green Road last Friday noon, and listened to Prof. F. D. Carpenter speak on the "Remedies for Present College Athletics." Professor Carpenter based his informal talk on Bulletin 26 of the Carnegie report, stressing in particular the present eligibility rules at different institutions throughout the country.

"In some colleges the rules are effective and in some they are either partially or totally disregarded as the determination of becoming champions dictates." The Bulletin notes the radical change that aims to bring out all undergraduates for sport and to make physical education with the varsity teams. All intramural sports are financed by the receipts from varsity football but the gates have been decreasing of late and that method of encouraging wholesale athletic participation is becoming doubtful. Either endowment funds must be devoted to undergraduate activity or else extracurricular sports must be curtailed but in view of the healthy interest evidenced recently in this class of activity it seems that every college will devote appropriations to the continuance of undergraduate sport.

In this day we find that students may follow their own athletic pursuits and not be subject to the dogma attached to the major exhibits particularly noticed in football. The western universities, however, seem to regard student attendance and participation in varsity athletics more seriously.

On the whole, nevertheless, educated alumni decry the present situation and feel that victory is not everything but sport should be played for sport's sake. The recent nationwide attack on proselytry and subsidization

ANNUAL FOOTBALL HOP TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Plans are nearing completion for the annual football hop, sponsored by the sophomore class on Saturday night at 8:30 p. m. the gymnasium it was recently announced by J. E. Symonds '35, chairman of the affair. Freddie Landeman's Chesterians has been chosen to furnish the evening's harmony. Capt. and Mrs. M. P. Craig and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Van Note-Smith are to be the chaperones.

The usual presentation of blankets to senior football men will be carried out by W. W. Lyon '34. This is customarily the second social event and will take place at intermission.

J. E. Symonds is assisted by T. M. Reeves '35, G. H. Cook '35, and R. M. Bent '35.

Four roosters were kept in one of the Harvard freshman dormitories while they (the roosters) were being used for psychological experiments. After many complaints the birds were executed and eaten.

Co-ed Glee Club Presents Initial Concert of Year

Friday Evening Concert Entertains Audience of Students, Faculty and Town People

SEVERAL FAVORABLE COMMENTS RECEIVED

The Women's Glee Club of the University of Vermont under the direction of Prof. F. H. Howard acting head of the music department presented their first musical entertainment of the season Friday evening, November 18, at 8:15 P.M. This was the third in the annual concert series sponsored by the department of music. Members of the faculty, the student body, and a few of the town people took advantage of this opportunity to learn of what our music department is doing and to hear the organization.

The program opened with three selections by the special chorus of the glee club. They were entitled "Song to the Madonna" by Mendelssohn, "Ave Verum" an old choral anthem by Dr. Pye, and "Ecce Virgo" Jeanette Isabella, an Old French Noel.

Following this Miss Miriam Marston, instructor of piano, and Professor Howard delighted the audience with a number on two pianos, rendering Variations on a Theme of Beethoven by Saint-Saens.

Fourteen more selections were sung by the entire glee club with a few hand selections accompanied by the two student pianists. Miss Marston and Mr. Howard rendered three groups of three numbers with Prelude à l'Après-midi d'un Faune by Debussy, and Liszt's Spanish Rhapsody by Lavallee's Clarionet.

As the closing number of the program Gretchaninoff's Lo! Pursuant par la Lorraine and Mac Gimsey's Harp Guitar French and Irish folk songs were contributed by the entire glee club with accompaniment by Hubert Payne on the harp guitar. Miss Schenck was at the piano. Plans for an event to be given later in the year are being made. At the most enjoyable of the affair, which the president will start [illegible] the glee club entertaining next

MINOT, LITERARY EDITOR OF BOSTON HERALD TO OPEN LECTURE SERIES

His Topic, "Recent Books" Should Interest Literature Students at Tonight's Address

John Clair Minot, literary editor of the Boston Herald will open the current series of University lectures at the University of Vermont this evening. His subject will be "Recent Books."

Prof. A. R. Gifford, head of the committee on University lectures, says that this lecture will be welcomed by those eager to know the best in current literature and especially those familiar with the discriminating criticism and appreciation which characterize Mr. Minot's book review column.

Long a prominent figure of the literary field in New England Mr. Minot has gained a wide reputation as a stimulating and entertaining popular lecturer both upon the public platform and in university extension work. From 1920 to 1926 he was a lecturer in current literature in Boston University.

A graduate of Bowdoin College in 1896, Mr. Minot was honored with the degree of doctor of letters by his alma mater in 1925. His continuing interest in the college is attested by several volumes of college life and verse. He is the author of Bowdoin 1806, Tales of Bowdoin (1901), Bowdoin Verse (1907) and Under the Bowdoin Pine (1907). He is also a member of the Bowdoin college board of overseers.

From 1906 to 1918 Mr. Minot was associated with the editorial staff of [illegible] Company. The following year spent in the war service work of the Y. M. C. A. in France. In 1919 he entered upon his present position as literary editor of the Boston Herald.

This University lecture will be held in the auditorium of the Robert Hull Fleming Museum and will begin at eight o'clock in the evening. The public is cordially invited.

VANDALS MAR BOULDER BY SMEARING RED AND WHITE PAINT ON FACE

Swastika and Circle are Rough Likenesses Inscribed on Campic Object of Pride

The Boulder, Vermont's traditional emblem, was unpardonably disfigured by the smearing of red and white paint on its surface sometime between Saturday evening and Sunday morning. The colors marked the disagreement in the form of a circle half red and half white, the circle in red and the other in white, or more correctly orange, afterwards a swastika in blue and serpent were also painted on the surface, the result of the combined red and white paint still wet.

Traces of a burned rub were evident [illegible] paint was smeared on the pedestal between the Boulder and the bronze tablet placed on it recording a mechanical drawing student's presence in the classroom. One theory is a good [illegible] student.

Ever since the class when the Boulder was a thing to be turned down in the middle of the road has anything in the nature of [illegible] endangered the beauty of its appearance. Formerly, when the Boulder was a less artistic and less in the shape of a natural [illegible] the class would [illegible] to take it off its pedestal and roll it rather [illegible] the [illegible] of class power. Authorities decided it was too much [illegible] to have it galivanting around town so much, so they decided it would be best to attach it by means of an iron rod and cement to the base.

But not since the defeat of Dartmouth by the football team has a paint job occurred around town. Then certain enthusiasts made a trip around town and painted the score of Vermont's 3-0 victory on several sidewalks around town. On the Old Mill remains the mark where someone unwittingly cleaned erasers on the wall of the Old Mill a few years ago. The white marks still remain. It is rumored that during the summer the Boulder was decorated by a new coat of yellow paint.

Just what the object of the vandals who painted up the Boulder is, could not be ascertained.

POLITICAL SCIENCE DEPT. TO OFFER THREE PRIZES

The department of political science offers this year two prizes of one hundred dollars each.

The first prize is the Phi Kappa Phi Research prize for the best essay on [illegible] the Principles of Free Government.

The second prize is the Robert D. Benedict prize which will be awarded to the member of the senior class who will present the best essay on the subject of International Arbitration.

The award will be made on the result of examinations at the close which should be presented to the Committee on Degrees not later than May 1, 1933.

The head of the department of political science Prof. F. C. Mower, will be glad to confer with students desiring to compete for these prizes.

At Smith College cooperative houses have been instituted where the students do their own house work as a means of saving money.

NO EXTRA HOLIDAYS AT THANKSGIVING DECREE COLLEGE AUTHORITIES

Petition Signed by Students Ruled Down Because it Would Cost Them Too Much Money

REFERENDUM VOTE TO BE HAD AFTER HOLIDAY

Vote May Determine Whether or Not Class Will be Held Friday, Saturday Next Year

[illegible] will be on Friday, Dec. 16 and continue [illegible] the dean of the various colleges and College Board in response to a petition presented by [illegible] Chairman Al Boulder member and signed by a large number of undergraduate students. The exact reason was that the students would spend a sum in excess of six thousand dollars in travelling to and from their homes during the Thanksgiving recess.

However, after Thanksgiving a referendum vote on the question will be taken at the University to determine whether or not there will be a four day vacation next year. Before such a move is taken Boulder County will have to discuss the wisdom of such a [illegible]. If such a vote is taken and the majority decide in favor of such a holiday the University Council will meet to decide whether conditions favor such a move. If a holiday is granted the first one will be Thanksgiving holidays in 1933 and will be held at the University.

Kenneth Colburn was presented the petition to President Bodey heard all arguments pro and con the question at issue was given by the University Council. Dean Swift in commenting on the subject said that none there were no new arguments presented other than what [illegible] every year. He was glad to see a move to make this year a special case and allow an extension of the Thanksgiving holiday. He was opposed to the idea of having a vacation at this time, but [illegible] that should the Council take [illegible] the Easter recess.

The dean further stated that it is immaterial to the college whether or not Thanksgiving or Easter vacations are but he urges every student to weigh to consider the advantages of both sides.

GOLD KEY TAKES WHITE, LANAHAN AND G. HARDING

Soph Honorary Society Selects Three Men to Fill Vacancies; All Approved by Dean Swift

F. J. Lanahan of Rutland, W. D. White, Jr., of Ryegate, and G. W. Harding of Woodstock have been elected to Gold Key, sophomore men's honorary society. These men were elected to fill the vacancies which were left open by three members of the society who did not return to college this year. All three men were approved by Dean Swift of the Arts College last week.

Membership to Gold Key is awarded to those men of the sophomore class who have good scholastic standing, who have the quality of leadership and who have interest in campus activities. The total membership of the present society is now fifteen.

Lanahan is a member of Alpha Tau Omega. He is a member of the varsity football team where he played in the position of quarterback. He played on last year's freshman football, basketball and baseball teams, and was awarded his numerals in that sport in recognition of his work on the freshman team last year. He is a member of La Cercle Francaise and is director of publicity in the Vermont Christian Association.

Harding is a member of Phi Mu Delta and has played consistently on the Dean list.

Rehearsals for the Men's Glee Club will be held twice a week in preparation for the Springfield contest, until further notice, on Wednesday evening at seven and on Thursday evening at eight fifteen. This week there will be no rehearsal Thursday evening, due to the holiday.

THE BOULDER

It [illegible] night's action is an attempt at a practical joke, then let someone reinstate the culprit. If the dastardly deed was one of malice, then let evil descend on the evildoer. One of the prettiest and most significant sights on the University campus is the Boulder. It has [illegible] such gutter minded tactics.

The work of disreputable art on the surface of one of the most conspicuous rocks on the college green is one of the dullest acts in recent years. The deed might even be classed in the same line as [illegible] window-shaving football games. If there is a detective on the campus now is his time to act!

If red and white were the colors at any first class inter-collegiate [illegible] there perhaps an object and a culprit might be discovered. But [illegible] rules for use the payments of any vivid destruction and to some [illegible] must prevail to be moral.

The spirit of the scarlet & buff is in the crude state. It has good [illegible]. It is commonly used by socialist party members. Perhaps there is at the campus some student specialist who is desirous of doing [illegible] some good. If the rock is a publicity idea to some fool's [illegible] this is two guys low, but the idea is a sour one.

On the other hand, if some college man was base enough to perpetrate the painting on the Boulder, and that man or men were found, [illegible] that they be made to clean the Boulder off before an assemblage of the entire school.

DOES A COLLEGE EDUCATION PAY?

Many educators cry that colleges today are not the institutions of higher learning they are cracked up to be the press declares that most colleges have degenerated into veritable country clubs and public opinion is at present challenging the advantages which a college education is supposed to give the young men and women of today.

It is true that some men and women will not earn exactly all they demand at a given age, but still it is possible to generalize with a reasonable amount of accuracy the earning power of a college graduate today, and compare it to the relative earning power of high school graduates.

The figures quoted below are the latest ones in the field of research. They were compiled from 7,396 queries sent out by Dean L. W. Lord of the Boston University College of Business Administration. From them we find that the total earnings of the elementary school graduate who works from the age of fourteen to sixty are $64,000, and that the total earnings of the high school graduate working from eighteen to sixty are $88,000. On the other hand, the earnings of the college graduate working from twenty-two to sixty amount to $144,000.

It is interesting to note from these facts that while there is a decrease in the average salary of classes of workers after the age of sixty, that of the college graduate rises again after this age.

Whether the college graduate is generally a happier person throughout his life or is very difficult to ascertain, for certainly no method of proving or disproving the subject is possible in this field. As far as earning power is concerned, however, we find the facts which best show that the college graduate has the advantage.

However no cod liver oil commercials were sponsoring the broadcast. The names in question were merely the names of two of the football players.

Students of Wittenberg College have greatly increased their amount of letters sent out daily since the new postage rates went into effect. Professor Myrick spoke more fully of [illegible]

Italy is not the tropical [illegible] at it is on the whole very pleasant. The temperature is rarely below forty two degrees during the day in winter, which, as you can see, is not half bad, especially with the warm, mellow sunshine each day."

"I chose Rome as my headquarters because my work was partly there. Of course I was on a vacation, but there was work I wanted to do in the national and other libraries. This library is probably little known to us in America because of our own splendid libraries. However, it contains many choice books and manuscripts of all languages and epochs, being of course, particularly [illegible]

"An unusual inconvenience encountered in the work was the extreme cold and dampness prevailing in many buildings in Italy."

Professor Myrick briefly described life in Italy to the deeply interested reporter, stressing the great care and pains which the Italian exercises in all of his tasks, also the lack of high-pressure living which so characterizes the Americans.

In the early spring Professor Myrick left Italy, spending a short time on the Riviera and in Bergundy before returning home.

"It was a very pleasant and profitable year for me. Nevertheless, I am glad to be home and at work once more, although I find it rather hard to readjust myself to the hustle and bustle of American life," he concluded with a smile.

VERMONT-ST. LAWRENCE IN NO-DECISION DEBATE

[illegible] negative admitted that [illegible] depression had descended on the European countries, but Mr. Bassett pointed out that the United States was living higher at the time of the crash than [illegible] had before to do." He said that Europeans are taxridden, and that if the war debts were cancelled, it would mean the removal of the burden of taxes from the backs of the Europeans to the backs of the Americans, that the American man's weekly salary would have to be portioned out in taxes.

As his last point, Mr. Bassett said that if the European countries were made to pay their debts they would not be spending the money to build up their armies and navies and other projects not beneficial to the world's good.

Mr. McCuin, the second speaker for the affirmative argued that to a great extent this depression was caused by the war debts. He showed definitely that in comparison to the other allied powers, the United States lost very few men, and asserted that had we lost more, there might be more of an excuse for demanding payment.

For the Negative

The second speaker on the negative, Mr. Brodkowski, said that cancellation would simply mean the transfer of the debt from the backs of four hundred million people to the backs of one hundred million and would make a deficit in the United States treasury. He showed what a godsend our money was to the Allies at five percent interest, and said that it has now been cut to two and one-half percent, resulting in a cut of the $11,500,000,000 debt to $6,000,000,000. He stated that twelve percent of Europe's armament budget would pay us $250,000,000 per year.

The last speaker on the affirmative proposed the following plan. The United States would call a conference with all debtor nations. At the conference this nation would propose all or partial cancellation of debts on a percentage of money borrowed by each country, provided that they reduce their armaments.

Mr. Myers then proceeded to illustrate the distribution of the world's good as would a scientist. He said that the United States has forty-two percent of the world's gold. France has twenty-eight percent, and the remaining thirty percent is distributed throughout the rest of the world. He said that if gold is demanded and recovered, balance will be destroyed and relations between nations will become stagnant. He said that if the United States pressed her claims, she would be but fostering a situation which may lead to war and distrust and perhaps the extermination of the human race.

Then Mr. Lang, the last speaker for the negative gave a plan for payment of the debt. Most important points were. 1. A twenty-year moratorium. 2. To scale the debt down even more. 3. Payment either by trade or service.

PROF. BLANCHARD WILL LECTURE ON MOROCCO AT MUSEUM ON FRIDAY

Third French Lecture to be Illustrated With Slides Made by the Professor Himself

Prof. Raoul Blanchard, of the chair of geography at the University of Grenoble, and exchange professor at Harvard, will speak at the Fleming Museum Friday evening, November 25. The lecture will be on Morocco and illustrated with slides made by Professor Blanchard himself.

This is not the first time Professor Blanchard has spoken in Burlington. Last year, also under the auspices of the Alliance Française, he lectured most interestingly on the subject "Les Alpes."

The committee of the Alliance Française takes pleasure in offering a prize of twenty-five dollars given by an anonymous donor, to a student at the University of Vermont who shall have passed successfully an examination in French on the Alliance lectures. The examination will be given in May and written in French.

M. Jules Champenois of New York also announces a prize of the same value in French books, given under the same conditions, but with the proviso that the candidates must be men, and at least three in number.

The Brown and White of Lehigh University carries an item to the effect that a Rhodes Scholar recently arrived in this country was reading a copy of Ballyhoo in his hotel lobby. He was observed to turn to his companion and remark, "I say, could you tell me who is this bally person, Elmer Zilch?"

various principal parts and for the choruses.

Mr. Wilson, director of the concerts, states, "I was very much pleased by the splendid work which the Glee Club is doing this year. I had the pleasure of hearing the group from year to year and I can truly say that I think that this year's club is far the best ever formed here. The concert Friday evening was delightful. I enjoyed every bit of the program. There was such a variety in the type of music and each was given exactly as the composer himself might have rendered it. My favorites were Ave Maria and Gute Nacht and I consider Professor Leonard's conducting of these two. The selections by Miss Mars and Professor Leonard were fine. It was a very good program in all ways and I cannot adequately express my delight."

Another of the audience who withheld her name and who has heard many of the most famous choruses of Europe remarks that Professor Leonard's manner of conducting is far superior to that of many college directors and reminds her of the European method, which she considers very fine.

CARPENTER ADDRESSES FACULTY AT MEETING

athletics has resulted in the decreased use of funds for these purposes is the first step in restoration of football and other sports to their normal partisan plane. The Carnegie report believes that athletes may receive money for services rendered but not in excess to that awarded to other students for the same work. Scholarships also may be given as to other students but not the so-called "athletic scholarships." The national cry seems to be, therefore, "give the game back to the boys," but the boys do not want high-priced coaches and paid experts to handle it, and thus the restoration will inevitably be a slow, gradual process.

After Professor Carpenter's résumé of the Carnegie Bulletin, the members of the faculty engaged in an informal discussion of athletics in general and the present situation in the Green Mountain Conference.

BLUESTOCKINGS SOCIETY MEETS AT PI PHI HOUSE

Irish Literature Discussed at Meeting of Women's Honorary Literature Group

Irish literature was the theme of the Bluestockings meeting held Wednesday evening at the Pi Beta Phi house. The program had three main divisions: Irish history, Irish poetry and Irish drama. Marjorie Dunsmore '33 was in charge of the part of the program dealing with history. Gladys LaFlamme '33 supervised the poetry and Alice Hoyt '34 the drama. A story by Donn Byrne, "My Aunt Susan Wooing," was read by Kathryn Ingram '33 and Alice McConnell '33. Miss Alice McConnell had read a paper on the principal divisions of Irish literature both ancient and modern.

Readings or selections from the work of Irish poets were read by Miss Perry, the chief of these being the poetry of Yeats. A paper read by Miss Hoyt gave a brief résumé of Irish drama which, on the whole, is on a higher plane than other Irish literature. The reading of a play from the more modern Irish drama, "Maker of Dreams," by Miss Perry '33, Alice Hoyt '34 and Marjorie Dunsmore '33 completed the literary program of the evening. The meeting drew to a close with the serving of refreshments and an informal discussion of the program.

Meetings for Bluestockings will close for two weeks before Thanksgiving. It is expected that a large number of freshmen and sophomen who have never gone with the Bluestockings will submit contributions to be considered before that time. The Bluestockings is a literary society connected with the especial purposes of the promotion of good literature and fostering interest both in creative and critical writing. Many of the contributions to the meetings are used in Winnowings from the Mill, the college literary magazine.

Professor Dean who has been the faculty adviser of the magazine since its inception in 1927 recalled that during the first few years it was printed in Swanton and Montpelier. For some time of course the publication has been in Burlington and to judge from the copies of the magazine on file, it has improved considerably in attractiveness of cover and make up. The first few numbers were about the size of the present Winnowings when the magazine grew somewhat larger and in the last two years the original size has been used. Several staff members have remarked that Winnowings might be made larger and more attractive if more stories were always on hand. This is to be the reason for increasing the circulation.

AGGIE LIBRARY SWELLS GRAND TOTAL TO 8,000

The bulk of the agricultural library at the University of Vermont, consisting of some 8,000 volumes is now housed in Morrill Hall, the home of the Agricultural College. Some 3,000 agricultural volumes have recently been removed from the Billings Library, the main library of the University, to complete the library assembled at Morrill Hall which already contained about 5,000 volumes. A few special volumes are still kept at the Billings Library and there are small adjunct libraries at the Extension Service and Experiment Station but the library as a whole is now located at Morrill Hall and is practically in shape for use. The cases have been labeled and the books numbered and indexed. The usual library system of issuing books is employed.

Chesterfields are Milder—

Chesterfields Taste Better

As smokers become more experienced, they demand milder cigarettes. Chesterfields are milder. Their mildness is just as much a feature as the beauty of their package.

The tobaccos are mild to begin with. Patient ageing and curing make them milder still. And Chesterfields contain just the right amount of Turkish—not too much—carefully blended and cross-blended with ripe, sweet Domestic tobaccos.

Chesterfields are milder. They taste better. That's why "They Satisfy."

BEDELL AND DELFAUSSE ONLY STUDENT MEMBERS OF ATHLETIC HONORARY

Lack of Swimming Pool at U. V. M. Blocks Many Men From Passing Tests

William Skip Bedell '33 ... captain of the football team and Lou Delfausse '34 star end ... the grid team and sprinter on the track team, have successfully passed all the requirements for Sigma Delta Psi the honorary athletic society and are now members of the fraternity. Each year many students try out for membership to Sigma Delta Psi but they fail to fulfill the swimming requirement mainly because there is no swimming pool at this University.

In order that a candidate may be elected to the Sigma Delta Psi Fraternity he must successfully fulfill the following requirements:

Events	Required
1 100 yd. dash	11 seconds
2 120 yds. low hurdles	16 seconds
3 Running high jump	5 feet
4 Running broad jump	17 feet
5 Shot put for men over 160 lbs. less than that weight the proportion is 160	30 feet / 30

11 Tumbling two front hand-springs ... hand stand ... horse vault ... mounting and dismounting
12 Diving	Dive

The Sigma Delta Psi fraternity established a chapter at the University of Vermont on May 12 1930. Sigma Delta Psi has forty-six chapters at the present time the University of Vermont being the forty-seventh. In the East U. V. M. is the third chapter. Yale and Springfield are the other two colleges which have chapters.

Sigma Delta Psi was founded at Indiana University in 1912. The object of the society is the encouragement of the mental, moral and physical development and training among college students. All male students in the colleges in the United States are eligible for membership. No student is admitted to membership who is found by the faculty to be deficient in scholarship.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

You don't want too much Turkish but you do want Enough

that's why Chesterfields Taste Better!

IT'S like this. Turkish tobacco is to cigarettes what spices are to food . . . the "seasoning" that points up the flavor of all the other ingredients.

In your cigarette . . . as in anything good . . . you want enough spice. Not too much. In Chesterfield you get just enough of the right kinds of the spicy aromatic Turkish leaf.

It's this "just-right" blending of tobaccos, both Turkish and Domestic, that gives to Chesterfields their better taste and rich aroma.

FOOTBALL MEN SWELL VARSITY COURT SQUAD AS SCRIMMAGES BEGIN

Saba and Taft only Grid Men Not Out—Intensive Practice Starts

BECKLEY, MORGAN, RAMON ADD ZEST TO WORKOUTS

Competition in State Series Fairly Strong as Norwich, Middlebury, St. Mikes Good

[illegible] addition of several foot[illegible] to the varsity basketball [illegible] number of men out has been [illegible] about fifteen candidates. [illegible] to latest reports, Ed Saba, [illegible]ower man and star guard on [illegible] quintet, will not be out this [illegible] Taft, the highest scorer [illegible]cat's team, has not as yet [illegible]ed for practice.

[illegible]t practice of the week was [illegible]Wednesday evening when Coach [illegible]Burke put the men through a [illegible]rkout. The next practice will [illegible] on Monday afternoon. Wed[illegible] evening's practice consisted of [illegible] scrimmages between the fresh[illegible] varsity squads, in which the [illegible]re thoroughly appraised by [illegible]Burke. The playing was some[illegible]ged and, although fast, was not [illegible]ared very much.

Beckley, last year's varsity [illegible] appeared for the first time on [illegible] of practice, after a week's [illegible] from the gruelling grind that [illegible]ter men have to go through. [illegible]Morgan, varsity center, appeared [illegible] one last Monday afternoon at [illegible] Enos Ramon, fast fighting [illegible] who was ineligible last season, [illegible] be in excellent condition for [illegible]. CAT'S MEOW

—SPORTS Edition—

[illegible]

[illegible]

We note that Dean Frederick Rand Rogers of the Department of Physical Education at Boston University has definitely decided to put his player control system back into effect next year in football.

Three features of the system are presented. Read them and weep.

I. Coaches and other non-participants are removed from all players.

(a) Opposing coaches may sit together and discuss their problems.

II. Players may be removed from the game at any time by the captain, coach or physician.

III. Players solve all problems of play during the game as well as during the rest periods.

An analysis of these features especially the first and third seem to indicate that there won't be any need of a coach at all.

However, if it is decided that coaching is somewhat of a necessity after all, the (a) part of feature number one would tend toward lessening the need of a yearly coaches' meeting in New York or anywhere else, for that matter.

Eddie Casey, Jack Crannell, Mal Stevens and Nic Hanson, four of the younger coaches whom Dame Rumor had all set for a change of scenery, will all be back at their respective institutions next fall, despite the fact that none enjoyed successful seasons.

The controversy at Holy Cross continues hot and heavy. We read that Head Coach McEwan has gone to the courts in an attempt to collect on his contract.

Here's a bit of interesting news which should make the opposition to compulsory military training prick up their ears. At Gloucester, Mass., High the boys are so haywire over R. O. T. C. that no football uniforms are issued to seniors who are not regulars in previous years. This fall only two seniors were on the team.

Now that the A. A. U. has adopted the metric system for all track athletic events "in fairness to American athletes," we must go through the dull and uninteresting process of learning to translate this system into our own system of the past.

Our traditional mile- and quarter-mile runs, in addition to two 20- and 100-yard dashes are now things of the past.

Embryo and potential wisecrackers in the freshman law classes at Creighton University will learn the meaning of the phrase "silence is golden" due to a new regulation recently put into effect at the Omaha school. To the freshman making the dumbest answer to a legitimate question propounded to him will be awarded a brown derby much too big for his [illegible] and he will be forced to wear the derby at all times and at all places. If this measure does not put a stop to the wise remarks other and more stringent devices have been devised to permanently cure the offenders.

EIGHT GRID CONTESTS LISTED FOR TEAM IN 1933 VARSITY SEASON

Connecticut Aggies and Clarkson Tech Added to Next Year's Schedule

DARTMOUTH AT HANOVER ONLY GAME OUT OF CLASS

Norwich, St. Michael's, Middlebury, to be Met on Successive Saturdays

[illegible] University of Vermont football [illegible] will play eight games next [illegible] according to the schedule released [illegible] by Graduate Manager Sabin A. Aloff. The opening game will be played with the Connecticut Aggie team at Centennial Field on September 30.

Two new teams are listed on the schedule as the Catamounts encounter the Connecticut Aggies for their first [illegible] and Clarkson Tech for their [illegible] Both teams ought to furnish fine opposition. The Clarkson Tech team made a good showing this year, taking both Middlebury and St. Michael's over the bumps.

For the second year in a row, Vermont will encounter the Dartmouth team at Hanover. The Cat grid team played a fine game this year and held the Big Green eleven to thirty five points, which, considering the class of the opposition, was pretty good. Boston University and New Hampshire will both be met; next year the Terriers will be played at Boston, while the Wildcats will be met at Centennial Field.

One unpleasant feature of the next year's schedule is the listing of the three state games in a row, when the team will be under a hard strain. Norwich will be met on November 4 at Sabine Field. The strong St. Michael's outfit will be played on home territory on Armistice Day, while the Panthers will be met also at Centennial Field for the finale of the 1933 season.

The schedule is as follows:

Sept. 30—Connecticut Aggies	Here
Oct. 7—Dartmouth	There
Oct. 14—Clarkson Tech	Here
Oct. 21—Boston University	There
Oct. 28—New Hampshire State	Here
Nov. 4—Norwich University	There
Nov. 11—St. Michael's	Here
Nov. 18—Middlebury	There

Just before the Kentucky-Georgia Tech game last week Kentucky students were recalling some interesting incidents from the last meeting between the two teams in 1923. The Kentucky squad had a rather disastrous season that year although they managed to gain a tie with the powerful Golden Tornado in Atlanta that day. One incident that impressed the listeners was the action of the Kentucky drum major who, when passing under the goal posts at the usual half ceremonies, threw his baton in the air, thought that he had missed it and was supposed to [illegible] it light correctly in his hand. People in Atlanta are still talking about it and refuse to believe that his catching it was an accident. Ever since that time Kentucky has been credited with having the best band in Dixie.

Three freshmen at Rutgers are living on a sixty foot yacht while attending the university.

CO-ED BASKETBALL TO START NOVEMBER 29 COACHED BY MRS. HARD

Class Teams Will Not be Chosen Until After Christmas Vacation

Co-ed basketball practice will begin Tuesday, November 29, under the direction of Mrs. Hard. The class teams [illegible] Miss Blanchard will probably [illegible] in the season.

[illegible] the purpose of [illegible] to start [illegible] and basketball have [illegible] Every girl is urged to [illegible] two periods [illegible] Mrs. Cummings [illegible] to coach basketball will be taught. Miss Cummings is directing these classes, which are held once a week on Mondays.

Two new indoor sports are going to be started next week for co-eds—ping-pong and badminton. Both of these games have become very popular in [illegible] all over the United States. A demonstration of badminton will be given in the cage next week as soon as the equipment can be set up. The cage will be used for badminton on Tuesday and Thursdays from 1:30 to 5:30.

All students who want to play must sign up for a special time, as it is only possible for four students to play at one time. A notice will be posted in the "Y" room on which students are to sign their names and the time they want to play.

Ping pong will be played in the gym and the co-eds will have to sign up the same as in badminton.

NOTICE

IMPORTANT NOTICE

All men who wish to scrub for the business side, properties and stage managerships for the Fall Play are asked to sign up on the bulletin board in the Old Mill as soon as possible. Scrubs for this play and the Spring Play will be in line for membership in Wig and Buskin and managerships next year.

A course in Italian will be given by Prof. Arthur Myrick, head of the department of romance languages, if enough students elect the course. Will anyone desiring to do so please communicate with Professor Myrick or with Dorothy Kennedy '35 as soon as possible.

[illegible] the state Panthers had [illegible] added incentive when they took the field against Hamline in their first game of the season. A local barber offered a bottle of hair root oil to the first backfield man making the first touchdown and likewise to the lineman making the first tackle.

"WHERE VERMONT MEN MEET"

Something for pipe smokers to think about!

ABOUT 1864, farmers began to grow White Burley Tobacco. A few casks were taken to the St. Louis Fair in 1867 and sold for 58c a pound.

White Burley Tobacco is used to make Granger. It is the best pipe tobacco that grows.

You will notice the difference as soon as you light up your pipe of Granger. It burns slower, smokes cooler and never gums a pipe.

THE HUNTER HUNTED!

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the famous artist, R. Atkinson Fox . . . inspired by the battle between an enraged bull buffalo and the savage Indian hunters whose lances roused the beast to furious charge. "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

FRENCH ARE GOOD COLONIZERS STATES PROF. BLANCHARD

Alliance Lecturer Refutes Theory That Frenchmen are Averse to Leaving Home Country

DESCRIBES CUSTOMS AND PEOPLE OF MOROCCO

[illegible] is generally believed that [illegible] are not successful in colonization and conquest and improvement [illegible] now that this is far from [illegible] Prof. Raoul Blanchard, of [illegible] of Grenoble, in his lec[illegible] subject of Morocco given [illegible]ng, November 25, in the [illegible] Museum.

"Frenchman is traditionally supposed to have an aversion to leaving [illegible]tries," said Professor Blanchard after France's success in [illegible] and taking into consideration [illegible]s encountered because of [illegible]s of the country and the [illegible]ture of the people, to say [illegible] the climate, which is ex[illegible]healthful, I think those who [illegible]ewed France's efforts at colo[illegible]n will find themselves somewhat [illegible].

"The state of Morocco much re[illegible]mbles that of Southern California; it [illegible] and moist. It is worthy of [illegible] Morocco are the only real [illegible]outh Africa.

"The inhabitants of Morocco are of [illegible]ditate race—that is, of essen[illegible]ame stock as the European [illegible]es true that they have brown [illegible]hat is the effect of the sun [illegible] Moroccan is the true brother [illegible]es living along the Mediter[illegible]n and is very different from [illegible]. FRATS NOT BENEFICIAL MAINTAINS NEGATIVE AND WINS JUDGES' DECISION

Twelve Frosh Debate on Fraternity Question; Men Gain First Victory; Co-eds Win Second

Two teams of freshman debaters upholding the negative of the question, "Resolved, That fraternities are beneficial to the average student on the American Campus," were awarded judges' decisions on Friday afternoon, November 25, in the auditorium of the Fleming Museum.

Lucy Frost, Mary Whitney and Betty Brown, comprising the women's first team, upheld the negative and won from A. Levin, C. Hale and D Pinsky, member of the men's first team, who argued for the affirmative.

F R Greemore, S L. Stebbins and M. Singer, the men's group which presented the negative, carried the judges' decision in a forensic tilt with Calista Swenson, Esther Sinclair and Thelma Leach, who upheld the affirmative.

Both debates were conducted in the Oxford style in which the first affirmative speaker is the only one who is given an additional chance for reputation in closing the debate. The other speakers combine their rebuttal with the body of constructive argument. The time allowed each speaker was five minutes plus a minute overtime.

NEW!

Strapless and Backless Brassiere by MAIDEN FORM

Entirely strapless and backless, this double-net brassiere was created especially for low-cut evening gowns. Light but firm little bones hold it securely in place and its ribbon pulls are adjustable to exactly the amount of "uplift" you personally require. The girdle is one of Maiden Form's clever new "High-Waist" styles—designed to give the slim waistline so essential with present day fashions. It is made of dainty figured batiste and elastic mesh.

The Student Activities Committee of the University of Buffalo voted that the Bison, comic magazine of the school should be suspended for one year. POINT SYSTEM STATE TEAM INCLUDES HALF DOZEN PANTHER MEN

Vermont Rate Two Men on All-Conference First Team While St. Michael's Powerful Team Merits One

CYNIC DERIDES METHOD OF SELECTION OF TEAM

Believes That if One Paper be Allowed Power to Vote, Other Papers Should Also be Included

...ding to the all-state team se... by the coaches of the Green ... Conference teams and the Middlebury campus, Middlebury placed six men on the all-state team, while Vermont placed two, Norwich one and St. Michael's one. The point system of choosing the teams was used.

Each coach was asked to select two men for each position, and the Campus to select two men for each

All men on the first team ... two votes, while members of ... team obtained one vote ... words, the four state coaches ... their list, and the Middlebury Campus had the power to sway the vote either way. The CYNIC in reviewing ... of the all-State team feel that ... as selected, was not chosen as ... might have been, and that if ... college newspaper were allowed ... a say in the matter, all of the three college papers should have an equal say.

The all-Conference team as selected by ... Burke, Laird, Beck and Carr ... Middlebury Campus would be somewhat changed if the CYNIC were allowed a say in the matter. Especially does the Vermont CYNIC feel that Cook ... have been honored by a place on the first team. It will be remembered that ... played in the three Conference ... whereas both Riccio and MacLean ... used in but two. According to ... Burke and Carr, Cook should ... been honored by a place on the first ... The Campus voted MacLean and ... on as tackles, changing the entire ... to the vote. If the CYNIC had been ... a say in the matter, there would ... been a radical change in the matter ... right tackle for the team.

... Laird's list included but five ... on his feeling that he was not well ... acquainted with all the players. ... does not like to see Farmer ... Foley playing in the same position. It really seems that the Middlebury selections were judged more on the Norwich-Middlebury game than any other, whereas, there were six other games played in the state.

Chesterfields are Milder—

Chesterfields Taste Better

To make tobaccos mild and mellow for Chesterfield cigarettes, just about four miles of warehouses are filled with mild, ripe Domestic leaf, stored away to age for two years.

The greater part of 90 million dollars is invested in these tobaccos. Is it surprising that Chesterfields are milder? That they taste better?

Everything known to Science is used to make Chesterfields right! They're mild—and yet They Satisfy.

116 WOMEN REPORT AT BASKETBALL PRACTICE TUESDAY AFTERNOON

Class Managers Selected at Initial Practice—Teams Chosen Next Semester

One hundred and eighteen women reported for the first basketball practice held last Tuesday, November 29. The freshman class leads the list with 46, sophomores are second with 30, juniors third with 22 co-eds reporting, the seniors, with 20, although last on the list, have a greater number of select co-eds playing this year than during previous years. Mrs. Hard is coaching basketball this semester until Miss Blanchard comes back.

The class managers were chosen at this practice. Senior manager, Ruth Johnston; junior manager, Mary Ladue; sophomore manager, Sue France; and freshman manager, Harriet Gray. Practice will take place every Tuesday and Thursday from 4.00 to 5.30 p.m. The class teams will be chosen next semester and following the selection a tournament for the class basketball championship will take place. The team winning the tournament will add so many points to their class score. The purpose of this is that the class which has the greatest number of points at the time of the spring field day will be awarded the all-sports cup, the much-coveted trophy which is presented to the class which is the most outstanding in co-ed athletics.

The Badminton Demonstration

The Women's Athletic Association is very pleased at the great number of co-eds who attended the Badminton demonstration, held Tuesday, November 29 in the cage. There were approximately 150 co-eds present. Mr. Prentice explained the purpose of the game and the method of scoring. W. Adams '34 and E. Moller '36 demonstrated a singles game and then Sue France '35 and Ewen Mount '35 played with them showing how a doubles game may be played. The game was imported from England to Canada at first and from there it gradually spread to the United States. Now it is played at a great many colleges. The co-eds are to have the use of the cage Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 1.30 to 3.30. In December several men, who are experts at the game are coming to the University to demonstrate it and all students are cordially invited to attend the demonstration.

All co-eds who wish to play Badminton must sign up in the Y room and specify the time that they want to play.

Bowling Classes

There have only been two classes in bowling due to the interference of exams so that if any co-ed would like to take bowling now it will be possible to do so. Anyone who wishes to sign up should see Doris Putnam '34 or Miss Cumming.

Winter sports will begin soon and co-eds are urged to bring back their skis, snowshoes and skates when they return from Christmas vacation as there will be a mixed winter carnival probably 10th or 2nd year examinations are over.

"V" CLUB HOLDS FIRST INFORMAL BANQUET OF YEAR TUESDAY EVENING

Discusses System of Athletics at University and Various Faults of It

Some [illegible] members of the Lettermen's club of Vermont "V" club gathered at the Hotel Vermont for their first banquet last night at the end [illegible] of the year. Lew Gardner, coach of varsity football and faculty advisor of the club, acted in the capacity of toastmaster for the occasion last Tuesday evening.

When the meal was over the room was cleared and a short discussion as to the purposes of the organization was carried on. This resulted in a decision to draw up a constitution for the club. The members agreed that the by-laws could wait the lack of time, and the task was left to committees. They also had the matter of dues to contend with. It was decided that the dues should be $2.00 per year.

Coach Lew Gardner gave a short talk on the point of view of a football coach discussing the need of more candidates during the fall season and the necessity of keeping a large squad during the entire season. Coach Dan Needham, assistant varsity baseball coach and coach of freshman baseball, representing the baseball division of the athletic council, told of the duties of the athletic council and how it is composed of men who have earned their letter in one or more of the four major sports. The duties of the president, Leonard Mellon; vice-president, Mary Powell; secretary-treasurer.

[illegible] is no disputing the fact that the [illegible] of State scrimmage with [illegible] Middlebury men on it and a second team with three regulars on [illegible] Coach Lucky has more than one [illegible] and second team selection but [illegible] beat Middlebury more all talent [illegible] to create a Panther [illegible] on a state basis.

The outstanding exception to the other [illegible] of the two rival teams is the fact that Fred Cook, quarterback. The cap-trimming [illegible] of the state was placed on the second [illegible] team.

It hardly seems possible that Middlebury should be prejudiced in favor of their men, it is probably a case of hasty judgement coupled with sentiment.

Now that we have the all state selections cleared up, we still maintain that the Army will take the Navy, whether the Middies wear basketball shoes or not.

Statistics reveal that only one of the thirty-seven athletes killed in football this season was participating in a scheduled college game.

This seems well for the new rules and it is hoped that they have served their purpose.

The most successful record of any coach in the country is held by a man who is seldom heard from. He is Major Robert I. Neyland of the University of Tennessee whose team have won 69 out of games during the past five years.

We see by the Norwich Cadet that according to their picking four Vermont men made their first team and three on their second team. Hedley was the left guard. Cook played at right guard. Leavers at center and Saba at quarterback.

On the second team Farmer made right guard and Beckley was the fullback pick. Joe Bellanca was voted at left end. Again we say that each man has been elected.

"V" CLUB HOLDS FIRST INFORMAL BANQUET OF YEAR TUESDAY EVENING

Discusses System of Athletics at University and Various Faults of It

Some twenty members of the Lawrence, or Vermont "V" club gathered at the Hotel Vermont last night for the first informal banquet of the year. Larry Gardner, coach of varsity baseball and varsity advisor of the club, acted in the capacity of toastmaster for the occasion last Tuesday evening.

When the meeting was called to order, plans were laid for the purpose of the organization. They resolved to participate in restoring an athletic field to normal place on the campus. The members agreed that the two most needy were the lack of money and the lack of proper facilities. They also had the opinion that the alumni did not cooperate properly with the student body.

Coach John Burke gave a short talk on the point of view of a football coach during the pool of more candidates during the fall season and the prospects of having a large squad during the coming season. Coach Dee Newton, assistant varsity baseball coach and coach of freshman baseball, representing the local alumni in his address, stated that the alumni were wholeheartedly in back of every athletic project inaugurated by the students of the University, and were especially interested in the activities of the track council "V" club.

The present officers of the organization are composed of men who have earned their letter in one or more of the four major sports, and are as follows: Thomas Collier '33 president; Leonard McEwen '34 vice-president; Mary Powell '34 secretary-treasurer.

The Student Herald of Franklin and Marshall College carries the statement that a complaint of a Lawrence co-ed recently popped a street car, and her screaming on the steps thanked the conductor very kindly and returned to the theater home.

Wednesday evening's scrimmages were hard and fast [illegible]. The freshmen outplayed their opponents [illegible] the first half, having [illegible] on them most [illegible] a good run [illegible] the tape and off the basket. The [illegible] passed the ball [illegible] their team mates, but occasional [illegible] would have to be [illegible]. Some [illegible] were committed by the inexperienced rush. But these would [illegible] experience.

Wednesday's [illegible] practice [illegible] Coach Burke is showing his team hard [illegible] to get them in good conditions but to [illegible] them so [illegible] a basketball [illegible]. The first [illegible] will take place Tuesday, December 10. Plays are being worked on nightly and several different ones are being considered. As many [illegible] are being shot each night [illegible] and Captain Dave Hall the best average last Wednesday evening.

The starting combination of Morgan at center, Farmer and Bellanca at the guard and Beckley and Cook at forward have not been definitely agreed on. However the combination of Farmer, Cook, Palmer, Center and Hall have proved a better at times. Several substitutes have been attempted and given a second trial but others have not [illegible] as was hoped to have determined by the [illegible]. Coach Burke will keep three complete teams on hand.

CONCERT WILL BE GIVEN BY CHOIR DECEMBER 18

The Universalist choir of forty pieces is to present a Christmas concert at their church Sunday, December 18 at the [illegible] Chapel. Professor Leonard [illegible] is arranging the concert and Christmas carols [illegible] the [illegible] selections. Every one [illegible] to be present this year that last and the programs will probably not be so large. Those chosen to sing solos [illegible] of the Christmas carols. Le Moyne de Pierre Bassett '34, V. S. Gardiner '35, [illegible] Mead and A. E. Wilcox '35. Marion Patterson, pianist student will also assist in the concert. A complete program of the concert will be printed in the Cynic of a later date.

THEY'RE MILDER
THEY TASTE BETTER

YOU would be astonished too, if you could see this machine that turns out 750 Chesterfields a minute... and every one as near perfect as cigarettes can be made.

But please bear this in mind. It is what happens before the tobacco goes into this machine that matters most. Rolling and packaging are important, but not nearly as important as the selection, blending and treatment of the tobacco.

That's why we keep telling you about the tobaccos used in Chesterfields. They're fine, mild, and pure tobaccos. We tell you about ageing and curing the tobaccos... about blending and cross-blending them... because they are things that count.

Chesterfields are milder. They taste better. Prove it for yourself... Just try a package.

JORDAN WILL MEET APTITUDE APPLICANTS ON WEDNESDAY P.M.

To Outline General Features of Exam and Inform Them of Changes This year

Professor Jordan will meet the applicants for the medical aptitude test on Wednesday, December 7, in Room 27 in the Williams Science Hall at 4 p.m. where he will outline the general features of the examination and inform them of the changes which have been made in this year's test.

The medical aptitude test, sponsored by the Association of American Medical Colleges, will be given to prospective students who are planning to apply for admission to an approved medical college next fall, on Friday, December 9, in Room 27 in the Williams Science Hall at 3 p.m.

It is imperative that all students who intend to enter a medical college in the fall of 1933 should take this test, since it is one of the normal requirements for admission to an accredited medical school. The grade that a student will attain on this test will be available, through the secretary of the Association of Medical Colleges, to any approved medical college in the country in which the student desires to matriculate.

All students who desire to take the test should register with Professor Jordan in the Medical College Room 14 from 9 to 12 a.m. or on before Wednesday, December 7, and pay a fee of $1.00 which is forwarded to the Association. There seems to be no reason for this examination. The only essential factor is clear concentration.

In previous years the test has in general comprised seven parts.

Part I. Comprehension and Retention: Each student is given a preliminary sheet to read for a limited time and then it is taken from him. He is then handed the examination and he has to answer the questions which relate to the text on the paper which he read.

Part II. Visual Memory:

On the same preliminary sheet is a diagram which the student studies. An identical diagram on the examination sheet is to be labelled to correspond to the diagram which was studied on the preliminary sheet.

Part III. Memory for Content:

Memory for content is considered similar to part I, and consists of questions requires the student to recall questions from or take on the basis of a narrated description based upon the prominent features of the diagram presented in Part II, above.

Part IV. Perceptual Information:

Perkins Staunch Advocator of Use of Fingerprints in Ameri

Believes That Many Cases Might Have Been Aided by Us Footprints or Fingerprints

"For many years my hobby has been fingerprinting," states Prof. H. F. Perkins, head of the Zoology Department. "In my opinion this is one very fascinating and useful employment. I myself have been especially interested in identical fingerprints or twins and have a large collection now.

"However, there seems to be a common prejudice against fingerprinting among the American people. This, no doubt, is to a large measure due to the fact that it has been used almost entirely in criminal detective work. If only they might be led to see that it has more and greater uses than this.

"I believe that it might have helped in the Lindberg case. If they had had the hand or, better yet, the footprints of the baby they could have asked the blackmailers for a footprint as proof of the child's existence before handing over the ransom money. Of course this would not have brought back the child, but it would have prevented the useless payment of a considerable sum of money.

"The same way with the Colonel Robins case. Had the family had Colonel Robins' fingerprints the formula could have been telegraphed to the town where he was found, where men specialized in fingerprinting would have made an exact reproduction. By this means Colonel Robins' identity could have been easily established without the expense, delay, and anxiety of the trip taken by a member of the family for this purpose.

"My aim and the aim of the many men in this country who are working for the popularizing of fingerprinting in America is to arrive at a time when each family and state shall have a complete file. This would necessitate a cross index system where the individual fingerprint would be filed according to name and address and also according to [illegible] which there are eight [illegible] and many smaller divi[illegible] would be very comple[illegible] Think of the aid in [illegible] abouts of those kidnaped [illegible] lost in addition to the [illegible] criminals. Cross-Blending

WHAT IS IT..and how does it improve cigarette taste?

YOU'VE heard how fruit of one variety has been crossed with fruit of another to produce a new and more pleasing flavor. The loganberry, for example, is a cross between the raspberry and the blackberry.

Chesterfield's Cross-Blend gets the same result—better taste—by a different method.

It welds together the different kinds of several varieties of tobacco. Many types of Bright tobacco, a great many types of Burley tobacco, and numerous grades of Turkish tobacco are all merged into one—Chesterfield tobacco.

This welding or Cross-Blending goes beyond ordinary blending or mixing tobaccos together. It actually makes every kind of tobacco in Chesterfield partake of the qualities of every other type.

It's the Cross-Blending of fine Turkish and Domestic tobaccos that gives Chesterfields a distinctive, better taste.

They are milder. They have a flavor and aroma which, we believe, you will like.

DRAMATISTS PRESENT "TO THE LADIES" AT THE CITY HALL AUDITORIUM

Mrs. C. I. Taggart, Coaching First Play for U. V. M., Has Successful Cast

MURPHY AND HOWE TAKE LEAD IN FALL COMEDY

Last night saw the curtain rise and fall on another of the University Players' annual fall productions, this year on the stage of the City Hall Auditorium for the first time, before a depression audience which nearly filled the floor and the balcony above. "To the Ladies" was placed on the boards under somewhat different circumstances than those which usually accompany a more fortunate production, the ticket prices ranging as usual, but a box office of fifty and seventy-five cents, and the orchestra being composed wholly of University student.

Preceded by a fifteen-minute prelude by the student ensemble, the curtain rose promptly at 8.15, and as the first note from the instrument died away P. M. Howe '35 opened the play as the part of Leonard Beebe.

Under the new Vermont dramatic coach, Mrs. C. I. Taggart, the players have rehearsed almost three times as much as ever was more usual, play coached by the previous coach, Professor Metcalf. The cast numbered fifteen.

...In was on explanation Ramps Levine ...ntioned to the squad the fundamental ...s behind each of the new rules ... making each rule clear in the men's ...nds before the season opened. He ...so outlined the New England inter... ...pretation of the phases of the new ...rules. Any deliberate attempt to bounce a ball off another player will be consid... ...ered an out-of-bounds ball for the op... ...posing team was the most important ... fact. Also, Levine emphasized that each man has a right to a position on the floor and as long as there is no personal contact no foul will be called. Face guarding was also defined.

It might be interesting to note that Vermont has only dropped two contests to McGill while they have won thirteen ...ts in the basketball relations between the two schools. McGill, who does not specialize in basketball as much as Vermont usually furnishes fine opposition for the Catamounts in the sports. The Redmen have powerful winter sports teams. Recently their ski team was invited to attend a meet at Switzerland. The Red intercollegiate have a water polo team, a swimming team, a boxing team and a hockey team in addition to the basketball team to support.

First Aid for unbroken joints

How to keep silt and sand from clogging telephone cable ducts was one problem put up to engineers at Bell Telephone Laboratories. No known method of joining sections of vitrified clay conduit effected a watertight joint.

With scientific thoroughness, telephone men made many tests under service conditions. They devised a bandage of cheese-cloth, waterproof paper and mortar. Easily made and applied, this mortar bandage is tight against silt and sand. It prevents clogging, greatly simplifies the installation of new telephone cables and the removal of old ones.

Through solving such interesting problems Bell System men work steadily nearer to their goal —telephone service of highest possible efficiency.

McGill Takes Vermont Over In First Cage Contest 32-24

"Whitey" Palmer, Playing First Game for Cats, Shines Both in Defensive and Offensive Work as Team Crumbles

LEWIN LEADS VICTORS BY SCORING TEN POINTS

[illegible] mediocre calibre of basketball [illegible] hoop quintet dropped [illegible] game of the season to a [illegible] McGill team. The score [illegible] night's [illegible] was 32-24 [illegible] in his first varsity [illegible] tilt, displayed a ticket that [illegible] and in the end. His [illegible] the shots from the backboard [illegible] succession of the ball several [illegible] aided him to sink two shots [illegible] stood as though Vermont were [illegible] the Scarlet-clad men [illegible] pered the game by jumping [illegible] to lead. Their style of play [illegible] working in of the ball gained [illegible] opportunity and [illegible] that [illegible]. However as soon as [illegible] upon possession for the [illegible] did not resume the offensive. The Canadian players [illegible] command of the situation and [illegible] the Catamounts' early [illegible]. For a while the game was [illegible] ragged, but soon the Scarlet [illegible] the points in a fashion that [illegible] be deemed [illegible].

[illegible] was especially rough during [illegible], three men being ejected [illegible] four personals called. For [illegible] team Captain Pires scored [illegible] for the McGill five. Lewin, [illegible] Dartmouth man and center of [illegible] quintet, led his team with 10 [illegible].

Best Band—Army Enlisted Men's Band.

SARTOR RESARTUS

We won't try to explain the Latin; we'd better just tell the story. Keep it clean we say. Well, Assistant Business Manager Fairweather (of the university, you know) discovered, quite by accident, of course, a speak on 55th Street. As you know, there is a law about speaks. So Mr. Fairweather sought for a means to close the joint. He found a shop-owner on 55th who had been bothered by one at an earlier date, and was advised that the best way to get rid of the establishment was to find the holder of the mortgage on the joint and get him to foreclose. Fairweather thought this was a fair idea and went happily about the business.

Imagine his chagrin when he found that the holder of the mortgage was the University of Chicago.—Daily Maroon.

Class '32—I'm about at the end of my rope.

DRAMATIC CLUB TAKES IN NEW MEMBERS AT INITIATION LAST FRIDAY

Lower Classes Present Short, But Entertaining Skits During Informal Ceremonies

On Friday evening, December 9, the Dramatic Club held a meeting at the Alpha Chi Omega house to initiate new members. After the formal initiation ceremonies were over, the two lower classes each presented a short entertainment; then refreshments were served, and, while the members were sipping hot coffee and eating cookies, they discussed future plans for Dramatic Club.

At the formal initiation, the old members lined up facing the new ones, while Virginia Goodenough, president of the club, welcomed the new members and explained the ideals of Dramatic Club.

Ethelda Miller '33 and Mary Petras '33, who is also secretary of the club, arranged the program for the evening. Marion Herberg '36 was in charge of the freshman presentation; a skit which was announced to be a tragedy, afforded great amusement for the spectators. The cast comprised: Mary Whitney, the queen; Marion Herberg, the king; Rosemary Cahill, the princess; Frances Rowe, the lover; Dorothy Clement and Margaret Patterson represented curtains, while Betty Gray and Marion Piper were the scenery.

The sophomores, under the direction

PROF. BUEHLER ATTENDS NEW YORK CONFERENCE

Alfred G. Buehler, associate professor of economics at the University of Vermont, was one of the speakers at a recent tax conference at New York University. His subject was "The Price and Output Control Sales Taxation." Professor Buehler is the author of a book by the same subject and has published several articles which presents an exhaustive study of the sales tax question and he is regarded as an authority on the subject.

The list of speakers at the conference included many prominent economists and the editors of both local newspapers and the editors of both the Christian Science and the New York Times. The various addresses of prominent speakers on public taxation and taxation which marked the first day session of the conference are later to be issued in printed form.

Mechanical Engineers Return From Four Day New York Conference

Four Students Attended Fifty-third Annual Meeting of Mechanical Engineers Last Week

SUSSDORF SUPERVISES VERMONT DELEGATION

The delegates to the fifty-third annual meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers returned last evening after attending a four days session in New York City. The men making the trip, all mechanical engineers of the class of 1933, were: E. F. Wells, James W. F. Shele, E. A. Dame and O. O. Sunderland. Professor Sussdorf honorary chairman of the local A. S. M. E. branch, supervised the delegation.

The representatives attended several technical meetings. Monday morning they heard papers presented on "Horsepower and Tractive Effort of Steam Locomotives" by A. J. Lipetz, consulting engineer American Locomotive Co. and also "Progress of Railroad Division, A. S. M. E.," presented by I. K. Silcox, chairman, survey committee, Railroad Division A. S. M. E. and vice-president N. Y. Air Brake Co.

Tuesday morning they attended a symposium on working stresses at which papers were presented by American and Foreign authorities on the following subjects: "Fundamental Aspects of Working Stresses," "Discussion of Symposium Papers," "Notched-Bar Tests," "Allowable Working Stresses Under Impact" "Progress Report of Applied Mechanics Division."

Monday afternoon an inspection trip was made to the Hell Gate Generating Station of the United Electric Light and Power Co. This station has an installed capacity of 605,000 kw. and its boilers have several points of interest.

Tuesday morning the delegates visited the building of the McGraw-Hill Publishing Co. This visit was doubly interesting, as McGraw-Hill is the leading

UNIVERSITY WILL GIVE SCHOLARSHIPS TO FOUR SCHOOL PAPER EDITORS

Scholarships Amounting to Five Hundred and Fifty Dollars Will be Awarded This Year

SCHOOLS DIVIDED INTO CLASSES FOR JUDGING

Editorial scholarships to the value of $550 are being offered again this year by the University of Vermont for the best high school papers in the state according to an announcement made today from the office of Prof. Guy W. Bailey. The change governs the offering of the scholarships this year. Formerly any paper which had won the contest one year was automatically barred from competition for the next two years. That restriction according to this year's announcement is now revoked and any paper is eligible for a scholarship any year whether or not it has won the competition within two years.

For the purposes of judging the school papers the schools of the state are divided into three classes according to size. Here are the large high schools and private schools, the medium-sized high schools and the small high schools. The enrollment to place one the large high schools and private schools is $175 or more; the medium-sized high schools $150 and in class three the small high schools $125. There is also a special scholarship operative for the next nine last year for the best paper submitted by a group of schools in co-operation. This scholarship is valued at $200.

The scholarship in each class is to go to the editor-in-chief of the winning paper. In case the editor-in-chief does not wish to utilize it it may go to the business manager and if neither of them care to use it to some member of the staff considerably a senior.

Last year the winning publications were the Columcuit of Bennington in the first class the Sutherland of Proctor in the second class The Free Wire of in the third class and the headlight of the third class and the Fair Leaf Clover of Marshfield, Cabot, Plainfield and Woodbury in the combination class.

Wilson Graves '33 won a scholarship from one of the Chicago Clubs. He is a civil engineering major and is a member of Delta Tau Delta.

Myrick Scores Hit With Ervine's Play "First Mrs. Fraser"

By R. J. Weisman

[illegible] evening at a presentation [illegible] "First Mrs. Fraser" [illegible] Ira Hall auditorium [illegible] direction of Prof. Arthur B. Myrick, head of the Romance language [illegible] at the University.

The play is a whimsical and witty [illegible] around the conflict between [illegible] and middle age and the sad story [illegible] a sketchily stuffy and [illegible] divorcee after his unsuccessful second marriage with a young, unscrupulous and mercenary Elsie, who wickedly plots her release under the very [illegible] the first Mrs. Fraser, who, by [illegible] discovers her successor's intentions and brings about an ending [illegible] happy resolution is held in a bit [illegible] disappointed suspense until the closing lines.

A completely filled first floor and well-filled gallery of friends of the Theatre Club enjoyed the well staged presentation with special attention to Professor Myrick as James Fraser, the divorcee, and Miss Helen S. French as the second Mrs. Fraser, interrupting with hearty applause after the climax of each emotional upheaval. Mrs. Jessie L. Jacobs, as the first Mrs. Fraser, carried a difficult role and showed that she was well cast for the part by her poise which grew more sure as the evening progressed.

F. W. Householder and Bruce B. Butterfield, as the sons of Mr. Fraser, Miss Deborah Hapgood, as the maid, and Grace Cashman, as young Fraser's wife, all showed the results of weeks of preparation. The success of the play was greatly enhanced by the numerous bits of stage business which showed the clever hand of Professor Myrick throughout.

A sprinkling of undergraduates, the research students en masse, and many of the faculty, with great numbers of enthusiastic townsfolk, enjoyed the informal and friendly atmosphere and the cigarettes in the lobby.

PHI BETA KAPPA WILL MEET DECEMBER 19

He has had summer school appointments at the University of California and at Columbia. During 1927-28 Professor Shepard had a fellowship of the John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation, spending the year in England studying the early history of the Romantic movements. He is the author of many articles and reviews in magazines and learned journals and of several volumes: "Shakespeare Questions," "A Lonely Flute," which is a book of verse; "Bliss Carmen, A Study of His Poetry," "The Harvest of a Quiet Eye," and the Joys of Forgetting," which are volumes of essays: "The Lore of the Unicorn," a scholarly and highly entertaining history of the fabulous animal; "Thy Rod and Thy Creel," essays on fishing and fishermen, and "The Cabin Down the River," the latest book, published in 1931. Professor Shepard is the editor of Thoreau's "Week on the Concord and Merrimack Rivers" and of "The Heart of Thoreau's Journals." He is the compiler of "Best Essays of 1925," "Essays of Today," and "Prose Masterpieces," in the case of the last two in collaboration with Robert Hillyer.

At the commencement assemblage of the Harvard chapter of Phi Beta Kappa in June 1931, Professor Shepard, as poet of the day, read an eloquent tribute to Thoreau and Emerson, entitled, "The American Scholar," pointing out the value of the thought of these two, "Whose work is not yet done," for the present and the future. This poem has since been printed in the March, 1932, number of the quarterly, also named "The American Scholar," published by the united chapters of Phi Beta Kappa. Professor Shepard gave a lecture here at the University of Vermont in 1923, and served as one of the judges of essays in the tri-state literary contest held in 1930.

The local chapter of Phi Beta Kappa invites any who are interested in hearing this address, to be present with them, at the Ethan Allen Club house on Monday, December 19, at about 7:30 in the evening. Preceding the address, there will be a meeting of the chapter for the initiation of seven members of the senior class at 5:45, and a banquet at 6:30. All members of the fraternity are cordially invited to attend the meeting, whether or not they belong to this chapter, and also the husband and wives of members to be present at the banquet. Reservations for the latter should be made by Friday evening, December 16, with Prof. G. V. Kidder.

[illegible] morrow's athletic schedule is the [illegible] looked-forward-to game between [illegible] seniores and the juniors. TWENTY-THIRD ANNUAL WINTER MEET HELD AT DARTMOUTH THIS FEB.

Hanover to be Transformed Into a Mythical Fairyland at Carnival Next Year

The twenty-third annual winter carnival of the Dartmouth Outing Club will be held this winter on February 10 and 11 at Hanover, N. H. The committee in charge of the carnival preparations is: Ford K. Sayre '33, chairman; V. Philip Bill '33, Donald G. Allen '34, J. Warren Brake '35, Richard P. Goldthwait '33, Daniel P. Hatch Jr. '28, William R. Jones '33, John L. Frost '33, Max O. Waldsmith '33.

Hanover will be transformed into a mythical winter fairyland. The fraternity snow sculpturing, in the past few years has done much to change Dartmouth into the typical northern stronghold of King Winter's court. As in other years, an 18 foot statue will stand in the center of the campus and will be illuminated during the evening by reflected colored lamps at its base.

Following the arrival of Boston and New York special trains Friday afternoon in Norwich and Hanover, tables on which special provisions will be made for Wellesley, Mount Holyoke, Smith, Vassar and Wheaton girls, the official carnival program will commence. The first events of the carnival intercollegiate winter sports meet will be scheduled for 2:00 p.m. with the start of the cross-country ski race which will be immediately followed by the speed and figure skating competition on Occom Pond. Jack Shea '34 and Capt. Lyman Wakefield '33 will uphold their Olympic and intercollegiate crowns in these events respectively. Later in the afternoon the cross-country snowshoe race will take place followed by the touch of the wrestling 14 kilometer cross-country ski classic.

A colorful parade will start at six o'clock from the Dartmouth College campus to the Hanover Golf Course, scene of outdoor evening. Undergraduates and their guests, alumni, faculty and friends of the school will turn at this hour towards the scene of this spectacular night program which is held every year on the slopes adjacent to the Outing Club house. King Winter's court will then be held, at which time the selection of the carnival queen will be made. The elaborate pageant will con-

Catamounts Defeated By Dartmouth Five in Spirited Court Battle Wednesday, 29-27

Dolly Stark's Men Find It Tough Going During Second Half, Scoring Only Two Foul Shots and a Field Goal

PALMER AND TAFT LEAD CATS IN SCORING

[illegible] the part of the proceedings. The Dartmouth hospitality committee had informed Dolly Stark that he would not be able to put on their complete show on last Wednesday evening's contest and also pressed the expected visit to a close and hard fought game. The score at the end of the half was [illegible] in favor of the Big Green five but Vermont came back so strong in the second half that the Indian quintet was only able to gain a basket and two foul [illegible] while the Green and Gold court men amassed 18 points.

Better Game Than McGill

Playing together for the second time this year the Catamounts exhibited a much better game than that at Burlington last Saturday evening when the Green and Gold basketeers [illegible] 34 to 9. Coach Burke was very well satisfied with the showing of the team at Hanover last Wednesday evening, saying that they showed a fight that was conducive to a victory.

Opening the game against the Vermont second team, Dartmouth's first five ran the score up, while Vermont had to be content with scoring just four points. Upon the insertion of the regular team the game was livened up and was made more even.

And the Second Half

During the second half as the third call at a 2-2 tally the Vermont players showed a great deal determination that made the game interesting to watch. Neither team outplayed the other as the Catamounts displayed a commendable fighting spirit and the Indians showed more to win that the Green and Gold quintet. Palmer with [illegible] points and Taft with [illegible] points were the leaders of the Dartmouth attack. Palmer accounted for [illegible] points during the second half as the game at Hanover. Ebersole caged [illegible] points and was leading scorer [illegible] of the game.

The [illegible] attack played against the strong Middlebury team that defeated Dartmouth the night before. The close guarding of the Vermont players kept the Indians from getting [illegible] shots and the Indians were forced to shoot from [illegible] distance. The Green and Gold [illegible] were unable to locate the basket with any degree of accuracy. Palmer made a total of [illegible] points to lead the scoring for the game. Taft of the Catamounts and Ebersole, Dartmouth [illegible] were [illegible].

One interesting feature of the contest is the ability which they have shown so far this season in shooting fouls. In their opening game against Queens they converted eleven attempts while against John Marshall they cashed in on seven [illegible].

The following note is taken from a recent Boston Herald: Jack Smith, former Dartmouth boy who captained the Denver [illegible] Vermont team in 1927 had a very successful year as coach of Chapman Tech at Watertown, Ct. Jane Lafountain '33 and Mary Finch '35 were in charge of the initiation. The object lesson at the meeting which followed was that of giving a play sometime in the spring. The suggestion was that it be a three act play casted from Dramatic Club, the members prefer a play not written in dialect.

The new members of Dramatic Club are:

Sophomores: Evelyn Perry, Elizabeth Finch, Jane Malley, Alta Rock, Mary Cunningham, Anita Kittell, Winona Oatley, Mary Moore, Betty Beckvold.

FIGHTING CATAMOUNTS OUT TO WIN TONIGHT'S ST. LAWRENCE CONTEST

Pepped Up Quintet Will Attempt to Break Into Win Column by Defeating Cantonites

Humbled by the defeat the Catamounts will be fighting for a victory tonight's contest with St. Lawrence. The Cantonites breaking even on their two engagements this year will not be a set-up for the Cats will be.

Playing again at Burlington and for the last time until February the Catamounts will attempt to polish off their non-conference foes before going South for the holidays. In the McGill game the Green and Gold showed a world of improvement over the showing they made against the Big Green five but Vermont came back so strong in the second half that the Indian quintet was only able to gain a basket and two foul [illegible] while the Green and Gold court men amassed 18 points.

Since the game Coach Burke has been drilling his men on their passing and shooting. Lapses in these departments proved to be the undoing of the Catamounts in the Dartmouth game. Palmer, versatile forward and pivot man, will probably be in the starting lineup with Taft and Ebersole at the guarding

College Maul, a Product of 1850 Mirrors "Gay Old Days" at U. V. M.

Publication Listing Anonymous Editors Attacked All and Ridiculed Students, Faculty and the Fraternity, Grab, Grub and Company Listed as Publishers on "Water Street"

Leafing through the pages of University history, one finds that the [illegible] a product of 1850 mirrors the "gay old days" at U. V. M. The publication listed an anonymous editor and was printed and distributed by a group of students unknown to the College authorities.

The printers facetiously called the paper the Maul and it lived up to its title by editorially "mauling" students, faculty and fraternities. Place of publication was given as Burlington, Vermont and the masthead carried the publishment - Grab, Grub and Company. The company office was tabulated as number 6 and the avenue approaching it was designated as Water Street. The spectrum designated as Water Street. No topic was discarded as trivial of nature nor was editorial comment limited to student activity. The Maul carried terse dissertations in paragraph form of such subjects as the

"To the mind of an impartial observer, it is [illegible] evident that this detested band of tinkers are fast sinking down into the lowest depths of vice and intemperance," [illegible] lowest depths of vice and intemperance." Here is another discourse on the same topic.

"It is highly proper that this revered and dignified body should receive our first notice not only because of the precedence which they claim to have in all college affairs, but also because of the precedence which they are universally acknowledged to have in all matters of meanness and villainy. Perhaps some may say that this is stated at random and out of ill will, and therefore is not true. We are sure, however, that every student feels that nothing can be said too severe about the growing foolishness and littleness of soul displayed by a part, at least, of the faculty. We do not know but it may be a part of a professor's duty, and a necessary consequence of his position, to become detested by all those whom it is his business, and should be his pleasure to instruct. We are [illegible] stood that there are [illegible] statement that the faculty are detested by the student members of that body and believed.

PROF. FULTON DIRECTS FUEL STUDY AT FORT

A comprehensive study of the fuel situation at Fort Ethan Allen is in progress under the direction of Prof. W. T. Fulton '23 of the department of mechanical engineering. The investigation is sponsored by the Niagara Hudson Power Croporation of Troy and is authorized by the quartermaster general of the army at Washington, D. C.

The purpose is to determine the net effective heating value of the various sizes of anthracite now used in the heating of the Post buildings, and by-product coke. This involves a complete determination of heat losses in the furnaces by analysis of fuels, ash and flue gases; and in addition a study of the total heat loss of each building, requiring a study of outdoor temperatures, wind velocities, sun effects and all other factors controlling heat emission of the buildings.

It is expected that the results of this study will be a factor in determining future government specifications for fuels to be used at other army posts.

Bradley Dimon, Kenneth Ricketson, George Colby and P. Demase, all of the class of 1932, are performing the field work which will probably take from three weeks to a month.

Professor Fulton was formerly New York manager for the Surface Combustion Co., manufacturers of industrial heat treating furnaces and domestic gas-fired house heating furnaces and equipment. In this capacity he directed the organization of the metropolitan gas companies into sales organizations for the introduction of the company's gas fired equipment to the New York market.

NINE WOMEN STUDENTS ENROLLED IN COLLEGE OF MEDICINE AT U. V. M.

No Woman Who Has Entered Has Ever Failed to Graduate According to Dean J. N. Jenne

ADVISES ENTERING CO-EDS TO "THINK IT OVER WELL"

There are nine co-eds enrolled in the College of Medicine at the University this year, according to statistics recently released by the registrar. Four of the girls are members of the graduating class, three are juniors, there is one sophomore and one freshman co-ed.

No girl who has entered the Medical College at the University has ever failed to graduate, according to a statement made by Dean J. N. Jenne in a recent Cynic interview. "I think they would be ashamed to fail in anything that boys have done successfully," said the Dean.

Girls who have failed in one year of work, he explained, have repeated and made it up. "Almost without exception," he said, "they keep up their scholarship." Co-eds who study medicine, the Dean averred, are usually those who are in the habit of working hard. "As a rule they do not shine in their aptitude tests," he said.

No Startling Ability in Surgery

Dean Jenne pointed out that women medics do their best work in pediatrics, dermatology, and special subjects. At Vermont they have shown no startling ability in surgery or anatomy.

When asked by a Cynic reporter if the girls find the study of medicine more difficult than boys, the Dean's reply was that women get the same preparation as the boys in their academic training so the graduate work should not be more difficult for one group than for another.

The girls have as a rule found it very difficult to adapt themselves in a anatomy laboratory, but after a few weeks they accustom themselves to it. It has been said the medical head "is a glaring failure, and the work is repeated. I think they would be ashamed to fail in anything that boys have done successfully."

R. O. T. C. BAND TO GIVE CONCERT-DANCE JAN. 14

The R. O. T. C. Band under the direction of Joseph C. Lesbour will give the annual concert and dance in the gymnasium on Saturday evening January 14.

A special feature number of the program will be a clarinet solo by I. H. Pepino '36, first transporter of the band. Pepino will play Dubois' Fantasie. Pepino is a graduate of Cathedral High School.

Other numbers of the program will be "Golden Dragon," Overture; "Lucia Tom's Cabin" and "Jack O'Lantern" Marches which will be played to augment the complete repertoire. Other selections are "Captain Caisse" March Characteristic; "Captain Anderson" Semper Fidelis; "Echoes of the Trenches" "Blaze of Honor" and "Regimental Emblem" and "Washington Post."

The tentative time set for the concert is seven forty five with the dance following at eight thirty to the music of Lesbour's Commoners.

The ticket price is not announced but will not be over a dollar for both entertainments according to Mr. Lesbour.

O. SHEPARD DISCUSSES AN IDEAL ARISTOCRACY

[illegible] was the topic of an address by Dean Odell P. Shepard at [illegible] Lodge of Phi Beta [illegible] at the Ethan Allen Club on Monday, December 19, 1932. Mr. Shepard, Dean of Commerce and [illegible] English at Trinity College, Hartford, Conn.

The speaker discussed the [illegible] ex [illegible] in this country. America is the [illegible] because being applied after a period [illegible] years of declension and the [illegible] aristocracy.

Democracy recognized and in part [illegible] things are not to confess that we are failing in part. I admit we do have a tendency to [illegible] about what aristocracy has become by pretentious display, to prefer a thousand men of leisure to the workers of this world would. I am willing, as I have a perfect right to do, to [illegible] about the ideal about what it has been, what it is and must be again, if democracy is to succeed and [illegible] are going to endure we must treat it [illegible]. Here in America we have [illegible] a bad sense to confess that [illegible] it. Now I am using the bad name and welcome, but hang the thing itself at your peril. Kill out of American life the pace of the servant and the prestige of excellence, which are the loadstones of aristocracy, of the true aristocrat and you kill out most of what makes life [illegible] personality levels, adventurous exhilaration and worthwhileness.

Without the true aristocrat, abiding trust of social respectability, he [illegible] upon that he is his brother's keeper, we shall have nothing left but [illegible] self-seeking, his will degenerate into a mere quest of fodder, democracies will become a steady levelling downward to what depths of sleek and sodden mediocrity who knows. He has traveled extensively in Europe since he studied the economic conditions of the main European countries.

SUPREME COURT AWARDS WILBUR FUND TO U. V. M.

The University will receive $[illegible] from the estate of James B. Wilbur according to a decision made public by the Vermont Supreme Court at its first sitting of the new session on Tuesday January 3.

The court affirmed the judgement of the Bennington County Court sitting in that town in September.

The University had presented a motion to have the decision of the county court reversed on the ground that there remained in the estate [illegible] to allow the trust which was for the construction of the Robert Hull Fleming Museum and contingent on the raising of an additional $[illegible] the raising of an additional $[illegible].

The University entered suit in Bennington County Court where the motion was ordered allowed. Her executors took the case to the Supreme Court on exceptions, charging that the original suit was not carried in accordance with the conditions laid down in the decree of $15,000 from Mason to Vermont or Montpelier and $[illegible] from Miss Katherine Wilbur of Chicago, more to Mr. Fleming, stipulated that at any time should be paid the donors

A comprehensive study of the fuel situation at Fort Ethan Allen is in progress under the direction of Prof. W. T. Fulton '23 of the department of mechanical engineering. The investigation is sponsored by the Niagara Hudson Power Croporation of Troy and is authorized by the quartermaster general of the army at Washington, D. C.

The purpose is to determine the net effective heating value of the various sizes of anthracite now used in the heating of the Post buildings, and by-product coke. This involves a complete determination of heat losses in the furnaces by analysis of fuels, ash and flue gases; and in addition a study of the total heat loss of each building, requiring a study of outdoor temperatures, wind velocities, sun effects and all other factors controlling heat emission of the buildings.

It is expected that the results of this study will be a factor in determining future government specifications for fuels to be used at other army posts.

Bradley Dimon, Kenneth Ricketson, George Colby and P. Demase, all of the class of 1932, are performing the field work which will probably take from three weeks to a month.

Professor Fulton was formerly New York manager for the Surface Combustion Co., manufacturers of industrial heat-treating furnaces and domestic gas-fired house-heating furnaces and equipment. In this capacity he directed the organization of the metropolitan gas companies into sales organizations for the introduction of the company's gas fired equipment to the New York market.

NINE WOMEN STUDENTS ENROLLED IN COLLEGE OF MEDICINE AT U. V. M.

No Woman Who Has Entered Has Ever Failed to Graduate According to Dean J. N. Jenne

ADVISES ENTERING CO-EDS TO "THINK IT OVER WELL"

There are nine co-eds enrolled in the College of Medicine at the University this year, according to statistics recently released by the registrar. Four of the girls are members of the graduating class, three are juniors; there is one sophomore and one freshman co-ed.

No girl who has entered the Medical College at the University has ever failed to graduate, according to a statement made by Dean J. N. Jenne in a recent Cynic interview. "I think they would be ashamed to fail in anything that boys have done successfully," said the Dean.

Girls who have failed in one year of work, he explained, have repeated and made it up. "Almost without exception," he said, "they keep up their scholarship." Coeds who study medicine, the Dean averred, are usually those who are in the habit of working hard. "As a rule they do not shine in their aptitude tests," he said.

No Startling Ability in Surgery

Dean Jenne pointed out that women medics do their best work in pediatrics, dermatology, and special subjects. At Vermont, they have shown no startling ability in surgery or anatomy.

When asked by a Cynic reporter if the girls find the study of medicine more difficult than boys, the Dean's reply was that women get the same preparation as the boys in their academic training so the graduate work should not be more difficult for one group than for another.

"The girls have as a rule found it very difficult to adapt themselves to a medical laboratory, but after a few weeks they accustom themselves to it. "If they fail" and the medical board "it is a glaring failure and the work is repeated. I think they would be ashamed to fail in anything that boys have done successfully."

R. O. T. C. BAND TO GIVE CONCERT-DANCE JAN. 14

The R. O. T. C. Band, under the direction of Joseph C. Lechnyr, will give its annual concert and dance in the gymnasium on Saturday evening, January 14.

A special feature number of the program will be a cornet solo by L. H. Bellino '36, first trumpeter of the band. Bellino will play "Italian Fantasia." Bellino is a graduate of Cathedral High School.

Other numbers of the program will be "Golden Dragon Overture," "Irish Tom's Cabin" and "Jack O'Lantern." Marches which will be played to separate the symphonic compositions are: "Old Colonel March Characteristic," "Captain Anderson," "Semper Fidelis," "Glory of the Trumpets," "Blaze of Honor," "General Pershing" and "Washington Post."

The tentative time set for the concert is seven forty-five with the dance following at eight-thirty to the music of Lechnyr's Vermonters.

The ticket price is yet unannounced but will not be over a dollar for both entertainments according to Mr Lechnyr.

The speaker discussed aristocracy from two points of view. According to the one it was being applied after a period of democracy and the other [illegible]

Professor Shepard said in part:

"It is time for us to realize that we as citizens [illegible] about the depression. You are talking as you have a perfect right to do about what should be done to prosperity during [illegible] after a thousand years of [illegible] of the wicked world. I am talking as I have a perfect right to do about the disadvantages of what it has been said to be and must be again, if any nation is to succeed and we [illegible] a long [illegible] we must treat it [illegible]. Here in America we have [illegible] a bad name to [illegible] [illegible] Yet I say keep the bad names and welcome but keep the thing itself at any price. Kill out of Americans [illegible] the passion for service and the passion for excellence which are the leading characteristics of the true aristocrat and you kill out most of what makes our life potentially lovely, adventurous, exhilarating and worthwhile.

"Without the true aristocrat's abiding sense of social responsibility, his conviction that he is his brother's keeper, we shall have nothing left but ignoble self-seeking. We will degenerate into a mere quest of fodder, democracy will become a steady levelling downward to what depths of sleek and sodden mediocrity, who knows? Without his passion for perfection we shall sink as we are now sinking, into stupid vulgarity and triviality. If he does lead not us, we shall be led, as now, by the blind, the deaf, the dull.

REV. W. FRAZIER GIVES WED. CHAPEL ADDRESS

"There may still be an art of living even in the contagion of the present depression," declared [illegible] by economic depression of the last few years, said the Rev. W. F. Frazier of Burlington, the speaker at the Chapel service Wednesday morning, January 4. "We moderns were very busy, a busy [illegible] in getting rich. Like most [illegible] we have come to the [illegible] to count [illegible] we are reduced some of us [illegible] to the struggle for existence which [illegible] be found to some [illegible] greater or less degree. There are a great many theories being advanced as to the cause and remedy of the present distress in the business world and a great deal [illegible]. In fact there are about as many theories about the depression as there are persons in the country. Some of these theories are the old ones which have been tried and found wanting time and time again. Others may appear to be new but when more closely examined are found to be old in [illegible] the other [illegible] the rest [illegible] the betterment of this struggle for existence are probably as old as the human race. We can only [illegible] which will help and which are worthless and be sure that we have reach the right [illegible] but it is safe to say that none of us here will be ultimately successful in this struggle for existence [illegible] in this struggle for existence.

"I am thought it a certain fact that we shall eventually yield to the same decay as [illegible] other members of the human race. We may be successful in other ways. We may if we have wisdom be successful in the art of living in the present confusion and turmoil. It is possible to practice this art generally and perhaps even more necessary than in other calmer times.

UNIVERSITY TO AWARD SIX CHEMISTRY PRIZES

Scholarships will be Issued to High School Students Who Submit Best Essays

Six scholarships, aggregating $900 are being offered by the University this year for the best six essays written by chemistry students in the high schools of the state. These scholarships were established last year when the University took over the work in the State sponsored by the Superior Chemistry Foundation which for a number of years had offered awards in the various states through the Francis P. Garvan Fund for the best essays on selected chemistry subjects. The Vermont Headmasters' Club has expressed its interest in Vermont and the University offers its scholarships through this organization. Last year George H. Harvey of the Burlington High School was in charge for the Headmasters' Club and Prof. C. H. Burrows, head of the department of chemistry of the University, as chairman of the judging committee.

The six topics discussed in the essays last year which have become practically standardized by many concerned the relation of chemistry to health in general, some methods the home to use and to prevent waste. A scholarship of $140 is offered for the best essay in each subject.

Any chemistry student in any high school of the state is eligible to compete. Names of contestants and their schools are unknown to the judges until after the essays have been examined and the decisions rendered. A large number of entries from all parts of the State were received in the contest last year.

Four students at the University this year are using scholarships obtained in last year's essay contest. They are Willard H. Connor, Marion G. Herberg, Louise P. Lewis and Barbara E. Sumets all of Burlington. Connor is taking the mechanical engineering course, Miss Herberg the classical course and Lewis and Miss Sumets the general science course.

SLOW-POKES

"Oh, wait a minute!" Always and invariably one hears it, whenever or wherever he may be going. There is always some person around who is just a few minutes late, anywhere from five to fifty. You see them come into the classroom just as the professor is finishing roll call. You find them at the dinner table just a bait course behind everyone else. Anywhere you may go there is usually one or more to make late unbearable by continually being late.

There are really two types of these people—those who have not an iota of ability in budgeting their time and those who just cannot leave. The first type is almost as much a pest as the second, and both should drive into insanity any normal person who lived around them very long.

Just when you are ready to start to a class or to a show or to anywhere there comes that exasperating cry, "Oh, please wait for me. I'll be ready in just a minute." And you know it will be five minutes or ten before they even start to put on their coat.

Who said that murder wasn't sometimes justifiable?—Daily Kansan

Travel Note from Temple U.

"A Piggly Wiggly store opened up just down the street. Which I didn't mind, especially, since they've built up something of a reputation and since everyone knows you aren't talking for the youngest generation's amusement if you happen to say you're going to the Piggly-Wiggly, but the produce stand next to the store promptly painted on its awning "Hoggly-Wiggly," whereupon the bootblack across the street puts a sign on his chair "Shoes Whoely." Well, I bore up under all that, lifted my nose and sniffed (mentally). "That's what you might expect" but the other night as I was passing the drug store (one of my favorites) opposite the P—y W-y, what should be beaming in the window but a triumphant new Neon sign DRUGGLY WIGGLY! I am undone—my disillusionment is quite complete. Tsk! Tsk!"

WILL HOLD A PAINTING EXHIBITION IN MUSEUM

The Robert Hull Fleming Museum is to be the scene early in May of the third annual Northern Vermont Artists' Exhibition. The exhibition this year will be confined to paintings in oil, water colors or pastels and drawings in color or in black and white. Harold S. Knight of Burlington is chairman of the committee in charge.

As an incentive to artists this year a few of the outstanding paintings will be given honorable mention and will be shown again at an invitation exhibition which will include paintings from the Southern Vermont Association.

An Apple a Day

The faculty has been engaging in its perennial pastime of discussing the honor system, recently re-affirming its faith in the practicability of the principle at the University. Members of the faculty have on all occasions sought to inculcate a sense of honor, and have cooperated in every possible way with the student body in its efforts to make the principle effective.

Is it not possible, however, for a faculty to be overzealous in such a matter? Should not the principle be a spontaneous thing proceeding from the students themselves, should it not come from within rather than from without? "The faculty has the honor, and we have the system," wags have remarked. A faculty may resolute till the cows come home, and re-affirm its faith time and again, and yet accomplish dubious results. "We talk the honor system to death," one professor was heard to comment. Another was heard to observe: "I do not remember hearing the honor system alluded to once in a faculty meeting at Washington and Lee in twenty years." Washington and Lee is always regarded as a paragon of excellence in this respect.

But there is a difference between precept and example, and students get the idea now and then that the attitude of the faculty is something like trusting in God but keeping your powder dry. Therefore the laboratory test recently conducted by a member of the faculty was an interesting and revealing experience. Yes, we refer to the barrel of apples.

"I am tired of hearing about the impeccability of Washington and Lee students. The surest way to create trustworthiness is to surround people with an atmosphere of trust. I am going to find out something even if it leaves me holding the bag," a faculty member remarked, and straightway bought a barrel of apples and left them unguarded in the center of the campus. A placard attached to the barrel read: "Drop a nickel and take four apples, make you own change." An open cigar box was used as a depository for the money.

Students congregated around the barrel and stared incredulously. Some of them offered wisecracks about the intelligence of whoever had paid for the apples. Well, the short and long of the matter is that that apple barrel did a land-office business, and the cigar box yielded up $7.73, a profit of nearly sixty percent on the investment.

Seven dollars and seventy-three cents is only seven dollars and seventy-three cents. There are a good many things you can't do with that amount of money, but as a practical demonstration the incident was worth considerably more than seven times that amount. It was a complete vindication of the professor who was suspected of fathering a crackbrained trick. The surest test of the workability of an idea is whether it works, and this one worked. Now the professor has several applicants for the copyright.

"I am convinced from this one clinical experience that students of the University have as fine a sense of sportsmanship and fundamental integrity as have the students of any institution anywhere," declared the man who conceived and executed the idea.—The Gamecock.

Being Collegiate

Fatigued freshmen have spent the past week continuing the march to Carolina's twenty-eight fraternity houses to hear the high pressure sales talk of hoarse-voiced Greek letter men. At the same time they have sought to make themselves [illegible] as pledging as [illegible]. Despite such earnest efforts for reserve on the part of both frosh and upperclassmen, faux pas and other unintentional humorous incidents have figured in the rushing.

One lodge reports that a young high school graduate entered their house, suitcase under his arm, and announced that he had chosen that house for permanent [illegible]. "But you'll have to have a bid first," the members tactfully informed him. "O. K.," he said, "I can bid as high as the next man."

The week's best method of declining an invitation to visit again was produced by one bright rushee who obscurely plead that he had to stay home to shoo the roosters off his mother-in-law's grave.

Dame Rumour reports this one on the fraternities. A very talkative member of a local chapter of a large national spent several minutes trying to pledge one of last year's pledges.

Another lad in the same locale proudly reported one night that he had met "a swell girl who was a Chi Phi."

And the embarrassing and inevitable instance during endless name swapping: "So your name is Schultz," inquires the conversationally inclined frater. "Boy, oh boy, I knew one fast little dame in Butte, Montana by that name." "Uh, huh," replied the freshman, "that was my sister Mamie."

Unconsciously, the neophytes furnish as much amusement as the weary fraternity men strive to show them. In spite of the tired and bored conversations and the heated "hot-boxing," rusher and rushee have found sweet relief at each other's expense.—Daily Tar Heel.

The poets write of springtime,
While we sit here and freeze;
They laud the purple violet
And green buds on the trees.

They chant a morning prayer,
To all that takes new life;
And blot out all the darkness
Of winter's stormy strife
Do you know how?

With overcoats around them,
They praise the great Creator;
They write to spring, the while their feet
Are on the radiator

At last the value of extra-curricular activities is being acknowledged. Among other colleges, the Milton College faculty has adopted a plan whereby worthwhile extra-curricula activities of the students will have official recognition with "service credits."

NINE WOMEN STUDENTS ENROLL IN COLLEGE OF MEDICINE AT VERMONT

Two Medical Missionaries

The majority of the girls who have graduated have become general practitioners," stated Dean Jenne. "Some have specialized in pediatrics and two have become medical missionaries. One of the latter is doing especially brilliant service. None of the girls have done much in surgery or anatomy."

When asked whether girls are as apt to achieve success as the boys after graduation, Doctor Jenne said, "It's a slower process for girls. Usually, if there is a man to be called, people will call him; but a woman can work up a practice after a time."

Dean Jenne stated that almost all of the women who study medicine do it because they have a distinct liking for it. No other reason could keep them at it as long as is necessary.

The Dean's advice to women who are taking the pre-medic course and are contemplating entering the Medical College is, "Tell them to think it over well before they come into it. They've got to be sure that it's what they want."

Oddities in 1920

"In 1920 girls were oddities in medicine," said the Dean, "but now they are treated little different than the men. Usually the men say of them, 'She's all right.'"

Statistics from the registrar's office show that a total of sixteen women have been graduated from the University's Medical College, the first co-ed entering in 1920, and graduating in 1924. In the years 1924, 1925, 1927, 1929, and 1931, respectively, there was one woman each who was awarded the degree of doctor of medicine. In 1926 and 1932 there were two co-ed graduates each. In 1930 three women were graduated from the medical school, and in 1928 there were four—the highest number of girl graduates.

Ten of the Vermont women doctors received their pre-medical training at U. V. M. The majority of these girls took two years preparation in the Arts and Sciences College.

Men Are Decent

Among the opinions offered by co-ed medics who were recently interviewed are: "It seems like a long pull, but it's worth it." "I like medicine immensely." "You have to stick to the grind steadier but it's worth it. The first few weeks were awfully hard. It was like learning a new, strange language."

One co-ed declared that there are many more class hours in medicine than "on the academic side," no matter "how stiff the course elected."

Another girl was of the opinion that the laboratory work is not difficult. "It's awfully interesting," she said. "In undergraduate school 'lab' was just something to be endured, but now 'it just keeps you on your toes every minute.'"

When asked if she looked back with regret upon anything in her college work one girl said she had never known how to study. "I had thought I had the ability to concentrate but I soon learned how little I knew about studying. You just have to dig in continuously."

The general opinion of the co-ed medics was that the men are "awfully decent." "Of course they don't treat us like men, but they really are awfully good sports."

O. SHEPARD DISCUSSES AN IDEAL ARISTOCRACY

—one of the few groups to whom such hard sayings might be uttered with any hope of having them at least partially understood. Already you have chosen out of the many, by a selection process which, with all its faults, is really exacting and fairly accurate. Neither with self-vaunting pride nor with self-abasing humility you should accept the obligation thus laid upon you—the obligation of aristocracy; to give more than you get and to keep alive in the world the passion for perfection."

Preceding the address seven members of the senior class at the University were initiated to Phi Beta Kappa. The meeting was closed with a banquet in the Ethan Allen Club rooms. The members who were initiated into the chapter are: Ethel C. Bishop of Springfield, Sylvia Boyd of West Newton, Mass., Fraser B. Drew of Randolph, Elizabeth Eckhart of Burlington, Dorothy C. Jackman of East Corinth, Elizabeth A. Page of Hinesburg, and Lester S. Woodward of Richford.

Parade of 1932 Sports at U. V. M. Not So Successful

Tennis Team, Only One to Win a State Title; Cross-country, Frosh Basketball and Baseball Teams Have Good Records

[illegible] was the most successful varsity [illegible] going the year of 1932. The net [illegible] was the only Vermont team to [illegible] state championship. Cross- [illegible] ranked among the successful [illegible] the past year, and while the [illegible] dropped the all important Mid [illegible] meet, they won three straight [illegible]. The 1935 baseball team upheld [illegible] strength of their class in athletics [illegible] won five diamond contests and [illegible] two in interscholastic competition. [illegible] powerful 1935 court quintet won [illegible] games and lost two.

Of the major sports, track rated the [illegible] percentage of wins and losses. Coach [illegible] charges won two and lost three [illegible] including the state meet held at [illegible] Field. In baseball, the Cata- [illegible] were obliged to turn in one of the [illegible] unsuccessful records in years, when [illegible] registered only five wins in twenty- [illegible] starts. Coach Burke's gridiron war- [illegible] did better than they have in several [illegible] winning two contests, losing four [illegible] losing one.

[illegible] in basketball finds the team has [illegible] contests and lost eleven. The [illegible] is not particularly impressive as [illegible] compared to former years. The 1936 [illegible] team played an entire season [illegible] without gaining a victory, while the [illegible] cross-country outfit had an equally [illegible] schedule losing three [illegible] last fall. The 1935 tennis team [illegible] their three engagements. Var- [illegible] runners engaged in three matches last [illegible] and reaped no victories.

The women's rifle team was not as successful last year as it was in the 1928, 1930, 1931, when only four defeats [illegible] four meets were sustained. The [illegible] team finished first in only two of its [illegible] matches. It finished third in two [illegible] matches out of five contesting [illegible]. It placed second in another contest [illegible] for second in its other match. [illegible] men's rifle team won only three of [illegible] seven range matches, of which nine [illegible] dual meets, only three shoulder to [illegible] matches were fired.

Intramural sports at the University [illegible] at a peak during the year. Alpha [illegible] Omega grabbed off the baseball and [illegible] basketball championships during the [illegible] of the year. The A. T. O. eleven [illegible] the strong Sigma Phi team [illegible] finals of the touch football last [illegible] 12-6 score. In the finals of the [illegible] championship, the A. T. O.'s de- [illegible] the Sigma Nu nine to win the title [illegible]. In interfraternity basketball [illegible] the Sigma Alpha Epsilon [illegible] grabbed a win from the Kappa Sig [illegible] the championship. In the indoor [illegible] last March, Kappa Sigma ran [illegible] the title, while at a previous date [illegible] had copped the title in the interfra- [illegible] relay races.

[illegible] basketball found the Junior team [illegible]. During the first half of this [illegible] competition they are in first [illegible] with the sophomore and freshman [illegible] close behind. Hugh Wilson '34, [illegible] captain of varsity tennis team was [illegible] champion of the University ten- [illegible] world, when he defeated Norman [illegible] '34 last fall. At the same time [illegible] Brown '34 became the golf cham- [illegible] by virtue of a win over Ed Austin [illegible]. In the wrestling world Ronald [illegible] '34 became the 115-pound cham- [illegible], Frank Lyford '33, the 125-pound [illegible], William Brislin '34 the 135- [illegible] titleholder; William Seegar '35 the [illegible] winner; Frank Varricchione [illegible] 150-pound class champ; Itch [illegible] '35 the 175-pound titleholder; [illegible] burg '32 the unlimited class win- [illegible].

Altogether the year has been a drab affair with occasional bright spots to enliven the tiresome list of defeats. Several sports dropped from their usual standard, while others attained a higher standard. Football, the most noticeable of the sports which raised its standard, was considered rather successful considering the difficult season encountered. Hard games were lost to Dartmouth, Providence and Middlebury, while the Green and Gold warriors were successful in securing victories over a bruiser St. Mike's team and a weak Norwich bunch.

Last year's basketball record includes the three defeats the team has already suffered this season. During the latter part of the 1931-1932 court season, the Vermont five annexed five games in thirteen starts. Several fine contests were seen, while some were not so nice. Chief among the upsets Vermont handed out was the defeat of the previously undefeated Norwich five at Burlington. Also the Vermont team took the Twin City title by winning two out of three series from St. Michael's.

Track was a vastly improved sport during the spring of 1932 and while not outstanding was better than the 1931 season. The Vermont under and field stars met and defeated the Montreal A. A. for the first time in several years. They lost to a powerful Colby team but turned around and beat St. Lawrence. Then the Vermonters lost to R. P. I. and later in the State meet had to be satisfied with a third place. According to times and distances, it was figured that Vermont would not be able to surpass either Norwich or Middlebury, but as a team Vermont seemed superior to the Horsemen but not as strong as the Panthers.

Baseball, the nemesis of the 1932 season, suffered perhaps one of the worst seasons it has ever had at the University of Vermont. Vermont's team continually lost an apparently won game in the eighth inning. Despite the poor showing the team finished its season with two victories; seemingly it had hit its stride. In five important games, the nine lost out by one run. Princeton, Rutgers, New Hampshire, Dartmouth and St. Michael's eked out victories by this slender margin. As a whole the team batted .234, which is lower than they have been accustomed. The team lost all its state games and was badly swamped by Middlebury.

During the year "Jimmie" Donahue, president of the Athletic Council, died. In his place the University Council appointed Professor Adams to fill the vacancy. Professor Butterfield was elected president of the Council last October.

State titles in the various sports for the year 1932 went as follows:

Hockey—Middlebury.
Fencing—Norwich.
Basketball—Middlebury and Norwich tied.
Baseball—Middlebury.
Track—Middlebury.
Tennis—University of Vermont.
Football—Middlebury.
Cross-country—Middlebury.
Freshman football—Middlebury.
Freshman cross-country—Middlebury.
Rifle—Norwich.

The percentages of wins and losses for the year 1932 in sports at the University of Vermont is recorded below:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Frosh basketball	8	2	.800
Cross-country	3	1	.750
Frosh baseball	5	2	.714
Tennis	6	3	.666
Track	2	3	.400
Football	2	4	.333
Rifle (duals)	3	6	.333
Basketball	5	11	.312
Hockey	1	3	.250
Baseball	5	19	.208
Frosh tennis	0	3	.000
Cross-country	0	3	.000
Fencing	0	3	.000
Frosh football	0	4	.000
Totals	40	67	.292

It is interesting to note in the state championships that in 1931 Vermont won three of them as compared to one in 1932.

CAT'S MEOW

—SPORTS EDITOR—

Happy New Year.

We certainly hope it will be a brighter and more prosperous one to everyone.

We likewise sincerely hope that with the turn of the year Vermont will fare better in the year of intercollegiate sport which is ahead.

With a constructive policy in mind, we understand that the Athletic Council recently decided to abolish freshman football during the coming season.

Coach Burke's charges are now engaged in intensive preparation for a busy week during which St. Michael's, New Hampshire and Harvard will be met.

Getting back to football for a while we note with interest that an enterprising young gentleman writing in the Boston University News under the name of Wally Walrus, Jr., has pointed out via the time-honored comparative score analysis, how the Terriers were 52 points better than themselves this past fall that certainly speaks well for the Catamounts who held the Beantown representatives to a scoreless tie.

Although necessarily somewhat belated a survey of the more prominent members of the campus has been made concerning their outlooks and predictions for the coming year. Here are a few of the things they didn't say.

Razor Talbert—"Technocracy is O. K. but it's athlete's foot that we have got to fight."

Bill Burke—"Thirty days hath September."

Clancy Brown—"When in doubt punt."

Bill Kennedy—"Boy can we take them."

Dave Webster—"We are now in the midst of a great depression."

Ned Dunn—"Is it a New Year?"

Biddy McGowan—"I have just begun to fight."

Fraser Drew—"It isn't the heat, it's the humidity."

The Prioress Is a Human Being

Prof. B. B. Wainwright of the English department has an article in the January issue of Modern Language Notes on the prioress, one of the characters in Chaucer's Canterburry Tales. In the article, which is of an interpretive nature, he drives a wedge between the extremes of the dispute whether the prioress was a disreputable lady or a saint. Mr. Wainwright comes to the conclusion that the truth lies in the golden mean, that the prioress was a human being. Modern Language Notes is the official publication of the Modern Language Association of America.

PRIZE TO BEST VARSITY FOUL SHOT TO BE GIVEN

[illegible] Coach Burke last Wednesday evening at basketball practice, a special inducement [illegible] offered for aspirants to report [illegible] to practice. To the varsity [illegible] who make the highest percentage [illegible] of foul shots in practice goes a trip to Hanover, all expenses paid, to view the [illegible] Dartmouth basketball contest [illegible] February. Each varsity player shoots at least twenty-five foul shots during the practice session.

BASKETBALL FIVE BACK FROM VACATION IS NOW HARD AT IT IN PRACTICE

Collins will be Out Indefinitely—Palmer Recovering From Grippe—Others Intact

With one exception the University of Vermont basketball team is back practicing hard for the tussle with St. Michael's next Tuesday evening at Woronoco Park. Tom Collins seems to be convalescing from a sudden attack of pneumonia incurred after the St. Lawrence contest before the holidays and will be out indefinitely.

The team is working hard and both talk with much of the old pep in anticipation of the contest with their old rivals across the river. Last year the Green and Gold team won the Twin City tournament by virtue of its two wins out of three over the Methodmen. The Purple and Gold team reported to be very powerful this year on the court, are out for the blood of the Vermonters not only to avenge last season's defeats but also to appease their ire from the football game last fall which the Green and Gold eleven won by a 7 to 0 tally.

Captain Pires and his cohorts have been practicing foul shots and have been making them fairly consistently. Several of the men kept in training during the holidays playing on high school alumni teams and at camp-city gatherings. Bergin, Pires, Green and Vadney are back from the Empire State city right in the pink for the rest of the season. Morgan is anticipating the coming season after a short layoff. Whitey Palmer is out again after an attack of the grippe during the holidays. Grant and Mulgrona are back from the Nutmeg state all set to go. They have all been popping it up at practice, and the outlook for a successful schedule in 1933 seems great. Sowka, Ramon, and Brown are back and are ready for some hard workouts.

Coach Burke has been drilling his men on the fundamentals and foul shooting. No time has been wasted since the men's return to college, for there was a practice for them the Tuesday of their return to school. Following the St. Michael's encounter next Tuesday evening the team will tackle New Hampshire at Durham, Friday evening and the following evening will meet Harvard at Cambridge. There will be practice during mid-year at convenient times for the players who appear in the Gym for the first time this year on February 1. Their opponents will again be the St. Michael's five.

"Well, what do you think of my game?" said the enthusiastic golfer to his girl friend.

"Oh, it's all right," replied the little darling, "but I still prefer golf."

JUNIORS IN FIRST PLACE BY REASON OF TECHNICAL WIN OVER SENIOR TEAM

Freshmen Play Sophomores in Crucial Game This Afternoon—All Teams Play Tomorrow

POSSIBILITY OF THREE-WAY TIE IS EMINENT

[illegible] fans were disappointed last Wednesday afternoon when the senior team were failed to show up against the junior team in the first game of the second half of the Inter-class Basketball Tournament. The forfeit places the 1934 team in first place, while the sophomores and freshmen are tied at .5 to tie for second place. The latter two teams meet this afternoon in what will be a crucial game.

Led by the athlete Rudy Deltanese the sophomores will attempt to maintain their prestige and incidentally a hold on first place with the juniors. Just before Christmas vacation the juniors won out over the sophomores in a fast engagement. The freshmen after losing their first game of the competition took the next two contests in easy style. They also mastered a defeat to the victory drunk juniors and then smeared George Ranann's Galloping Ghosts all over the place.

Instead of playing their game with the seniors last Wednesday afternoon, the juniors played a practice game with a team composed of Lupper, Joe Deltanese, Rudy Deltanese, Colombo and Lazarus. Both teams played fast basketball and some good practice was obtained, better perhaps than the scheduled contest would have been.

The juniors next play the freshmen Saturday afternoon while the sophomores play the seniors on the same afternoon. There is a possibility for a triple tie for first place between the three lower classes unless the seniors come through, unexpectedly with a win over either the freshmen or the sophomores. Saturday will probably see the finish of the inter-class basketball competition unless the schedule is radically changed or unless there is the possible three-way tie for first place.

Zoology Field Trip

[illegible] interest in the zoology classes at the University made a field trip during Christmas vacation to the American Museum of Natural History in New York City under the direction of Prof. H. E. Perkins. The study of evolution was the chief aim of the trip, according to Professor Perkins.

Each of the department heads of the museum showed the students around their respective departments. Special attention was given to the Hall of Invertebrates, the Hall of Fishes and the Hall of Man. A total of eighteen hours was spent in the museum.

[illegible] laboratories not usually open to the visitor were opened to the Vermont group. A few of the students spent another day visiting the Aquarium.

U.V.M. TO GET $1,000,000

Senator Charles W. Waterman

UNIVERSITY, ULTIMATE BENEFICIARY OF ESTATE OF LATE SENATOR C. WATERMAN

Income of Two Trusts Left to Wife—Securities to be Transferred to Vt. at Her Death

TRUSTEES MUST ERECT A MEMORIAL STRUCTURE

U V M will became the ultimate beneficiary of two trust funds totalling close to a million dollars at present market values according to an announcement issued during the Christmas holiday.

The announcement came following publication of the will of the late Senator Charles W Waterman, alumnus and former trustee, who died August 27, at Denver Colorado.

Senator Waterman left the income of these trusts to his wife Anna R. Waterman, formerly of Burlington. At her death the securities will be transferred to the University, the trustees of which are directed to build a Waterman Memorial building with nine-tenths of the proceeds. The remaining tenth of the property and money of the trust is directed to be invested and reinvested by the trustees and to be devoted solely to the maintenance, repair upkeep and renewal of the building and equipment.

The trustees are given wide discretion as to the type of building. The language of the will declares that the trust is "For the construction and equipment of a fireproof and enduring building, and if necessary the purchase of a site therefor"; and "such building to be used for such educational purposes as the Board of Trustees of said University may determine."

The building is to be dedicated to the memory of Charles Winfield Waterman and Anna R. Waterman and to bear the inscription "Charles Winfield Waterman and Anna R. Waterman Memorial."

The death of Senator Waterman occurred on August 27 and the publication of th trust came when the trustees field a copy with the Colorado Inheritance Tax Department.

By these trusts, one dated April 11, 1932, and the other March 24, 1932, the University, it is anticipated, may construct one of the most beautiful collegiate buildings in Northern New England. The securities include a block of 15,000 shares of the National City Bank. Also in the schedule of securities in the trust are 30,000 shares of common stock of the Great Western Sugar Company; 1,077 preferred shares of the Great Western Sugar Company; $60,000 in Liberty Bonds; 207 shares Union Carbide and Carbon; 200 shares Southern Pacific Co.; 149 shares International Trust Company of Colorado; 20 shares of First National Bank of Denver; 13 shares Mountain States Tel. and Tel. Co. of Colorado. With the exception of the Liberty Bonds, over a period of time considerable appreciation of value in these securities may be anticipated.

Other Bequests

At the death of Mrs Waterman, the trust provides other gifts totalling $32,000 as follows: $2,000 to the board of selectmen, town of Waitsfield, Vt., for the maintenance of the family lot and monuments in the cemetery in Waitsfield and for other improvements in the cemetery; $10,000 to Emma Barth, long-time family employee, if living; $10,000 to Ruth Moulton Clark, daughter of Elroy N. Clark, of Denver, if living; and $5,000 each to Mary Joslin of Mt. Carmel, Conn., and Grace Leach of California, nieces of Senator Waterman. The residue goes to the Senator Waterman was born in Waitsfield, Vt., November 27, attended St. Johnsbury Academy and Montpelier Seminary and was graduated from the University of Vermont in 1891 later from the University of Denver Law School.

He moved to Denver in 1893 to practice law. On June 18, 1896 he married the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cook of Burlington.

He won wide reputation as counsel for such corporations as the Great Western Sugar Company and the Colorado roads. In 1925 he served as counsel for the Federal Coal Board with headquarters in Washington. Nominated by the Republicans of Colorado, he was elected to the senate in 1926 by a majority over two democratic candidates. His services were terminated March 3, 1933.

Senator Waterman was a supporter of Calvin Coolidge and was campaign manager in Colorado in 1924 and again in 1928 was the leader of the "Coolidge" movement in the West.

Trustee in 1921

Senator Waterman was a trustee of part of the University of Vermont's 1791 corporation, from 1921 to 1933. President Bailey states that as a trustee Mr. Waterman had been keenly interested in all matters pertaining to the University and its future growth. His appointment was brought about through the rule that an Alumni Trustee shall serve four years under the recommendation of the Alumni Council.

He received the honorary degree of LL.D. from the University in 1922.

Senator and Mrs. Waterman had no children.

Mrs. Waterman, a native of Burlington, has given her full approval to the plan outlined in these trusts. At present she lived at 177 South Union St. in the house known as the home of Godfrey Saxe, the famous Vermont poet.

According to a dispatch from Denver the Waterman estate before the crash of the market crash had the value of three million dollars and if stocks and bonds rise again may once more approximate that amount.

DR. F. JACKSON WRITES PHYSIOLOGY TEXT BOOK

Is Assisted by Anthony Alonge, Instructor; Book to be Used by University Classes

A new physiology text book written by Dr. Fred K. Jackson, professor of physiology at the University of Vermont and Anthony Alonge, instructor in physiology and pharmacology, is being published for use by physiology classes in the Medical College of the University.

The book will contain from 350 to 400 pages and is illustrated by over 100 drawings done by the two sons of Doctor Jackson, J. Addison Jackson and H. Nelson Jackson. It is being printed and will be in use the second half of the current year.

The book, which is designed to provide students with a compact text which may be used to supplement other texts and for review, is based largely on Doctor Jackson's thirty years of teaching at the University.

Must Acquire the New

"No subject has changed more in the past thirty years than has physiology," says Doctor Jackson. "A teacher in such a subject must learn to forget the old as well as acquire the new. Discoveries in the field of chemistry, for example, have affected physiology tremendously."

The course in physiology at the University, for which the text book will be used, continues for a year and a half, with the last year devoted chiefly to review. The new text is comprehensive, covering the whole field in detail, but at the same time it is so condensed as to furnish the student with a daily summary for his work, and a volume for intensive review.

COACH BURKE ATTENDS MEETING IN NEW YORK

Coach J. Homer Burke of the University attended the meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, held recently in New York. This body is composed of coaches, who may suggest improvements in the rules to a separate Rules Committee, of which Walter Okeson has just been elected chairman.

Their recommendations were chiefly on three points. First they suggested that the rule on forward pass interference should be such that a pass would not be ruled complete because of interference with a man for whom the pass was not intended; even though he might be eligible to receive the pass.

The second point was on living up to the rules. If rules are made why not keep them? In this regard the flying tackle was mentioned. It was not called at once but has been used quite a lot. Clipping was also mentioned. In the opinion of the coaches the penalty for clipping was not called nearly enough during the last season. They suggested that the penalty be reduced. It is hoped that with a smaller penalty referees would call it more consistently.

The third point was on the use of the hands. At present the hands may be used on defense with certain restrictions. Many of the coaches at the meeting favored more freedom in the use of the hands on defense.

In the opinion of the chairman of the Rules Committee, Walter Okeson, the game is topheavy and needs a great deal of simplification. However, there is not, in his opinion, any special rule that should be changed. He plans to call a meeting of the new Rules Committee sometime in February. The other members of this committee are: William S. Langford, Fielding H. Yost, H. J. Stegeman, Ray Morrison, W. O. Hunter, W. G. Crowell, C. Henry Smith, W. J. Bingham, Dana X. Bible and Amos Alonzo Stagg who was elected to life membership.

TO TAX FRATERNITIES IF BILL CAN BE PASSED IN STATE LEGISLATURE

Measure Aimed at Greek-letter Organizations Tend to Lower Residents' Tax Rate

MAYOR IN FAVOR OF ACTION, AVERS SAME

Other Untaxable Properties Would be Affected by Move

[illegible] at the University of Vermont [illegible] a bill will be introduced at [illegible] Legislature to tax "all income [illegible] not devoted to public purposes." [illegible] it was explained, would mean [illegible] of the present untaxable prope[illegible] when taxed would do much [illegible] the city's tax rate and adding [illegible] ly to the city's coffers.

Mayor in Favor of Action

[illegible] Jackson believes that the outside [illegible] property of hospitals, schools, [illegible] and fraternal organizations [illegible] taxed. Spurred by recent rec[illegible]ommendations of Tax Commissioner [illegible] M. FIRST ARIEL COPY SENT TO FREE PRESS AVERS EDITOR AT INTERVIEW

All Local Advertising Material Travels to Printers Reports Business Manager

The first pictorial copy, including all women's groups and all the sports copy to date except track was sent down to the Free Press Printing Company yesterday morning, Chester Eaton, editor, stated. Miss Ruth Barnes, Business Manager, also reported that all the local advertising copy was sent to the Free Press yesterday also.

All the individual photos for the class section and all campus views have been mailed to the Howard Wesson Company to be made into plates. Proof of the three color opening page, view pages and division pages are expected in the hands of the editor this week.

The Mason Company of Amherst, Falls Mass., largest manufacturers of yearbook covers in New England, has been awarded the making of the cover for the 1934 Ariel. The cover design has been decided on and several proofs for the cover will be submitted by the Mason Company within the next week.

Wheeler Studio representatives will be in Burlington to complete final photography of group and special views shortly after sorority pledging in February. During registration at the Medical Building, Ariels will be sold as has been the custom in the past. Any person desiring a book should either bring four dollars or one dollar down payment. For cash payments the book will only cost underclassmen and seniors four dollars. All those who took subscriptions in September and paid the full amount will have a refund of fifty cents at the time of the distribution of the book.

NOTICE TO JUNIORS

Unless errors in the list of juniors posted near the dean's bulletin board in the Old Mill are reported to Chester Eaton, editor of the 1934 Ariel, before next Saturday, the list will be considered as correct and the junior class section of the Ariel will be printed to include only those whose names appear on that list.

Any requests for addition to the list received after the mid-year exams begin will have to be considered too late. Grinds and photos cannot be included for those requesting it after the deadline, next Saturday, January 14.

HEALTH PLAY A BIG PART IN SUCCESS IN MID-YEARS SAYS HAIG

Recommends Some Simple Suggestions to be Followed to Insure Good Condition

[illegible] will be more successful in good [illegible] by [illegible] thanks to [illegible] be healthy, or to [illegible] disregards all other considerations, to [illegible] at all hours for the [illegible]. Dr. C. R. Haig of the Medical College of the University answers that not only is health more important than passing an examination but [illegible] a whole more useful than [illegible] grades or study. For the possession [illegible] the faculties of mind more important than a great many of [illegible] we call knowledge.

Doctor Haig advises us that the main thing in maintaining [illegible] health [illegible] simple and [illegible] living, dressing [illegible] and regulation [illegible] some [illegible] are:

1. Sufficient sleep.
2. Regularity of meals. Eat a variety of foods and avoid overeating and undereating.
3. Normal stooling.
4. Drugs are more conducive to disorganizing of vital organ[illegible] than [illegible] of the entire body.
5. Dress [illegible] warmly.
6. Objective to deep work, somehow open and to take cold baths. Some[illegible] of [illegible] conditioning [illegible] but [illegible] and accustomed to such exercises should not start in the middle [illegible].
7. Exercise regularly, but not to the point of exhaustion.
8. Regularity in the enjoyment of sports.
9. Warm baths daily is advisable.
10. Daily attending of [illegible] work and appetite [illegible] water.
11. Always [illegible].

CALVIN COOLIDGE

The Vermont State Legislature and most of all Vermont sorrows with the bereaved family of Calvin Coolidge in the great affliction which has befallen them. Except upon those days when the University and the rest of the Nation pay their tribute of the most distinguished son this State has ever had.

Calvin Coolidge was the only living ex-President and Vermont's most public man. He was a native of our own State, born in the Green Mountains. He rose by sheer force of his own ability and character to the highest position in the land, the presidency of the United States. He served nobly in this position of trust and confidence of the American people and when he was contemplating the greatest gift of the American people and when he was thought by politicians from the highest office in the land and declined the honor of again serving the party's interest simply because he did not desire to do so.

Calvin Coolidge loved Vermont and Vermont loved Calvin Coolidge. He was an ideal American, a true Vermonter and a great statesman. He died because the people of the United States the symbol of his rural birth, because of his example of his own humble integrity and natural greatness and the examples of his own humble integrity and natural greatness and the examples of his own humble integrity and natural greatness and the examples

VARSITY RIFLE SQUAD PREPARES FOR SERIES OF SCHEDULED MEETS

Two Shoulder-to-shoulder Duels to Occur Right After Examinations

The men's rifle team is now entered getting to work in preparation for a couple of shooting matches to be held with the local Co. K immediately after the mid-year exams. These matches with Co. K will be shoulder to shoulder affairs. One of the matches will be held at the University shooting gallery while the other will take place at the Burlington Armory. No set day has been chosen but it is sure to be held right after mid-years.

On February 18 Vermont is scheduled to meet Norwich in the University shooting gallery for a shoulder to shoulder dual meet. On March 4, the Vermont team will make a trip to Northfield and there four colleges will hold a shoulder-to-shoulder meet. The four colleges will be Vermont, Boston University, Norwich and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

A dual shoulder to shoulder match will be held here between Vermont and McGill in the University shooting gallery. The time for the match however has not been set as yet.

Vermont has sent in her entry as a participant in the National Intercollegiate Rifle Association. The team of each competing team is sent in to the National Rifle Association headquarters and they compare the result with those of other colleges and then send the scores to all competing teams so all the colleges and thereby each team can see for themselves their standing in the league. Each week five or six colleges will compete each one on its honor that they'll send the correct score in to headquarters. The various scores are collected at headquarters and compared. The highest is winner for the week. Only the ten best or the five best scores are sent in as the case may be.

If the season will be a successful one for the Vermont team they will participate in a sectional shoulder to shoulder meet with a number of other colleges.

generally understood that the Crimsonites are to use a new type of offense against the opposition this week. Although we are not in a position to explain the intricacies of the new system, we most sincerely hope that it proves more effective in combating than the late revolving circuit

The game tonight at Winooski Park will no doubt prove a stern rigid test for the recent innovation

Coach Bob Carr is blessed with about ten men of equal ability all are fast good floor workers and know the game

As far as the game itself is concerned St. Michael's has generally been conceded as victors in view of their showing against U. S. P. E. and in addition to being a home game

However the battle between Winterbottom, Palmer the Burlington bearcat and Fred Bozek, the Manchester meteor, will be one worth watching. Just what each can will do when placing versus two stars will do when placing against each other remains to be seen. The Catamount star has not been rumored up by anybody in any old league

It is interesting to note the relatively light scores which are resulting from games played under the new two point rule this year. Faster and smoother play is also looked to result since the premium is placed on the offense

Physical education classes for the second semester will remain the same as they are at present. In event of conflicts, caused by change in schedule, physical education hours must be adjusted in the physical education office by February 1

PLANS BEING MADE FOR MODEL LEAGUE MEETING IN NORTHAMPTON MAR. 9

U. V. M. Delegation Chosen to Represent Venezuela According to I. R. Club Information

THREE COMMITTEES TO DISCUSS WORLD AFFAIRS

Information has reached Prof. S. N. Spiller of the International Relations Club that plans for the New England meeting of the Model League of Nations are becoming definite. This meeting is scheduled to take place at Smith College, Northampton, Mass., on March 9 10 and 11. The Vermont delegation will represent Venezuela.

Committee of Nineteen

There are to be three committees this year. The Disarmament Committee headed by Ruth Lawson of Mount Holyoke, will discuss its problem from the angle of the manufacture and sale of arms. The Political Committee on the Bolivia-Paraguay dispute, under the leadership of F. A. Thompson of Tufts will talk on the basis of what the League of Nations can do to stop war. The Economic Committee will discuss the gold standard and tariff; Edna Bresault of Wellesley and Mr. Salant of Harvard will act as its chairmen.

Another feature of this year's Model League is the Committee of Nineteen which will consider the Sino-Japanese dispute.

The tentative agenda as announced:

On Thursday evening at eight o'clock meetings of economical and financial organization will be held. Committees of disarmament and conciliation of American neutrals will convene. There will be discussion and reports to the council through the general secretary.

On Friday morning the council members will meet for reception of reports, discussion, and transmission to the assem-

COLUMBIA PROFESSOR TO SPEAK TO EC CLASSES

Lecture by Dr. Mary S. Rose is Feature of First Home Economics Celebration Tonight

Home Economics Day will be observed today for the first time on the University campus. The features of the celebration will be a formal tea in the afternoon served by the members of the junior class in home economics, and a lecture in the evening by Prof. Mary Swartz Rose, Ph.D. of Teachers College, Columbia University. An invitation is extended to the entire student body to participate in the events of the day.

Several colleges and home economics clubs observe a Home Economics Day usually at December to commemorate the work of Ellen H. Richards, who did so much to establish home economics in the schools and colleges.

Dr. Mary S. Rose, who is to speak tonight, is a prominent figure, much in demand as a speaker and her text books are used at the University as well as in many other colleges throughout the country. Her talk tonight will be given at the Robert Hull Fleming Museum and is open to the public.

ORTHOPEDIC SURGEON TO ADDRESS OSLER CLINICAL SOCIETY MEMBERS HERE

Dr. W. R. MacAusland will Discuss "Ankylosis of Joints" in Illustrated Lecture at Museum Tonight

Tonight at eight o'clock the Osler Clinical Society, composed of members of the two upper classes of the College of Medicine at the University, will hold its first meeting of the year in the auditorium of the Fleming Museum. The speaker will be Dr. W. Russell MacAusland who will address the society on the subject of "Ankylosis of Joints and Its Treatment." The address, which will be illustrated with lantern slides and moving pictures, will be open to all medical students and physicians.

Doctor MacAusland is connected as chief of the orthopedic department of the Carney Hospital, Boston, as medical director of the Berkshire school for Crippled Children, and is consulting orthopedic surgeon at a number of hospitals in Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Maine. While his work has been not definitely limited to any branch of orthopedic surgery, his care and treatment of children suffering from results of infantile paralysis has been especially noteworthy.

The Osler Clinical Society was founded slightly over a year ago. It is named for Sir William Osler, the eminent physician of a generation ago. It is designed to provide extra curricular instruction by lectures and seminars conducted by physicians and others who have distinguished themselves in various branches of medicine.

Contributions to Bluestockings made during the tryouts last fall will be judged after mid-year examinations because of the illness of several members of the society.

THANKSGIVING VACATION TO INCLUDE 4 DAYS THIS YEAR COUNCIL DECIDES

No Petitions for Extending Holiday will be Considered States Dean Elijah Swift

EASTER VACATION WILL BE SHORTENED 2 DAYS

The Faculty Council at the University has voted that for the year 1933-34 Thanksgiving vacation should include Thursday, Friday and Saturday of Thanksgiving week, which would be November 30, December 1 and 2. This will be the first time in several years that students at the University have had more than one day at Thanksgiving time. Dean Elijah Swift in commenting on the action of the Council said that in connection with the action it was understood that petitions for the extension of the vacation would not be considered. The two days added to the Thanksgiving vacation will be deducted from the Easter vacation which will be only two days instead of four as at present.

Petition in Fall

In the fall the Student Council submitted a petition from the student body requesting an extension of the Thanksgiving vacation for the current year. This petition was denied on account of the fact that the vacation had been established at the opening of the school and the Council did not want to make a change at that late a date. It did petition however to authorize the President to hold a referendum of the three lower classes asking whether they favored a one day Thanksgiving vacation or a week-end vacation for the coming year.

WOMEN ORGANIZE NEW DEBATE CLUB, PHILAGON

Laura Johnson Unanimously Elected President; Mary Whitney '36 will be First Secretary

A women's debate and public speaking group to be known as "Philagon," was organized on Wednesday morning, January 11, 1933. The meeting was under the direction of Laura Johnson '33 who was unanimously elected president. Mary Whitney '36 will be secretary of the organization.

A committee consisting of the officers, Elvira Farman '34 and Betty Beckwold '35, was elected to draw up constitution and by laws to be presented to the organization at the next meeting. The program committee consists of Augusta Goodenough '33, Barbara Brown '35 and Esther Fischer '36.

The Greek word Philagon was chosen as a name suggesting the purpose of the society, an appreciation of a high order of public speaking. At a suggestion from the floor it was voted to ascertain the Greek words for the names of the officers and use them in keeping with the word "Philagon."

DEFEAT MOVE TO ABOLISH FRATERNITY TAX EXEMPTION

Burlington's Board of Aldermen Turn Down Proposal by Close Vote of Seven to Five

QUESTION WILL COME UP AGAIN JANUARY 16

At the [illegible] meeting Mayor [illegible] Aldermen Lee explained [illegible] the meeting a change in the law which would [illegible] exempting real estate owned by [illegible] but used [illegible] private income. A clause including college fraternities which, at the present time are exempt from property taxes had been written into this resolution. The latter clause had been stricken out and it was to settle the question if leaving this clause in the resolution that the vote was taken.

Clause Omitted

Without the clause pertaining to the fraternities [illegible] the resolution was passed unanimously. The resolution calls for the elimination of tax exemption on real estate granted and appropriated for public, semi-public and charitable purposes and not used primarily for such purposes but only related to produce income.

It was suggested that a city meeting might possibly be called to discuss the matter of the Greek letter societies, but completion. The view was expressed that the fraternities had acquired property [illegible] the best residential sections and that it was certain that the board plays no part in meeting the obligations which the tax payers of Burlington are forced to shoulder alone.

Alderman Lee, [illegible] to the [illegible] "I am in favor of the removal of the exemption [illegible] but I do not like the [illegible] fraternity houses [illegible] Board was [illegible] by the citizens of Burlington and not by the [illegible] of Vermont. You and I represent the people of Burlington. They should come first and the college next."

It was also pointed out during the Board meeting that the elimination of the tax exemption was applying to the fraternities, [illegible] the aggregate appraisal of which is [illegible] to $[illegible] would lower the city tax rate.

Says the Tax Commissioner

In a letter to the Burlington Free Press James M. Harris, Commissioner of Taxes at Montpelier quoted the exemption law, which is as follows:

"Sec. 3411. Lists of exemptions. Real and personal property held by and for the benefit of college fraternities and societies and corporations among such societies has been exempted shall not apply to property held for investment purposes."

Mr. Harris goes on to say: "I presume that the inclusion of our present exemption law under which a church or religious society must pay a tax on property which is exempt if owned by a hospital or school.

This is a local tax matter and its effect on the tax burden touches Burlington, Middlebury, and Northfield. The municipal units can and no doubt will act for themselves."

Several members of the administration and faculty, when interviewed in regard to the tax exemptions pertaining to the

AN APPEAL TO THE EMOTIONS

One of the most frequently practiced forms of fallacious logic is that often employed by an orator who wishes to play upon the emotions of his listeners. The practice centers around the premise that all people are human and it is but necessary to touch the heart strings in order to win them over.

This is a clever way of presenting a case and often brings desired results by the force of its appeal.

We are now living in an age where the idol of the masses is the man of the type that the late Calvin Coolidge exemplified, reserved, controlled and calm rather than Jean Jacques Rousseau, whose gushy sentimentalistic theories were presented in the eighteenth century.

Such extremely fallacious logic was used by members of that dignified body the local Board of Aldermen, when the proposal was recently put forth to abolish the exemption of University fraternities from the local tax regulations. According to an item in the Burlington Free Press, one of a pair of aldermen declared before the assembled board members that the fraternities have acquired valuable property in the best residential sections and are depriving widows and others of their former revenue from student room rental." One of the duet spoke further of the burdens of the laboring man who tries to own a little home. These speeches are undoubtedly history in the making. Not only have the Greek-letter men become persecutors of widows and perhaps orphans, according to our illustrious townsman, but the fraternity members are actually cruel enough to deprive poor workingmen of their (this is all in the diminutive form) little homes.

Were the situation as painted by the venerable city fathers true, we believe that the human qualities which the socially-minded collegians undoubtedly possess would come to the fore and their houses, their furniture and their all would be sacrificed in order that the socially persecuted people of this city might peacefully continue to exist. These facts as portrayed are far from the actuality of the situation and a local survey is all that is necessary to point out the injustice of the claims.

The economic depression has affected fraternity man and independent alike and if we lend an ear to the cries of bewildered presidents and harassed treasurers, we will quickly find out their sad financial status.

Those of the societies at Vermont which are long established are perhaps the least affected by the depression. In general, however, with house bills, social burdens and the maintenance of prestige on campus the fraternities are "sailing on rough seas." Alumni are not as generous as in bygone years, the Greeks report. The younger groups especially who have not yet on their rosters a sufficiently large number of graduates who have made their way in the world are finding themselves in difficulty.

For those groups who own their houses the rental problem does not have to be considered, but what with depleted treasuries, fewer students who are financially able to join fraternities and falling off in amounts of outside contributions, most of the fraternities are at present barely able to muddle through without incurring tremendous debts.

We would like to remind the indignant aldermen that the University brings to Burlington each year over a million dollars worth of business and that a good share of this amount is contributed by the fraternities. The majority of the houses run eating tables; supplies are all purchased locally, fuel for heating, and help in cleaning, painting, furnishing, and washing is all solicited from city inhabitants.

In addition, the fraternity houses serve as dormitories where students reside and study. This saves the University the expense of erecting other dormitories and in saving the University expenses the cost of state government is being cut to some extent as U. V. M. receives a money allotment from the State. Burlington as a unit of the state government is also aided indirectly in this manner.

Although local publicity seekers are making a hue and cry over the question of exemption no public opinion against continuance of that procedure has been aroused. To the fair-minded and clear-thinking gentlemen who as members of the aldermanic body voted to defeat the motion tribute is due, and especially so since it has been made evident that the opposition came chiefly from non-college graduate members. In declaring that the University is secondary to the interests of the city of Burlington the aldermen have erred, for as explained above, U. V. M. is a financial asset to Burlington since it has remained and will continue to remain one of the few standing and solvent large industries in the city.

According to certain local attorneys whose opinions were solicited, there is little chance that exemption of the fraternity houses from taxes will be abolished because as dormitories the houses are serving educational purposes and are not merely money-making institutions, as was charged.

W. C.

MID-YEARS

[illegible] buckle down to work in order to attain as much glory as possible in completing the first semester. Undoubtedly there are some in our [illegible] the majority are sitting by and thinking, possibly worrying, and then the night before the exam they will begin their well-known act of cramming. There are some students who may benefit by doing this even though the material is not retained afterwards for any great length of time, while others do not profit at all in attempting to gain their knowledge through this means of learning which is not at all conducive or beneficial to the general health of any individual. However, many manage to coast through a course in this particular way even though they do not derive as much benefit from it as they otherwise would—but one always finds some members of a group who do not seem to care. They are numbered in the category of those that are satisfied in just scraping through, so to speak, instead of aiming to reach higher ideals and set their goal at a higher plane. Why not use a grain of sense and begin studying a little from day to day?

Freshmen, you have now reached that period in college life in which you will be subjected to your first taste of finals. Do not become alarmed at this matter as in most instances, it has no lasting effects! In the first place you must find and retain a large quantity of that intangible something known as morale and then in order to lead a safe and sane existence, a fair sized amount of work must be done and retained as well as getting a reasonable amount of rest.

Thus members of the class of '36, as well as the remainder of the student body, if you follow the above prescription you will be prepared for the final two weeks with a clear head and a reasonable amount of information and the results will be amazing.

R. A. K.

TO PAUL

To say that we must not mourn your loss brings but little solace to hearts that ache because of your passing. Yet, it would not be your wish that we should sorrow for you since happiness, to you, was always found in making others happy.

You were so much more than just a fine boy; you embodied those qualities of genuine sincerity, kindliness and true lovableness which are rare in any man. Devotion to your family, loyalty to your friends, sympathy and an unusual understanding were things which we shall not forget about you. To a man, you must have been one of the finest pals he could ever know.

The world treated you kindly perhaps because you were kind to the world. You could never intentionally hurt anyone. The happy little incidents that made up each day—things which seem to most of us too small to appreciate produced a beautiful harmony which was your life, and you enjoyed it as few of us know how to. Life, for you, was glorious, brimful of lovely things; the bitter or the sordid had not touched you yet, but even if they had we, perhaps, would not have known it, for you would have covered your disappointment with a smile.

But best of all, Paul, you were so unspoiled—so free from the silly conceit which the love, admiration, and honor that we all showed for you might have caused. You were always just yourself—honest, true, and unaffected.

No words can adequately describe you; the feeling that we, who knew you, have for you, is rooted deep down in our hearts—it is inexpressible. You are gone—but let us be glad that we were fortunate enough to have had you here at Vermont for four years, and still have the qualities which were yours to follow as an ideal of splendid youth.

We can say no more than that we shall miss you, Paul—dreadfully—and—it was sweet to know you.

Coach Burns and his backfield certainly opened the new year in an auspicious manner by taking that thrilling game from St. Michael's in [illegible]

For the first time of the current season the Catamount mentor has found a combination that clicks continuously.

The most gratifying aspect of Tuesday night's game to most of the followers of the Green and Gold was the sustained drive which was manifest throughout. It speaks well for the morale as well as the physical condition of the athletes.

Quite a few were particularly pleased to see the new offense work, in contrast to that demoralizing corner offense which has characterized the Catamount attack for the past two years.

Although little has been said previous in this column concerning the demerits of such a system, the reason is no doubt obvious.

Just as soon as any constructive criticism is handed out, then the charges of no school spirit, of riding, and all that assorted baloney come bounding back on you like poor relatives.

You are a chump, a bum or most anything else until the time that your point has been proved. Then the inevitable comeback is "Why didn't you say so before?"

Just as long as the attitude that everything is rosy, or that good times are just around the corner, is sustained the reaction is quite favorable, but any departure from this straight and narrow path is considered a serious breach of ethics.

Tonight the Catamounts meet New Hampshire at Durham in a game which should prove to be a toss-up, with the odds slightly in favor of the Wildcats.

The Granite Staters took B. U. over 43-32 in Boston Tuesday night, and the Terriers had previously recorded a 22-19 win in the season's opener with Harvard.

New Hampshire, it will be remembered, had by far the most scientific and deceptive offense to appear on the gym surface last year.

Although several members of last year's team were lost by graduation, the team has been materially strengthened by several stars of last year's freshman team, including Walk[illegible] Curt Fonston, the ex-Clark star.

Tomorrow night the team st[illegible] against John Harvard in Ca[illegible] To date the Crimson has b[illegible] from impressive, losing to B[illegible] also to Princeton by a 20-po[illegible] gin.

Two years ago Harvard st[illegible] a last-minute Catamount rally 31-28, but this year from all ap[illegible] the Green and Gold are due through.

In view of the fact that this effort is probably the last o[illegible] Chummy the office boy and m[illegible] you fond adieu and, we must with a bit of a tear.

Vermont Hoopsters Beat St. Mike's 39-38

Catamounts Break Into Winning Column In Suprising Fashion By Conquering Strong Winooski Park Quintet In Overtime Battle

WHITEY PALMER, INVINCIBLE, HIGH SCORER AND MAINSTAY OF CATS

Vermont picked an opportune time to break into the winning column for this basketball season, when the team trimmed St. Michael's in a fast and furious overtime encounter, 39 to 38, at the Winooski Park Gymnasium last Tuesday evening. The Catamount team broke all predictions in accomplishing the feat against the supposedly powerful Purple and Gold quintet. Vermont led at half time by a 17 to 15 tally. With two seconds to go for the game and the score 33 to 31 in favor of the Cats, Miles, St. Mike's center shot a basket from the side of the court to tie the score at 33 all. During the overtime period Vermont scored six points to St. Michael's five.

The First Half

The game started speedily and rather roughly, as the two rivals met for the first time this year at Winooski Park. Morgan's basket after several seconds had elapsed opened up the fireworks. He was fouled in the act of shooting a moment later and sank one of his shots. Phil Ruggiero, veteran St. Mike's court star, started the works for the home team, making the score 3-2 in favor of the Burlington team. Tierney's free throw evened things up not long afterwards.

The famed Bozek opened up his own individual attack by a speedy basket from the side of the court. His man Beckley countered with another basket, making things even. Bozek made two floor baskets almost in succession soon afterwards. The score stood 9-5 in favor of the Winooski Park five. Whitey Palmer started a short rally with a basket and Beckley immediately followed with another as the score again became even. Then Meade fouled, sank his free throw to put St. Michael's out in front once again. Johnnie Beckley wrested the lead from the St. Mike's bunch by scoring a basket, but Ruggiero swished a one-hand shot in, and destroyed Vermont's lead. Meade increased the lead after sinking a free throw. Vermont 11, St. Michael's 13.

Chet Taft, who replaced Doug Greene in the starting line-up, sank a shot that slithered in clean. Sowka followed suit with his first basket of the year. Tierney, St. Mike's captain, made his basket even things up for the time being, but four shots sunk by Taft and Palmer put Vermont in the lead as the half ended.

Those who expected to see St. Michael's make fodder out of the Vermont team were mightily disappointed to see the things close as they were. The new type of criss-cross offense worked havoc with the team that more or less expected the Catamounts to use the revolving corner offense.

The Second Half

Phil Ruggiero's basket shortly after the beginning of the second half put St. Michael's up on par with the Burlington team. Miles sank another basket immediately following to put the Winooski Park quintet in the lead. The playing was even, smooth and fast. No foolhardy passes were made but both teams played excellent basketball.

With a little over a minute to go Vermont was in the lead as a result of Enos Ramon's follow shot by a 32-29 count. His foul shot immediately following put Vermont up to 33-29. Bob Meade then proceeded to sink his only field goal of the game, putting the Purple and Gold only two points behind. With exactly two seconds to go Miles popped a basket from near the sidelines, tying the score at one of the fastest and most exciting games ever witnessed on the Michaelmen's floor.

At It Again

During the overtime period the teams put on some finished basketball. In the extra period a total of eleven points were scored by both teams. Beckley resumed the barrage with a long one from near the center. It was banked perfectly and fell into the basket. Palmer, despite the unruly audience, sank two free throws with much deliberation. Miles, the St. Mike's big gun, spattered the basket with two short shots that put St. Mike out in front. It was Bozek who sank an important foul shot. The one-point lead that St. Michael's had accumulated was nullified when Chet Taft calmly sank a foul shot. The audience was almost enough to jar the hardiest of nerves. It is hoped that such a poor exhibition of sportsmanship in the attitude to the other team will never be witnessed at Vermont. With the score now deadlocked at 38-38, the stage was all set for Bob Grant's long point of the game and the one which decided the contest.

Vermont completed a total of eleven foul shots out of twenty-three tries in conditions that were pretty near impossible. To quote one of the players, "It may have been the raspberries, but it was yelling, and sometimes a player likes to hear a little. Have you ever noticed that Vermont plays better when there is more spirit than on her own home floor."

Palmer Unstoppable

There was no stopping the invincible Whitey Palmer in his aggressive playing last Tuesday evening. He and Miles were responsible for much of their respective team's strength. The fast Bozek accounted for eleven of St. Michael's points, but it was to Miles who earned five baskets in the second half that most of the credit falls. Beckley and Taft both accounted for eight of their team's points.

Enos Ramon played like a madman throughout the entire game. His leading influence was felt by the entire team. Chunk deserves credit for a well played game last Tuesday. The game in itself was of rather a rough nature. A total of twenty nine personal fouls were committed during the game. The score:

Take Wednesday Contest From Sophs in Easy Fashion by 36-11 Score

The junior class basketball team walked away with the game with the sophomores last Wednesday afternoon, and won the championship of the class league. By mutual agreement of both captains, the game was declared to be the deciding game of the 1932-33 series. The final score of the game was 36-11.

The upperclassmen exhibited more skill and accuracy than they have shown before in the competition. Their breaking and cutting was as speedy as ever, their defense was impregnable to the sophomores. Mulcahy, Cogswell, and Hart were the luminaries for the juniors, while Delfausse and Wilson did much in recovering to start the offense.

Mulcahy started the ball rolling with a basket and Hart cutting fast immediately followed with another. Two foul shots by Lazarus concluded the sophs scoring for the period. Morse and Cogswell added baskets to the juniors' total. The first quarter ended with the score 6 to 2 in favor of the latter team.

Delfausse's quick follow-up shot put the 34 men further in the lead. A long shot by Cogswell, junior guard, added two more markers. Colombo's success on a free throw ended as well as the sophs' scoring during the second period. Baskets at the hands of Morse, Cogswell and Morse again, coupled with a long shot by Cogswell, brought the score up to 17-5.

The second half found the 1935 men a bit recuperated, but not enough so to prevent Mulcahy from scoring three baskets during the period. Colombo rang one for the sophs, before the bracket closed. The last quarter found the juniors scoring almost at will. Hart and Patch added a basket apiece for the 1935 team, while Mulcahy popped two field goals, Morse sank one, Wilson rang up one and Cogswell dropped one. Wilson, Cogswell and Myers sank a foul shot each.

This year's title winner won the championship last year, and were only beaten in class competition by the freshmen in their first encounter of the season. The sophomores finished in a conceded fourth place, while the freshmen were awarded third place.

QUINTET DEPARTS FOR GAME WITH WILDCATS, SATURDAY AT HARVARD

Expects to Give Good Account of Itself—Avenge Football Defeat at Durham, N. H.

With two days for recuperation between their bouts at Michael's affair and the trip to New Hampshire and Massachusetts, the varsity basketball players left at seven o'clock this morning for foreign territory, expecting to give both teams a good account of themselves. The Green and Gold five meet New Hampshire tonight in their first encounter of the trip and Harvard tomorrow evening for the second and final game of the week.

If the trip had been taken after the St. Lawrence game played last December then it would be generally conceded that the Vermonters would not even have a look in on the basket against either of their opponents who are reported to be rather strong. Yesterday New Hampshire took the measure of the Boston University team while at a previous engagement the Boston University five had defeated Harvard.

Palmer, the outstanding man in last Tuesday's game, will be making the trip while Taft, Morgan, Beckley, Grant, Ramon and Captain Pires are to be in the list that left this morning. It is hoped that the team will play the bang up ball it played over at St. Michael's so that Vermont can exhibit her prowess to other colleges as it did at Dartmouth earlier in the season.

STATE BOTANICAL CLUB TO MEET JANUARY 27, 28

The Vermont Botanical and Bird Club will hold its annual winter meeting at the University on January 27 and January 28, the program including talks on Vermont birds and flowers, a business meeting and visits to the University's herbariums and museum collections.

Amateurs in bird and flower lore as well as specialists will give papers on subjects in which they have particular interest. The problem of conservation of bird and plant life in Vermont will come up for discussion.

Representation at the club meetings is expected to be statewide.

WOMEN'S RUSHING AT FULL HEIGHT; RUSHEES VISIT VARIOUS GROUPS

Final Parties to be Held by Various Sororities During Week of Feb. 7 to Feb. 14

The rushing season for freshmen and eligible transfers is now in full swing. All the rushees have had a chance to visit each sorority and become better acquainted with the members. The sororities have issued invitations to the freshmen and eligible transfers for their teas which are being held this week. Next week the sororities will hold their final rushing parties which will mark the close of women's rushing.

Kappa Delta and Kappa Alpha Theta are entertaining at tea on February 3. On February 4 Alpha Chi Omega, Sigma Gamma and Pi Beta Phi will hold their teas and Delta Delta Delta and Alpha Xi Delta will have their teas on February 6. These teas are open to those freshmen and eligible transfers who receive invitations regardless of their scholastic standing.

The Thetas will have their final party on Tuesday, February 7 the Alpha Chis on February 8 Kappa Delts on February 9, Sigma Gammas on February 10 The Tri Delts and Alpha Xis will hold their parties on February 13 and 14 respectively. The last party is by invitation only and no woman may attend unless she has an average of 77 or over.

During the rushing season there are certain rules which must be observed by all freshmen and upperclassmen as well. As set down in the handbook the rules are as follows:

"Freshmen and fraternity women shall not make arrangements to attend together public functions, movies, games, church, double dates, eating and reservations for Lake Walks shall not study together, visit in the rooms, or ride together in automobiles.

"After the final party, there will be a neutral period lasting from 10:00 p.m. February 15 to 4:00 p.m. February 17 during which time fraternity women and eligible students shall be permitted to exchange greetings at Hello' join the final change, when meeting in passing or in the dormitories. Further communication is strictly forbidden. Lists shall appear in sorority scrapbooks as well as others.

"Fraternity women shall not be seen around the Old Mill other than in going to and from classes which freshmen are enjoying their privileges as on dormitory floor."

Pledging will be held at the close of the neutral period on February 17.

ALLIANCE FRANCAISE TO CELEBRATE TWENTY-FIRST ANNIVERSARY, FEB. 6

Hotel Vermont, Scene of Banquet, Followed by Monsieur Clarac's Lecture in Museum

The Alliance Française of Burlington will celebrate its twenty-first anniversary Monday, the sixth of February. A banquet will take place at six o'clock in the Ivy ballroom of the Hotel Vermont. Among the guests at the banquet will be Monsieur Clarac, Secretary of the French embassy in Washington, and Guy W. Bailey, President of the University of Vermont. During the banquet Monsieur Clarac, President Bailey, M. Demogeot, Mrs. P. D. Evans and Professor Morrow will give short talks.

The commercial attaché of France in Canada will address the members of the Alliance Française in Burlington from the Montreal Station CKAC at 6:30 p.m.

At the close of the banquet a special bus will leave the Hotel Vermont to take the guests to the Fleming Museum where Monsieur Clarac will speak in French on "Les Causes de l'Instabilité Gouvernementale de la France." This lecture is free and open to the public. Students who are members of the Alliance Française and intend to be present at the banquet should leave their names with Professor Morrow or Mrs. P. D. Evans.

Monsieur Clarac was born in 1903. He holds the degree of Doctor of Laws from the Faculté de Paris. During his military service in 1923 he acted as counsel for soldiers defendant to court martial.

"Monsieur Clarac is a charming young man whose personality will appeal to all. It is an honor to the Alliance Française to have the secretary of the French ambassador Paul Claudel as the ambassador's representative a visitor to our city," said Mrs. Evans in commenting on the secretary's visit. "It is hoped that a large group of students will be present to welcome him. On the following evening M. Clarac will present a lecture in English on 'The Peasant, His Place in French Social and Political Life.'"

DR. PERRINE TO SPEAK ON TELEVISION, MONDAY

Dr. F. O. Perrine of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company of New York City will give a lecture on television in Williams Science Hall Monday, February 6 at 8:00 p.m. The lecture, which is under the auspices of the department of electrical engineering, will be illustrated experimentally and by lantern slides. The student body is cordially invited to attend. No admission fee will be charged.

Winter Jobs Wane, Students Lament

"Where, oh where have our turnouts gone?"

This is the lament of self-supporting students at the University of Vermont. Four years not so many years ago, when the land of the snow and cold reigned, one occupation was a lucrative occupation for needy students, but changing economic conditions have sent them hunting other employment, and earning board or room or a bit of both, ends. The coal bin and the shovel have been thrown out by all and the automatic heater and the stoker, that same enlightened student of economics and engineering, took over the chill. He and ours are not the same that do not need them.

Hand in hand with the passing of the shovelers of yore, went the disappearance of the snow and the cold. Where were the days of yore when the campus was covered with white and brought with it a joyful morning air that would entice a child enough from bed to ring across the fields of untrodden snow or to slide a delectable round of the down to the valley below. Those days have become ranked as a lost period. A good man would have upward of a dozen cold rooms to be calling a visit. Now it is only to collect the rent, see to the repairs without a shovel, one of the numerous duties of the landlord of rooms of which he can tell you tales between puffing heaves and as he runs he considers himself for some.

Where, oh where are the turnouts of yore? Is the name of the student's office on his doorstep?

And the pleasant sides of the Vermont Cynic, the newspaper which for many years has been a source of income to many students, is getting quite cold, unless the local coal dealers get busy and start giving that same enlightened student a coal, and even he can't get the coal that he can't find them.

Charles J. Libby '34 of Richmond [illegible] N. Y. and assistant Ernest Drew '35 of ...chusetts of the Cynic, George H. Burrows, II '34 of Lyndon N. H. business ...manager. Announcements were made last Thursday afternoon by Ernest Drew, retiring editor, and Thursday evening by Carl Lucke, retiring business manager.

William Cohen '34 of Burlington was named managing editor. The selections for sporting and reporting editorships will be announced after tests for these offices have been completed as required by the candidates. Augusta Cohen '34 of Burlington will fill the office of women's editor, replacing Dorothy Jackson '33. Charles J. Libby will also take the position of advertising manager.

News Editors Appointed

Dorothy Kennedy '35 of Waterbury, Helen Mount '35 of Burlington, Howard Abbott '35 of West Roxbury, Mass., Dustin White '35 of Ryegate, R. Stuart Wright '35 of Burlington and Pete Wilcox '35 of Derby will serve in the capacity of news editor.

Feature editors will include Ruth Kobel '34 of Port Henry, N. Y., Jane Parsons '35 of Burlington, Nathan Gould '35 of Barre and Milton Greenberg '34 of Bennington. The only assistant business manager announced to date is Marshall Patch '35 of Woodstock.

Officers Selected on Merit Basis

Officers were selected on the merit system adopted last year. At the time a election each of the candidates took an exam to determine whether or not he was fit for the position.

Libby has been active in numerous campus affairs. He is a member of Key and Serpent of Tau Kappa Alpha and of Wig and Pen[illegible] fraternities. He was editor in the business manager of the 1934 Ariel and is assistant manager of varsity basketball. He belongs to Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, and is training to be an electrical engineer.

Burrows, the new business manager, is also one of the assistant Lake Walk directors. He is one of the assistant managers of varsity basketball. Burrows

Editorials

Entering [illegible] last year's accomplishments welcome to the new [illegible] and predictions for the coming year are the traditional elements of the [illegible] column's beginning. The first will be centered on the second and the third upon the third.

[illegible] the past year's existence has been an important one and a successful one. In an attempt to increase efficiency of operation in administration and business of promotion by a merit system a new constitution has been drawn and adopted. The first year of any innovation is generally the hardest. Minor flaws in the new policy were found, but it stood the test unusually well. We have fond hopes for its continued success.

The incoming editorial board is the first to be chosen on a strictly competitive basis. A definite system of credits which considers both the quality and quantity of work done has selected a staff of men and women who should be the most competent ever to guide the VERMONT CYNIC. We congratulate these men and women on their promotion and predict for them the best attainment.

Just now under the regime of a purely merit basis murmurs of discontent are bound to arise with hinted charges of intrigue and favoritism. Let us remember that last treble cheer of an outworn political system. A progressive college newspaper is not a place for petty politicians and professional scribblers. There is no room for their carefully planned maneuverings, their purposeless ribbonisms in meetings, and their periodical threats of resignation. Their riddance, though Utopian, is a laudable goal.

In conclusion we would speak a good word. The CYNIC has gradually evolved from a mimeograph into a newspaper. More and more it is coming to have a distinctly journalistic flavor. This is the aim of each journal editor; this we believe is what the students of the University of Vermont desire.

ANNUAL WINTER SPORTS MEET TO BEGIN MONDAY AFTERNOON AT 4 P.M.

Fraternities to Vie in Ski, Snowshoe and Skating Events Pending Suitable Weather

The physical education department of the University of Vermont has announced that the annual interfraternity winter sports meet will take place this year beginning February 6 and terminating February 9. The meet will include skating and snowshoeing events.

On Monday, February 6, competition between the various fraternities will be started with a 220 ski dash at four o'clock. On the same afternoon the cross-country snowshoe race and the ski jump race will take place. If there is snow available, the events will be postponed until there is some. The following day, at four o'clock, the snowshoe and cross-country ski race and snowshoe relay race will be run off.

On day 9, the skating races will be held. In the evening the 440-yard dash and the one-mile event will be contested at Chiott's rink. In the afternoon of the next day the half-mile ski and snowshoe races will be completed. Following the two-mile skating race the four man relay race will be held on Chiott's rink.

Points will be awarded on a 5-3-1 basis. For the best balanced team three points will be given. A cup will be awarded only if the program is completed. However, points towards the permanent trophy will be counted depending on the results of that portion of the program which is completed.

MYERS DEFEATS NAYLOR FOR PING PONG TITLE

Norman Myers '34 of Burlington, Vt., won four sets out of seven from Jimmie Naylor of Hartford, Conn., in the finals of the first ping-pong tournament held as part of the winter gymnasium program at the University of Vermont before the holidays. Myers plays on the tennis team which won the State championship last spring. He was runner-up in the college tennis championship held last fall.

KAKE WALK DIRECTORS SAY TWO SHOWS WILL BE GIVEN THIS YEAR

Performance Friday Evening for High School Students; Saturday Regular Show

FOUR SUGGESTIONS MADE BY NOTED ALUMNUS

Saturday, February 18, 8 o'clock in the evening, and the Kake Walk at Vermont once more gets off to its usual start. Last year directors of the Kake Walk got the impression via a mail-bag of posters that Kake Walk was a success. Since here and there this impression was proved false, and that the annual Vermont tradition will not have to be perpetrated with several innovations.

In the first place there will be competition between the two evening shows as the past and the one performance show of last year. That is a complete Kake Walk will be put on for high school and academy school students only on Friday evening while what might be called the regular performance for juniors, college students and townspeople will be held Saturday evening as it was last year. Thus the high school evening, which will be offered to the younger folk at the reduced price of forty cents for all seats, will help the pretenders, the starters and the Walkers to smooth out any roughness in their acts and at the same time go through a complete show.

In the second place, prices for the Saturday performance will be $1.65 and $2.75 including taxes. These are the only two prices available for tickets and can be accounted for sure. Due to Frosh by the number of taxes which must be paid.

In connection with Kake Walk it will be of interest to quote four suggestions

M. CLARAC, FRENCH SEC'Y SPEAKS TONIGHT AS THIRD UNIVERSITY LECTURER

"The French Peasant" will be Discussed This Evening by Member of French Embassy

FAMOUS DIPLOMAT SPEAKS TO ALLIANCE FRANCAISE

Monsieur Claparac, first secretary of the French Embassy in Washington will lecture tonight in English on "The French Peasant" his place and his significance in the social and political life of France in the Fleming Museum at 8 o'clock as the third speaker in the series of Lecture-ity Lectures. Yesterday evening Monsieur Clarac spoke on the economic condition of France to members and guests of the Alliance Francaise as part of the celebration of the twenty-first anniversary of that society.

M. Clarac, educated at the famous Sorbonne in Paris, most famous of all the ancient universities having their origins in the thirteenth century, although still a young man has won his spurs in the political life of his country. A doctor of Law, he has seen military service as Judge at Court Martial. Advancement of his present high official position at the age of thirty, testifies to his brilliant abilities.

It is said that the importance of the peasant in France is understood by and appreciated hardly understood beyond the confines of France. To the French-American and even to the typical Frenchman is the entire principle of the basis of the fundamentalism of the "Le Grand" and the Latin quarter. But those acquainted with the leading points out that Napoleon, as well as Charles Augustin, an eminent student of national topics, made it the

OUR POLICY

To cater to the spirit of the outgoing board, which has done so much to combine pace with the times, to promote college spirit and to print all the news that is fit to print, are the aims of the incoming board. We sincerely hope that we will be competent enough to produce a newspaper which will embody the spirit of the University of Vermont and which will stand up under the tests of its most severe critics.

YOUR TURN TO DELIBERATE

This afternoon marks the beginning of final phase of sorority rushing. Pledge parties start today continuing until next week Tuesday. Now is the time for every freshman woman to note well the apparent advantages and disadvantages of the respective sororities at the University of Vermont. It is perhaps one of the most difficult and intriguing parts of your freshman year, and it comprises a step which is sometimes very hard to decide.

Do not base your judgement wholly on external appearance, and try to ascertain the true character of the group and its individuals. At the present time you are the object of very special attention, but don't be led to believe that you will have special treatment for the rest of your college course.

It rests with you to calmly and coolly deliberate concerning the sorority which most suits your type. Study your own thoughts in regard to that group. Ask yourself whether that is the group with which you would like to bind yourself for the remainder of your college career. Are those the type of girls with whom you would like to be friends while you are in college?

INTERFRAT BASKETBALL TO START THIS EVENING WITH A. T. O.-OWL GAME

Exciting Race is Predicted This Season With Several Strong Teams in Start

Beginning the evening the inter... the inter-fraternity basketball world at the Ira... ...vents will be inaugurated on the annual intramural basketball league. At 6:40 the Alpha Tau Omega five will encounter the Lambda Iota quintet in a ...rnival opening of the competition for the intramurality championship and cup which was won last year by the Sigma Alpha Epsilon players.

Tomorrow at four the Zeta Psi hoopsters will meet the Sigma Delta dribblers. A close, fast and interesting contest is predicted for the year. Included in the entrants are several last years, which have already played practice games. The favorite to win the afternoon's game and the tournament is the Alpha Tau Omega team.

Included in it's roster are several fine players. The Hart brothers, Brydon, Burke, Mahoney, Joly, Lanahan and Colombo are out to fight to victory. Delta Psi is reputed to have a potential team, while the Independents have much splendid material to draw from. Sigma Alpha Epsilon is by no means weak this year, having Wegner, Mulcahy, Patch, Buxton, Skowronski and Jezukawiez to fight for the keeping of the cup.

In the lower half, Kappa Sigma and Phi Sigma Delta both have powerful units. Last year the former were the runners up for the championship. Phi Sigma Delta was more powerful than Kappa Sigma last year, and will probably win the battle for supremacy of the lower half to move into the final bracket with Alpha Tau Omega.

C. C. N. Y. to Give Course in Motion-picture Art

Chesterfields are Milder

WHEN you ask a Chesterfield smoker why that's his brand — he generally comes right out flat-footed and says . . . "It's because They're Milder!"

So we're going to keep on doing everything we know how to keep them that way.

That's why we look for and buy the mildest and ripest tobaccos we can get. That's why we age them in our warehouses till they're mellow and sweet.

We believe that even the shredding of the tobacco . . . and the quality of the paper it's rolled in, have a lot to do with the even-drawing, mild smoke that people enjoy in Chesterfields.

You can bank on this . . . every method known to science is used to make Chesterfield a milder, better-tasting cigarette that satisfies.

PERRINE GIVES SECOND TALK TUESDAY MORNING

"Telephony and Power Engineering" Subject of Lecture to Engineering Audience

An additional lecture was given by Dr. O. Perrine noted authority last Tuesday morning on the subject "Telephony and Power Engineering or a Contrast in the Application of Electrical Principles". An audience composed of engineering students had the opportunity to listen to a prominent editor of the Bell System Technical Journal speak in the Williams Science Hall lecture room.

Doctor Perrine gave a brief history of the use of electricity in communication, first as the development of motors and generators was slow even though the simple principles had been worked out. Then the development in telephony was slow. In these two respects he said power engineering and telephone engineering are alike. Also he added they have the same fundamental principles.

In the latter the use of base contact is and is extensive. In the process of communication acoustical power must be transformed into electrical power and electrical power transformed into acoustical power. Although loose contacts are used in the telephone system, where necessary, there are 310 field connections employed when a call is put through, and on a dial system 1,200 switches are used. The dynamos, that are now used are small and minute. As compared to the power, which uses high voltages and large generators, telephony requires small generators and low voltage.

A telephone system furnishes its own power and it is the duty of a telephone company to make this power into great acoustical power. In the case of power companies cost of transmission is taken into account. The efficiency in transmission of the former has been increased twelve thousand times in the last twenty-five years.

In closing his lecture and giving a brief account of the status of college engineers on the market Doctor Perrine stressed the importance of a basic knowledge of electrical engineering rather than a specialized education. A company at the present time realizes that a new employee cannot begin to do correct work immediately, therefore he must be trained. It is to the company itself that the average

Burlington Votes Against Tax Exemption of Fraternity Houses

With about one tenth of the voters of Burlington voting at the special Election on the question of Fraternity Tax Exemptions the result showed an overwhelming majority in favor of a discontinuance of this practice.

While the returns [illegible] a strong trend for taxing fraternity houses it can not be considered conclusive as an analysis of the vote by wards will show.

Several city officials upon being asked for a statement on the result refused to be quoted in any way.

UNIVERSITY LECTURE GIVEN BY M. CLARAC ON "FRENCH PEASANT"

Secretary of French Embassy Lectures to Capacity Audience Last Tuesday

[illegible] the third of the series of University lectures, Monsieur Clarac, first secretary of the French Embassy in Washington, spoke last Tuesday evening at the Fleming Museum before a capacity audience on the subject "The French Peasant."

Following a brief introduction by Dr. Arthur Myrick, professor of romance languages at the University, M. Clarac lecturing in English for the first time, spoke with delightful informality, first giving a brief history of the French peasantry and then discussing their place and importance in the social and political life of France. The speaker called the peasantry "the cornerstone of French society." He said that they are the most stable class to come into contact with, and consequently they are not appreciated or understood by the typical tourist traveler.

Tracing the history of the peasants from their early serfdom and virtual slavery during the Middle Ages, M. Clarac stated that the burden of taxation rested entirely upon them during that time. He surveyed their gradual rise throughout the ages, stressing the importance of Voltaire and his philosophy, and the resulting effect occasioned by the French Revolution.

The peasantry is the most influential political class, and vote for the Radical-Socialist party nominees, an anti-clerical, slightly progressive group. The farmers, the middle class, come from peasant ancestry. None of these farmers can aspire to social position in a provincial town unless it owns property with "roots in the ground." A man with a fortune in bonds would be looked upon with suspicion.

M. Clarac elaborated on the character of the peasants, delving into their inherent love for the soil, a last-ing regard for their particular section of the country, their economical, frugal practical means of existence, a sense of moderation and stabilism, and their distrust of the rest of the human race.

EXTENSION SERVICE DOES HEALTH WORK

Over 1,500 children in the State this past year were examined in free school clinics sponsored by the Extension Service of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College with Public Health Advisory Nurse Nellie M. Jones of the State Board of Health cooperating. The work was under the supervision of the home demonstration agents in the various communities.

One of the important pieces of work done by the home demonstration agents during the year was in the field of health. Marjorie E. Luce, state home demonstration agent leader, says more of this work has been done than ever before.

Eighty-five dental clinics were held in seven counties, with 1,792 children present, at an estimated saving of over $5,000. Some groups sponsored a diphtheria immunization campaign with the result that 633 children were treated with toxin-antitoxin. Home nursing classes and discussions were organized in several communities with the help of trained nurses and instruction obtained on such subjects as the care of the sick room, first aid, and home treatment of the best and simple home treatments.

KAKE WALK SCHEDULED FOR NEXT FRI. AND SAT.

Kakes are Highly Prized These Days, "Cotton Babes" at Every House

Kake Walk is only a week away! Next week Friday and Saturday, February 17 and 18 the big show will be on. And then the Kakes!

Kake Walk is changing. This year there is a compromise made between the one performance show of last year and the two performance show of two years ago. The Kake Walk will be put on complete next Friday with tickets selling for forty cents apiece for high school children only. This preliminary performance will help the pretzelers, the stutters, and the walkers to smooth out any roughnesses in their parts, and thus materially better the show of the following night.

Then, prices for the Saturday performance will be $1.65 and $2.75 including taxes. These are the only two prices charged for tickets, and can be accounted for, says Director Brown, by the number of taxes which must be paid.

"Cotton Babes" is enjoying a meteoric growth of popularity just now. If you go to almost any fraternity at almost any time you will be sure to hear its strains echoing through the halls. Even the R. O. T. C. Band is playing it.

Last year Alpha Tau Omega won the "Kake" for the walking in the persons of Burke and Terrien. Delta Psi had the best stunt. The Sigma Phis had the best peerade float and Ridge Runs as "U. V. M." and Willum Pund" won the individual prize. Sigma Alpha Epsilon won three second places.

The freshmen will see a new thing, new to many of them at least. The sophomores with a full year's experience will be able to appreciate it fully, the juniors more fully and the seniors most fully.

COLONEL HAIG INSTRUCTS IN MILITARY HYGIENE

All Freshman Sections to Meet at 7.30 Instead of Regular Hours

Commencing February 14 1933 all freshman military sections will meet in the gymnasium for instructions by Colonel Haig, in military hygiene and first aid. The sections will meet at 7.30 on the regular section days and this instruction will be concluded February 28 1933.

Company formation previously held the first four periods on Friday mornings in uniform, has been changed to a battalion formation coming on the same day but all companies meeting at 7.30. Battalion formation will be continued indefinitely as a preparation for the Federal Inspection and the return to company formation will be determined by the military staff.

FRENCH EMBASSY SEC'Y LECTURES AT MUSEUM

Talk is Part of the Twenty-first Anniversary Celebration of the Alliance Française

Monsieur Clarac, first secretary of the French Embassy in Washington gave a [illegible] lecture on French in Le Cause de l'Etablissite de La France as a part of the celebration of the twenty-first anniversary of the Alliance Française in Burlington which took place Monday February 6. Mr. Clarac came as a representative of the French Ambassador Mr. Paul Claudel.

Mr. Clarac doesn't believe the French know anything about real depression. They talk about it because they read about it in the papers. France is now the richest nation because it always restores the confidence of the people immediately after a crisis.

The organization and discrimination of production aids in stabilization because it provides several sources of income in time of depression. This enables them to withstand the great fluctuation in price of one or more of their products.

The development of industry in France was slow and was kept parallel to the development in agriculture. This kept more people poor but kept all from suffering from severe want.

He went on "The French are more interested in the quality of their work than in the quantity of production and it is to their advantage since their products which demand great care and patience are not affected by fluctuation in price."

The French have an inborn sense of economy sometimes called stinginess. Their motto Un sous et un sous is the keynote of their entire lives. They are not "spenthrifts" but instead are satisfied with the bare necessities."

He closed by saying "Don't worry about France. She'll always come out on her feet as she has in the past no matter how severe the crisis seems at the time."

Before the lecture there was a banquet at the Hotel Vermont at which President Redden, Professor Myrick, Mrs. P. D. Evans, Mr. Desautels and Mr. Clarac gave short addresses. The University was represented by Francine Indejian and Sophie Levin in addition to the French professors. Messrs. Clark and Marck.

EXHIBIT AT MUSEUM

Many details of the coming stamp exhibit at the Fleming Museum the latter part of this month were arranged at a meeting of the Burlington Stamp Collectors Club held Thursday evening at eight o'clock in the office of Miss C. Reynolds 100 Church street.

At the exhibit stamps valued at several thousand dollars will be displayed. It is planned to show as a part of the exhibit all of the several commemorative issues, airmail issues and many old rarities. There will be one one cent stamp imperforate of 1851 type three with a catalog value of $400.

The final rushing parties of the seven sorority organizations are being held this week and the beginning of next. These parties are the last time those freshmen and eligible transfers who have not received a bid will meet.

The list of the freshmen who are eligible for rushing are: Madeleine [illegible], Ruth Barton, Elizabeth [illegible], Jane Bloomberg, Vee Brown, Catherine Cross, Rosamond Cahill, Helen [illegible], Dorothy Chappell, Caroline Cook, Madeleine Donaldson, Gertrude [illegible], Jane Dyer, Louise Calley, Virginia Geiger, Harriet Gray, Marion Hartberg, Helen Jones, Elva May Jones, Agnes Lansing, Ruth Lowell, Elizabeth Leahy, Kathleen Kimball, Marion Kimball, Ruth Latimer, Dora Lee, Chelsea Leach, Catherine McPherson, Catherine Mahoney, Ellen Lord, Nancy Norman, Piper Roberts, Dorothy Rogers, Frances Reeves, Frances Rose, Eleanor Stone, Kathryn Sweetser, Ellen Sinclair, Lorraine Spaulding, Claire Sweetser, Janet Thompson, Doris Webster, Ruth White, Mary Williams, Gertrude Wright, Ruth Wright.

The eligible transfers are: Nancy Campbell '34, Jane Chesson '34, Hilda Hoag '35, Kathryn Mahoney '35, Dorothy Meader '34, Myron Merchell '34, Frances Wheeler '35.

In addition to these there are several town women transfer students who are eligible but as yet no possible to guess a list as them because their marks have not been completed.

After the last party on February 14 there will be a mystical period from 10 p.m. that night until 4 p.m. February 17. During the period "fraternity women and eligible students shall be permitted to exchange greetings of [illegible] plus the first name when meeting on campus or in the dormitories. Further conversation is strictly forbidden. The ban shall apply to sisters as well as others.

Fraternity women shall not be seen around the Old Mill other than in going to and from classes while freshmen are signing their preferences at the dean's office.

Fraternity women shall not greet their pledges on campus at the close of the mystical period.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT IN CHARGE OF BROADCAST

Will be Heard Over WCAX This Evening

The University broadcast for this evening is in charge of the music department. Prof. C. T. Leonard will give a piano recital consisting of three intermezzos and a Ballade in G minor by Brahms. The intermezzos will be in F major, A major and B flat minor.

The University sponsors a broadcast over station WCAX every Friday evening at 7:00. The programs for the last two weeks have been of the lecture type. January 27 Prof. L. L. Briggs spoke on "Accounting and the Small Business" and John Weir, the extension forester, spoke on "Care of the Sugar Bush." In the program of February 3 Miss Florence Woodard and Prof. M. B. Cummings were the speakers. Miss Woodard's subject was "Foreign Trade and the Tariff" and that of Professor Cummings was "Spraying Fruit Trees."

THE FRATERNITY WORLD

We cannot help but note the excitement in the fraternity world concerning the possibility of an impending tax on their properties. Numerous remarks have been cast on the city of Burlington. Hints of forcing the political aspects of the question have been overheard here and there. Important civic remarks with emphasis the unfairness of taxation without equal representation. Undoubtedly the most unique of the actions were those of the representatives of the [illegible] fraternities who announced their policy in a resolution at the [illegible] meeting.

The fraternity backers certainly had nothing to lose by staying away from the polls last Wednesday at the special city meeting. By staying away from the polls they are now in a position to request the Legislature to ignore the vote entirely on the grounds that the meeting was illegal and that the voters were duly informed as to the [illegible] by competent legal authorities.

When the bill goes to the Legislature fraternity men and women must not lose sight of the fact that originally the law was enacted for the express purpose of encouraging the fraternities to build and buy up land without fear of any overburdening taxes. The law was also intended to continue the protection for fraternities. On this assumption it seems hardly creditable that the legislature would repeal or amend the law to compel the fraternities to pay taxes. In some cases such an amendment would mean possible discontinuance of some of the Greek letter groups in other Vermont cities and Middlebury or Burlington.

It is certain that the legislators will take this fact into consideration when they vote on the matter of Montpelier. If the fraternities were taxed, the members would, in all probability be required to pay for the tax on their annual assessment. That would mean that the tax, which was intended for adults "preservation" would be devolved on infants, students living outside the city and pupils living in the city.

While, on the surface the proposed bill constitutes a vast saving, it nevertheless has certain features, which would stamp it unfair to the fraternity man or woman; and substituting the type of bill a true Burlington citizen would approve.

CONCERNING THE WILBUR FUND

According to President Guy W. Bailey, there comes immediately available to the University of Vermont, under the terms of the Wilbur Trust a sum approximating $440,000. It is with delight we note the addition to the college coffers. Despite the fact that one-quarter of this amount must be set aside for the endowment of the Wilbur Room at the Fleming Museum, the remainder will be available for general administrative purposes in the College of Arts and Sciences, under the direction of the trustees.

No longer do the students and faculty look on the settlement of the Wilbur Fund in the same manner they would on a baby pedalling a bicycle around the streets with a milk bottle held out in front of him, yet tied so it was inaccessible. A small group of the campus members shake their heads, because it is to be used only for the Arts and Science students benefit. And yet they too are proud that the settlement of the legacy will improve the general financial condition of the University. Eventually there will be a larger sum from the Wilbur Estate, but that will as yet [illegible] available for immediate use.

ZETA CHI PLEDGES

Zeta Chi announces the pledging of H. F. Rickertson '36, and S. A. Parsons '36. Mr. Lenken, representing the national fraternity Beta Kappa Phi was present at the meeting last Monday night.

Harvard University has enough football equipment besides thirty-six tackling dummies and 100 footballs, to outfit 600 men.

Georgetown's student body contains representatives from nineteen foreign countries and from every state in the Union except Arizona. While we're speaking of this school, you might like to know that the favors for their junior prom are electric alarm clocks. Does that put the excitators in a state of unemployment? For shame!

According to statistics, bad checks were passed at the University of Missouri at the rate of seventy-five a day last year.

A CO-ED PROBLEM

The [illegible] of the freshman class have been with us nearly half a year. The beginning of their development from high school-minded [illegible] collective college women has been [illegible] for them the title of [illegible]. In recognition of [illegible] that one period of orientation [illegible] experience and manners has [illegible] come to a close, the [illegible] coeds are this week [illegible] their houses to entertain prospective pledgees previous to the [illegible] of bids.

The college woman who is being rushed at this time has a two-fold problem before her for consideration. She must ask herself: "Do I find it advisable to become a member of a fraternity?" And if so in which group will I find girls of my type, with tastes, ideals, and aspirations congenial to my own?"

The more difficult task, we believe, is finding a suitable answer to the first question. It is probable that in this year of economic depression many girls who in happier times would unquestionably join with a fraternity will this year find the expense entailed a greater burden than they can in fairness inflict upon their parents or supporters. On the other hand not a few women will feel that the social advantages of coming with a sorority outweigh any disadvantages which may be mentioned. For these girls the only remaining problem is to find the group on the campus which seems most nearly representative of their ideal of college womanhood, and the most nearly perfect embodiment of their interests and inclinations.

To those who will be unable to meet the financial obligations of belonging to a sorority may we frankly extend our bit of "Big Sister" advice: Strive to form worthwhile friendships by assertion of your own personality. Remember that by showing interest in your fellow humans you will be developing yourselves in the most profitable manner. Try to maintain your individual power alongside of the strength of the group, keeping always before you the goal of self-realization in accordance with the truest and worthiest ideals.

A NEW CHICAGO RACKET

Something new in college racketeering came to light on the Farm recently when a certain fraternity received a green post-card folder from Chicago. Something sort of significant about that—coming from Chicago, from whence have emanated the liquor racket and its allied ramifications of endeavor. Strangely enough this Greek fraternity racket also carries with it the smell of C_2H_5OH.

Within the green folder the Stanford fraternity men found "The Truth About Kappa Beta Phi" and "The Truth About Theta Nu Epsilon," two blurby paragraphs which boil down the information concerning these two organizations which appears in that old standby, Baird's Manual. These paragraphs are smoothly hypocritical, entirely failing to mention the true nature of the orders. The only clue dropped for the casual reader is the stein which appears in the upper right-hand corner of an artist's reproduction of the Kappa Beta key.

The man who sits in the "national headquarters" of both fraternities at Box 4000, Merchandise Mart Station, Chicago (the return address given), must be an opportunist of the old school. He encloses a price list of T. N. E. and Kappa Bete membership cards, shingles, keys, official pins, even sister pins. Furthermore, any college group may receive a complete charter and ritual of either order for $10 and C. O. D. charges. The self-appointed national secretary seems very exclusive.

Sending one of his green circulars to Stanford was, of course, a cent and a half's postage wasted, for the soil on the Farm is too dry and too sterile for that type of cultivation. But the racket will probably reap its harvest at that for somewhere, at some colleges, little groups of tipplers will fall for the "national organization and reputation" line. Greater suckers still will be the clandestine chapters of T. N. E. and Kappa Bete who will report themselves as requested and lay themselves open to the financial support which will undoubtedly be sought by the Chicago "headquarters."

All of which off-color racketeering will leave fair Stanford high and dry, where it was in the first place, for the element of rowdyism and bacchanalianism which is synonymous with the names of those two orders will certainly have no foothold here. Even if it had, Stanford men would never be such suckers, we hope.—Stanford Daily.

Vermont Faculty See "Strange Interlude"

An enterprising news editor suggested that I canvass the faculty of the Arts and Sciences College primarily to discover how many were interested enough to attend the motion picture "Strange Interlude" which was presented at the [illegible] Theater last week. The idea was appealing but the actual carrying out of the plan offered a number of difficulties. It seems that very few had the opportunity to witness O'Neil's master piece as [illegible] it then had seen it, were [illegible] essential.

The final results were, however, startling. From a certain source it was found out that only about four members of the English department, the department of literature, had actually attended the presentation, a relatively smaller number than any other departmental group.

Professor Tupper, head of the English department, brought forth some interesting criticism concerning the play which he describes as "too long." It seems that the author O'Neil was endeavoring to write a "novel in the form of a drama." "The interest of the picture," says the professor, "lies in the way in which O'Neil has expressed the dualism of his characters. To do this, he has revived the old soliloquy which was long ago discarded from popular use and, with it, has achieved instantaneous success."

Professor Aiken, also of the English department, had this to say about the picture. "The scenes, although necessarily shortened, were very well worded and the acting was quite skillful."

Miss Parker, an instructor of the department, offered three main criticisms on the movie as compared with the play: "Many philosophizing features were left out and a number of explanatory passages including those to give the illusion of passing time were omitted."

The German department brought forth a representative in the form of Professor Carpenter, its head. Although not present at the movie, he recalled the play as he had seen it several years ago. He states, "'Strange Interlude' was a very impressive performance and I was definitely satisfied with having seen it."

Wandering to the psychology department, we hear from Professor Metcalf who saw both the picture and the play. He has this to say: "The picture suffered by condensation and at certain intervals did not follow out the intentions of the dramatist, but on the whole, it was very well done."

Professor Ewert of the same department brings forth new light on the play: "It was a most unusual play and it was very well done, in fact, I consider 'Strange Interlude' one of the best psychological plays ever written."

From the philosophy department we quote Professor Dykhuizen: "Both the play and the movie were very powerful. The theme embodies a very powerful problem which is of interest to everyone."

Mr. Powers, of the V. C. A. Cabinet, offered the following: "I was very much impressed by the work of the actors and actresses but not so much by the story."

The author of "Strane Interlude," Eugene (Gladstone) O'Neil was born in New York, October 18, 1888. He was educated at Princeton and Harvard Universities and later received a Doctor of Literature degree from Yale University. Other prominent dramas of O'Neil include "Anna Christie" (1922) and "Mourning Becomes Electra" (1932).

NEWTON SPEAKS AT P. T. A. MEETING

The talk of Mr. W. Allen Newton, guest speaker at the February meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Burlington Junior-Senior High School centered on the contribution of the Fleming Museum to the public. He brought out the fact that the exhibitions at the museum are not only of value and of use in Burlington but also throughout the State.

Speaking of the growing interest of the children in their Saturday afternoon and special programs, Mr. Newton stated that there were not quite 5,000 children attending the first year that the museum opened. Since September 1 until the present time over 6,000 children came, showing a marked increase in the second year.

Mr. Newton told of the lectures that are given at the museum, all of an educational nature and expressed his appreciation to the Parent-Teacher Association for the supervision of the ladies who come each Saturday to help keep the children in order during their gatherings at the Fleming Museum. The museum, he pointed out, is a popular place, the programs are well attended every Saturday and many are taking advantage of them and the help the museum can give.

A fine of six pence is charged the students at the University of Edinburgh for every class that they cut. The money that is gotten in this manner is put together and a present is bought for the president. Last year he was presented with a cigar. If we followed the same policy here the president would be able to pay off all the college debts after the first year of operation.

SPRINGFIELD TO BE MET THIS EVENING BY CATS IN DIFFICULT CONTEST

Massachusetts State to be Met Tomorrow Afternoon at Amherst

CATS WILL BE WITHOUT SERVICES OF MORGAN

[illegible]day night the basketball team de[illegible] for Springfield and Massachusetts [illegible] Friday and Saturday, respec[illegible]. The team left by car and will [illegible] return Saturday night. Nine [illegible] making the trip: Pires, Grant, [illegible] Luft, Layden, Morgan, Beckley, [illegible]ker and Palmer. Comparative scores [illegible] that Vermont stands an even [illegible] for a victory with each outfit they [illegible] meet.

Springfield is undoubtedly the strong[illegible] but the Green and Gold warriors will [illegible] on the trip. Although they are not [illegible] their usual standard this year, they [illegible] had a fairly respectable season thus [illegible]ing only to Amherst in a close, [illegible] period.

The Springfield team is an old rival [illegible] we did not meet last year. Two [illegible] ago the Maroon quintet licked the [illegible]unts 34-17, and they expect to [illegible] the same this evening. Tonight the [illegible] and Gold basketeers have a fine [illegible] to show their power.

[illegible]chusetts State has had few [illegible]ements on the court this winter [illegible]arative scores of the two teams [illegible]gly favor the Catamounts in this tilt. [illegible] State men lost to New Hamp[illegible] to the tune of 46-31, whereas Ver[illegible]cked out a victory over the Dur[illegible]es in a nip and tuck overtime con[illegible] the score of 29-27.

[illegible] will not be in the lineup for [illegible] Springfield and Massachusetts games, [illegible] he will be compelled to return to [illegible]ington after the Norwich contest, to [illegible] a funeral.

The starting lineup has not been defi[illegible] decided upon on going to press. [illegible] is quite probable that all men will [illegible] plenty of service in the three games. UNIVERSITY FARM GIVES MILK TO NEEDY FAMILIES

The Experiment Farm at the Univer[illegible] Vermont is supplying needy fami[illegible] in Burlington with about 500 gallons [illegible] skimmed milk a week.

"Come and get it," they say, and the [illegible]ies, the majority of them in the [illegible] of children, begin to arrive—re[illegible]ers big and small, of tin and glass [illegible]ockery, some with covers and some [illegible] most of them showing signs of [illegible].

The distribution of the milk is in [illegible]rge of the City Charities Department, [illegible] it is delivered by students work[illegible] for the farm. For some time distri[illegible] was made at the University itself, [illegible] the youngsters with their containers [illegible] so interested in the apparatus de[illegible] for instruction of the agricultural [illegible] that they would frequently for[illegible] what they were there for and wander [illegible] new point of attraction to another, [illegible] their curiosity sometimes in danger [illegible] getting the better of their discipline. [illegible] demand, moreover, was becoming so large that arrangements were finally made with the City Charities Department.

The milk is delivered at the distributing center twice a week, each Monday and Friday at five o'clock in the afternoon.

FINE FRATERNITY GAMES TODAY AND TOMORROW

[illegible] interfraternity basketball games [illegible] games will be played Saturday [illegible] plays Pi Kappa Alpha at [illegible] Phi Mu Delta plays Tau Epsilon Phi [illegible] at seven o'clock and Delta Pi plays [illegible] Phi at eight o'clock. HEADMASTERS ASSEMBLE NEXT WEEK TO SELECT TOURNAMENT ENTRANTS

New Point System to be Used in Picking Teams for Annual Championship Competition

The headmasters will assemble at the Hotel Vermont the end of next week to consider the candidates for the Vermont basketball tournament to be held at the Memorial Auditorium March 3 and 4. Several things contribute to excite more than the usual interest in this annual sporting event this winter.

First, the selections will be made on an entirely different basis that of point enumeration to assure mathematical correctness and eliminate any possible prejudice.

Second the tournament will be played in the Memorial Auditorium and thereby enable at least 4,000 people to witness the games instead of the usual 2,000 that have packed the University of Vermont gymnasium to the rafters in the past.

Speculation has been raging at fever pitch in regard to the possible choices for tournament elimination this year. Seven teams have maintained an even clip all season but the decrees of precedent do not hold as formerly and the tournament probabilities are still uncertain. Hartford Proctor Spaulding Rutland St. Johnsbury Academy and Burlington have amassed fine scoring and percentage records, while Cathedral, Windsor Montpelier and Bellows Free Academy are also in the running.

Everything contributes toward making the annual school rivalry the best of its kind for Vermont boys and girl. Friendships are made in Burlington all possible courtesies are extended to both the personnel of the teams and the students themselves, while the high schools receive financial support throughout the year that has accrued from the tournament admissions. The game itself does much to bind the schools more closely together and develop further the spirit of sportsmanship so evident in every contest of this kind.

Times have changed states the St. Bona Venture elite. At one time people put strings around their fingers to remember things and now with the depression on they put ropes around their necks to forget. Now if the beer comes back there will be a fine saving of rope and still people will be able to forget.

't Hooft, Miller, Van Deusen Main Speakers at Northfield Meeting

Theme of Conference, "A Strategy for Dynamic Living"—'t Hooft Praises Youth Movements in Foreign Countries

WRIGHT REPRESENTS VERMONT AT CONFERENCE

The Ninth Annual Mid-winter Northfield Conference was held last week-end, February 11, 12, 13, at Northfield, Mass., with Wisser 't Hooft, Francis Miller, and Van Deusen as main speakers. The theme of the Conference was "A Strategy for Dynamic Living." R. S. Wright '35 was the only delegate from V. M. C. A., and Burton Holmes '35 the only member from Middlebury, so that Vermont state was represented by only two undergraduates at this meeting, which was attended by over 125 students from Harvard, Yale, Dartmouth, Wellesley, Smith, Springfield, Brown, Williams, Northeastern, Vassar, and McGill.

On Friday evening, when the Conference began, Dr. 't Hooft, general secretary of the World Federation of Youth, spoke on the various youth movements of the day—nationalism and communism, contrasting them with Christianity. In general his talk justified these two modern movements by reason of their "reason"—that is, although there is fundamentally something wrong with the philosophy of these movements, they are much better than mere passivity of their opposing students' thought because they give the students something with which to concern themselves and their minds, something to which they can give themselves. The speaker said that although at first glance, it would not seem that Christianity could be a "passionate" movement still it is quite possible to make it so, and until students do realize its possibilities as affecting the future of themselves and the world, as the foreign students have recognized the possibilities, however mistaken, of communism and nationalism abroad, conditions can never improve and industry, trade and government will remain the same blundering institutions that they are now.

TWENTY-TWO EDUCATION STUDENTS TEACHING IN BURLINGTON SCHOOLS

Statistics from the education office show that twenty-seven education students are candidates for two-year diplomas and those who are working for their Bachelors' Degree are doing student teaching in the city schools at present.

Those who are teaching in the high schools are Ara Armstrong '33, of Belmont; Esther Beardsley '33, of West Haven, Conn; Sylvia Boyd '33, of West Newton, Mass.; Rachel Canedy '33, of Brownsville, E. R. Carter '33 of Burlington, Golla Clausen '33, of Brooklyn, N. Y., Dorotha Edwards '33, of Webster, Leah Gowen '33 of Concord, N. H.; Mildred Hastings '33, of St. Johnsbury; Edith Holden '33, of Stowe; Dorothy Jackman '33, of East Corinth; Mary Lobdell '33, of Fairfield, Conn.; Ruth Miller '33, of Morrisville, Clarence Odell '33, of Bronxville, N. Y., Mary Petras '33, of Bennington; Margaret Sargent '33, of Huntington, Mary Jane Scott '33, of Gouverneur, N. Y., Ruth Tolman '33, of Reading, Mass.; Irene Tuttle '33 of Craftsbury Common; and Effie Winn '33, of Burlington.

The girls teaching in the Adams School are Merrilyn Hosmer, T.T., of Burlington, who is teaching in the fifth grade; Lydia Long, T.T., of Warren, who is teaching the third grade; Mary Murphy, T.T., of Burlington, second grade; and Rockwell, T.T., of Waterville, are teaching in the Converse School and Dorothy Burke, T.T., of Essex, first grade; Helen Kane, T.T., of Chester, second grade; Jones, T.T., of Grand Isle; Janet Martin, T.T., of Woodstock; Ruth Owen, T.T., of Hartford, six.

HOME EC GERMAN CLUB MEETS WITH MISS TERRILL

[illegible] German students of the Home Economics Department held their third meeting Thursday evening, February 9, at the home of Professor [illegible] Terrill of the Home Economics Department. Miss Terrill read aloud to the group in German. This was followed by a discussion of some of the obscure parts of the stories.

This series of weekly meetings is held for the purpose of acquainting the students with the spoken language in the hope that it may make their class work easier and more pleasant. Miss Terrill has selected a definite group of easy stories for the work. Thus far the reading has consisted entirely of short stories. Later a few novels may be taken up.

To quote one of the members of this group: "It is great fun to learn a language in this way. It has become easier and easier to understand the German spoken in class. I should suggest that other groups of language students try a similar plan."

GLEE CLUB COMPETES IN SPRINGFIELD CONTEST

Scheduled to Depart With Twenty-seven Members February 24

Thursday, February 23, is the date for the departure of the University Glee Club to compete in the annual New England Glee Club Contest at Springfield, Mass. According to D. W. Jenks, manager of the club, plans have been completed as follows:

The glee club, consisting of twenty-seven members and two directors, will leave Burlington on Thursday, the twenty-third, by rail and traveling on a special coach. It will stay at the Hotel Kimball, the official hotel of the association in Springfield.

All concerts will be held in the huge Springfield Auditorium. Friday, February 24, at 4 p.m., each glee club will sing the prize song, which is this year, "Yea, Cast Me From Heights of the Mountain," by Elgar. Following this, in the evening, each will sing its choice song and its college song. Vermont's choice is Callcott's "To All You Ladies Now on Land," and the school song is "U. V. M.," words and music of which were written especially for the occasion by Prof. C. T. Leonard. Students will probably have a chance to hear it sometime before the trip at chapel service. In addition, the three ranking colleges at the afternoon presentation will repeat the prize song at the evening's performance.

All Vermont's numbers will be directed by F. P. Colburn '34, student director, and the songs will be graded equally on intonation, interpretation, diction, ensemble and balance. A cup is awarded each year to the best glee club, and honorable mention to the next ranking. The judges selected to decide are Channing Lefebvre, of New York; Ralph L. Baldwin, Hartford; and Thompson Stone, of Boston.

In the evening, besides the choice and college songs, there will be unison singing by all colleges of these five numbers: "Land Sighting," by Grieg; "March of the Men of Harlech," Brewer; "Lau

JOHN DEWEY CLUB TO DECIDE CONCERNING NEW MEMBERS AND BANQUET

The executive committee of the John Dewey Club held a meeting last Tuesday, February 7, in the Billings Library to consider what action should be taken concerning inviting new members into the club and to make plans for the initiation banquet and program.

It was deemed advisable to call a general business meeting of the club to decide whether or not there is to be a banquet this year, and also to discuss matters of program and other business. This meeting is scheduled to take place in the auditorium of the Robert Hull Fleming Museum [illegible] night, Wednesday, February 15, at 7:30.

Election to the John Dewey Club is based on membership in [illegible] course in philosophy or upon presentation of a paper [illegible]

ALVAREZ SPEAKS ON "THE ART OF MEDICINE" BEFORE MEDIC SOCIETY

Specialist in Digestive Disorders Gives Vocational Advice to Members of Osler Clinical Society

SPEAKS ON PRACTICAL ASPECT OF PROFESSION

In the medical profession there are several different attainments characterized as success. Some doctors are financially successful but this is a cheap sort of success. Then there is the [illegible] success of the general practitioner but it yields a small return for the effort expended, and may cause the loss of family love. The success which seems to be the most gratifying in the long run is neither of these but lies more at the goodness of life.

This was part of the message of Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, guest speaker at the meeting of the Osler Clinical Society, February 10, on the subject, "The Art of Medicine." Doctor Alvarez, a gastroenterologist at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., and associate professor of medicine at the University of Minnesota, stopped over on his way back from attending the conference of the American College of Physicians held at Montreal.

The lecture was punctuated throughout with amusing anecdotes and related misfortunes of practitioners in the medical world, which keenly brought out the viewpoints and the practical advice given by the doctor.

Doctor Alvarez stated that the present system of medical instruction is poor in that it lays too much stress on laboratory work and test-tube diagnosis. "Medicine," he said, "should be taught not only by diagnosing cases with test tubes in the laboratory, but also by the observation of practical information and, most important of all, by using the history of the case and of the family as well. Common sense is as important in the medical profession as anywhere else."

Another feature of the case, according to Doctor Alvarez, is the necessity for the doctor to understand human psychology. "Naturally one must have medical knowledge, but knowledge without skill in human relationships is useless. One must be able to study human problems, for the medical art after all involves studying people as well as test tubes. It is necessary that the physician have the ability to inspire confidence in his patients and to explain their case to them in simple terms. A successful doctor should be something of a philosopher, a leader and a student of people. He

DEUTSCHE VEREIN MAY BE REVIVED IF ENOUGH INTEREST IS SHOWN

Professor Carpenter head of the German Department announces that he wants to reorganize the Deutsche Verein if the students are interested. Members will be open to all students taking advanced courses in German, excepting the students who are taking German 2 providing they received a good mark.

In the past years the Deutsche Verein was one of the most active societies on the campus. It served as a meeting for the students who were interested in German and also to hear it spoken. With this thought in mind Professor Carpenter invited noted speakers to lecture on topics which were of interest to the members of the club. The members learned German songs so that they were able to serenade their friends after they were through studying. In this manner the club offered educational and social benefits and helped increase the German [illegible] of its members.

IMPORTANCE NOTICE

All members of Wig and Buskin and Masque and Sandal are requested to meet in the Old Mill Chapel at four o'clock tomorrow, Wednesday, February 15. Plans for future group plays must be discussed.

DAUMIER PRINTS NOW EXHIBITED AT MUSEUM

Lithographs by Daumier are now on exhibition at the Fleming Museum of the University of Vermont. The exhibit which comes from the American Federation of Arts, Washington, D. C., is said to be of interest not only to art students and connoisseurs of prints but to all who appreciate humor and satire in the depicting of human types and incidents. A preview of the exhibition was given members of the Art Association at the Museum prior to the public opening. Daumier, in these eighty-eight prints, as pointed out as seen "to be not only a master draughtsman but a master commentator on the foibles of mankind." The Museum Committee states that the last [illegible] exhibits of many kinds are always on display at the Museum and usually some traveling loan or other special exhibit and people from about the state who are visiting in Burlington are invited to visit the Museum at any time. It is open to the public week days and Sundays from 2 to 5 with caretakers in constant attendance.

SORORITIES APPROACH END OF RUSHING SEASON

Both Prospective Pledges and Fraternity Women Await With Relief the End of the Period

With the final parties almost over, women's rushing is well on its way to completion. The sighs of the much rushed freshmen and eligible transfers as well as the hard-working sorority women, are not few as the end of this strenuous period comes in sight.

Kappa Alpha Theta held its final party February 7 at Professor Tupper's home and at the Theta house. The main courses of the dinner were served a la Chinese at Professor Tupper's, while dessert and coffee at the sorority house were served in fascinating night club surroundings.

The final rushing party of Alpha Chi Omega, held February 8 at the Alpha Chi house, was an airplane dinner. The rushees were entertained in different rooms of the house—each room representing a different country.

The Hotel Vermont was the scene of Kappa Delta's final party on February 9. A pageant was presented, followed by a dinner.

Friday evening, February 10, Sigma Gamma held its final party at 322 South Prospect Street.

From Wednesday, February 15, at 10 p.m. to Friday, February 17, at 4 p.m. a neutral period will be observed. During this time freshmen will be notified of their bids and will go to Dean Patterson's office there to declare the sorority of their preference. Pledging is scheduled to occur on February 18. It was an old-fashioned party, the members of the sorority wearing colonial costumes and the entertainment being such as our ancestors might have enjoyed.

Delta Delta Delta held its final party February 13 at the Ethan Allen Club. The party, consisted of two parts, the first being on the plan of a night club, while the second was the representation of a dream garden.

The Pi Beta Phi final party was held Saturday night at the chapter house on South Prospect Street.

The Alpha Xi Delta last party will take place tonight at the rooms of the Colonial Daughters of America on College Street.

DEAN PRAISES WORK DONE BY PRESS CLUB

Professor Dean was present at the last meeting of the Press Club and spoke informally for a few minutes. He praised the members of the club for their successful service during the past semester, and said that this year's club is one of the most efficient he has known. Professor Dean is the faculty advisor of Press Club.

At its short business meeting, held Wednesday noon, February 8 it was announced that all members must pay their dues before Saturday, February 18 or be dropped from the club. The dues are twenty-five cents a semester, or fifty cents a year. They may be paid to Helen Hubbard '34, president of Press Club, or to Miss [illegible] secretary of the club. Plans for a social meeting were discussed and it was decided to hold one during the next two weeks. The meeting [illegible] be announced at the time of the meeting when it has been determined.

List of Judges Released Includes Same Men as Last Year Except Late Mr. Southwick

THREE PRICES QUOTED AS SALES COMMENCE

There will be no peerade in Friday's preliminary showing of the Kake Walk according to announcements made by the directors, Brown and Drew. A list of the judges who will determine the respective merits of the various stunts during the festival next week-end has been issued.

According to Director Brown there is a fair possibility that representatives will be sent to the Lyric Movietone News to film some of the highlights of the celebration. Brown also made the statement that the advance sale of the tickets was fair, but there should be more sold. There will be three prices this year instead of two as previously announced, they are $1.65, $2.20 and $2.75.

With only three days between now and the time of the "big show," excitement has been racing high. In response to a question concerning the spirit this year, Brown said every fraternity on the hill was out to win one of the coveted cakes.

On Friday the high school students may see the show for forty cents. On the following evening the show will assume its normal appearance. On the latter evening the peerade will be held as the band strikes up "Cotton Babies."

With one exception, the judges are the same as last year. In the place of the late John L. Southwick, Col. Fred erick Barrow has been selected to judge the kake walkers. As yet one of the judges of the stunt has not been picked. The judges are:

Elimination of Stunts: Daniel B. Carroll, Leon W. Dean, John T. Metcalf.

Stunts: Daniel B. Carroll, Leon W. Dean, John T. Metcalf, Hon. Sherman Moulton.

Peerade: Lt. Col. Frederick Black, Paul D. Evans, H. Dean Pearl.

Kake Walkers: George Lockhardt, Col. Frederick Barrow, R. W. McLucas.

NEXT MASS MEETING TO BE MARCH 28 SAYS STUDENT UNION COUNCIL

KAKE WALK

The lights on the stage is being set for another Vermont Kake Walk. All gone will soon be Cynic's own show which has thrilled, amused, startled, puzzled, entertained and educated spectators down through the years. Every classmate on the campus is making active preparations for the gala event which takes place Saturday evening.

Throughout the afternoon hammers, the strains of "Cotton Babies" and the peculiar thumping that may be heard as the walkers train for their specialty act.

Various committees are making strides toward the completion of their duties, while on the same time many individuals are taking their turns on the sidewalk to execute a prize-winning individual act several groups have been practicing or rehearsing their stunt for presentation. Tables and banners, costumes, and lighting effects are being completed. Many times a stunt has been presented on the evening only to be entirely rewritten for the ensuing performance. That is the spirit of Kake Walk, which during the week has begun to permeate itself all over the campus.

For the three-score time Vermont is about to present its traditional class. Kake Walk is just another one of those customs but one which has been kept alive for many years. Unlike the custom of wearing freshman hats or of freshmen walking down the south side of College Street, or of holding of energetic pep rallies before each of the athletic contests Kake Walk still survives. Last year, on one night only was the Freeride, the Stunts and the Walk put on. This year, however, there will be two nights of unmitigated enjoyment. The first night, tickets will be sold at reduced rates to high school students, while on the following evening the rates will be raised and everyone admitted.

No one who has never seen an honest to goodness Kake Walk should fail to miss the festivity Saturday evening, when the walkers, the parade entrants and the actors in the stunts make special effects to give smooth and polished performances. Music, color and entertainment will remain in the minds of those who attended long after the unusual but customary event has transpired. It is one of those happenings which appall the newcomer, but never fail to delight the old timer. Many many times make it a habit to return to their old stamping ground just to see this yearly occurrence.

UNIVERSITY LECTURE FOR FRIDAY CANCELLED

Professor Haas Unable to Make American Lecture Tour as Planned May Come Next Year

Professor Haas also adds that he hopes his trip has merely been postponed for perhaps one year and that should this be the case that I may have the opportunity of paying a visit to your College. As it is, I shall look forward with keen anticipation.

For this cancelled lecture the second address on Monday, June February 17, was substituted. The remaining lectures in the year's program will be:

March 7 "The Crisis in the Far East," by Sir Frederick Whyte, former Adviser to the Chinese Government and March 21 "England in Crisis and Renewal," by S. K. Ratcliffe of London, a distinguished editor and publicist who has twice before lectured in the series of University Lectures.

After hashing things over, it is apparent that affairs in the junior class are fairly well managed. The fact that there was no discussion in the nominating committee for candidates for Junior Weeks officers this year seems to prove conclusively that petty fraternity politics do not play such a large part in the affairs of the junior class. The fact that representatives from nearly every fraternity on the hill can get together in a nominating committee and agree on the respective nominees for an office is a fine display of class cooperation.

Not only that, but it will be noticed that the men who were nominated for the positions are relatively inactive during the spring months and will be able to devote their entire talent to make this year's Junior Week one well worth remembering. The junior class can well be proud of its cooperation and spirit in such matters.

Sages and sports enthusiasts on the campus are giving Middlebury the big laugh. When the facts are presented, one may well agree with them. Last fall the Middlebury officials refused to allow the Panther eleven to play St. Michael's to determine who was the undisputed state champion. The Middlebury officials refused on the grounds that the men had had a hard season, and that it was not fair to the men to cope with a college which used its freshmen on its varsity eleven. Prior to the second semester, St. Michael's had an admittedly superior basketball team, but when Middlebury added its freshmen to its squad, they were able to overwhelm St. Michael's. How incongruous it would be if Vermont refused to play Middlebury on these grounds, and then claim they were in a tie for the state title with St. Michael's.

Last fall, not long after the selections to the all State team had been made, the sports editor made a remark in his column to the effect that Middlebury Campus sports board must have been wearing blue glasses at the time they picked the all-State team. On the side, we wonder if it wasn't the CYNIC sports editor ,himself, who picked that team. We've noticed him around lately and he's boasting a pair of blue spectacles.

Congratulations to the physical education department for ordering snow just in time for their annual winter carnival. There is now enough snow for several such affairs to be run off. It is too bad the women had not had theirs planned far about this time, but perhaps another order can be filled by Old Man Weather. His inconsistency of late has caused many a laugh.

A survey at Creighton University showed that smokers both moderate and heavy make better grades than do those who abstain from the noxious weed. Out of 100 representative students, 69 light and heavy smokers averaged 84.7 in grades while 31 non-smokers averaged 82.8. Mr. Hoyle [illegible] numbers.

Vociferous applause greeted the first speaker, Germann, who, with the aid of little cards, initiated the season's activity by taking his subject back to the Hudson Bay Trading Company and trekked his weary way back through to the present through more or less slushy going. "Cash and Carry," "Cost of Living," [illegible] and an evanescent W. J. Bryan [illegible] catchet catch words. Among the [illegible] contributed by Mr. Germann to the literature of the chain store question we must quote the following. Wallace is the cornerstone of the domestic system. "There must be something behind this." In a more serious vein: "Independent stores are run by Doddering Old Fools." Appearance, service and sanitation were emphasized.

John McGrath, first for the negative, stripped for action exposed the innards of the chain store system with the following points: They fail to pay taxes; do not contribute to charity; give poor service; sell inferior products; have monopolistic tendencies; do not serve best interests of community.

Wooden soldiers
in the war against decay

To conquer the forces of decay which attack telephone poles, scientists of Bell Telephone Laboratories carry on a relentless campaign.

They study many kinds of wood, test many preservatives. They isolate wood destroying fungi and insects—study them in the laboratory—search for a practical means of combating their attack. They have set out armies of stub poles in Mississippi, Colorado and New Jersey where altitude, climate and soil vary widely. At regular intervals they inspect these poles to learn which woods and preservatives are best.

Such scientific thoroughness is one reason why Bell System plant becomes more efficient each year. And why telephone service is so dependable.

S. A. E. AND SIGMA NU UPSET THE DOPE

[illegible] fraternity basketball contests played Friday and Saturday of last week. Seven first-round games have now been played, and one second round match. We find the survivors now in the quarter-finals are Delta Psi's, S. A. E's, Kappa Sigs, T. E. P.'s, Sigma Nus and the Phi Delts ready to play second-round games.

KAPPA SIGMA WINS

Kappa Sigma quintet rode roughshod over the Phi Delts last Friday in the gym at four o'clock. The score was 46 to 2. The whole game was a Kappa Sig landslide. They shot at will. Then in the second half Chick inadvertently fouled Chick and also sank both shots to score the only points. Onnie Brown was high scoring with 14 points, and Costello garnered 11. The team of Costello, center, Smith and Waterman, forwards, and Brown and Costello, guards, looks like a winning combination. Nick Grant played a good game for the losers.

ZETA CHI MOVES INTO FIRST PLACE IN WINTER SPORTS COMPETITION

Make a Clean Sweep in Both Snowshoe Events Run Off Last Friday Afternoon

The Zeta Chis made a clean sweep in both snowshoe races of the winter sports events run off last Friday and so crept into the lead in the competition. They now hold a 4 point lead over their nearest rival Phi Delta Theta.

In the events Evans, Green, Dutton and Ricker matched to start under the [illegible] conditions, somewhere [illegible] where there were no other entries. In the ski dash the first man here were Green, Ricker, Dutton, also all Zeta Chis. However, in the 880 Jr. ski Sutton and Smith took first and second for Phi Delta Theta, with Dutton Zeta Chi, third.

Only the skating events remain to be run off. They will be held as soon as the condition of the ice permits.

Standing of the materialities:

Zeta Chi, 33; Phi Delta Theta, 29; Sigma Phi, 5; A. T. O., 4; Kappa Sigma, 1.

FRATERNITY TEAMS WITH JUNIORS WIN

ZETA CHI MOVES INTO FIRST PLACE IN WINTER SPORTS COMPETITION

Make a Clean Sweep in Both Snowshoe Events Run Off Last Friday Afternoon

The Zeta Chis made a clean sweep in both snowshoe races in the winter sports events run off last Friday and so swept into the lead in the competition. They now hold a 4 point lead over their nearest rival, Phi Delta Theta.

In the event Friday Gregg, Dutton and Ricker marched in that order in the cross country snowshoe race, where they were awarded points. Upon the ski dash the first three men were Green, Ricker, Dutton all of Zeta Chi. However, in the 880 ski dash Sutter and Sarsi took first and second for Phi Delta Theta, with Dutton, Zeta Chi, third.

Only the skating events remain to be run off. They will be held as soon as the conditions of the ice permit.

Standing of the fraternities:

Zeta Chi, 33; Phi Delta Theta, 29; Sigma Phi, 5; A. T. O. 4; Kappa Sig ma, 1.

Moore played a fast hard defensive game for Zeta Chi. His speed made it possible for him to break up many plays. Hart with eight points led the scoring for both teams.

The Zetas made their baskets on long shots while the A. T. O.'s worked for close up shots.

Complete teams looked as polished as they did in first round matches against weak opponents.

SIGMA NU BEAT PHI SIGS IN CHASE GAME

Superior guarding turned the tide in the game, which was the hardest played to date with all teaching showing to good advantage. The Sigma Nus got and held a one point lead all the way through. Capt. Huff, McGonegle and Bristol were their big guns. For the Phi Sigs Lyford, Lawrence and Levine starred.

Tobacco to smoke right has to be a different kind of tobacco from that used in cigarettes... and it has to be made by an entirely different process...

OUT in Kentucky, where they have pretty women, fast horses, and blue grass, there grows a tobacco called White Burley. It doesn't grow anywhere else in the world.

There is a type of this White Burley that is best suited for pipe smoking. It is neither too thick nor too thin. It is not light and chaffy; at the same time, it is not rank or strong. "U. S. Type 31" is the government classification for White Burley.

Since no other pipe tobacco has yet been found which seems to equal White Burley, this is what we use in making Granger Rough Cut.

Next, we use the Wellman Method, a famous 1870 method of making pipe tobacco, to give Granger its fine flavor and fragrance. Then, too, Granger is "Rough Cut"—just like they used to "whittle" their tobacco off a plug with a jack-knife. It smokes cool, lasts longer and never gums a pipe.

And finally, we want to sell Granger for 10 cents. Good tobacco—right process—cut right. So we put Granger in a sensible soft foil pouch instead of an expensive package, knowing that a man can't smoke the package.

Granger has not been on sale very long, but it has grown to be a popular smoke. Folks seem to like it.

S. A. E. IN UPSET WINS OVER INDEPENDENTS

The Independents put out the strongest team they have had for years but last years champions were too much for them. With Bernie Mullahy and Fritz Wegner running wild they won by a good margin 32 18. Julie Izenkawitz played a bang up game at guard. The Independents had Al Young of the freshman team and both Joe and Rolly Deltausse. This is another game that upset the dope sters. The Independents with such stars as the Deltausse brothers, Al Young, Dutch McKay, Andy Wessly and Jimmy Kingsland were believed unbeatable.

REED HARRIS AGAIN

Reed Harris, former editor of the Columbia Spectator whose suspension last April for the criticism of University authorities evoked a general student strike and attracted national attention, has again spoken his mind, this time against fraternities.

Harris is a fraternity man who resigned as president of his chapter, because he was convinced that since fraternities in theory are merely organizations for promoting friendships and comradeship they are dangerous to any progress we should make because of their complete reliance on the past. By their dependence upon tradition, however outworn, they serve to perpetuate all that is worst in American tradition.

DEWEY CLUB TO HAVE NO INITIATION BANQUET

Prof. P. H. Ewert to Speak on "Individual Differences" at Regular Meeting

At the regular meeting of the John Dewey Club held on Wednesday, February 15 in the Fleming Museum, the executive members decided that there would be a regular meeting with a formal program on Thursday, February 23 at the Museum instead of an initiation banquet as the executive committee first considered on Tuesday, February 14. Professor Ewert, of the psychology department, will speak on "Individual Differences" and will stress the social implications which he has found in his research work.

Invitations to membership will be sent to all those who are eligible according to the club by-laws. Eligibility is based on having received a B or better in at least one semester of psychology or philosophy or upon the presentation of a paper based on original research on some topic in either of the two above-mentioned courses.

All members of the John Dewey Club are urged to attend the regular meeting on Thursday since they will meet the members initiates and will have the opportunity to exchange ideas to further the work of the John Dewey Club.

COLLEGE DELEGATES OPPOSE FRATERNITY TAXATION AT CAPITOL

Three Fraternities and Two Sororities Represented; Powell and Cheney Advocates Exemption

DECISION EXPECTED SOON

Of particular interest to all Vermont well-wishers is the recent trip to Montpelier of several college delegates bent on the mission of keeping fraternities free from taxation. The event was a hearing held at the State House last Thursday on Representative Burke's proposal to tax all fraternity houses on the hill. It was attended by four official and five unofficial delegates from Vermont, and accompanied by M. L. Powell of Burlington, a graduate of Vermont and a member of Delta Psi.

Leah Gowen '33 of Concord, N. H. Alpha Chi Amega, and Alice McConnell '34 of Brooklyn, N. Y., Kappa Alpha Theta, president and secretary, respectively, of Pan-Hellenic, represented that organization. F. B. Drew '33 of Randolph, Lambda Iota, and K. D. Spaulding '34 of Newport, Kappa Sigma, also president and secretary, represented their organization, the Interfraternity Council. The others attending were M. L. Powell, Jr., '34, Dleta Psi; H. M. Farmer '33, from Kappa Sigma; P. C. Cummings '34, D. P. Germann '34 and F. A. Mayville '36, all from Lambda Iota, making a representation from three fraternities and two sororities.

The hearing was held before a joint session of the House Committee on Ways and Means and the Senate Committee on Taxation. The committee from the House consisted of fifteen members. Representatives Wishart, Dunklee, Evarts, Sherburne, Whitcomb, Hancock, Murphy, Lakin, Davis, McDeavitt, Jacques, Ryan, Northrup and Richardson. The five members of the Senate taxation committee

VARSITY DEBATERS TO MAKE EXTENSIVE TRIPS

Colleges from Montreal to Virginia Oppose Forensians; Spring Trip Begins March 31

The University men's debating team has several debates scheduled for the coming weeks with widely scattered colleges in the East, according to M. D. Powers, varsity debating coach. Teams included among its opponents lie from Montreal to Virginia.

The first will be with McGill University, Thursday evening, March 2, at Burlington. The statement of the question is: "Resolved, That the United States should amend its previous policy to provide for payment of the World War veterans' bonus." Vermont supports the negative.

On Saturday, March 18, New York University debates Vermont here, at which time Vermont will attempt to prove the negative of the statement that the trend of modern advertising is deplorable. Two nights later, March 20, Vermont travels to Hamilton College, Clinton, N. Y., where it upholds the affirmative of the argument that dictatorship is preferable to democracy.

Vermont takes on New York University at New York City in a return trip on March 31. The problem, on which Vermont stands affirmatively, is: "Resolved, That the World War debt should be cancelled."

A debate is planned with Plymouth Normal School in the latter part of April. In addition, two debates are to be held with Keene Normal, one here and one there, the dates of which are yet undecided.

The team's regular spring trip will include New York University on March 31, Springfield, possibly Boston University, and probably on to include Washington and Richmond, Va.

Kappa Sigma, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Phi Win Cups at 36th Kake Walk

"It's in the Air" Takes First Honors in Stunts—Morse and Connor Take First Prize in Kake Walking—Kappa Sigma Wins Peerade

PHI DELTA THETA TAKES NINE POINTS

Vermont's thirty-sixth annual Kake Walk forged through to a successful conclusion last Friday and Saturday nights when Kappa Sigma, Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Phi took first prize awards, and Sigma Delta two seconds and one honorable mention. M. D. Howe '34, of Adams, Mass., carried off first honors for the individual peerade float. W. H. Connor '36, and R. L. Morse '33, of Sigma Phi took the cake and Boulder Cup as first award for "Walkin' Fo' De Kake."

TO THE WINNERS

First prize in the peerade and with it the Hayes and Carney cup and cake went to Kappa Sigma for its float, "The Technobile." "Vermont Legislative Destruction Company" given by Sigma Delta took second place and the Preston Cup. M. D. Howe, with his prize winning individual float received the University Store Cup.

Phi Delta Theta took first prize in the stunts and the Briggs Cup with their presentation, "It's In the Air." Second prize in stunts went to Sigma Phi with the Southwick Cup for the satire, "Picard's Planet." Sigma Delta obtained honorable mention for their stunt, "College Parade."

The Boulder Cup for the best Kake Walking went to W. H. Connor '36, and R. L. Morse '34, of Sigma Phi, and the Student Senate Cup to E. F. Miller '34, and W. P. Stetson '34, of Sigma Delta. Honorable mention in Kake Walking went to Kappa Sigma, F. Kirley '36, and W. M. Waterman '35, walking for that fraternity.

The R. O. T. C. Band furnished the usual Kake Walk music with a preliminary concert from 7:30 to 8:00 p.m., and with the Gavotte, "Cotton Babes," for the steppers. A large cake was awarded to Joe Lechnyr's band in appreciation for the service rendered.

An Unusual Display

Stunters covered a wide range of topics, from a group of negro musicians, through a police station, a broadcasting studio, and a murder scene, to Picard's Planet, Pluto. Every stunt was well worked up and presented with satire, sarcasm, and wit to the audience of nearly one thousand persons.

Kake Walking costumes were extremely original and more varied this year than last, and were worn by those who attempted many new and difficult steps.

"The Technobile," first place winner in the peerade was a well constructed machine consisting of a treadmill cage inside of which was the engineer who furnished the motive power by stepping from one slat to another of the circular mill. An assistant technocrat acted as the helmsman. The second prize winner, Zeta Chi's "Vermont Legislative Destruction Company" demonstrated the fluctuation in appropriation for the Medical College, by means of a crane lifting and lowering the college. M. D. Howe had as his float a new engineering building, and carry the inscription, "One man can't do it alone."

Connor and Morse of Sigma Phi in their Kake Walking win, were attractively attired in white and lavender suits

BECKLEY ELECTED HEAD OF KEY AND SERPENT

Society Holds Banquet Sunday Night—Invites Boulder to Attend

John Beckley '34 of Great Neck, L. I., became the new president of Key and Serpent as a result of the elections held at a banquet in the Hotel Vermont last Sunday evening, February 19. Clarence Dobson '34, of East Templeton, Mass., was re-elected vice-president of the society, while William Boslin '34 of Rutland was selected treasurer.

Renewing a former custom of the Key and Serpent society, the mid-year banquet was planned. Boulder society was invited to attend the function. During the course of the evening Professor Tupper, honorary member of the junior honorary group, spoke briefly on the traditions and customs of the society.

Festivities were terminated by the singing of several verses of the traditional Key and Serpent ditty.

I. R. C. MEETING HELD; C. J. KILBURN REPORTS

A meeting of the International Relations Club was held last Thursday evening, February 16, in the Marsh Room of the Billings Library. C. J. Kilburn Jr., '34, brought in a report on the Chaco Dispute including a number of statistics concerning both Paraguay and Bolivia. After the report a short informal discussion on the topic was held.

It was decided upon at the meeting to have Philip C. Nash, former Dean of Antioch College, speak before a college group on some subject concerning the League of Nations. Mr. Nash was scheduled to speak before the local Rotary Club on Wednesday, February 22, and he was asked to speak before the students on Monday, February 20, at 4:30 p.m. The place for the lecture is the auditorium of the Fleming Museum.

The next meeting of the International Relations Club will be held tonight, Tuesday, February 21, in the Marsh Room of the Billings Library.

GLEE CLUB TO LEAVE THURSDAY NOON FOR SPRINGFIELD CONTEST

Men to be Directed by F. P. Colburn '34; Club to Sing "U. V. M.," New College Song

TO SING WEDNESDAY

The University Men's Glee Club leaves Thursday, February 23, to compete in the annual New England Glee Club contest at Springfield, Mass. It leaves by rail Thursday noon and will travel by special coach to return Saturday. Its home in Springfield will be the Hotel Kimball, official hotel of the Association. The club consists of twenty-four members and two directors.

The concerts will be held in the Springfield Auditorium, Friday afternoon and evening. Vermont's offerings consist of the prize song, Elgar's "Yea, Cast Me from Heights of the Mountains", a choice song, "To All You Ladies Now on Land," by Callcott, and a school song, which is a special composition by Prof. C. I. Leonard entitled "U. V. M." F. P. Colburn '34, student director, will lead the club in all these numbers. In addition to the above, there will be unison singing by all the glee clubs of five other selected songs.

The selections of each college will be graded equally on interpretation, intonation, diction, ensemble and balance. The best club will receive a cup and the next best, honorable mention. The judges, Channing Lefebvre of New York, Ralph L. Baldwin, Hartford, and Thompson Stone, of Boston, are nationally-known music directors.

Tomorrow morning at Chapel service students will have a chance to hear the glee club sing the three numbers to be used in Springfield: "To All You Ladies

LUCKY CORPORAL

The sophomore class is at present engaged in the study of combat principles and homework consists of various types of problems. Taking his cue from this, a certain sophomore submitted the following problem to the corporal of a squad:

Suppose that you were corporal of a squad stationed at the base of a hill. Your scouts return from reconnoitering and report a group of six girls on the other side of the hill. Knowing well well that including yourself, there are eight men in the squad what would you do?

Now gentle reader, just what would YOU do if you were that corporal?

With the exception of the Norwich game this victory is the only one which we have been able to take correctly at present.

There one exception one which has been pushed from unknowns and that is among the latter the principal reason for the upset was due to the fact that the strongest possible starting team was here and in addition only one substitution was made.

INTRAMURAL WINTER SPORTS END TONIGHT

With the exception of two skating events, the annual round of intramural winter sports has ended. Participants in the final events, especially the skiing events, were handicapped by adverse conditions of snow. However the contest were later covered with colder weather and more snow.

In the initial events of the program the Phi Delts emerged victorious by winning the largest number of points in the skiing events. They were closely rounded by the Zeta Chi's who staked a comeback by making a clean sweep in the snowshoe event.

SPICY leaves of TURKISH tobacco are strung to dry and cure in the sun.

Well, that's something about cigarettes I never knew before

—the cigarette that's Milder
—the cigarette that Tastes Better

I'd never thought much about what's inside a Chesterfield cigarette. But I have just been reading something that made me think about it.

Just think of this, some of the tobacco in Chesterfield—the Turkish—comes from 4000 miles away! And before it is shipped every single leaf is packed by hand. All because Turkish tobacco is so small and delicate.

Of course I don't know much about making cigarettes, but I do know this—that Chesterfields are milder and have a very pleasing aroma and taste. They satisfy—and that's what counts with me!

REV. McLAUGHLIN TO BE AT VESPER SERVICE SUN.

[illegible] Rev. James M. McLaughlin of [illegible], N. Y. will be the speaker at [illegible] vesper services on the Ira Allen [illegible] Sunday afternoon, February 26, at [illegible] o'clock.

Dean M. McLaughlin, author and lecturer, has been active in community religious [illegible] for many years. He is [illegible] of the vesper program. Last year while in Burlington for the same he delivered the combined patriotic exercises at three Washington's Birthday meetings and in the evening gave a [illegible] address. This year he was in Montpelier on Thursday evening, February 23, where he addressed the Sons of the American Revolution on the occasion of their annual meeting.

Sino-Japanese Feud Subject of Address By Philip C. Nash

Explains Attitude of League of Nations in Regard to Far Eastern Question

Mr. Philip C. Nash, director of the League of Nations Association and former dean of Antioch College in Ohio gave an address last Monday afternoon, February 20, in the Museum Auditorium on the "Sino-Japanese Dispute." Mr. Nash was introduced by S. N. Spyker '33, president of the Internationals Club.

Mr. Nash started his talk by explaining the work of the League of Nations and why it plays such an important part in the world today.

"The League of Nations," explained Mr. Nash, "is a machinery of peace to handle all questions and disputes of vital human interest. It is not only, as some people suppose, for the purpose of settling quarrels and tiffs but also to settle such affairs as health problems in Africa, eastern Europe, Far East and South America. It is trying to stamp out slave traffic, both colored and white, it is coping with the drug problem and in fact most every question that concerns mankind in general is discussed at the League of Nations."

According to Mr. Nash, the three problems of the greatest importance at the present time are international trade, disarmament, and the Sino-Japanese dispute.

The first of these deals with trade between countries. Foreign trade. Latin foreign trade has fallen off considerably. Every country has endeavored to build up the trade within itself. That was all very well, but it went too far. International trade fell far below its previous standing. The United States, for example, had an annual foreign trade of ten billion dollars in 1928 but at the present time it has fallen to two and one-half billion per year. The thing that should be done, says Mr. Nash, is to stabilize currency, cut down tariffs and to eliminate the complex customs system. Of course the League of Nations cannot accomplish anything without the cooperation of the individual countries. The League, says Mr. Nash, is only a machine which is capable of doing nothing without the will of the people behind it. At present everyone is afraid to act, thinking that if their tariff were lowered, they would be last. Something in the near future at economic conference will be held in which some solution will be found.

The second of these is a very complicated problem and unless there is more understanding about disarmament there will be no economic conference. It is policed a very complicated affair for there are eighteen hundred million people with almost as many different ideas and for this reason a decision is very hard to reach. Besides the question of the number of different navies disarmament is

SORORITY PLEDGES TO ENJOY DANCES MARKING END OF RUSHING SEASON

Kappa Alpha Theta, Alpha Chi Omega, Kappa Delta and Epsilon Sigma Dance Tomorrow; Other Four Next Saturday

Tomorrow night and on March 4 the sorority pledges to fraternities their respective members with pledge dances to mark the close of rushing period. Eight sororities have planned dances, six on February 24 and four on March 4. These sororities giving dances on the 24th are Kappa Alpha Theta, Alpha Chi Omega, Kappa Delta and Epsilon Sigma. Delta Delta Delta, Pi Beta Phi, Alpha Xi Delta and Sigma Gamma will have their dances on the following week end.

Marion Hayden is in charge of the Theta dance. She has obtained as chaperones Professor and Mrs. Redden and Professor and Mrs. Stoddard. Freddie Lynch's orchestra will furnish the music.

The Delta Delta Delta pledge dance which will be held in the Elks Rooms to the music of Herbert Appell and Bud Murphy's orchestra will play while Mr. and Mrs. Green Jay and Professor and Mrs. Stoddard will be the chaperones.

Pi Beta Phi are also holding their dance on March 4. They are having Freddie Lynch's orchestra and as chaperones Doctor and Mrs. Bruce Larkin. Hoyt is in charge of the preparations.

Jean Darrah for Alpha Xi Delta has invited Mr. and Mrs. Curtiss Vedder to be chaperones. Freddie Lynch will provide rhythm for the dancers in the Cathedral Dungeons, Bowers on College Street.

At the Kappa Gig on March 4 Sigma Gamma [illegible] orchestra at which [illegible] will play. Mr. and Mrs. Lahey and Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Howe have been asked to be chaperones for a [illegible]. Viola Imelda Lyman, Leonard Vedder, Pierson and Dot Pierson.

The Kappa Delta [illegible] Edwards will [illegible] at the Green [illegible] with [illegible] Professor and Mrs. Dean and Mr. and Mrs. Dunham. Wes Lee [illegible] the New England [illegible].

The Delta Upsilon [illegible] are to be the scene of another [illegible] for [illegible] Mabel Nichols. They are having Lee Morgan's [illegible] and Professor and Mrs. Lyman and Mr. and Mrs. Hayes will be the chaperones.

New Rushing Rules Prove Successful

With the end of the current season of sorority rushing comes an opportunity to sum up the merits and defects of the new system which went into effect for the first time this year. Contrary to the usual custom a method of apportionment was used such that each sorority found itself with a nearly ample schedule at first and parents. This is similar to the system used in men's rushing and gives a much better chance for all the sororities to meet and talk with all the rushees, rather than the former system which was really no system at all as it permitted any freshman to go to any and every house she pleased for as long as she pleased, and made no provision for her being at all at the open houses to best advantage. Objection against her going to more than [illegible] It would seem that there were no defects, or at least that the merits far outweighed any disadvantages that may have been present.

The social system with the invitations and dates along with its ups and downs has been under way for [illegible] eligible [illegible] with [illegible] fraternities and all [illegible] social parties and teas with [illegible] functions. Dances were the last [illegible] these were only for the [illegible] and the double-entertainment [illegible] which comes was Mothers' Day [illegible] as well as other minor details [illegible] at the Inferno of students. Late [illegible] ceremonial affairs.

However Pledging was an essential [illegible] will be at the same [illegible] Pan Hellenic Council. The council [illegible] Louis Geary, '33 president [illegible] Hellenic Council. Greek Letter Groups At Middlebury to Oppose Taxation

College Spends $14,000 on Taxes Yearly, Representatives Declare; Tax Would Cause Some to Discontinue

Representatives of fraternities at Middlebury College appeared before the House Committee on Municipal Corporations last Tuesday in opposition to the bill by Burke of Burlington which proposed to repeal the law exempting the property of college fraternities from taxation.

P. M. Lovell of Springfield said that if the college at Middlebury were forced to build dormitories to take care of the men who now room and board in the houses, because the cost would be between $90,000 and $100,000. He pointed out that the college built for property and personal property, worth more than $14,000.

As to the fraternities Mr. Lovell said that most of them were having financial difficulties due to heavy mortgages and that if they were to be taxed the result might be that at least two or three at Middlebury would be unable to continue. Mr. Lovell suggested that if the bill were to be passed at all it should contain a local option clause giving persons affected on the part of the town in which college were located.

Prof. E. B. Cornwall endorsed what the previous speakers regarding Middlebury had said with a little additional data at some [illegible] college has ever with the exception of the college property and the property [illegible] the college property is taxed. He estimated the last year Middlebury paid a total of more than $14,000 in [illegible] taxes in various [illegible]. He said that he felt sure that Middlebury town and college themselves were willing to allow matters to remain as they are. The matter to be decided at last their neighbors in Middlebury.

Ralph H. Hunt, a senior at the college described the work of the fraternities and [illegible] that it many instances they helped [illegible] through college by providing them with work in the fraternity houses.

Our fraternities at Middlebury are planning to build a new house in the near future. How soon and if the bill passed the present plans might not be carried out. The money with which to build it he said, is the accumulation of many years and gifts of the alumni of [illegible] fraternities, the building would [illegible] changed to a considerable number of Middlebury students and laborers. He also stated that if the bill were to be enacted favorably it carry a local option clause.

In reply to a question by committee member [illegible] he said that [illegible] time [illegible] at Middlebury might be forced to discontinue if the bill passed because of the added financial burden. No action was taken by the committee.

DONAHUE TROPHY TO BE DONATED BY PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

New Cup to be Awarded to University All-round Athlete; Events to be Based on 1,000-point System

FIRST EVENTS MARCH 11

A new and unique feature of the Department of Physical Education of this University will be introduced at the Founders Dinner to be given at the University undergraduates round about Monday. The Physical Education Department will sponsor six events which will be called the University of Vermont Heptathlon. It will be an annual event held during March of each year with the award of the trophy to the champion.

This year the events will be held in two groups of three events each on two separate days. The first group of events will be held on the 11th and these consist of the 100-yard dash, rope climb and high jump will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. on March 11 and the other group consisting of the broad jump, shot put and mile run will be held on the following Saturday, at 2:30 p.m. on March 18. The trophy is named the Donahue Trophy in memory of the late James L. Donahue, a man intimately connected for many years with the athletic interests of the University and a man who served as Governor of the Athletic Council.

The purpose of establishing such a series of competitions is to bring out the well developed all-round athlete. The person winning such a championship can be justly considered the best and most all-round athlete in the University.

The rules governing the Heptathlon are:

1. All students registered in the University are eligible for a Heptathlon championship.

2. Men who are varsity wrestling or [illegible] are not eligible.

3. Freshmen are not eligible.

PROMPTNESS—A VIRTUE

[illegible] the prescribed period [illegible] in the frequent plea as ten after the hour [illegible] gone and the instructor has not appeared. Students [illegible] as they note the situation becomes tense. Then perhaps [illegible] one or two [illegible] to encounter the belated in the hallway [illegible] another passing up the hall.

All of us have seen this thing happen time and again. Most of us [illegible] it ourselves [illegible] this happens inevitably. The instructor was [illegible] and [illegible] other cases, and the same instructor had the annoying habit [illegible] keeping the class [illegible] five to ten minutes after the period had ended, [illegible] the admirable motive in mind of giving his students [illegible].

Such an occurrence as it happens only occasionally, may be indulgently pardoned by the student who himself sometimes finds it impossible to make the hour on time. When it habitual, however, it is inexcusably unfair. It seems cruel to waste the first ten minutes of the class hour, second by [illegible] and realize up that last hour at the end of the period.

An effort on the part of the instructors to be on time and on the part of the students to be less impatient of occasional lapses would do much to create a more pleasant classroom atmosphere.

IN ACCORD WITH MIDDLEBURY

We note with much satisfaction the stand taken by the Middlebury representatives in regard to the taxation proposed. It is evident they are not as opposed to the measure proposed by James Burke of Burlington as the Vermont representatives are. Arguments of a similar nature to the ones presented by the University representatives were given at the Senate last Tuesday. First a tax would be unfair because the college is currently paying much in its purchases of goods in the town itself. Second, such a tax as proposed would literally put a stop on any constructive building policy of any of the fraternities.

Then again, supposing such a tax were created at the State Legislature. Rooms and board at the fraternity houses would drop off in an amazing fashion; there is no doubt that membership would be diminished. There would be a decided need for new dormitories. If the citizens of Burlington were assessed for the new building, they would have simply cut their own throats. It is questionable, in the light of recent proceedings, whether the city of Burlington is giving its fullest cooperation to the college.

RUSHING SUCCESSFUL SAYS LEAH GOWEN

meeting with approval in many instances. Were this practice adopted practically the same rules would be applied, the required 2.5 per cent average being on the basis of the first two or three months work. Whether such a plan will be considered for use next year is not known as yet. No decisions have been had by Pan-Hellenic members concerning the procedure for 1934. If late fall rushing were adopted, its upholders argue, the strain of mid-year examinations would not come at the time of rushing as it does under the present system; students entering for the first three months would in most cases continue with approximately the same average, and the fraternity could prove itself helpful to its freshmen earlier in the year.

Pan-Hellenic made a rule in the fall stating that any fraternity alumna might entertain freshmen, though not with any other fraternity woman present. This rule was modified recently, stating that there should be no entertaining whatsoever of freshmen by alumnae during the last week of rushing.

Unable to tolerate the monotony of a long trip a man threw himself into the sea but was rescued. Man overboard.

DONAHUE TROPHY FOR ALL-ROUND ATHLETE

The Heptathlon will be conducted under the rules similar to the Olympic Decathlon and will be held indoors. It will consist of the following events:

GRADUATE CLUB FORMED BY GRADUATE STUDENTS

A new college organization known as the Graduate Club held a meeting Monday evening, February 20 in the Old Mill. Lois Crago, a graduate student in German from South Carolina was chosen president and Virgil Weiser, secretary. J Hirschman, S. L. French, and I. C. Wetmar were appointed as a committee to make arrangements for the meetings to be held twice each month.

There has been the feeling of a need for better acquaintance among graduate students, and a chance to discuss current problems. The aim of the club is directed toward satisfying this need. It is expected that members of the faculty and others will be asked to address the club at the meetings on subjects of interest to the members.

DEAN AND MOAT SPEAK ON FRIDAY BROADCAST

The University broadcast Friday evening, February 16, was in charge of the Medical College and the College of Arts and Sciences. Prof. I. W. Dean, of the English Department, spoke on "Forty Years of Walking for the Kake." The subject of Prof. C. P. Moat's address was "The Burlington Water Supply." Professor Moat is Assistant Professor of Sanitary Chemistry in the Medical College.

The University sponsors a broadcast over station WCAX every Friday evening at 7:30. The previous week Prof. C. T. Leonard of the Music Department gave a piano recital. On February 3 Miss Florence Woodard of Economics Department spoke on "Foreign Trade and the Tariff" and Prof. M. B. Cummings of the Agricultural College on "Spraying Fruit Trees."

Prof. B. C. Douglass of the Education Department states that as yet no definite plans for next week's broadcast have been made. However, the speakers will probably be from the Colleges of Arts and Sciences and Agriculture.

The noted physician who wore his hair quite long, entered the barber shop. On taking his seat he observed pleasantly to the barber:

"Aren't you the fellow who cut my hair the last time?"

"No, sir," replied the other seriously, eyeing the flowing hair, "I've been here only a couple of years."

LAURA PARKER

[illegible] the privilege of the fresh[illegible] [illegible] Contributors Club [illegible] I have heard one of the [illegible] to share with me [illegible] the pleasure most of your [illegible]. In my judgment there are [illegible] in this particular [illegible] should normally be expected [illegible] an literary magazine [illegible]. Furthermore, I have [illegible] them as unusually possessed of the [illegible] of genuine merit.

[illegible] the poems were received with [illegible] those that were the prose selections [illegible] Weissman's "Where Were You Thursday Night" and "Ironic Retreat" were characterized as cleverly [illegible] actual reflections of actual campus life. [illegible] Dorothy Kennedy's "Snowfall" was the favorite among the more serious poems. It was praised for its depth of feeling, original comparisons, and lyric quality.

Bob Weissman easily ranked first in interest among the writers of prose. His short story "Junior Comes Through" was appealing because it possessed the elements of humor, suspense, and rapidity in presenting an exciting bit of college life in an original way. Even the most conservative members of the class judged some of its language much too crude, however. "County Fair" was criticized favorably for its authenticity and the appreciative humor of its observing author, unfavorably for its childish style which was "too much like a high school theme." "What's in a Name?" and "A Persian Affair" were [illegible] to his presenting the [illegible] universal human traits with understanding. [illegible] on the other hand was [illegible] not true to life, a [illegible] possibilities that did not [illegible] expectations after a [illegible] a fairly interesting [illegible] was unsatisfactory [illegible] vague weakened by the [illegible] the third character. A [illegible] rights of Doggerel" was [illegible] understanding collectors [illegible] as naive by its [illegible] proved rather confusing [illegible] the reader, no doubt. [illegible] scathing criticisms were [illegible] yum." That white [illegible] been highly preferable [illegible] consensus of opinion.

If the January issue [illegible] has been found uneven [illegible] some of its contributions [illegible] and even vulgar, it has [illegible] praise for the originality, [illegible] uineness, depth, and skill [illegible] words, possessed by the [illegible] contributors.

As an instructor in [illegible] I commend your policy of [illegible] pitality. It affords an [illegible] creative ability to find [illegible] out of the stage of [illegible] arism, of clumsiness in [illegible] command of words, to a [illegible] vidual effectiveness.

LIBRARY CATALOGUES TWENTY-NINE NEW BOOKS

Twenty-nine new books have recently been added to the catalogue of the Billings Library. They cover a fairly wide range of subjects, from the new realms of scientific knowledge opened up by William Beebe's books to the discussion of famous rulers of by-gone days. There is a very pictorial treatise on the town of Topsham, Vermont, and several works dealing with Greek and Roman mythology. There are books written in French and German as well as in English; there are books of agriculture, electricity, history, and poetry. There should be included in this list literature for every taste and fancy; for the professor and for the pupil. The list:

Adams, J. T.: March of Democracy.
Beebe: Nonesuch: Land of Water.
Crane: Sketches of the Town of Topsham, Orange County, Vermont.
Dacus: Agricultural Education in the Public Schools.
De Calleux: Orpheus in Thrace and other Poems.
Dibdin: Introduction to the Knowledge of Rare and Valuable Editions of the Greek and Latin Classics.
Dupin: La courtoisie au moyenâge.
Fowler: For America, an Interpretation and Plan.
Greeley, Horace: What I Know of Farming.
Haiman: Poland and the American Revolutionary War.
Hall: Agriculture after the War.
Hunt and Poole, editors: Political History of England, 12 volumes.
Iacobitis: Mythology of Ancient Greece and Italy.
Lang: Helen of Troy, Her Life and Translation.
Leland: Guide to Materials for American History in the Libraries and Archives of Paris.
Martin: Conflict of the Individual and the Mass in the Modern World.
Morris: Epic of Hades.
Morris: Six Theories of Mind.
Page and Adams: Principles of Electricity.
Power: Les idées artistiques de Chateaubriand.
Redlich: Emperor Joseph of Austria.
Richter: Sculpture and Sculptors of the Greeks.
Robinson: Changing Psychology in Social Case Work.
Schaffner: Die junglingszeit des Johannes Schattenhold.
Steyer: Der kampf der tertia.
Stobart: The Glory That Was Greece.
Van Dyke: Catherine de Medicis.
Waliszewski: Peter the Great.
Youssoupff: Rasputin.

THE MODERN LAUREL WREATH

Little laddie, do not weep
When you're asked to go to sleep
Like a soldier, run along
To your bed and grow up strong
Little laddie, don't be rude
When you're asked to eat your food
You must munch your spinach so
Ever stronger, you will grow
If you do what you are told
You will grow up brave and bold
And when you reach Man's Estate
Hale and husky, strong and great
College deans will surely vie
You a football scholarship buy.

S. A. E.'S, KAPPA SIGS, AND SIGMA NUS ADVANCE TO THIRD ROUND GAMES

Win Over Delta Psi, T. E. P., and Faculty Teams in Games Played This Week

WILSON HIGH SCORER

The second round of interfraternity [illegible] now completed and Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Kappa Sigma and Sigma Nu are to play in the semi-finals. By this time Alpha Tau Omega has played Sigma Alpha Epsilon eliminating one of them to the semi-finals.

S. A. E. Beats Delta Psi

Wilson starred for the Delts scoring 16 of their 24 points as they lost Tuesday. The S. A. E.'s had things pretty much their own way the first three periods and Mulcahy, Wegner and company run up a 26 to 8 lead. Then in the last quarter the Delts came to life outscoring their opponents 16 to 3. When Wilson was playing guard he did not score much but on being shifted to center near the end of the game he ran wild to pile up scoring. Mulcahy was the high scorer for the winners with 10 points while Wegner scored 6.

Kappa Sigma Overwhelms T. E. P.

Both teams were shooting poorly in this game, missing a great many shots. For the Kappa Sigs, Brown, Kirley, Smith and Waterman had three baskets each. Agel with four points led for the T. E. P.'s. The Kappa Sigs' team work pooled down to the last substitute. The score was never close at all.

VERMONT DEBATERS TO MEET MCGILL FORENSIC TEAM THURSDAY NIGHT

The Encounter Will Take Place at the Parish House of the First Congregational Church

FRESHMAN TEAM WILL MEET MIDDLEBURY FROSH

A debate between the University of Vermont and McGill University is scheduled to be held in the Parish House of the First Church on Thursday, March 2, at 7:45. It will be a decision debate, American style, the decision to be given by the judges and the audience. Vermont will uphold the affirmative side of the question, "Resolved, That the United States should amend her policy to permit payment of World War Veterans' Bonus."

The speeches will consist of ten minute constructive speeches and two minute rebuttals.

The University of Vermont team will be chosen from the following candidates: J. F. Bigelow '33, R. F. McGinty '34, W. H. Myers '35, R. F. Gregory '35, and C. A. Rogers '35.

The University of Vermont is out for blood to avenge their defeat at the hands of McGill University debaters earlier in the season.

McGill University debaters are said to be more experienced than the average college debater in the United States because they are all professional men, mostly students of medicine and law.

J. F. Bagley, '33, manager of the debating team states that the debate will be open to the public. He extends the audience to respond to questions as well as ask them. There will be a period of about thirty minutes between the debate

BEAT MIDDLEBURY - - WIN TITLE

Cats Overwhelm Norwich And Advance in State Series

Team Plays a Hard Consistant Game After the First Few Minutes; Taft Holds Leddy to Ten Points

LAYDEN AND SOWKA ARE HIGH SCORERS

Jug Layden, who scored the winning basket in a fighting Vermont game, has cinched its hold on the state basketball title by defeating Norwich Friday night. Although the Green and Gold did not put on the same brand of basketball that it did against Union last week, the local quintet at times played wonderful basketball and were never headed during the last few minutes of play. This game was Vermont's fourth win out of five starts and the second time they have defeated the Cadets this season.

The game started rather slowly and neither team drew first blood after Sowka had scored on a follow up of Wagner's shot. Wagner, of Norwich, scored on a perfect block play, and then Sowka made Vermont's first score on a free throw from the foul line. Morgan missed and made good, and shortly after Layden started his show with a shot. Joe Leddy scored again on a shot of his own toss.

Both teams missed shot after shot, finally Layden and Beckley gave Vermont a 9 to 6 lead and Norwich called time out. As the game was resumed Sowka made a free throw and Wagner came back for Norwich with a shot from the floor. Layden was fouled just before the time and sunk two free shots as the half ended. Score: Vermont 12, Norwich 8.

The second half was much faster with Vermont taking a decided lead in the start and Norwich weakening before the onslaught of the Green and Gold. Leddy started the best with a beautiful one hand shot from the side, but Jug Layden followed with two baskets and a foul after Leddy had popped one in from the foul line. Wagner made a foul shot for Norwich and then Jack Morgan, playing a steadily fine game, scored on a pivot shot from outside the foul run. Leddy scored again for the Horsemen and Coach Cook took time out with a 21 to 13 lead.

Sowka made two free throws good and then scored a step shot. Sowka made another free throw on a technical foul called on Whitey Palmer, who substituted for Taft, backed up Chet Taft's second foul after the Squire had made the first one good. Sowka came through for a step shot on a pass from Taft in the prettiest play of the game, and then made two more foul shots before leaving in favor of Grant. Beckley, Palmer and Ramon entered the line-up for Vermont, and Comi, Barbaras, Metzger, Ralston and Raymond came in for Norwich. Beckley dribbled in for a neat shot but Ralston followed with a free throw and a shot toss. Barbaras ended the scoring with a follow-up of a shot by Raymond.

Vermont, Layden, Taft, and Sowka led the parade, while Joe Leddy was outstanding for Norwich. Sowka played a fine game, with Taft lending wonderful support by his usual floor work. Layden, a former Bonaventure star, led the scoring and gave an exhibition of shooting which Vermont fans had not seen for a long time.

A. T. O. ADVANCES TO SEMIFINALS BY WINNING OVER THE S. A. E.'S

Williams, Mahoney, and Brislin Score Almost at Will in an Easy Victory

The Alpha Tau Omega basketball team defeated the S. A. E. team decisively 44-21 in a walk-away game.

In this game the Fraternity team looked the best any team has at all thus far in the series. They made all sorts of impossible shots in a manner comparable to a varsity rather than a fraternity team. Williams, Brislin, Mahoney, Beardsley, Hart, Joly, Lanahan, Skodinski, Mulcahy, Wegner, Jezukawicz, Buxton, Patch, Grant, Ramon and Comi were high with 7 points. Skodinski and Mulcahy led the S. A. E. team with 7 points each. Wagner and Jezukawicz led 4 apiece.

During the game S. A. E. had the ball nearly all of the time but couldn't seem to get started on any extended scoring streak. The score at the half was 19-11.

As long as we do these things we know that smokers will continue to say, "They Satisfy". For that's what people are saying about Chesterfields.

CONGRATULATIONS

At last a Vermont team has won a championship in the state series. Last Tuesday evening's victory over Middlebury gave the Catamounts the undisputed title of the Green Mountain Conference. To the team and everyone concerned in the running of the team we extend our sincere congratulations.

Athletics of the present school year were given a fairly good start, when Vermont nearly won the football title, and had a cross-country team which had a little hard luck in the final encounter, and was forced to yield the championship. Now Vermont has attained its first title of the year after suffering many heart-breaking setbacks in the early games of the season. We look forward to equal success in the competition which the baseball and other track squads may enter. Already these sports are in the midst of intensely active preparation.

The battle fought last Tuesday evening will be one long remembered by followers of the Green and Gold. The Catamounts refused to even let the Panther ball handlers have even a look in on the basket during the second half, and easily cinched the game and title. For several years the Catamounts have been forced to swallow the bitter pill of defeat, and they have taken it with a grain of salt and have smiled and fought just as hard for the next game. We hope this is always the way, the Vermont teams and rooters receive defeat, because, after all, a team is judged many times by the way it acts in defeat rather than the manner in which it takes victory.

Teamwork has played a large part in the victory of the Catamount squad. While, at various times, one man has scored higher than his teammates, nevertheless it has been the passwork and tight defense which has been in a large measure responsible for Vermont's success. All honor is due the champions, but there is more to come. Let us hope for equal success in the line of baseball, football, track and other sports during the coming year.

Equality in Disaster

Rugged feminism in America, according to Mrs. Mary R. Beard, wife of the eminent historian and writer, Charles A. Beard, in the face of the present depression is up against the greatest challenge which ever beset women. Just at the hour when it seemed that the women's program of equal rights was to be fully realized after a struggle of eighty years the crisis came to leave the movement stranded.

American women, according to Mrs. Beard, have been accustomed to a high degree of personal privilege and they are unprepared both physically and mentally to cope with financial calamity. Indeed, they appear to be more stunned than men, judging from the silence among them as to the means of recovery.

It is true that women had turned as far from the broad study of life as their effort to emulate the men in the immediate landscape that they failed to foresee that the equality which they secured might eventually prove to be equality in disaster. The very freedom in the ownership of wealth by women in recent years is in part responsible because property rights are now a heavy burden on their hands.

If we are to imbibe fully of Mrs. Beard's account of the plight of her sex, we are led on to see further implications involved. The great program of feminist education certainly will totter along with the rest of what present-day writers term the foundations for women's emancipation. In those great institutions where girls are being instructed in all the manly arts of living, a renaissance or rebirth of the old feminine role may be in the offing.

Led on by the desire for equality, women have tasted the sweets of unparalleled liberty. But as Mrs. Beard points out, they surely comprehend at last that nine-tenths of the national wealth cannot be diverted to the coffers of the rich. However, many women may be included in that category, with any assurance of economic stability for themselves. With history as well as recent events to warn them, they must prepare to meet the challenge to bring new ideas to bear on American life and on their own destiny within it.—Syracuse Daily Orange.

[illegible] Vermont Home Week. [illegible] general and [illegible]

[illegible] Home Week. [illegible] gesture [illegible] Vermonter use them. [illegible] a person who is thinking the [illegible] check you there [illegible] to express himself with the [illegible] assistance to its diatribe. He could try. Utility is the only universal in a practical and perfect philosophy. Let us see.

Mediocrity, my friends, has been your god. Carelessness has been your moderator. A collegiate life should be one of intense interest and work—intense study, intense reading, intense sport, intense entertainment, intense love—and yet this venerable campus is desolate of all such signs of life as the desert east of Sante Fe. Your [illegible] and half-heartedness is a disappointment to your future. You study by halves, you are cultured by halves, you make love, work and play by halves.

But there is no time! What cheap rationalization. How you piddle at your desks before you get to work. How you dream of your dates before and after, how you loiter from school to library to food to home to parlor to sleep. You have no interest, no enthusiasm, no goal beyond the gentle drifting to your degree, your husband, your profession, bolstered and edged along by the check from home. Your biggest worry is the late mail and your hour of sweat is the night before the exam. You are useless, lifeless. There is hope for you but you are too lazy. You are drifting into the ruts of day-dreaming somnolence. You don't care. Things go along. What if you never do anything? What if each course leaves, as its only memory, some hieroglyph in the dean's records. Everything is all right. Why bother. Let George do it; we're conservative. Why get exercised over politics, over literature, over radio, over drama, over research, over medicine. Take it easy, easy, easy.

Do you ever read the CYNIC? Do you know that it has been years since the CYNIC has had an editorial statement which showed that the august CYNIC board had ventured their noses out of their own little circumscribed feather-covered pigeon-coop. Hitler in Germany, prohibition in America, literature in decadence, in flourish, medicine, politics and war in full cry—and not a word, not a comment, not a thought in the heads of these journalists—too busy getting from here to there on their campus merry-go-round. Do you know that the student body doesn't give a whoop about the situation, that a letter from a student expressing more than a petty annoyance is like a needle in a match factory.

Although showing the benefits of the new regime, the venerable semi-weekly still clings to the old tradition of stuffing the pages with filler, assorted jokes, either engraved in our minds during infancy, or inexcusably printed twice and even three times over.

The present editor asks his reporters to give the news colorless and in compatibility with the standards of American democracy. What an admonition to saddle on the poor scrub, who doesn't know what democracy is, or is doing, and who is expected to run true to form in his copy, although he may be allowed a contrary thought in the privacy of his own room, just before he turns out the light.

The carelessness and the mistaken orthodoxy in language which results in such a stilted and ridiculous phrase as the following, "Who possesses the fastest watch?" put in the mouths of students who are supposed to wait ten minutes for the professor, is a blot upon the naturalness which makes news news and editorials readable. But no one reads your editorials anyhow.

Speaking of radicalism—there is more boiling and chafing against the present politico-economic system in the heart of this student body than those who guard our destinies dare to guess at. There is more definite atheism, agnosticism and skepticism than at any period in the history of the collegiate world. The freshman, in normal circumstances, is divorced from the unquestioning faith of his fathers by the end of his first year. He will also, if he has any intelligence, be asking very nasty questions about money, and elections and unemployment.

The university has no liberal clubs, no fora, no place where the straining minds of the questioning minority—the minds that will move men in future years—may find a proper guide—an older and wiser head to make them see their errors—to win them to the conventional conservatism. The argument runs through the fraternity bull [illegible]. The hapless [illegible] is crushed and there is little progress in any direction except the cementing of the opinion that religion, politics and economic determinism are all wrong.

Your average collegiate radical cannot see that spiritual foundation is the breath of life to the masses—the great stabilizer. He cannot see that our present aristocracy only needs to be replaced by the aristocrats of humane mind, who can see the advantage to civilization, as we would like it to be, in severing the wealth, and not [illegible] to the untold misery of a [illegible] world now at wits' end for a way out.

nation's best for 1933. Those with a grade of above eighty are placed in the "A" list. The "B" papers rank from seventy to eighty; while the "C" papers range from fifty to seventy.

The highest grade possible is one hundred. The seven qualities determining the excellency of the papers are classed as follows: Make-up (headlines and general literary and journalistic composition), 25 points; feature material, 10 points; editorial quality (composition and thought as well as effectiveness and general interest), 20 points; news, 20 points; sports (sports page make-up, headlines and excellency of reporting), 15 points; and columns (book reviews, sport columns, news columns, and paragraphic comment), 5 points.

In the last survey in early 1933 the Columbia Spectator placed first with a total of 95 points; second, the Wisconsin Daily Cardinal with 92 points; while the Cornell Daily Sun, ranking third, has a score of 90 points. Thirty-eight dailies were included in the survey.

Kake Walk

From The Other Side

"Well, that's over for another year," sighed a certain fraternity man the other day. Kake Walk was over and in spite of the hard work, he and two or three others had spent on his house hadn't been greatly compensated by either cups or [illegible] them it now seemed like a waste of time and energy.

At that house three days before Kake Walk, no one had started on the approaching event. Two days in advance it was brought up. Help was low, not over-supplied with, and it was thought that since it was [illegible] so much hard work anyway the house better not try to [illegible] thing. "We've done it every year so far, so it won't matter much," was the argument. Almost unanimous was the disapproval, for "we've got to keep the name and reputation of the fraternity for doing things." Strange no one thought of helping the Kake Walk itself!

Decision was against any kake walkers, but who would plan a skit could be used as a stunt. Finally someone offered to do what he could for that evening, the time for the first rehearsal. By combining his experiments with those of a writer of Broadway plays, he collected the parts that he believed would be a prize winner. Other people doubted that, but nothing, since they had been willing to even try. A short rehearsal that night gave them the general idea of it. Next evening a rehearsal was held, for which all were supposed to know their parts. After two rehearsals, with interspersed talking and smoking, they went home well satisfied. They ran through it again the next afternoon and then presented it at the first evening's performance. But something was wrong. It did not go very well, and didn't stand up in comparison with most of the others. Next afternoon witnessed a long, laborious rehearsal and revision of the skit. It ended about time for the men to get ready and go to the gym for the second presentation.

At the same time, during the afternoon, the float for the parade was planned and begun, and finished about supper time. Someone had had an inspiration the night before which he thought pretty good. But the hurried planning proved its failure as many details were overlooked.

Neither stunt nor float won a prize, but they contributed to the success of the Kake Walk, as well as gave a certain amount of experience and fun to the participants. Looking back it seems as if a longer, more thorough preparation would have helped the fraternity and the Kake Walk.

KAPPA SIGMA DEFEATS SIGMA NU MONDAY TO ADVANCE TO FINALS

Teams Played a Close, Hard Game, Buzzell Scored Fourteen Points for Sigma Nu

The Kappa Sigs went into the finals by virtue of a win over the Sigma Nus 31-21, in a close exciting, hard fought game played in the gymnasium last Monday night.

The game was one of the roughest and most exciting to date if we may judge by the closeness of the score and the number of fouls called.

Buzzell scored 14 points for the losers to lead the scoring. Cogswell made 9 points, Bowers 8, Brawn 7, Bedell 6 and Meligonis 5.

The score was tied at seventeen all at half time and was 14-12 for Kappa Sigma during the second half.

ENTRIES RECEIVED FOR HEXATHLON

The All-Round Athletic Championship Contest sponsored by the department of physical education will consist of six events and will be called the University of Vermont Hexathlon. It will be an annual event held during March each year. The winner will be given a permanent trophy, to be known as the Donahue trophy in memory of the late James E. Donahue, a man intimately connected for many years with the athletic policies of the University and who served as chairman of the Athletic Council.

The Hexathlon will be conducted under rules similar to the Olympic Decathlon and will be held indoors. The events are as follows: 1. 110 yard dash; 2. one mile run, 3. high jump, 4. broad jump, 5. shot put, 6. rope climb.

The purpose of establishing such a series of competitions is to bring out the well developed, all round athlete. The person winning such a championship can be truthfully considered the best individual all round athlete in the University.

The program of events:

Saturday, March 11. 110-yard dash, rope climb, high jump.

Saturday, March 18. Broad jump, shot put; mile run.

Entries have been received thus far from the following: Woodruff, J. Deltausse, R. Deltausse, Swartz, Bowers, Caracciolo, Adams, Beckley, Lanahan, Tam, Paul, Wells, Iczukiewicz, White, Nannis and Dickerson.

Peter was white with anger when he called on the apple of his eye.

"I wrote to you," he said, "why didn't you answer my letter?"

She tossed her head disdainfully.

"I didn't get it," she said, and she blushed.

"You didn't get it?" he cried.

She opened her book at last and stammered her confession.

"You goat!" he said. "I wrote the same on the things you sent me!" he replied.

Catamounts Play Brilliantly Both on Offense and Defense to Defeat the Panthers and Win the State Title

CAT'S MEOW

—Sports Editor—

Before we greet our tournament predictions we want to take time out to congratulate Coach Burke and his charges for bringing home a championship pennant to basketball fans. The first time in six long years, mind you!

Now to get at the tournament.

One Craig Burke, Packy Brislin and the rest of the Rutland rooters at the A. T. O. house maintain that it will simply be a repetition of the 1928 contests when the Marble City five romped off with Harold Lavdel and Bucky Beardsley cleaned up.

"Packy" Mulcahy and the Barre boosters can't be convinced that there is any need of a tournament at all, because Spaulding High is bound to repeat their last year performance.

If numbers mean anything Rutland or Hyde should walk away with the state title. All the Queen City representatives on the campus possess implicit faith in the ability of Coach Buck Hard to bring his charges through.

St. Johnsbury seems to be the dark horse of the tournament. No one around has much to say about their chances. Neal Dunn and "Gonk" Brown, two of the Sigma Phi playboys, have been over in the Maple Sugar town on a few week-ends, but say they didn't find out much about the basketball team.

Proctor, last year's runner up, has one big rooter at least. You see it's this way. Jim Buckley has a girl friend, and her brother is manager of the Spencer coached aggregation, and he told Jim that Proctor is going to be the win[illegible]. Of course, we don't know, you'll have to take this up for what it is worth.

The Phi Mu Delt gang is making extensive preparations to hold open house for the Hartford High quintet, who, according to Al Young and "Chip" Lytord, are going to repeat their 1929 performance.

Rooters for Springfield seem to be few and far between, except among a few of the fairer sex who grace our beautiful campus. Their chief fort is that the Green and White have pinned

PALMER, LAYDEN AND TAFT STAR

Vermont handed Middlebury its worst defeat in a game on the home floor and its first Green Mountain Championship in six years. The Middlebury five never got a smell of the lead in the first part of the game as the Green and Gold sank seven points worth of baskets to keep its advantage they maintained throughout most of the game. The Middlebury quintet staged a rally just over which caused the count to [illegible] at that time. A combination of foul shots and field goals after the removal of the ban at the half gave Vermont a comfortable lead which the Middlebury men were unable to touch during the second half. In the latter half Vermont showed a scoring attack defensive and offensive class and shooting which proved too difficult to be checked.

After the first few minutes of the game in which neither team fully opened up Jack Morgan started the scoring by converting a shot from the foul lane. Sowka followed with a shot from the backboard. Vermont did not relax its stand and scored again when Layden added his first basket of the game from the sidelines. Palmer added two points to the count by coming through with a step shot which gave the Green and Gold a seven point lead while Middlebury remained scoreless. The Panther team, slightly worried, called time out and returned to the game to register its first goal when Clonan netted a following shot. Morgan collected another point on a foul shot. Sowka gained a single toss from the foul lane after Embler had chalked up his first goal for Middlebury. Sweet pushed one in from under the basket and Embler again scored on a clever one hand shot. Palmer and Taft each converted a point from the charity line, but Middlebury tightened up and Embler scored on a shot from center court. Sweet got three more points on a charity toss and a field goal. Renewing play after time out called by Vermont, both Palmer and Clonan made a foul shot for their respective teams. Whitey Palmer, Vermont's brilliant sophomore guard who played an outstanding game all evening, dropped another step shot that drew the score to a 14 to 14 count as the half ended.

Vermont showed its superiority in the second half by going on a scoring spree that exhilated the best basketball flashed on the home court this season. The Middlebury five had evidently played their best basketball in the first half.

two defeats on the Rutland entry, the pride of the A. T. O.'s.

The A. T. O. house is the center of a heated controversy. It seems that Montpelier High has several staunch admirers under its roof which are sadly out of accord with the Rutland standbys.

"Black Top" Ryan and "Curly" Williams are singing the praises of Gray Coane and he bows to the sky. One lady she will listen to them.

on work the exception of a foul and a field goal by Clonan and a foul shot by Palmer the Panthers failed to make a [illegible] additional scoring in the last half. A shot[illegible] by Morgan made the count 32 to 15 for the Green and Gold. Middlebury slumped off. Vermont scored consecutively headed by Palmer who tossed in another from the foul line after Embler had sunk a field goal and a short shot from the side. Clarke sank Middlebury's last field goal of the second half. Tart broke through with a play from center court and the home team was out of reaching distance for Middlebury when Beckley scored a step shot making the score 30 to 18.

Jack Morgan put a big hand for a capable floor game. He went in the [illegible] for [illegible]. Beckley replaced him in the pivot position and Sowka entered as guard. Then on charity shots Chet Taft and Clark Carlisle both registered single counters. A neat short shot by Sowka brought the Green and Gold total to thirty-three against nineteen for the visitors. Red Clonan, Middlebury center, scored the last point for his aggregation by converting a charity shot, bringing his team's score up to the twenty mark. Playing in true championship style Layden tossed in another, to be followed by Whitey Palmer putting the finishing touch to his valuable playing by boosting the score two more points just as the gun sounded.

Embler was high-point man for Middlebury; he got six points, but was closely seconded by Sweet and Clonan who each secured five points. There seemed to be no outstanding player for Middlebury.

Whitey Palmer took high score honors for the game with eleven points seconded by Ed Layden who took nine points to be second high for the team and game.

Chet Taft, playing his last game for the Green and Gold, played stellar ball and scored repeatedly, gaining six points for his team during the game. Taft was also outstanding in cutting and in passing. Palmer showed a good guarding defense and was a main cog in the floor work. Layden's scoring was valuable and his ability to get the ball after backboard attempts accounted for several baskets. Sowka and Beckley both played good games adding five and two points respectively to the score.

Those men of Vermont that will probably make the trip are Sheldon Burke, Goodwin, Donaldson, Williams, Darden and perhaps Hopkinson and Davis; also Manager Press, Assistant Manager Gould and the coaches Captain Craig and Captain Campbell.

APPOINTMENT SCHEDULE FOR THE ARIEL CHANGED SAYS GEORGE BURROWS

Cynic Prints Appointment Schedule Revised to Date

Several changes have been made in the 1934 Ariel picture appointment schedule which was printed in the Cynic on Tuesday, February 28. All organizations are again reminded that the photographer from the Wilson Studio will make his last visit to take pictures for the 1934 Ariel from the fourth to the seventh of March. All group and individual pictures not yet taken must be made at this time. Pictures will be taken in the Fleming Museum Auditorium. If any organizations have been omitted or if any appointments must be changed see George Burrows '34 at the Sigma Phi house.

Below is the revised schedule of appointments:

The batting prospects are fairly good this year. Farmer Buckley and Wesoly [illegible] team, Schwartz and Lanagan [illegible] team and Ed [illegible] of Bombardment also are among the prospects.

NEW STUDENT UNION RULE LIMITS NIGHTS WOMEN MAY EAT OUT

Student Union announces a new rule in connection with the regular permission for all coeds to go out any night to eat without counting an extra night out, provided she does not spend more than one hour from now on, all such privileges are denied to freshmen while sophomores may go out one night a week to eat without counting it a night out. Juniors and seniors may continue to avail themselves of this privilege.

Another series of ballroom dancing classes will be held, beginning Thursday or Friday night from seven to eight p.m. It may be necessary to postpone this first class until next Tuesday night—those interested should watch for an announcement on the bulletin board.

A series of hiking trips has been started. All those interested should come out for these trips—remember, they help you get credits for W. A. A. awards, about which you'll be hearing more soon. Watch the bulletin board in the "Y" room for information concerning further trips.

SENIOR TOURNAMENT BEGINS TODAY IN THE MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM

Burlington, Rutland, Hartford, Springfield, Proctor, Spaulding, Montpelier, and St. Johnsbury are Entered

Today at the Memorial Auditorium begins that event toward which all the senior high schools of the State have been pointing all season—the Senior Basketball Tournament. This year there have been picked eight teams that are without a doubt the most evenly matched [illegible] in recent [illegible] years. Burlington, Rutland, Hartford, Springfield, Proctor, Spaulding, Montpelier and St. Johnsbury all have enviable records and are dangerous teams.

The only team which can be called outstanding from this array and the team which will be watched with the greatest interest is the team from Hartford high [illegible] This team after completing a season of sixteen wins and one defeat, [illegible] it by sweeping through the southern Vermont tournament last week to win that title. Burlington was the runner up in the same tourney, but the Hartford team is the class of the entire State including Proctor, Rutland, Springfield and Bellows Falls. Although this team is noted for team play, the two [illegible] forwards, Falzarano and Regnia are outstanding. They have led the State in scoring and despite their size have held their own with guards much taller than themselves.

Spaulding High School probably is the next most important team. State champions last year they lost Captain McKernon and Conti, but came back this year to go through an undefeated season.

Burlington High School, always a team of money players, can always be counted on as dangerous contenders. Starting the season with rather an inexperienced team, Coach Hard has brought this team along to a point where they swamped Rutland 34 to 19, in the last game of the season. Burlington has Bob Steirn, high scoring forward to lead the offense and Captain Echo on the defense, who, although the team is not being picked as a tournament winner, may inspire the club and make it a very difficult aggregation to beat.

Proctor High School, the runner-up in the southern tournament, has this year turned out another fine team which compares favorably with the wonderful club of last year. Although losing the two Shands and Ed Baccai—the nucleus of the team, Coach Spencer has brought forward some high-scoring men who are making the fans forget all about last year, Shon, the new center, being picked as the most valuable player in the Southern Tournament. This team has great ability to come from behind and always play their best under pressure.

Springfield, the dark horse of the tourney, is not being heard from very much this year, but those "in the know" are sitting tight and not saying much. They have had during the season, two wins over Rutland and one over Hartford. This reporter who saw them play against Rutland, saw a team which although they won seemed to be holding something back. They are a team which has been brought along slowly all year with the Senior Tournament their main object in mind. They have a number of tall boys in their line-up and will be a team to be watched closely.

Little can be predicted about Rutland. They have had a good season and at times have looked unbeatable. According to the results of the Southern Tournament and the last game against Burlington they seem now to be just an unorganized group of ordinary players. In Chalmers, high scoring center who leads the attack, Hostler, Lindsey, Elder, and Forman they have five individuals who compare favorably with any in the State. The question is can they pull together in the tournament and play winning basketball? If they can, they will be unbeatable.

Montpelier High, although not getting much publicity, has been brought along fast and with a number of big men look hard to beat. They have been dropping a number of games by two points and showed how they have progressed since the first of the season by holding Spaulding to a four point win after a hard fought game last week-end.

St. Johnsbury is the only undefeated team in the State and may spring an upset. Although not given too much credit, they have come along fast and are entering the tournament on even terms with the others.

All in all it promises to be one of the usual State tournaments with about one hundred percent more action than usual promised. It will be held in the auditorium instead of in our gymnasium, so there will be plenty of room for every fan from all over the State.

Emma Lou's Diary

By Emma Lou

[illegible] weeks seems to be the best [illegible] Diary. Now let's see what [illegible]

Oh! The basketball games! what games! what players and what scores! I really think the Luzon game was the best, though they beat us. The crowd went crazy, the team went crazy, and if it had been broadcasted I guess the whole State of Vermont would have gone crazy also. [illegible] did work to win! Ed Hayden, who has become the hero of all real Vermont fans, made baskets from every angle. Some people say it is just luck, but I wonder how many scores they would make in his place. Chet Taft played a swell game too. And you know two players don't make a team!

The Norwich game was a howl! Ed got plenty of free rides, and it was touching to see one of their guards practising his love-making tactics on Chet. It wasn't such an exciting game, but the crowd cheered wildly every time we made a score. You see Norwich is one of our most intimate enemies; we had the band there to play and everything. And can you feature it? One girl was showing her school spirit by reading a book!

There is an elderly man who goes to every game. I don't know who he is; many townspeople and alumni, are more loyal fans than the undergraduates.

I was quite thrilled about my pledge dance, but my very best boy friend, from home, couldn't come, so that sort of put a damper on it. But the fellow whom I did take sure was a smoothy.

Hour tests are just around the corner! B-r-r! I wish my professors would give us a little quiz every day. Then we would be sure to study the lessons and not have the notes piling up unlearned. But I suppose there would be too many papers for them to correct.

My time has been absolutely filled, but now that I'm thinking back it doesn't seem as if I had completed a single task, so I guess I'll sign off and start something right now!

EMMA LOU.

Suppresion is Oppression

The suspension by the Student Council of the news editor of The McGill Daily, student publication at McGill University in Montreal, Canada, for the printing of a human interest story on beer drinking students is to be looked upon with sorrow by all who have seen this excellent paper and by all who covet the freedom of the press for collegiate papers.

The story was harmless enough in itself, and, while it might be construed as bad publicity for the University, the blame should be attached to the beer-drinking students and not to the paper which merely reported their bibulous exploits. Such action as was taken by the McGill Student Council in this manner is dangerous, as it tends to muzzle the press and instill fear in the hearts of those in charge of it.

SUMMER INSTITUTE FOR SOCIAL PROGRESS TO BE HELD AT WELLESLEY

Plans are being formulated [illegible] holding next July of a Wellesley Summer Institute for Social Progress in which problems of social and economic interest will be discussed. The project is being sponsored by a group of educators, men of affairs, and [illegible] alumnae.

The general theme of the [illegible] be the discussion of the questions: What are the fundamentals of a planned economic order and how can they be established? The aspect of this question which has been chosen for the first session [illegible] is "Our Economic Future: Its Planning and Control."

The central feature of this plan will be a main course of morning lectures to be given on two questions: What is the nature of an economic system [illegible] we consider desirable and feasible to attain? and "What are the major difficulties in the present situation and how may they be remedied?"

There will be no age limit or scholastic requirements. About 150 students will be invited to attend.

Operation and management will be under the direction of a governing board with branches in Boston and New York and a national advisory council now being formed. A plan of study to discuss the subject chosen for the first session is being worked out by a committee of educators and students of economic problems.

Among those who are working on whether the plans for this Institute are Devare Allen, editor of The Tomorrow; Franklin Hopper [illegible] the circulation department, Nora [illegible] Library; and Mrs. Caroline [illegible] White and Leo Wolman, both [illegible] of the Economics Department at Columbia University.

McGILL DEBATERS TAKE DECISION FROM U. V. M. FOR SECOND TIME

Bigelow, Colburn, McCuin Defeated by Two-one Decision on Veteran Bonus Question

AUDIENCE SECONDS JUDGES

Wesleyan University was for the second time this season awarded a two-to-one judges decision as well as the audience decision over Vermont's varsity debating team last Thursday night, March 2 at the First Church parish house. The subject was "Resolved: That the United States should amend her policy to provide payment of the World War Veteran Bonus." The debate was in the Oxford style. Vermont substituting rebuttal. The judges were Rev. A. J. Frasier, State's Attorney Wakefield and the Hon. Martin Vilas. Prof. Dean introduced the speakers. The Vermont forensians, who upheld the affirmative side of the question were R. F. Colburn '33, J. E. Bigelow '33 and R. E. McCuin '34. The McGill team was composed of Arthur Marshall and John Macrish.

Colburn Opens the Debate

Colburn, first speaker for the affirmative opened the debate by stating that the veteran bonus is just and should therefore be immediately paid. The veteran's bonus is a compensation to the soldier for the service he gave in 1917-18 in France. He gladly fought for his country and when he came back he was expelled to start at the bottom because his job was taken by someone else.

Since 1919 until the depression only 57 percent of the veterans have been steadily employed and the other 43 percent have had part time employment. The soldier who served abroad during the war received $1.25 per day, and the one who rendered his service at home received $30 per day. This money was earned in 1918. The government makes the veteran wait for his money twenty-seven years and this is unjust.

At the end of the war United States gave each veteran a bonus certificate on which he was allowed to borrow only 22½ percent of the face value, being taxed to pay 4½ percent compound interest. At the present time the veteran is allowed to borrow 50 percent of the face value. But, said Colburn, he needs the total amount that is due him right now for he has a family to support and no job from which to derive an income. The government claims that she has no money to pay the veteran but she has money to give to railroads, foreign countries and federal employees.

The Negative Retorts

The first speaker for the negative, Macleish, retorted by stating that under the prevailing conditions the bonus should not be paid immediately. The government has obligations toward her men, and for this reason the veteran is given preference in jobs. No nation has been as liberal in paying her men as the United States. The veterans whose bonuses amounted to $50.00 were paid immediately but those having a greater sum had to wait since it was financially uneconomical to pay them. The bonus certificate is in the form of an endowment policy expiring at the end of twenty years. During this time the veteran will receive 25 percent more than the face value of his certificate. The

MYRICK ANNOUNCES EXAMS FOR NEW YORK STATE TEACHERS

Are Open to All Advanced Students Taking French, German, Spanish

Professor Myrick of the language department announces the approaching New York State teachers exams to be given at the University March 17. The exams are given in French, German, and Spanish, under the auspices of the board of regents of New York. Vermont has acted as their agents for eleven or twelve years, almost since the beginning of the system.

These exams are obligatory for any person desiring to write a contract for a teaching position in these subjects in New York State and are given in various places outside of the state. Anyone taking an advanced course in a language with the approval of the department is eligible. There is no limitation on the number of times these exams can be taken. Therefore, if a junior is fairly successful, but does not pass he may try again the next year. However, a license is good for only one year, so a junior would also have to take a second exam after graduating.

Professor Myrick states that there are candidates in all three languages, and that there will probably be about twelve or fourteen, mostly seniors. He will himself have charge of the exams, which will be given in Room 33 South College, the afternoon of Friday, March 17.

VERMONT ALUMNUS TO SPEAK AT CHAPEL

The Rev. Dr. John Henry Hopkins '83, now of Grand Isle, will speak at tomorrow's chapel service. Doctor Hopkins has been rector of numerous churches all over the United States, among the number being the Colonial Chapel in New York and St. James in Chicago. He was ordained a priest in 1921.

The speaker was born in Burlington in 1861 and when he was attending U. V. M. was a member of Delta Psi fraternity.

Sigma Gamma Heads Fraternity List

136 Arts Students Place on Dean's 1st Semester Honor Roll

Five Who Attain 95 % Average Include Dorothy Jackman, L. L. Woodward '33, Joyce Young '33, J. L. Beckley '34 and Katherine Kieslich '36

LOCAL SORORITY AHEAD 8TH CONSECUTIVE TIME

Sigma Gamma leads the twenty-one campus fraternal organizations in scholastic ranking for the eighth consecutive time according to the fraternity and sorority ratings of grades of the first semester recently released from the office of the registrar. As has been the case in past years the eight women's groups gained precedence over the men's societies.

Delta Psi placed first of the men's Greek letter organizations. Both Sigma Gamma, the leading women's society and Delta Psi are local organizations.

110 ARE VERMONTERS 25 FROM OUT OF STATE

Ninety four women and forty-two men of the Arts and Sciences College attained high scholastic ranking for the first semester according to statistics released by Dean Lloyd Jewett last week. Five students including three women and two men attained an average of 95 percent. Exactly two women and seven men made an average of 90 percent and sixty-six women and thirty-three men received an average of 85 percent.

The five students with 95 percent averages are Dorothy Jackman and L. L. Woodward from the senior class, Joyce Young and J. L. Beckley from the junior class and Katherine K. Kieslich from the freshman class.

Of the total list of honor students 110 are Vermonters and twenty-six are from other States.

Four more students placed on the Dean's list this semester than in 1932 when 132 students attained high averages.

The list of students averaging 90 and 85 percent respectively follows.

1933—Vermonters

Bennington, 90—Gladys La Flamme, Bennington; 85—Mary Peteas, Bennington.

Caledonia, 90—E. R. Carter, Groton; Mildred Hastings, St. Johnsbury; M. J. Mulvaney, St. Johnsbury; Father C. Smith, Londonville.

"SPECULATION" TOPIC OF MEREDITH'S BROADCAST

C. H. Jones in Same Program Over WCAX Friday Speaks on "Maple Production Problems"

"Speculation—Good or Bad?" was the subject of the talk given by Prof. I. D. Meredith, of the economics department, over WCAX Friday evening, March 3. Professor Meredith's talk was followed by a discussion of "Maple Production Problems" by Mr. C. H. Jones, a chemist at the Experiment Station. Professor Meredith's talk, in part, follows:

Professor Meredith

"Wide fluctuations in the prices of securities, commodities, or real estate always provoke public indignation sooner or later when the day of reckoning arrives. The stock speculation of the years immediately preceding the crash of 1929 gave rise to abundance of criticism which has persisted almost continuously since that time. It led more or less indirectly to the Senate investigation of last year and also to the investigation being conducted at the present time. The Glass banking bill, which recently passed the Senate, contained several proposals designed to control security speculation. Some critics have even suggested that organized exchanges such as the security and grain exchanges should be abandoned in order to prevent speculation. In the light of this abundant criticism, brief consideration of the cases for and against speculation is not without significance.

"When prices are high, those speculators who have been anticipating advances in prices offer their holdings for sale. Those individuals who believe that prices are going to decline take short positions in the market; that is, they sell now in the hope of buying later at a lower price. Consequently, when prices are advancing, the activities of speculators tend to retard further advances."

Prof. B. C. Douglass, of the education department, states that this week's program will be in charge of the music department.

WIG AND BUSKIN WILL INITIATE NEXT THURSDAY

Wig and Buskin, men's honorary dramatic society, will hold its annual initiation and banquet Thursday, March 16. The initiates are S. E. Carter '33, P. M. Howe '35, A. A. Ross '35, H. H. Abbott '35, P. M. Andress '36, C. F. Derven '36 and E. D. B. Kane '36.

The eligibility requirement for this society is a speaking part in either the spring or fall play and all these men have fulfilled this requirement in last semester's fall play.

Sir Frederick Whyte to Give Final University Lecture Tonite

World-famous Lecturer and Authority on Asiatic Affairs Will Speak on "Crises in the Far East" Tonight at 8.00 in the Fleming Museum

DISCUSSION IS TIMELY

Sir Frederick Whyte, world-famous authority on Asiatic affairs has been secured to speak on "Crises in the Far East" tonight at 8.00 in the Fleming Museum.

Professor Gifford, chairman of the committee on University lectures, expresses unusual satisfaction at having secured for this opportune lecture a man of such exceptional abilities and such unusual opportunities for securing authentic information as this distinguished lecturer, who is Knight Commander of the Star of India. Sir Frederick was one of the founders of the influential weekly, New Europe, and served from 1917-1920 upon its editorial board. Among the authoritative books which have come from his facile pen are: "India a Federation," "Asia in the 20th Century," and "China and the Foreign Powers."

Shanghai and Shanhaikwan have recently drawn the astonished attention of the western world to the dramatic spectacle of undeclared war waged by Japan upon the soil of China. Jehol and Geneva have long been rival centers of news interest to a world wondering what might happen next in the unhappy contest between the Chinese Dragon and Nippon, land of the Rising Sun. Jehol, the scene of aggressive advances which may carry the forces of the Mikado through the Great Wall and into Northern China, and Geneva the scene of Japan's adamantine resistance to the outraged opinion of the civilized world. Very timely, therefore, is Sir Frederick's lecture.

Edinburgh, McGill, Michigan and Dartmouth have honored him with the degree, Doctor of Laws. He has lectured in this country upon numerous foundations, notably at the Lowell Institute in Boston and the Williamstown Institute of Politics, besides the Universities of Virginia and of Chicago.

Most significant in his preparation for an exposition of Far Eastern Problems and Trends was his official connection with the Chinese Government as Political Adviser.

S. K. Ratcliffe himself an authority and a lecturer of extraordinary powers, says of him: "Sir Frederick is a public man of very unusual knowledge and experience. His unusual powers are given fine expression on the platform and in my judgment there is no man in public life today whose understanding of the great events and forces of Europe and Asia is superior to his."

W. A. A. Winter Carnival Held on Redstone Campus Saturday

Elizabeth Brown, Ellinor Bean, and Katherine Worthen Victors, Taking First, Second, Third, Respectively, in Snowy Contest

Elizabeth Brown '36, Ellinor Bean '34, and Katharine Worthen '35 finished in that order respectively to win the women's winter carnival, which took place Saturday afternoon, March 4, on the Redstone Campus under the direction of Ara Armstrong '33, president of the Women's Athletic Association with Mary Bosse '33 acting as starter.

Among the events were ski races which were open to everyone, several other ski races snowshoe races, and snowshoe and ski obstacle races. In addition to these events there were also human ski-joring races which furnished plenty of excitement for both contestants and audience.

The event had been postponed for some time on account of the scarcity of snow, but Saturday, after almost a week's snow-storm, the outdoor enthusiasts found it in plenty. After their exertions, winners, losers, and gallery found refreshment at Robinson Hall in the shape of coffee and doughnuts.

W. A. A. wishes to remind the women that Thursday evening from seven to eight o'clock is their recreation hour. Numerous and varied activities are provided for during this time and it can be made very successful and interesting if only more women will give their support.

JOHN DEWEY CLUB HEARS DISCUSSION BY METCALF

"Who's Who in Psychology" was the topic discussed at the second meeting this year of the John Dewey Club held Thursday evening, at the home of Prof. P. H. Ewert on Maple Street.

Prof. and Mrs. J. T. Metcalf spoke on their personal contacts with psychologists of note here and abroad.

Mrs. Metcalf related some of her experiences while studying under such prominent psychologists as Titchener, Watson, Thorndike, Woodworth and John Dewey, the philosopher. Professor Metcalf spoke of his travels abroad where he studied previous to the outbreak of the World War and told about Wundt, Angell, Stumpf and Munsterberg.

About twenty members of the club attended several for the first time since their entrance. A grade of "B" or better in one semester of a psychology or philosophy course is required for eligibility or the presentation to and acceptance by the club of paper written on original research work in either field.

INDEPENDENT THINKING

If we are to meet our responsibility to train leaders, who will be capable of coping with the complex problems of the future, we must carry two important factors in mind. The first deals with the acquisition of knowledge and of proficiency in theories; the second concerns the important art of application of such knowledge.

It is evident in the world today that the first feature is many times overstressed. But instead of cluttering the mind with inert material, which may never be of use to the individual, we must provide instead the basis of independent, constructive thought. Often under the pressure of a crowded program of theory, the basic and foremost fundamentals are forgotten.

A man graduates from college and from the point of view of theories, formulae and book knowledge, he is ready to buck the world. As long as a routine job confronts him, he is well equipped to meet it and is usually very apt in its performance for in college that was what he was taught and became proficient in it. But what happens when a problem arises for which he has no set method of performance? Because his education is one-sided he is not prepared to meet the problem. He looks to someone else for the answer, and sometimes he finds it, but he cannot go on always in this fashion.

Just how are we to train a student in the art of independent thinking? The answer is very difficult for many methods have been tried; some of which have not succeeded, others which have. First the student should learn to make an analysis of each fundamental problem. The art of deducting necessary successive consequences from known conditions is the main object. From these steps, he will derive a conclusion. Then it is up to him to make that conclusion mean something. That is the first thing he should get in the habit of doing.

The second means is by purposeful and thoughtful writing. This process requires intense thinking, and if done repeatedly under effectual guidance, will lead to greater mental power. The average student has learned the science and rhetoric of writing, but possibly he has not, under the heavy burden of a college curriculum, been able to utilize the science he has learned. All these things require time, and coupled with a thoughtful budget of a student's limited amount, can be effectually carried out.

THEATRE

Flynn

(M T) The Big Parade. Rattling on high over the lead shot fields of the World War, this picture gives camera angles from eight nations, including the German. Collected from the war archives of the participant nations, this picture cost the lives of forty-five [illegible] and two million soldiers. If you miss it you will be awful sorry when you sling your gun on your shoulder as you step off to the next big show.

(T F S) Twenty Thousand Years in Sing Sing. That title should go for two choruses. A human picture, written by the warden who spoke to us last year and warned us that he didn't want to see us around his diggings. Humor, romance and pathos runs through the picture. Prison life brings out the world's greatest situation: men without women and women without men. Spencer Tracy, Bette Davis are outstanding and the supporting cast is strong.

Majestic

(M T) A Lady's Profession. Strictly prohibition with Alison Skipworth, who has lots left over from Madame Racketeer. Unusual situation. English titles, broke, go into speak business. Big shots, scared of prohi repeal try to force them to take their stock. Romance Maritza vs. Kent Taylor.

(W. T.) Ladies They Talk About. Barb Stanwyck gives them something to chatter over all right. A prison woman, clever she plans a break. Excitement. Shots. Preston Foster as the Evangelist who has to flee to save himself from the Barbaras of Stanwyck's chahm. Omy.

(F S) The Mysterious Rider. Zane Grey as an old favorite. Kent Taylor rodeos Lona Andre, girl. Pichel, Gail Patrick, Warren Hymer. Zane, they tell us is visiting the South Seas. When he gets back he's starting off agin fer South America. Izzane that Greyt?

State

(M. T.) Two Against the World. Connie Bennett and Niell Hamilton. Wholeheartedly endorsed. Big fight fer two people to tackle, but they win out. You knew they would? Well, well and a well.

(W. T.) Three on a Match. Match less. Good acting, good plotto. Warren William on deck, Ann Dvorak, J. Blondell, Bette Davis. Quite a collection. You know the story. The match king started it and Hollywood still collects on it.

(F. S.) You Said a Mouthful. Joe E Brown is still capitalising on his buccal monstrosity. In this picture he swallows half of the Pacific Oshun between Wrigly Island and the mainland for your amusement—and without having swum a stroke before.

Strong

(M T.) Her Mad Night. And we don't mean irate. Irene Rich does the emoting. Conway Tearle and Mary Carlisle assisting at all sorts of scrapes.

(W. T.) Bill of Divorcement. You will be able to keep the eye on Kate Hepburn in this one, the picture of the year. J. Barrymore as male interest. A real good show.

(F. S.) Get That Girl. Dick Talmadge. Not a horse in the picter. A real modern adventure romance.

Coal . . . silk stockings . . . mea
—and the telephone

Keenly aware of the problems of business, large and small, Bell System commercial men are constantly devising special telephone plans to custom-fit service to the user's needs.

For example, a plan they worked out for a coal distributor helped him to contact 50% more dealers. A manufacturer, using a telephone selling plan, sold 700 dozen pairs of hosiery through one Long Distance call. A great meat packer handles complex sales and distribution problems efficiently with the aid of planned Long Distance and private wire services.

Systematic telephone plans are helping many users to build business—cut costs—handle collections—unify nationwide organizations—increase profits. And Bell System men are seeking still other ways to make the telephone more useful.

Rutland High Comes Through To Take Title in Fast Match With Hartford 33-26

Erratic Rutland Team Repeats Predictions of Victory for Hartford by Making Brilliant Second-half Comeback After Fast Start Gives Hartford Lead

HARTFORD FIVE CLEVERER HAS BETTER PASSWORD

Last Saturday night, at the Memorial Auditorium in the finals of the senior interscholastic tournament, Rutland High School, after getting off to a poor start and being behind at the half, came back in the last half with a beautiful show of fighting spirit to defeat Hartford High School 33 to 26.

The result of the game came as a surprise to a greater share of the thousands of fans who packed the huge hall because very few picked the classy but erratic Rutland team. Rutland entered the tournament with apparently little hope. Making a miserable showing through the southern tournament, they were matched with Springfield, a team which had beaten them twice and were conceded to be a very strong contender. Hartford, just to the contrary, were given every chance of winning. Defeated only once during the regular season and winner of the southern tournament, they defeated Montpelier and Burlington with excellent shooting and a fine attack and had been picked as very probable winners.

Championship Game—Rutland-Hartford

Hartford started off fast and in the first minute they scored six points on long shots by Regione and DePalo and a step shot by Falzarano against the seemingly bewildered Rutland team. Rutland called time out. Play started again but Hartford made another basket while Chalmers of Rutland sunk a long one and Lindsey made good a foul shot to make the score at the end of the quarter 8 to 3 with Hartford leading.

The second quarter opened with Hartford continuing their sensational shooting. Falzarano hooked one from under the basket and shot a foul. Swanson was fouled and made both tries. Jimmy Elder now got into action and made two beautiful shots, one on a step shot and the other a long one. Chalmers was fouled and missed his try. Lorman made a follow up shot and Hostler split the strings with a beauty from away out. Chalmers, who was just beginning his sensational play of the evening, sunk a difficult shot but Regione, the ever dangerous long shot artist, sunk a long one and was followed by R. Falzarano, who had come into the game and who made his only points on a shot from the side. Capt. L. Falzarano, returning to the game, ended it with a step shot on a well-executed play to make the score 19 to 13 with Hartford ahead.

Rutland made a beautiful comeback in the second half and led by the irrepressible Chalmers flashed an attack that could not be stopped. Hostler and Lindsey bottled up the Hartford attack [illegible] that in the [illegible] quarter Hartford scored only one point while Rutland made twelve. Hostler started off with a long one and was immediately followed by Lorman and Chalmers who made long ones. Chalmers then dribbled in for two extremely difficult step shots. Lindsey threw in a long one to complete Rutland's scoring for the quarter and L. Falzarano made a foul to make the score at the end of the third quarter 25 to 20 with Rutland leading.

In the fourth quarter Hartford was unable to make any concerted attack through Rutland's impregnable defense and resorted to long shots which would not connect. On a beautiful play, Chalmers to Lindsey, Rutland chalked up another two points. Chalmers then made the most spectacular shot of the evening. Dribbling in at full speed and followed on each side by a Hartford man, he executed a beautiful step shot from way under the basket to bring the crowd to its feet. Chalmers then went out on fouls and with two minutes to go things looked none too good for Rutland. However, Hostler was fouled by Falzarano and he went out also. Hostler tossed in a foul and Elder made good a long shot to end the scoring for Rutland. Tommy Stone, who had come in for DePalo, now shot a short one and Regione, making a desperate try, sank a beauty from away out and the game ended with Hartford throwing the ball desperately in an effort to score.

For Rutland, Hostler, Lindsey and Lorman excelled on the defense breaking up play after play and bottling up the high-scoring attack of Hartford, while Chalmers and Elder received the scoring honors and played good floor games. For Hartford, Captain Falzarano and Regione were outstanding in a losing fight.

Hartford-Burlington

In the first game of the afternoon, Hartford defeated Burlington in a very close game 34 to 33. Burlington mainly through the beautiful shooting of Bob Stiern and Eddie Kauffman, made a remarkable showing against the fast-passing Hartford five.

Kauffman started off the fireworks with two shots and then Bob Stiern popped the first of his long shots. Falzarano, on a pass from Regione, made a step shot and then made a foul shot. Swanson got a foul shot and made it. Regione tossed in a long one and a foul to make the score at the end of the first quarter 7 to 6 with Hartford leading.

Hartford soon got into action and Swanson scored on a tap play. Kauffman threw one and followed it up [illegible] with a long one and immediately followed it with an easy short one and then Falzarano on a tap play swept through for a step shot. Stone sneaked down and made a hard shot from the side and Bob Stiern made two from away out to end the half with Hartford leading 18 to 12.

The scoring in the third quarter was evenly divided with Stiern continuing his sensational shooting and Regione [illegible] them from all angles to keep Hartford in the ball game. The quarter ended with Hartford leading 29 to 21. The game looked in the bag for Hartford, but then Burlington really began shooting. Stiern tossed in a long one and Kauffman made a long one and two fouls. DePalo went out on fouls and L. Falzarano made good a short shot. Echo made two long shots and Swanson two fouls. Stiern tied the score with the last of his great shots and just before the game ended Stone became a hero by making good a foul toss to win the game for Hartford, 34 to 33.

For Hartford, Falzarano and Regione again stood out, while for Burlington, Stiern and Kauffman each played a sensational game.

Rutland-Spaulding

Rutland, after upsetting Springfield on Friday night, again upset the dope Saturday afternoon by defeating Spaulding the [illegible] favorites 28 to 19.

Until the last quarter it was anyone's ball game, but in that period Rutland showed an attack that could not be stopped.

The first half was dull, with Chalmers and Elder doing most of the scoring for Rutland and Captain McGoff and Manera for Spaulding and the half ended with Spaulding leading 11 to 10. The third half again was fairly quiet. Elder made a beautiful shot and then on a perfectly executed play passed to Chalmers who made a [illegible] shot. Spaulding took time out

Fall Far Below Their Standard to Lose 33-24 in a Hard-played Game

[illegible] and teamwork [illegible] on A. T. O.'s to the inter-fraternity crown were not in evidence last Thursday when they lost to the [illegible] of Middlebury 33-24.

The Middlebury champs having Cleman, varsity center, among their number presented a powerful, accurately shooting team that held a definite edge after the first few minutes of play. The first part of the game resembled the start of the varsity game the previous Tuesday. The Vermont team clicked at the start and ran up a 5-0 lead in the first few minutes.

The second half was more fiercely contested but the Middlebury team held their edge all through it.

government has been generous toward the veterans, who are foolhardily demanding for immediate payment in these times of depression. They are under the impression that these endowment policies can be cashed before they are due. It is, therefore, undesirable that the veterans should be paid now.

Vermont Again

Bigelow, the second speaker for Vermont, stated that the veteran has been discriminated against. Both Harding and Coolidge, before they were respectively in office, said that the veteran should be fully paid. But each, in turn, vetoed the bill when it was presented before them. The veteran had no choice in taking the $50.00 which the government gave him. Those who were due more had to wait. If the bonus is paid now the veteran will spend the money and put it back into circulation thereby helping to alleviate the depression. The bonus is due now, not in 1945

The United States government should float a bond issue at the rate of 2 percent in order to raise the money to pay the veteran.

Don't you get Pipe Hungry once in a while?

"MAYBE it's back to Nature. Maybe it's something else. I don't know just what it is, but somehow or other I've just got to slip out in the woods and sit down on a log. I always take the old pipe along. Thinking somehow seems easier when you are smoking a pipe. I can fill up my pipe with Granger, and somehow just seem to see things clearer than at any other time.

"Don't know what it is about Granger, but it must be made for pipes—real pipe tobacco.

"Somehow, there's a flavor and aroma about Granger I never found in any other tobacco. When I pack my old pipe tight and good with these big Granger flakes, it's about the coolest smoke I ever enjoyed. It makes me downright pipe hungry every time I look at the package."

Some years ago we made a painstaking, scientific study to find out, if we could, the kind of tobacco best suited for pipes.

Down in the Blue Grass regions of Kentucky, we found a tobacco called White Burley. There is a grade of this tobacco between the kind used for chewing and the varieties suitable for cigarettes that is best suited for pipes. This tobacco is used in Granger.

This tobacco is prepared by a method worked out many years ago by Mr. J. N. Wellman. It gives Granger a fragrance and mellowness that pipe smokers like, and makes it burn to a clean, dry ash. Granger never gums a pipe.

Granger has not been on sale very long, but it has come to be popular, and there is this much about it: We have yet to know of a man who started smoking it, who didn't keep on. Folks seem to like it.
